IT'S THE MOMENTS THAT STAND OUT

After graduating from high school, and looking back on the years that were spent here at SCHS, what are the moments that stand out? Do we remember that moment when we walked into our very first Homecoming, the moment when the senior girls won the Powder Puff game in the pouring rain, or do we remember the moment when our team was ecstatic upon the qualification for the state finals? Caesare Pavese once said, "We do not remember days; we remember moments". This statement by Caesare could not be anymore true; throughout our high school careers, we all experience many different moments that will have lasting impressions throughout the course of our lives, and with these moments we will create perpetual memories.

High school is a once in a lifetime opportunity, and as we become one step closer to the moment when we are able to throw our caps into the air and tell ourselves we are graduates; we must all take time to reflect on the moments that stand out. As you flip through the pages of this book, ask yourselves these questions; What moments stood out? Was it the moment when you attending Saints Day, or the moment when your team played in the Dodgeball tournament? Maybe it was the moment when you danced to the beat of the DJ at your Winterfest dance, or was it the moment when you said your heartrending goodbyes to your senior friends? We will all experience high school differently, but we will all remember that It's the Moments that Stand Out...

SUMMER DIVISION

As the last bell of the school year rings, students are overwhelmed with all of the freedoms that come along with summer break. They've been looking forward to concerts, vacations, fireworks, or even the latest movie in theaters. However, summer can be so much more than just hanging out with friends. It can be trying out that bold new hair color you never had the guts to get during school, or holding a summer job to prove your independence. Summer is full of possibilities and opportunities…

Although we enjoyed every second of the 87 days of summer, before we knew it, school was here, and summer sadly came to an end. As we reunite with our fellow classmates, our tans fade, and we are faced with the harsh realities of a world of pressures, expectations, and stress. Although we will never forget the memories made during summer, we are ready to make new memories in the upcoming school year.

SUMMER LIFE

Fun In the Sun is All Done!

Summer came and before we knew it, it was gone with the blink of an eye, but when the school doors closed for summer students made a splash. Some went on vacation and some stayed home in St. Clair, but everybody had a blast this summer! One event that will long be remembered was Riverfest; it provided hours of entertainment and the thril of watching the offshore boat races. Also, the same weekend of the races, was the midway carnival which let students experience the ever popular greasy carnival food, and rides that spun us until we were green.

> "Staying out late and hanging out with friends is what summer is about."
> -Lauren Dooley ('13)

If you were in downtown St. Clair this summer you could see somebody rocking a trick on their skateboard, or perhaps licking the last drip of ice cream from Riverside; catching a glimpse of somebody diving into the river after a long run on the boardwalk was not uncommon. You could see people swimming and enjoying the beautiful weather, and what a better place to spend your time than in a town surrounding the water. This summer proved to be one of excitement, enjoyment, and lasting memories.

H. Balhoff and S. Johnson ('13)

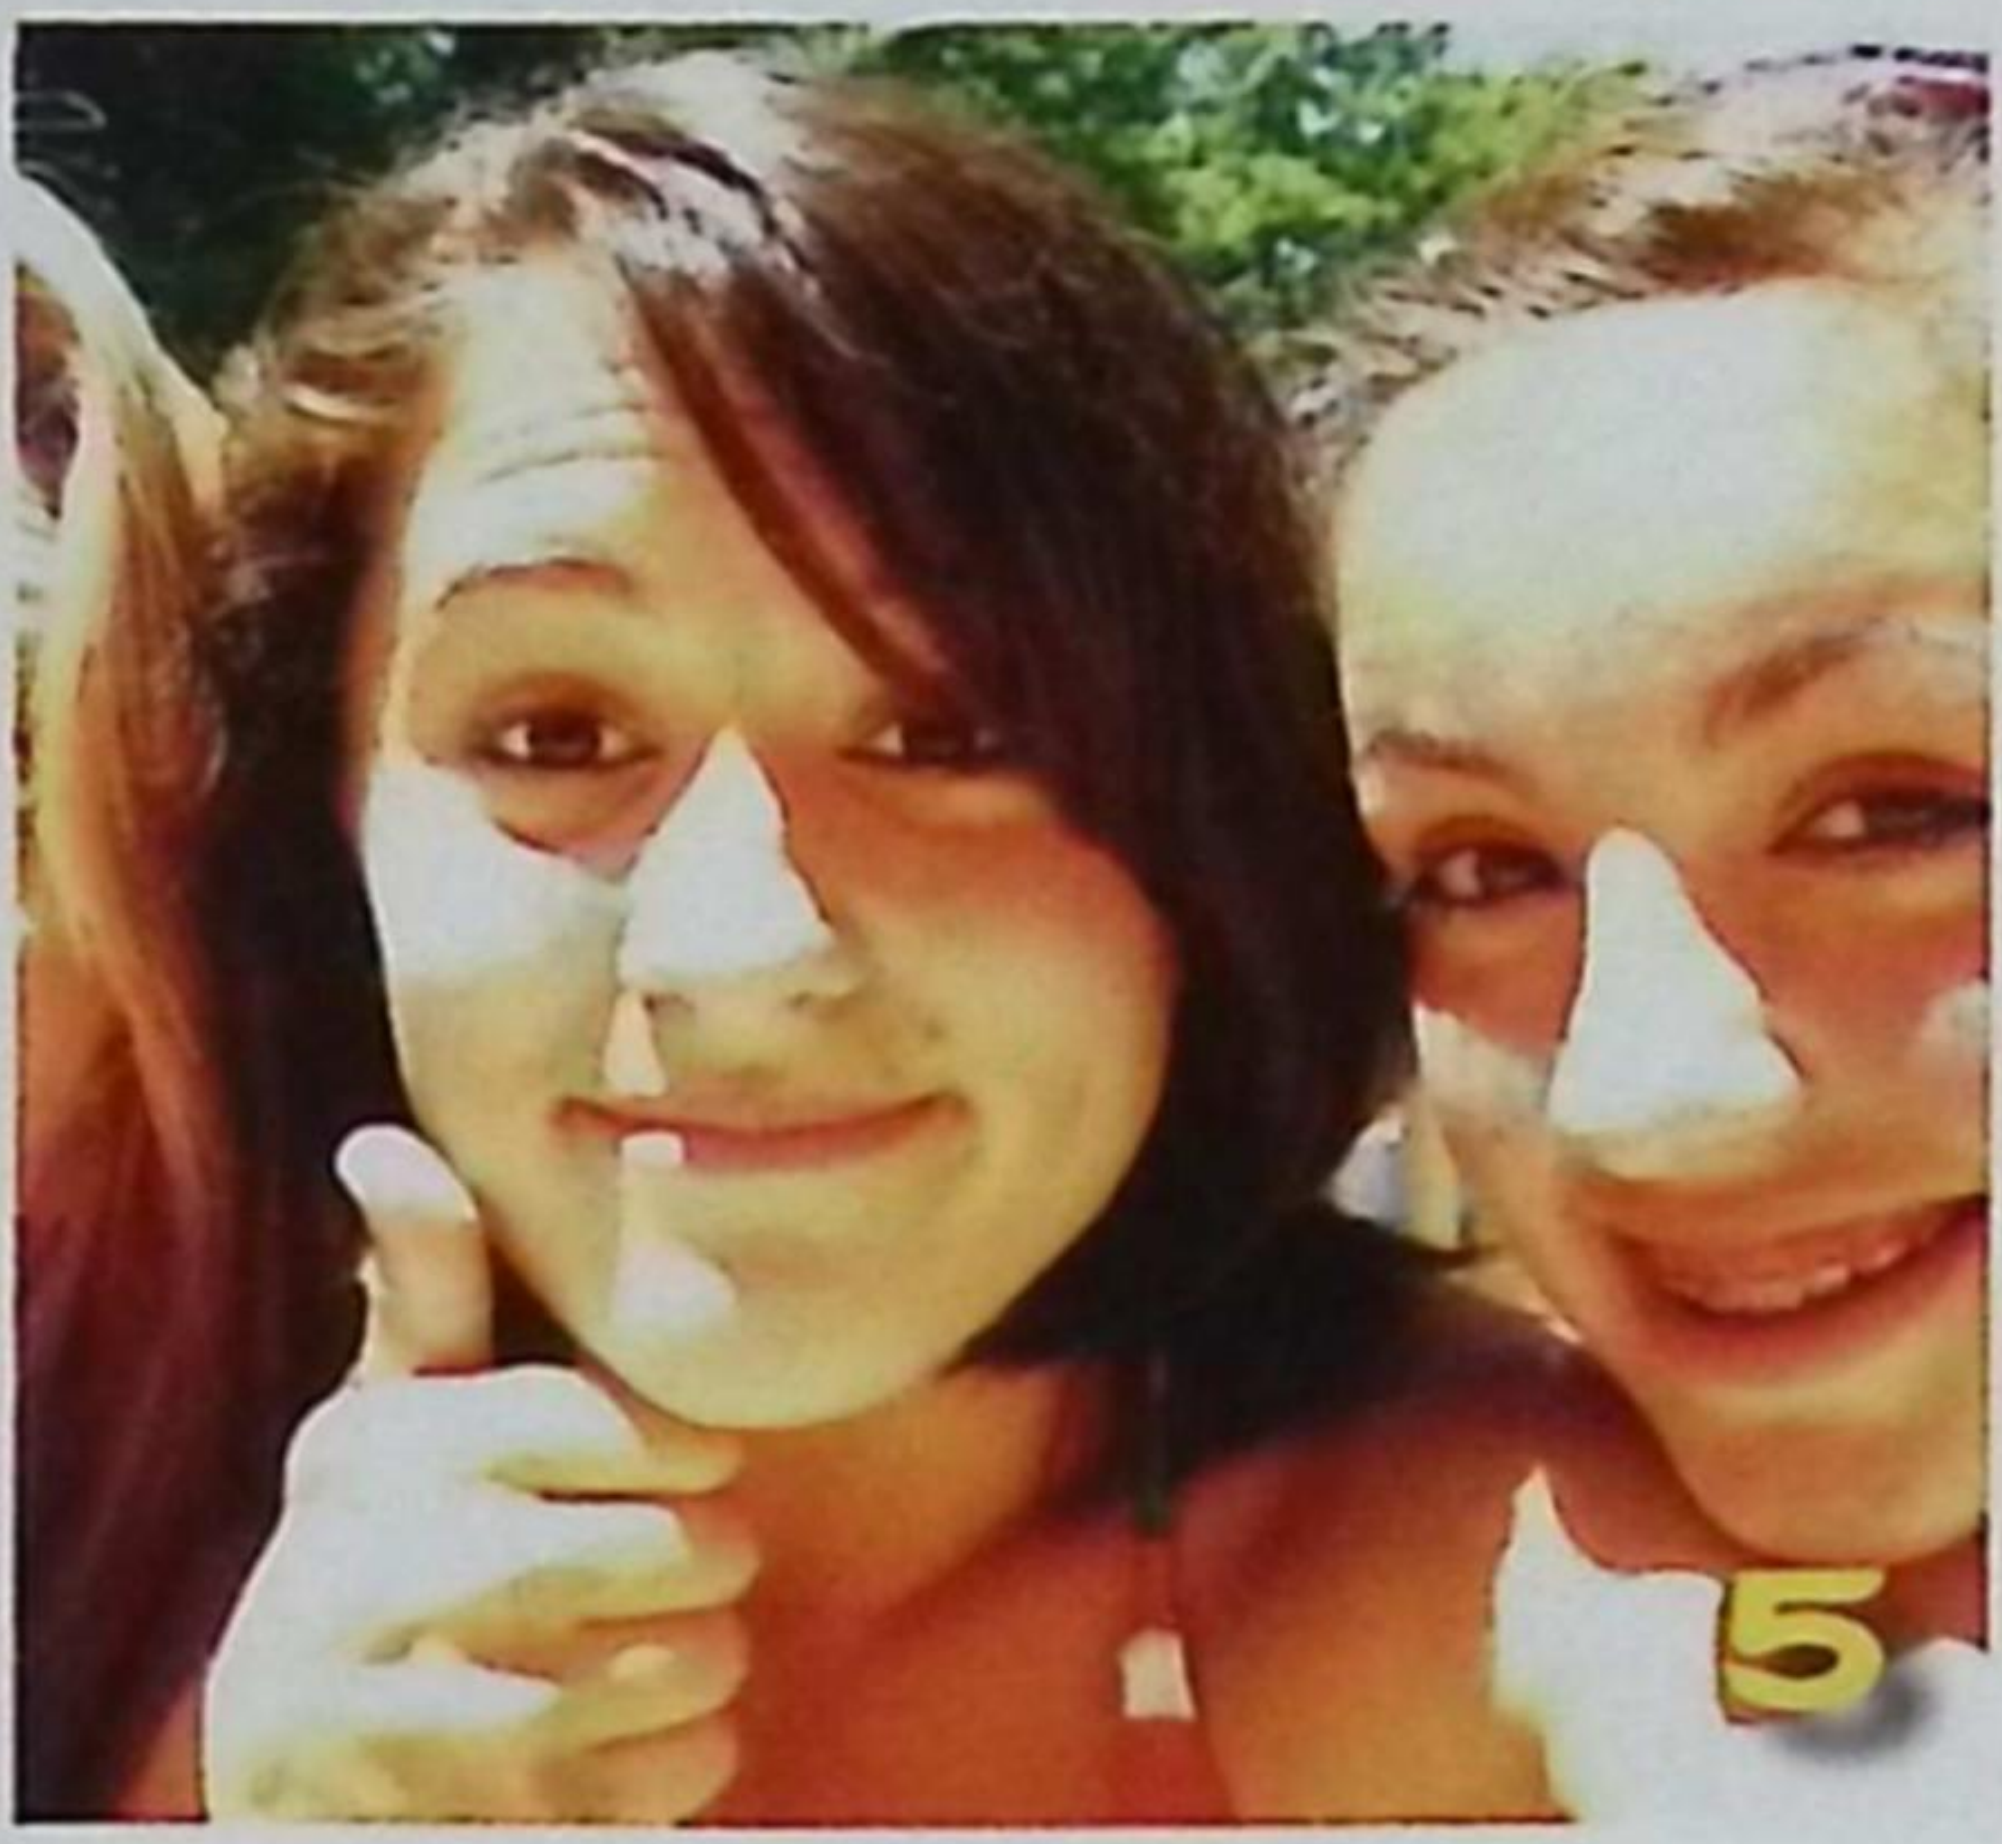
Make a Splash!

Hannah Packen ('13) strikes a pose before jumping into her friend's pool this summer. "My summer was full of friends, family, and swimming," she said.

MY MOMENT

Karly Humes ('13) took some time this summer to have fun. She said, "We go to Strawberry Island and the North Channel; we ride jet skis, and also go fishing. The family spent the end of summer there and we had a ton of fun!" Karly also said, "We got to be on the water together as a family. It really was a great way to end the summer."

1. Andrew Drummond ('12) claps with excitement at the freshmen orientation.
2. At Riverfest, Melanie Rhein and Shannon Richards ('10) admire the flying frisbees at the K9 show.
3. This summer, in some pretty cool goggles, Brittany Schweiger ('13) spends her time making a splash in a friend's pool.
4. These upperclassmen boys hang out on the dock while taking a time-out from swimming.
5. Kelsey Kerin and Teri Ofeno ('12) are all smiles while hanging out downtown during the summer.



How did you spend your summer?

"I spent most of my summer skateboarding downtown, with friends."
-J. Derkatz ('13)

"My summer was spent playing softball for the SCS vipers and swimming in my pool."
-B. Schweiger ('13)

"I spent my summer playing football, and singing."

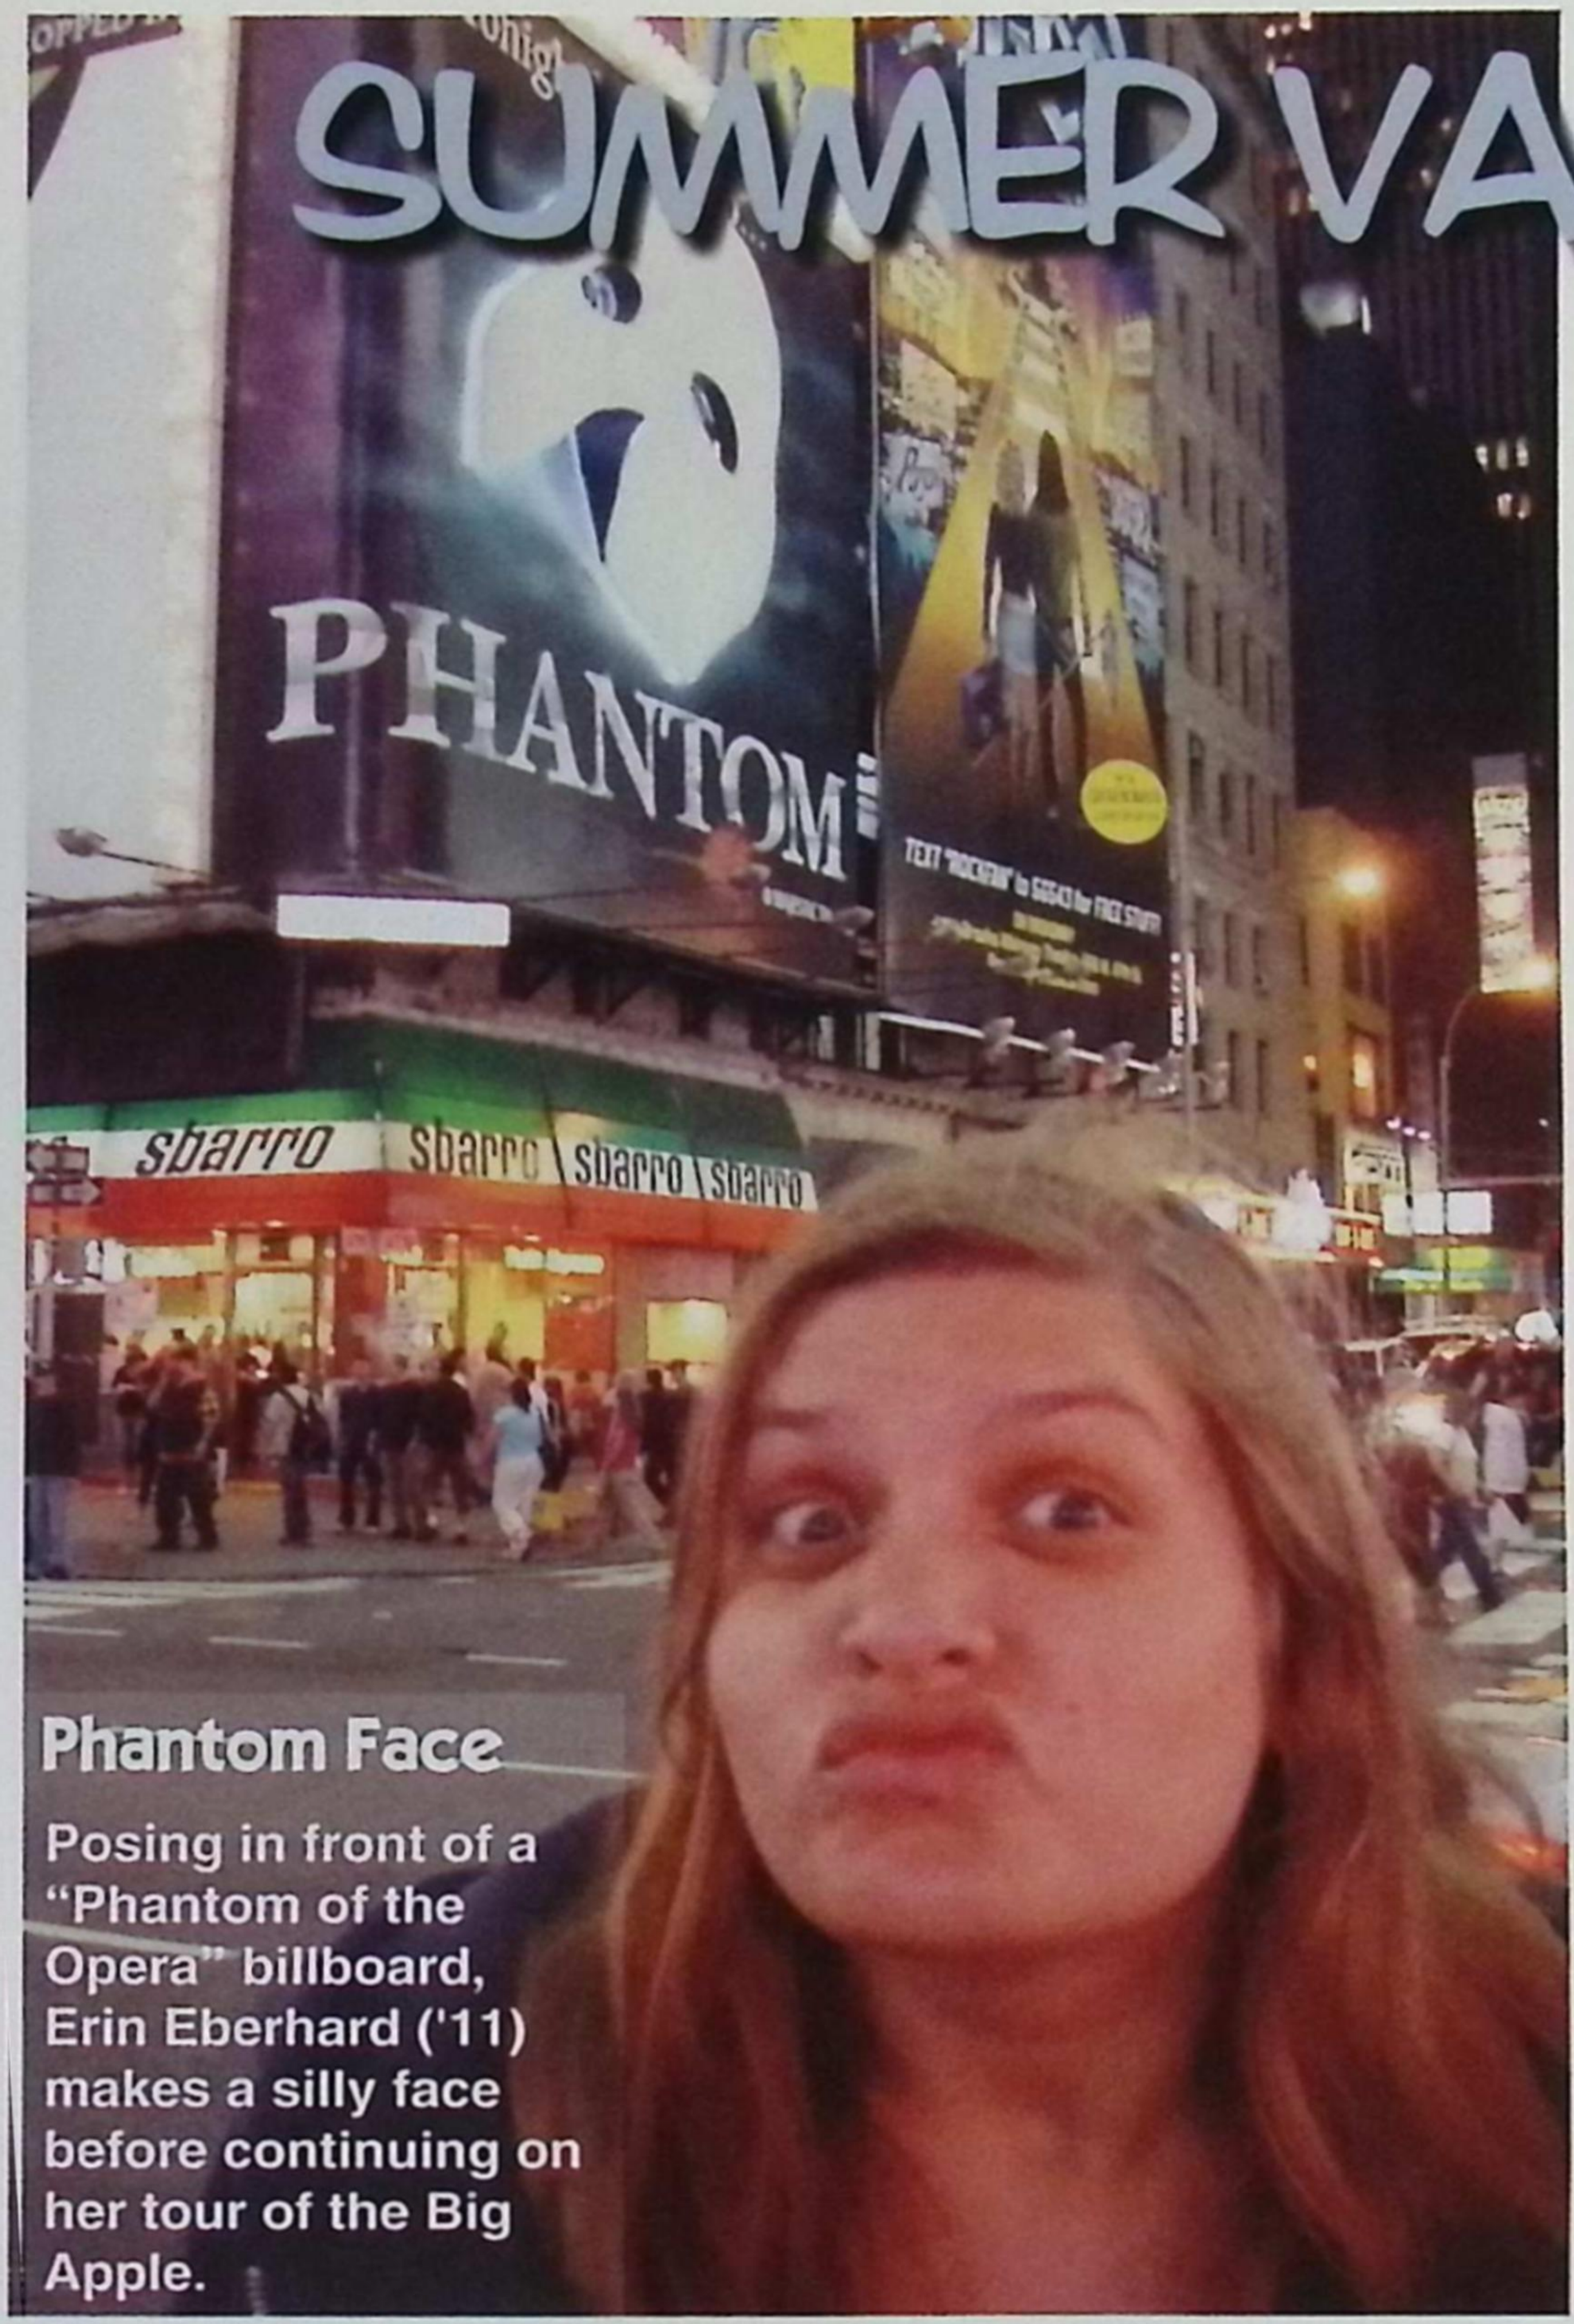
SUMMER VACATIONS



Phantom Face

Posing in front of a "Phantom of the Opera" billboard, Erin Eberhard ('11) makes a silly face before continuing on her tour of the Big Apple.

A Summer Away From Summer

After 180 days in St. Clair, Michigan, and having very little time away from SCHS, when school is out so are the students. Whether it's taking a cruise around Alaska, visiting the tropical island of Hawaii, going across the pond to Europe, or simply taking a drive up north; students at St. Clair High School very rarely stick around long.

"I went to Lexington over the summer with some friends. We chilled around the bon fire and went to the Jimmy Cs restaurant. 'Good times on Va - K!" -A. Hensen (10)

This year, Michigan's weather was below normal. On a scale on 1-115, 1 being the coolest state and 115 being the hottest, Michigan ranked number five according to Wildife and Habitat Conservation News. Some students were lucky enough to leave this cool, fall-like summer, weather of Michigan and get some real heat in other states. Let us al remember it is not where you go or how hot it is, it's what you do, and if you have fun doing it.

"Over the summer I visited Washington D.C. We wanted to see the White House, but instead we were more consumed with the protesters outside of it. They were all around the area yelling about the proposed health care plan. Then, one of the protesters, riding a bike, hit a tree! It was hilarious! My family and I stood in front of the protesters for a really long time and didn't even realize it. We finally had to leave the interesting scene and go to tour the other sites of D.C."

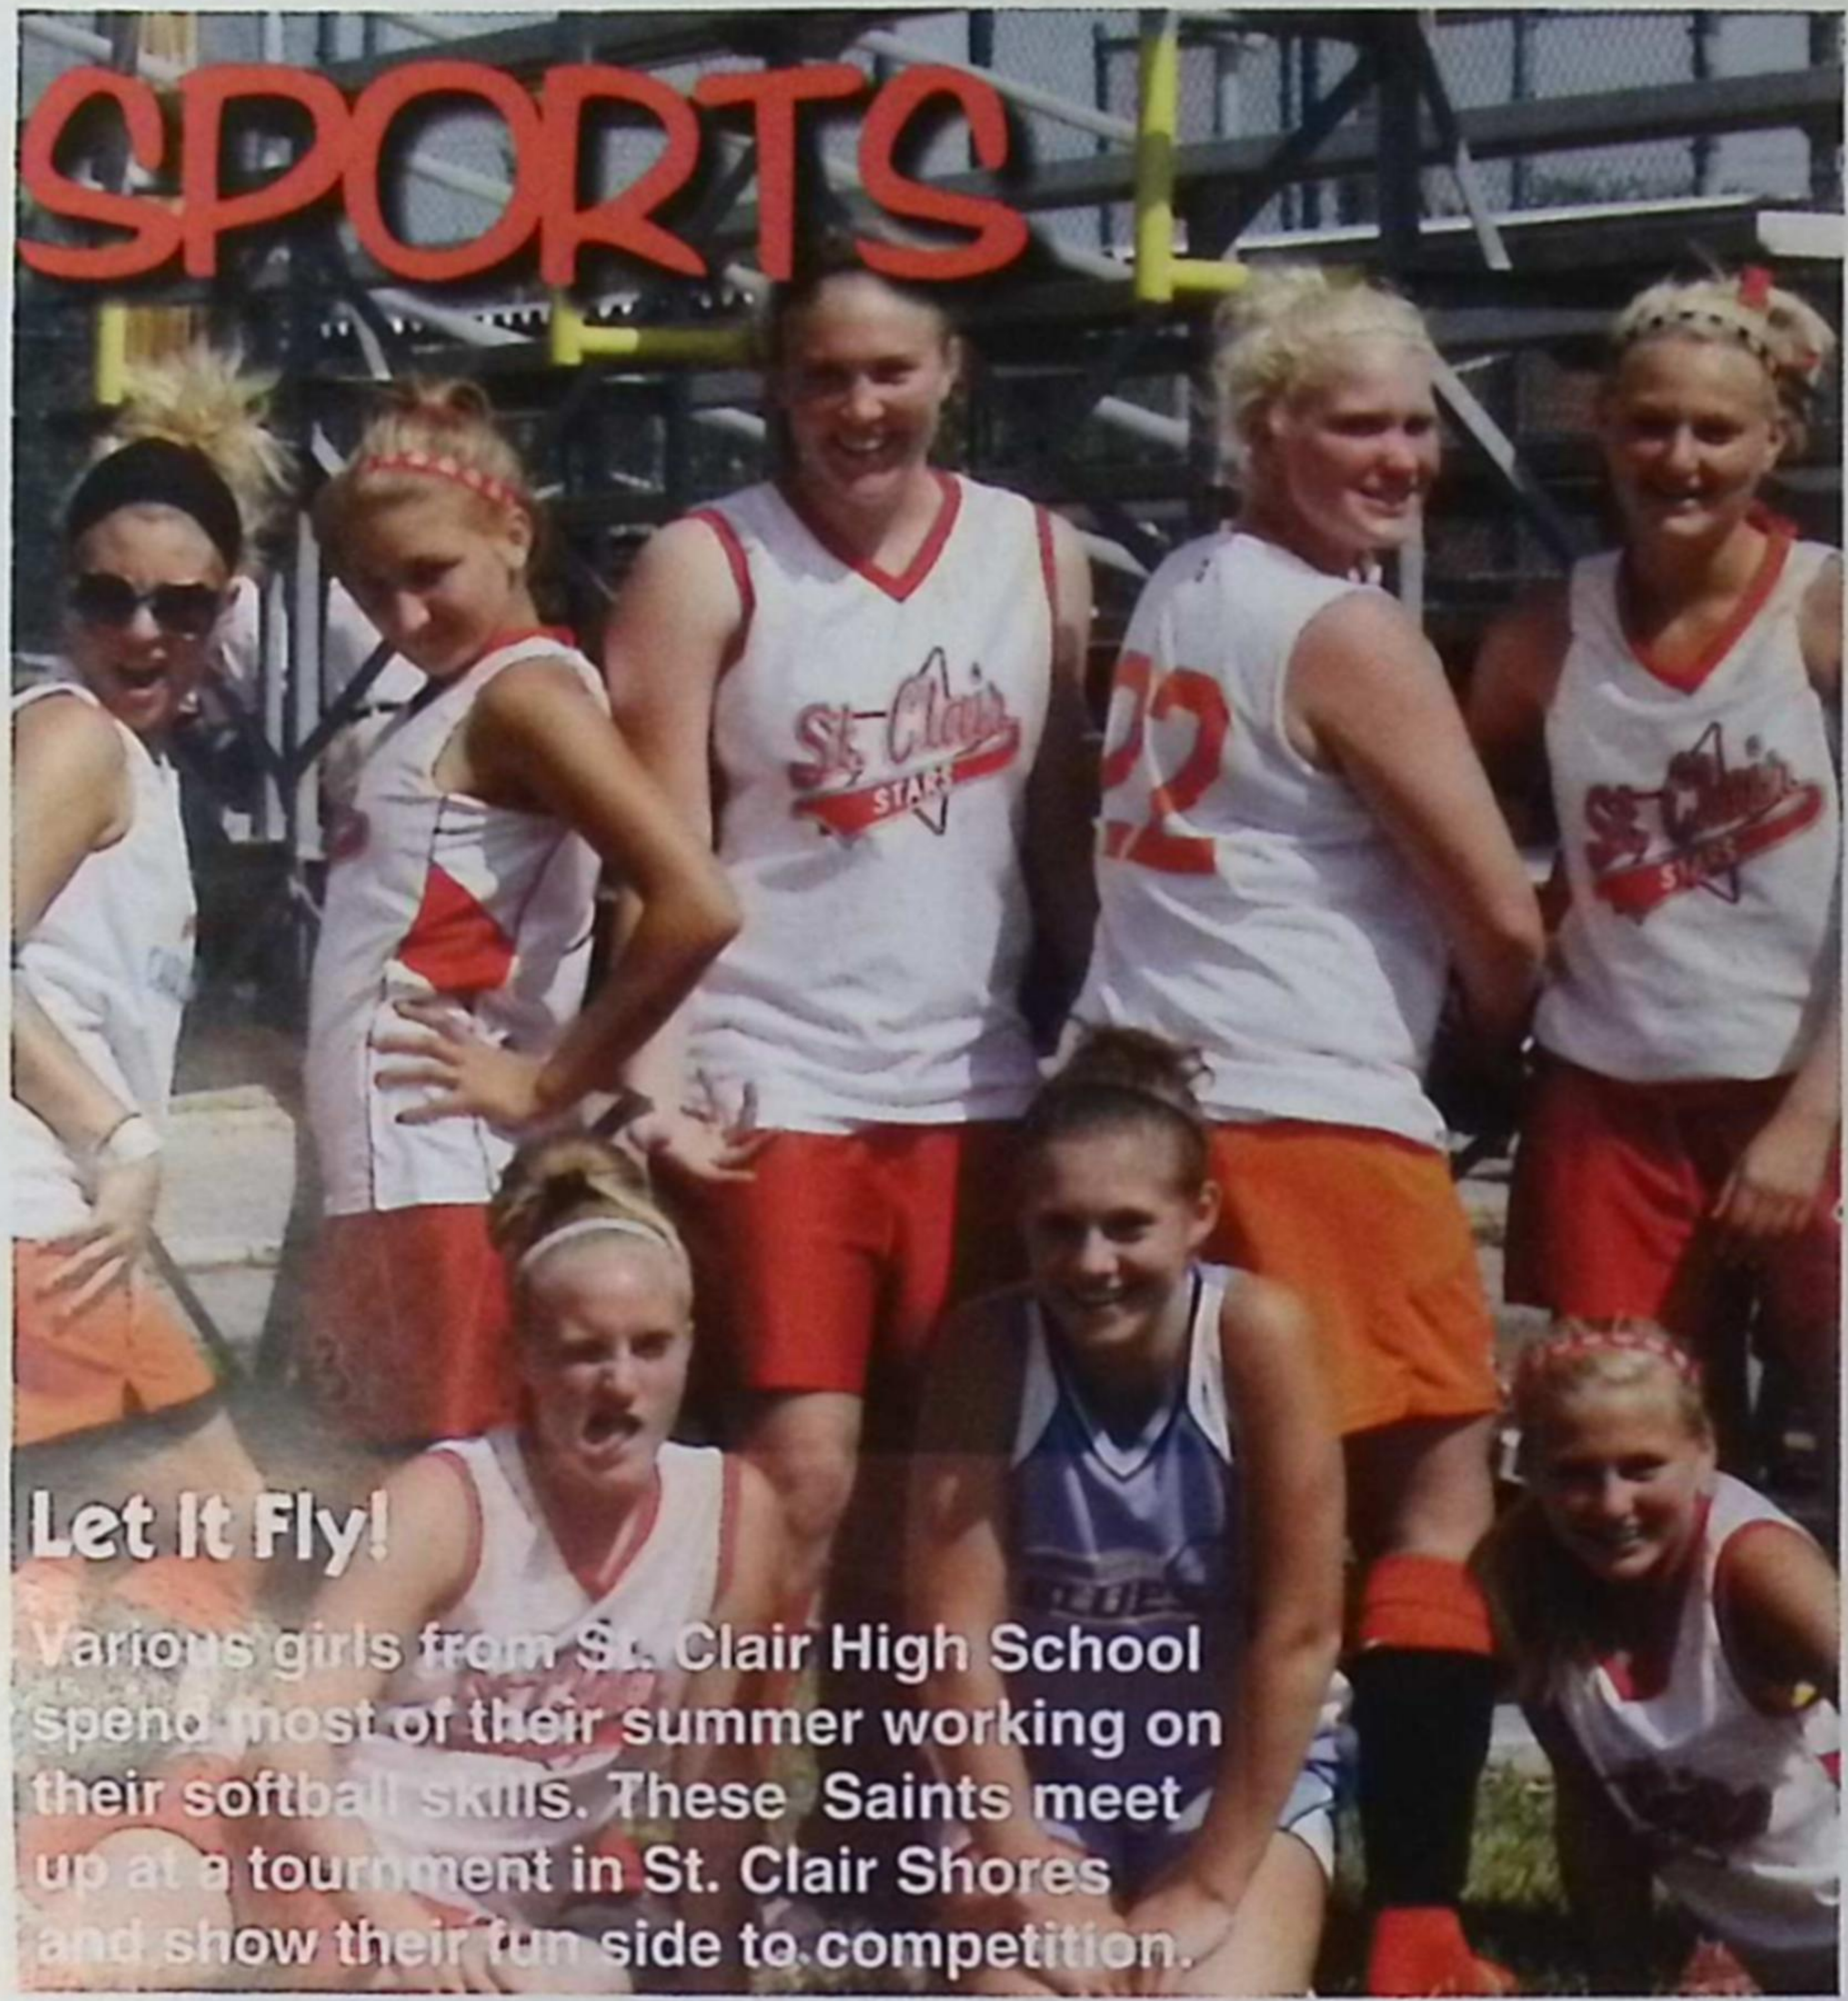
SUMMER SPORTS

New Place, New Game

At last the school year ended and everyone was excited for summer, some of our Saints were ready to begin their sport season A few athletes took their summer to work on their sport skills, and when it came to volleyball, our Lady Saints were honing their game skills for the upcoming year. At the same time, the girls involved with softball were getting ready for their teams' spring season The football players also made good use of their time over the summer by practing drills, hoping to have a good season So, while some of us were hanging out with friends, many Saints were hard at work getting ready to continue the winning tradition that has become an important part of our school.



Let It Fly!

Various girls from St. Clair High School spend most of their summer working on their softball skills. These Saints meet up at a tournment in St. Clair Shores and show their fun side to competition.

1. These football players make time for practice to gain more skils. Making sure they get all the drills done correctly, they have good reason to be pump up for the season. 2. Samantha Schweihofer dives into the pool, practing her starts, in order to bring time down during the varsity swim season. 3. Taking a practice swing to perfect her technique, Abbigal Schweihofer is sure to hit a homerun for her team. 4. Lauren Dombek ('12), Danielle Hanekow ('13), Lauren Bondy ('12), and Samantha Schmitz ('11), are ready for practice and hope to have a winning season. 5. Mysha Bryan and Erin Kenny ('13) are ready for volleyball practice even though they show their fun side on the court.

What was your favorite sport to be in over the summer?

"When practicing my skills for volleyball, my favorite part was spiking the ball and hitting it over the net. I was pretty good at spiking.Hopefully it will help me make the team in the fall."
-T. Stone ('13)

"When I was swimming this summer my favorite part would have to be learning to do all the strokes. That way I could feel confident as a freshman on the girls swim team."
-B. Markel ('13)

"My favorite part of my summer sport was meeting my coach of the freshmen volleyball team. It was nice to meet her after a long day at practice."
-T. Rossi ('13)

SUMMER TRYOUTS

Bump It Up!

Driving the ball successfully over the net with extreme force and precision is Kelsey Kerin ('12). What an incredible first impression she made on her new JV coach, Coach Smith!

A Fresh New Start

The school year has come to an end, the summer is in full bloom, and tryouts are right around the corner. Just as Saint Clair's students have adjusted to those lazy summer days, the nerves jolt back up as they prepare themselves to get back on their feet. Fall sports begin the new school year, and for many, they are considered a symbol of renewal, hard work, and what our school is all about. Tryouts are a vital part of an athlete's summer. Whether they make the final cut or fall slightly short, their efforts show the true meaning of dedication and determination that make us so proud to call them our own.

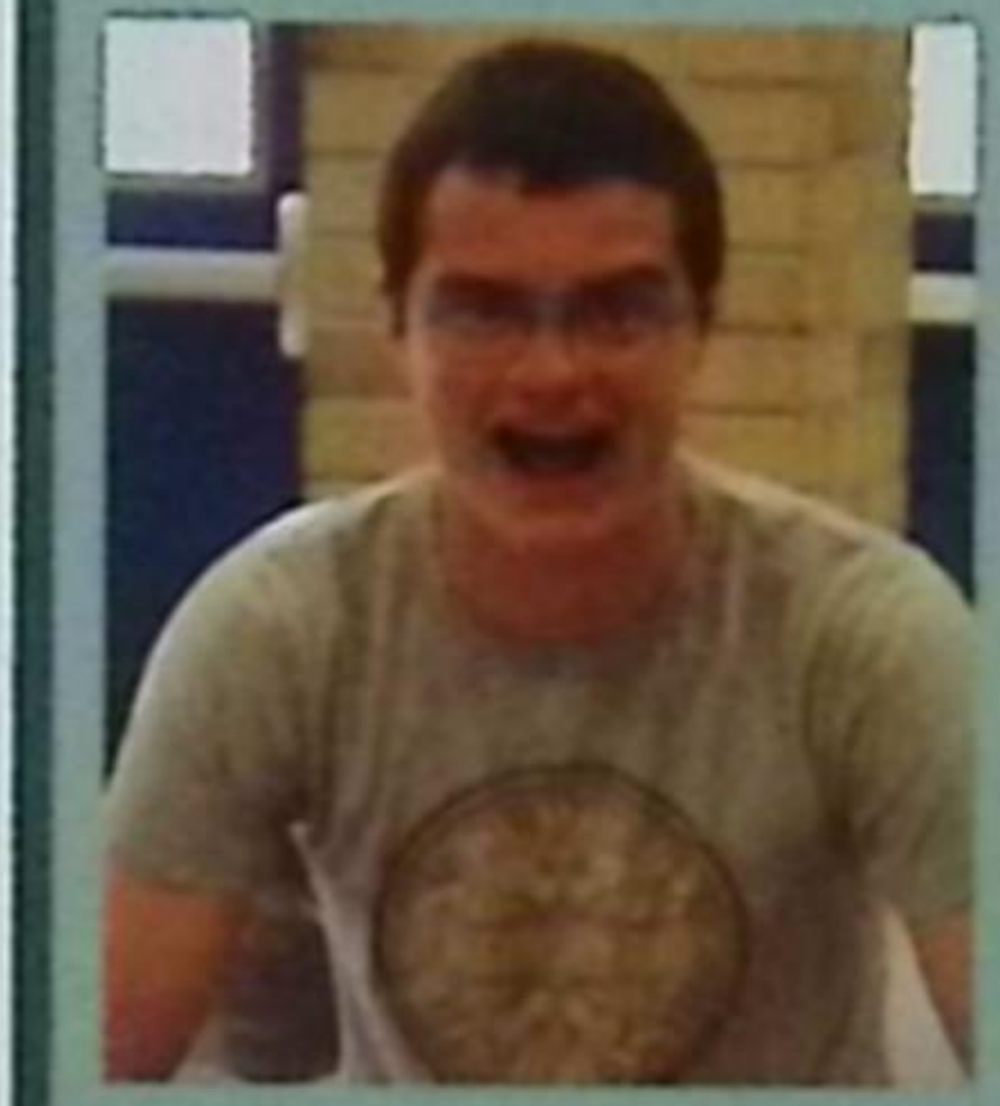
Varsity Swim

What did you do at tryouts to catch the coach's eye?



"I ran so fast and hard that I almost puked on Coach Davidson's shoe!"

-G. Gizowski ('10)

"When I'm up by the net, I'm trying my hardest, and when it's my best, the coach notices!"

-T. Johnson ('12)

"I did my splits, loud voices, and a million facials! I kept the biggest smile on my face and didn't let any criticism get to me."

-C. Sharrow ('12)

1. Varsity football's defensive players get some "one-on-one" time to tackle and push back their opponent. 2. Preparation and motivation are the only things on the minds of Grant Lapeer ('12) and Ryan Schuh ('12), as they wait anxiously for the play. 3. Running with a purpose, Derrick Laparl ('10) and Nick Brosky ('10) take it up a notch, ecstatically jogging even further ahead of Coach Davidson! 4. Conditioning with encouragement, Jenna Belanger ('11) drives herself to keep going, with the help of Ashley Schulte ('12). 5. Getting in on an inspiring pep talk from Coach Davidson, the varsity cross country team prepares for a route that's not exactly a walk in the park.

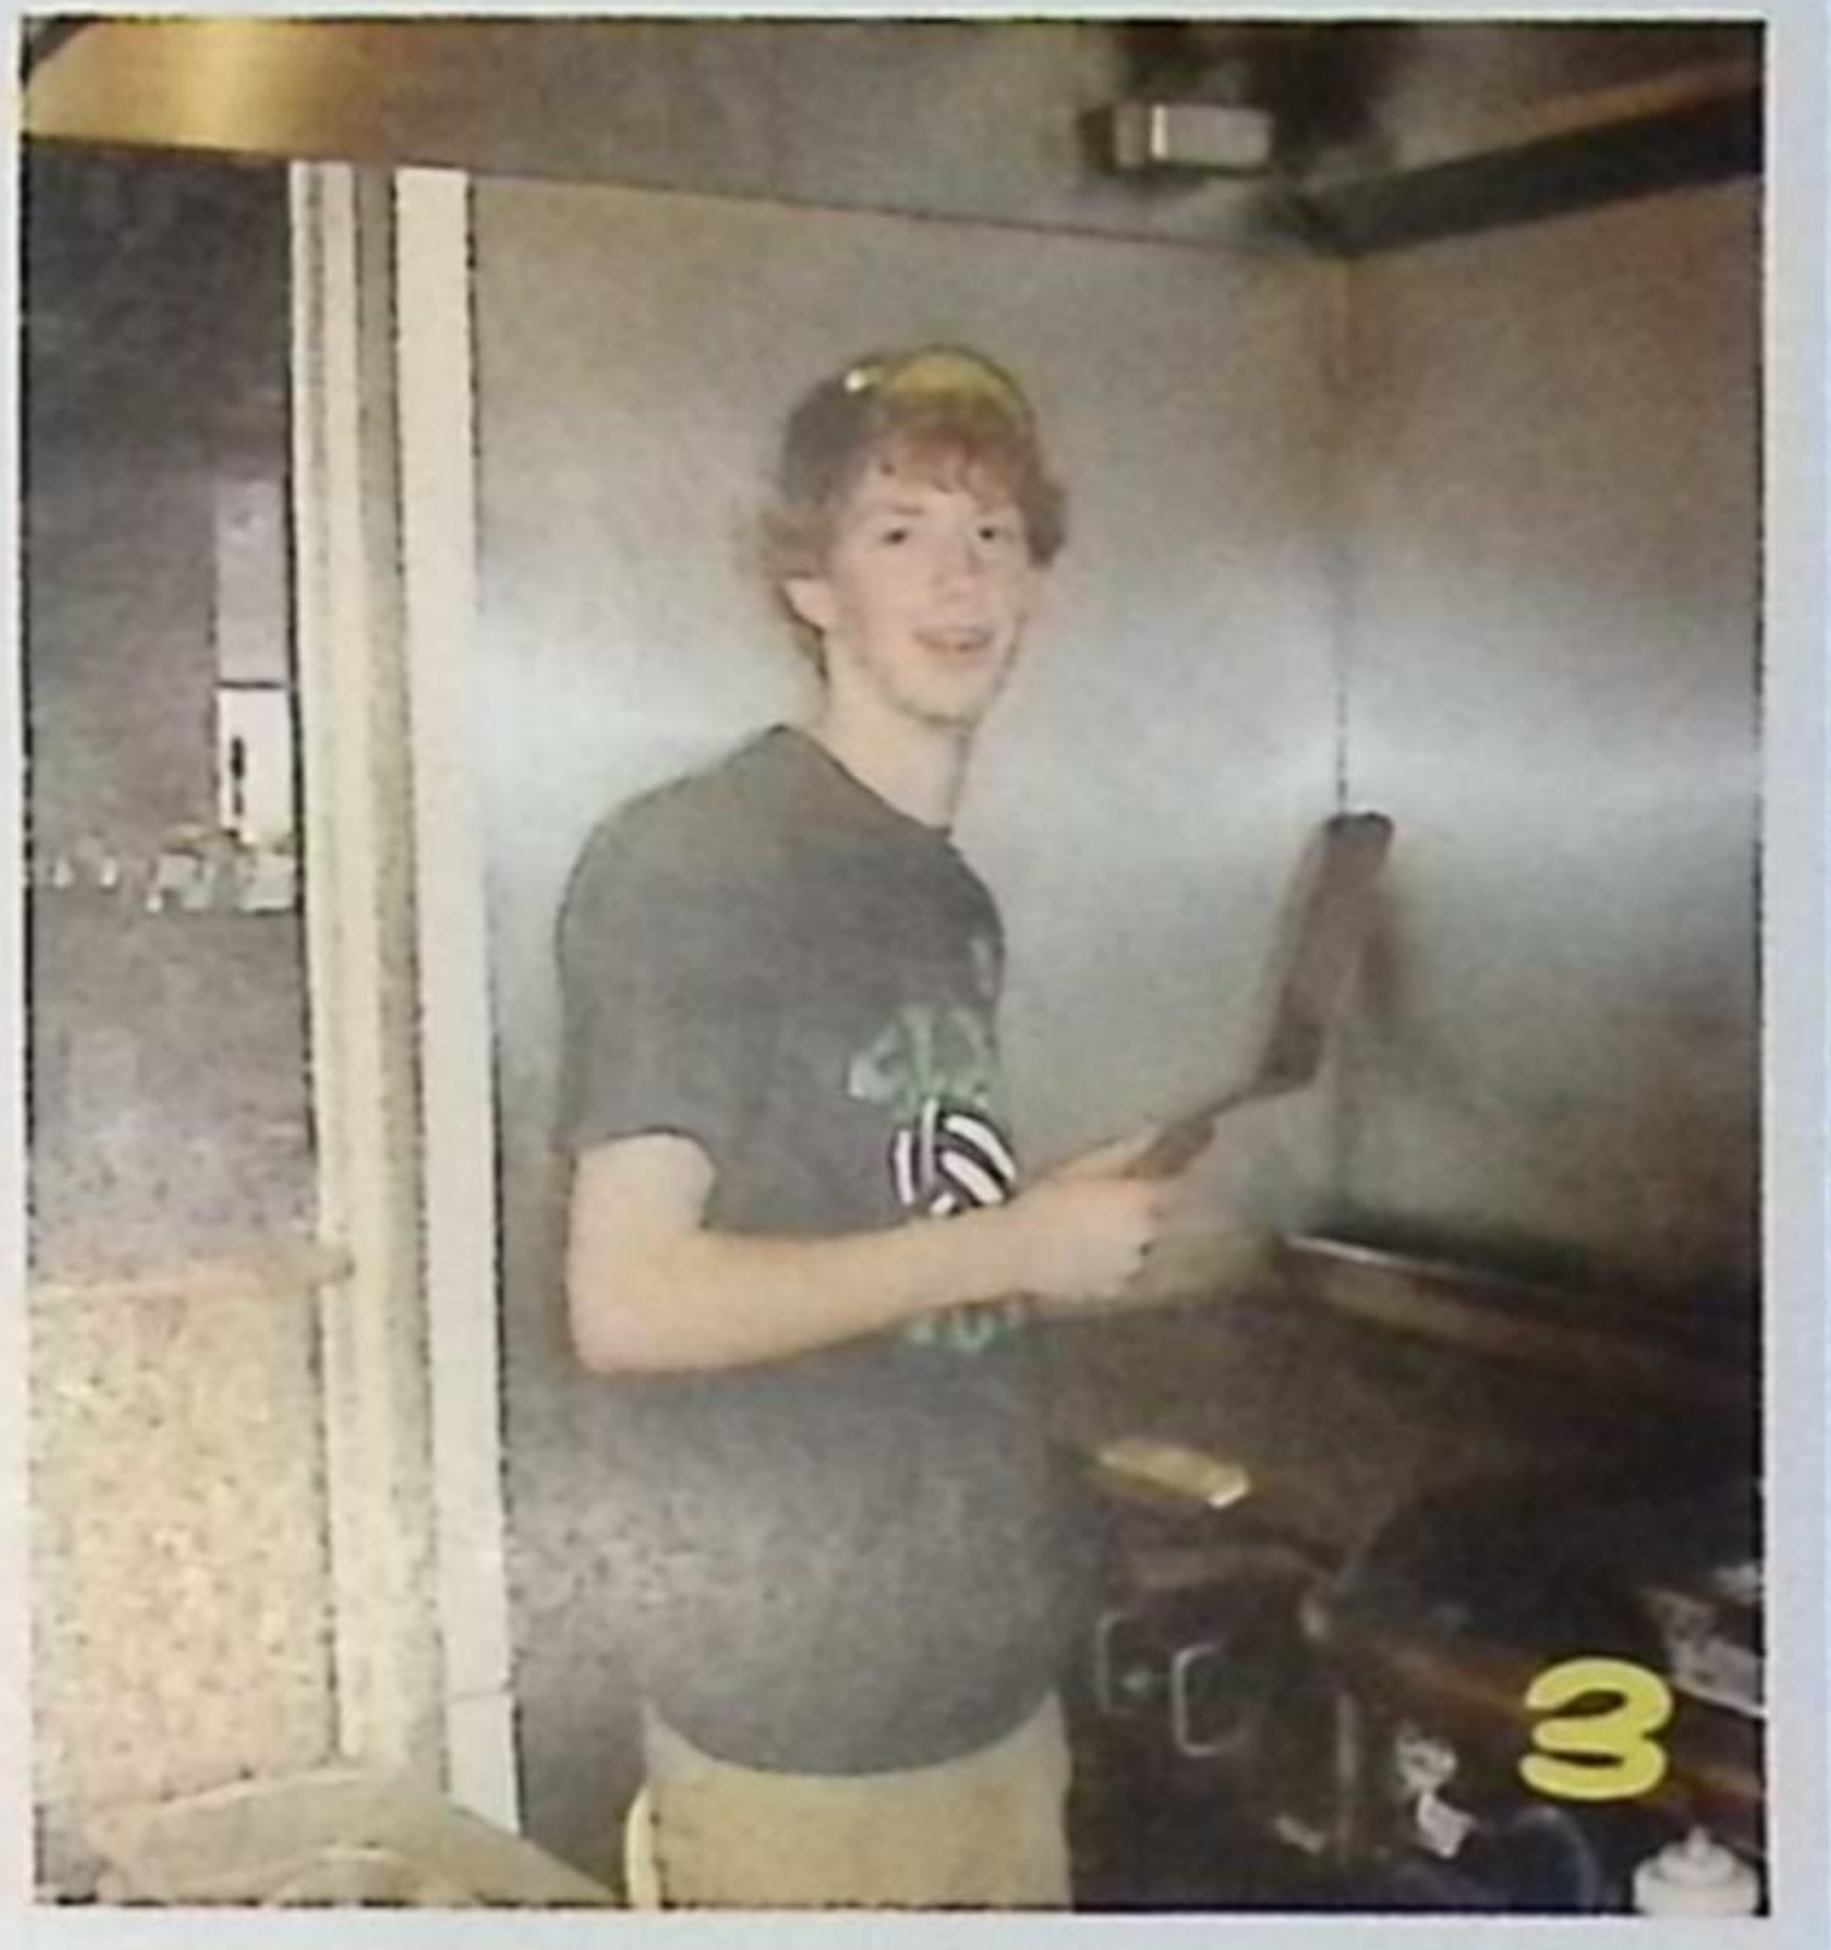
5. Flying by on a golf cart, Connor Kemp ('10) hurries to finish his last bit of maintenance work before heading home for the day.



What is the craziest thing that happend to you at work?

"It was raining one day, so we took the golf carts and raced them in a figure-8 race in the barn."
-E. Spaulding ('10)

"Well, I work at Bob Evans... not much happens there."
-C. Tierney ('10)

"I work at City Brew and one time I was viciously attacked by three bees while seven cars piled up waiting. Worst day ever!"
-S. Drummond ('10)

"Some kid tried to steal a peppermint patty at Bob Evans. They only cost 15 cents... what a cheapo." -A. Quail ('11)

All Work... No Play

The students at St. Clair High School were busy this summer making lots of money. Summer jobs were popular, especialy when gas starting shooting back up to unbelievable prices. While some were hanging out, soaking up the sun downtown, these students were working hard to make enough to pay for their fun summer activities. Their jobs ranged from cooking greasy food, maintenance work on a golf course, to working on a family farm. These students have put lots of time and effort into their job to make it worth while. Although they may have had to work a lot, they definitely had an amazing summer.

3. With an $8.50 drink in hand, A. Bernardi ('10) and L. Glombowski ('10) enjoy their expensive, yet delicious, lemonade as they wait for the Blink 182 concert to begin.
4. Keeping in contact with her friends, T. Waren ('13) texts to keep in touch over the summer.
5. Holding a beat, H. Schunck ('12) practices her drumming over the summer for fun.

Summer Memories

Sometimes summer is more than just hanging out with friends. Sometimes, it's playing an instrument to keep fresh in band. Maybe it's riding your dirtbike to let off steam. Other times it is just as simple as going to a great concert and having some fun! Summer hobbies are what we do to waste the day, and to have some fun before school starts again. It's what we do to make our summer memorable and worth while, because before you know it, we are back to work again!

SUMMER CAMPS

Summer Vacation...or Vacation from Summer

As summer was on the wane, and weeks turned to months; the days become longer, and those of us taking advanced placement classes actualy had to start to do homework; the summer had reached a lul. Most of our days early in the summer consisted of updating facebook and tweeting. The activities that once consumed every night have now thinned to once a week. School activities began to filter into our lives. From a space camp to Student Council camps, St. Clair High School students of al ages found themselves at numerous camps this summer; it seemed as though everyone packed their bags for a vacation from summer.

Helping Hands This Summer

Courtney Moore ('11) attended a Teen Service Camp this summer to help out in three areas around her camp site. From community service, to the high ropes course, there was never a dull moment.

1. The Saint Clair Saints grab some food after an intense drill at their Lakeport football camp this summer. Matt Stone ('10) makes sure he's the first one to get through the buffet line. 2. Dannie Fountain ('11) completes tasks done by actual astronauts at an eight day space camp. 3. Leaders Anita Chitwood, Kathleen Duemling, and Gabby Gauthier ('10) relax in the shade after a long morning of leadership learning activities. 4. Saints JV volleyball player Linzi Breuhan ('13) works hard on perfecting her ace this summer with her dedicated team behind her. 5. Our Saints Marching Band works hard in the hot summer sun to learn the exciting half time show, featuring hits from Ray Charles.

Q. What was the hardest song to learn at Band Camp?

A. "I would have to say the final song, "America the Beautiful." We had a few unexpected problems in the first performance for our fans. However, we restarted and finished strong!"

-C. Jones ('10)

Q. What is the hardest drill you did at camp?

A. "Touch Ten, you have to touch ten balls before you can get out of the drill and they are thrown all over."

-C. Womack ('10)

Q. What is the weirdest thing you did at camp this year?

A. "There was a bird outside our tent making weird noises. So I said, "Do you hear that? There's a killer-man-eating-walrus outside!!" I asked Tori a question and I didn't like her answer, so I'd make the walrus-bird noise: 'WAH WAH!'"

FALL DIVISION

The end of summer and beginning of fall quickly became a reality when students returned to school for Saints Days. On these specially designated days, students had their pictures taken, received their schedules, and got their textbooks. By having students take care of all of these tasks prior to the beginning of school, it helped them get back into the swing of things and prepared them for the first day.

Going back to school after summer vacation can be tough...during the first days of school, along with getting their morning routines down, students also have to worry about all of their new teachers and classes. But, other than the actual schoolwork, everyone seemed thrilled to see friends, attend Friday night football games again, and they began to look forward to Homecoming. On fall weekends, many students enjoy hay-rides, apple-picking, and corn mazes, and no matter where their interests lie, there are plenty of activities to keep us busy during the fall months.

Making Their Mark!

The beautiful summer sun was no comparison to the bright emotions on every students' face during "Saints Day." Whether it was getting their pictures taken for their ID. cards, or organizing their lockers to make them feel like home; every student was getting geared up to start the new school year. Yet, for the seniors, this day was the start of their grand finale; one that will be remembered forever.

> "Life moves pretty fast. If you don't stop and look around once in a while, you could miss it." - Ferris Bueler's Day Off

The last football season, the last homecoming, and the last chance to create that special moment.. It's the once in a lifetime chance for them to place their painted hands on a canvas, and leave a part of themselves at St. Clair High school forever.

MY MOMENT

Alayssia Jabiro ('10)

"I am VERY afraid of heights! So when my boyfriend, Dennis, took me to Cedar Point I was terrified of what might happen when we actually got in line for The Dragster. I felt like I was going to faint as I watched the ride make its way to the very top and then fall back down the wrong way; I was horrified. On the verge of crying, I sat in my seat, clenched onto the bar, and closed my eyes. After I made it to the end of the ride I was so pumped up that we ran back in line immediately! It was the BEST day to end my summer and begin my final school year."

-A. Jabiro ('10)

It's a Celebration

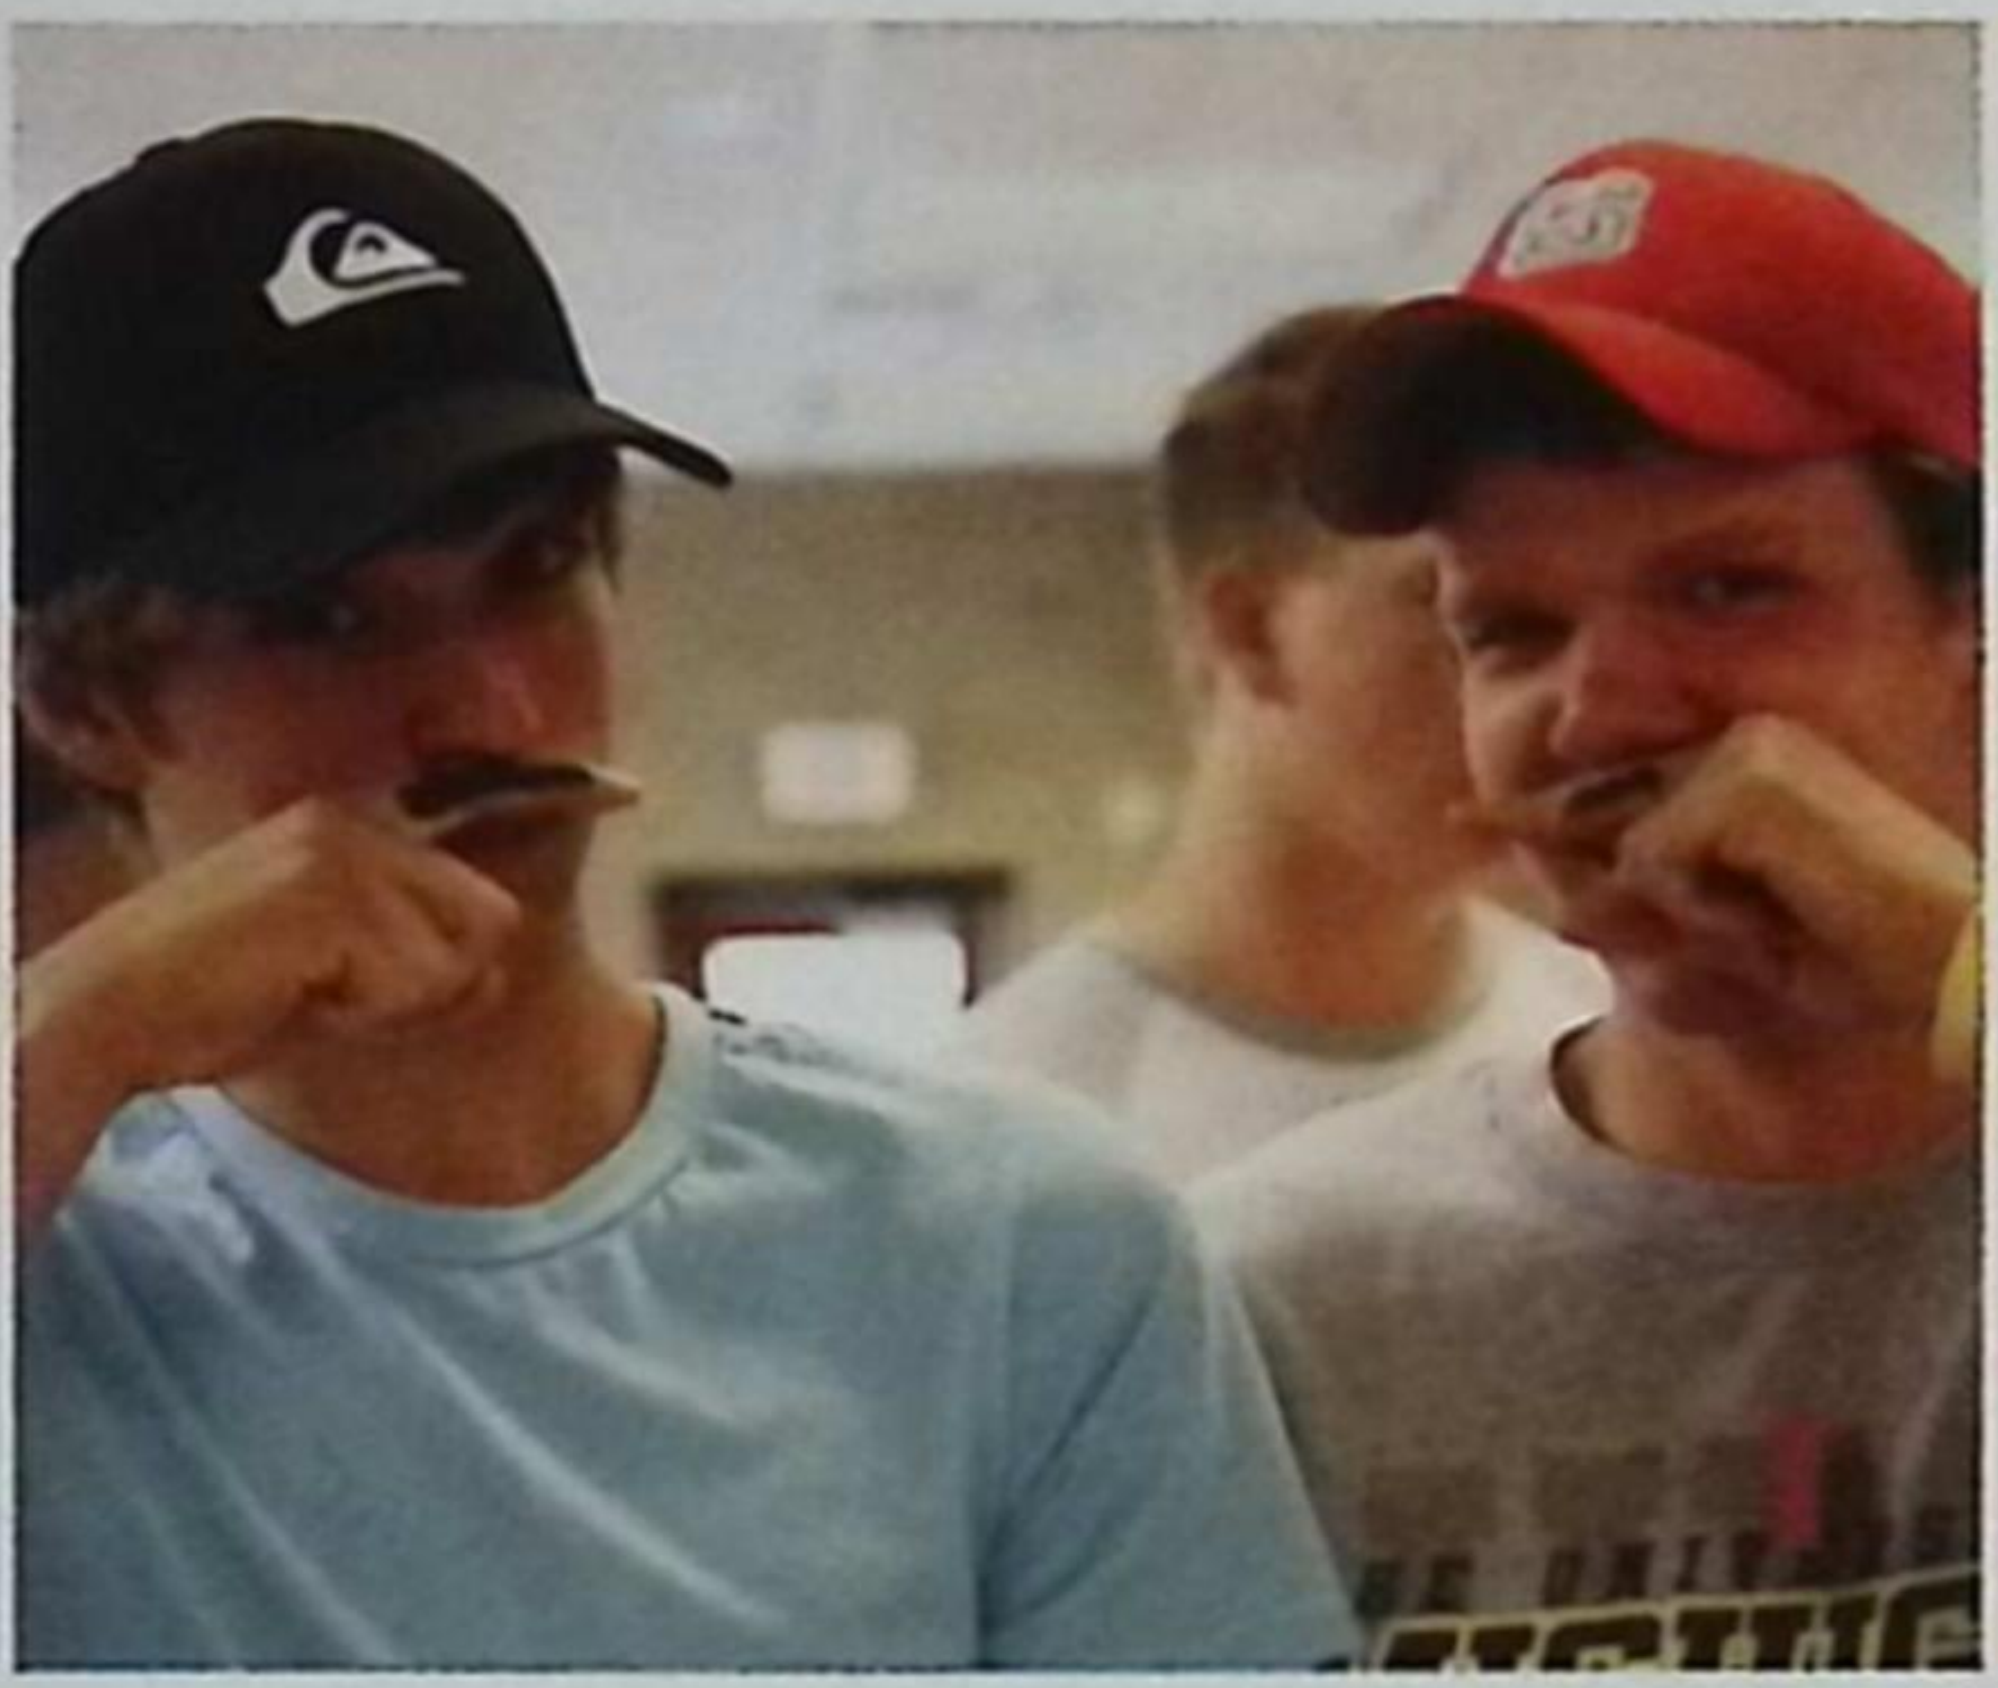
Kicking off the new school year, Christian Jones, Rebecca Loftis, and Ashley Gura ('10), celebrate at the front entrance as they greet all of the new SCHS students attending freshmen orientation.

KEEPIN' IT SILLY

Ian Campbell ('12) listens carefully to Mr. Carlson as he gives direction to Student Council at the beginning of an eventful day. Dressed in his silliest attire, he successfully shows the incoming freshmen that high school is all the fun that it is made out to be.

ALL KNOTTED UP

Kathryn Roggenbuck ('10), L. Dombeck ('12), and Cody Armstrong ('11) work together to prove that this ice breaker game can easily be beaten. After the time was finally up, the group of students laughed their way onto the next activity.



1. Eagerly waiting in line, Luke Paulun and Mark Durham ('10) show off their homemade props.

2. Sharing summer stories with her friends, Taylor Stone ('12) laughs amongst her huddled group.

3. Andraya Jourgenson ('10) enjoys a little bit of sun as she waits for her Student Council meeting to start.

4. With books in hands, Aryana Bryan ('10) keeps a smile on her face as she struggles to her locker.

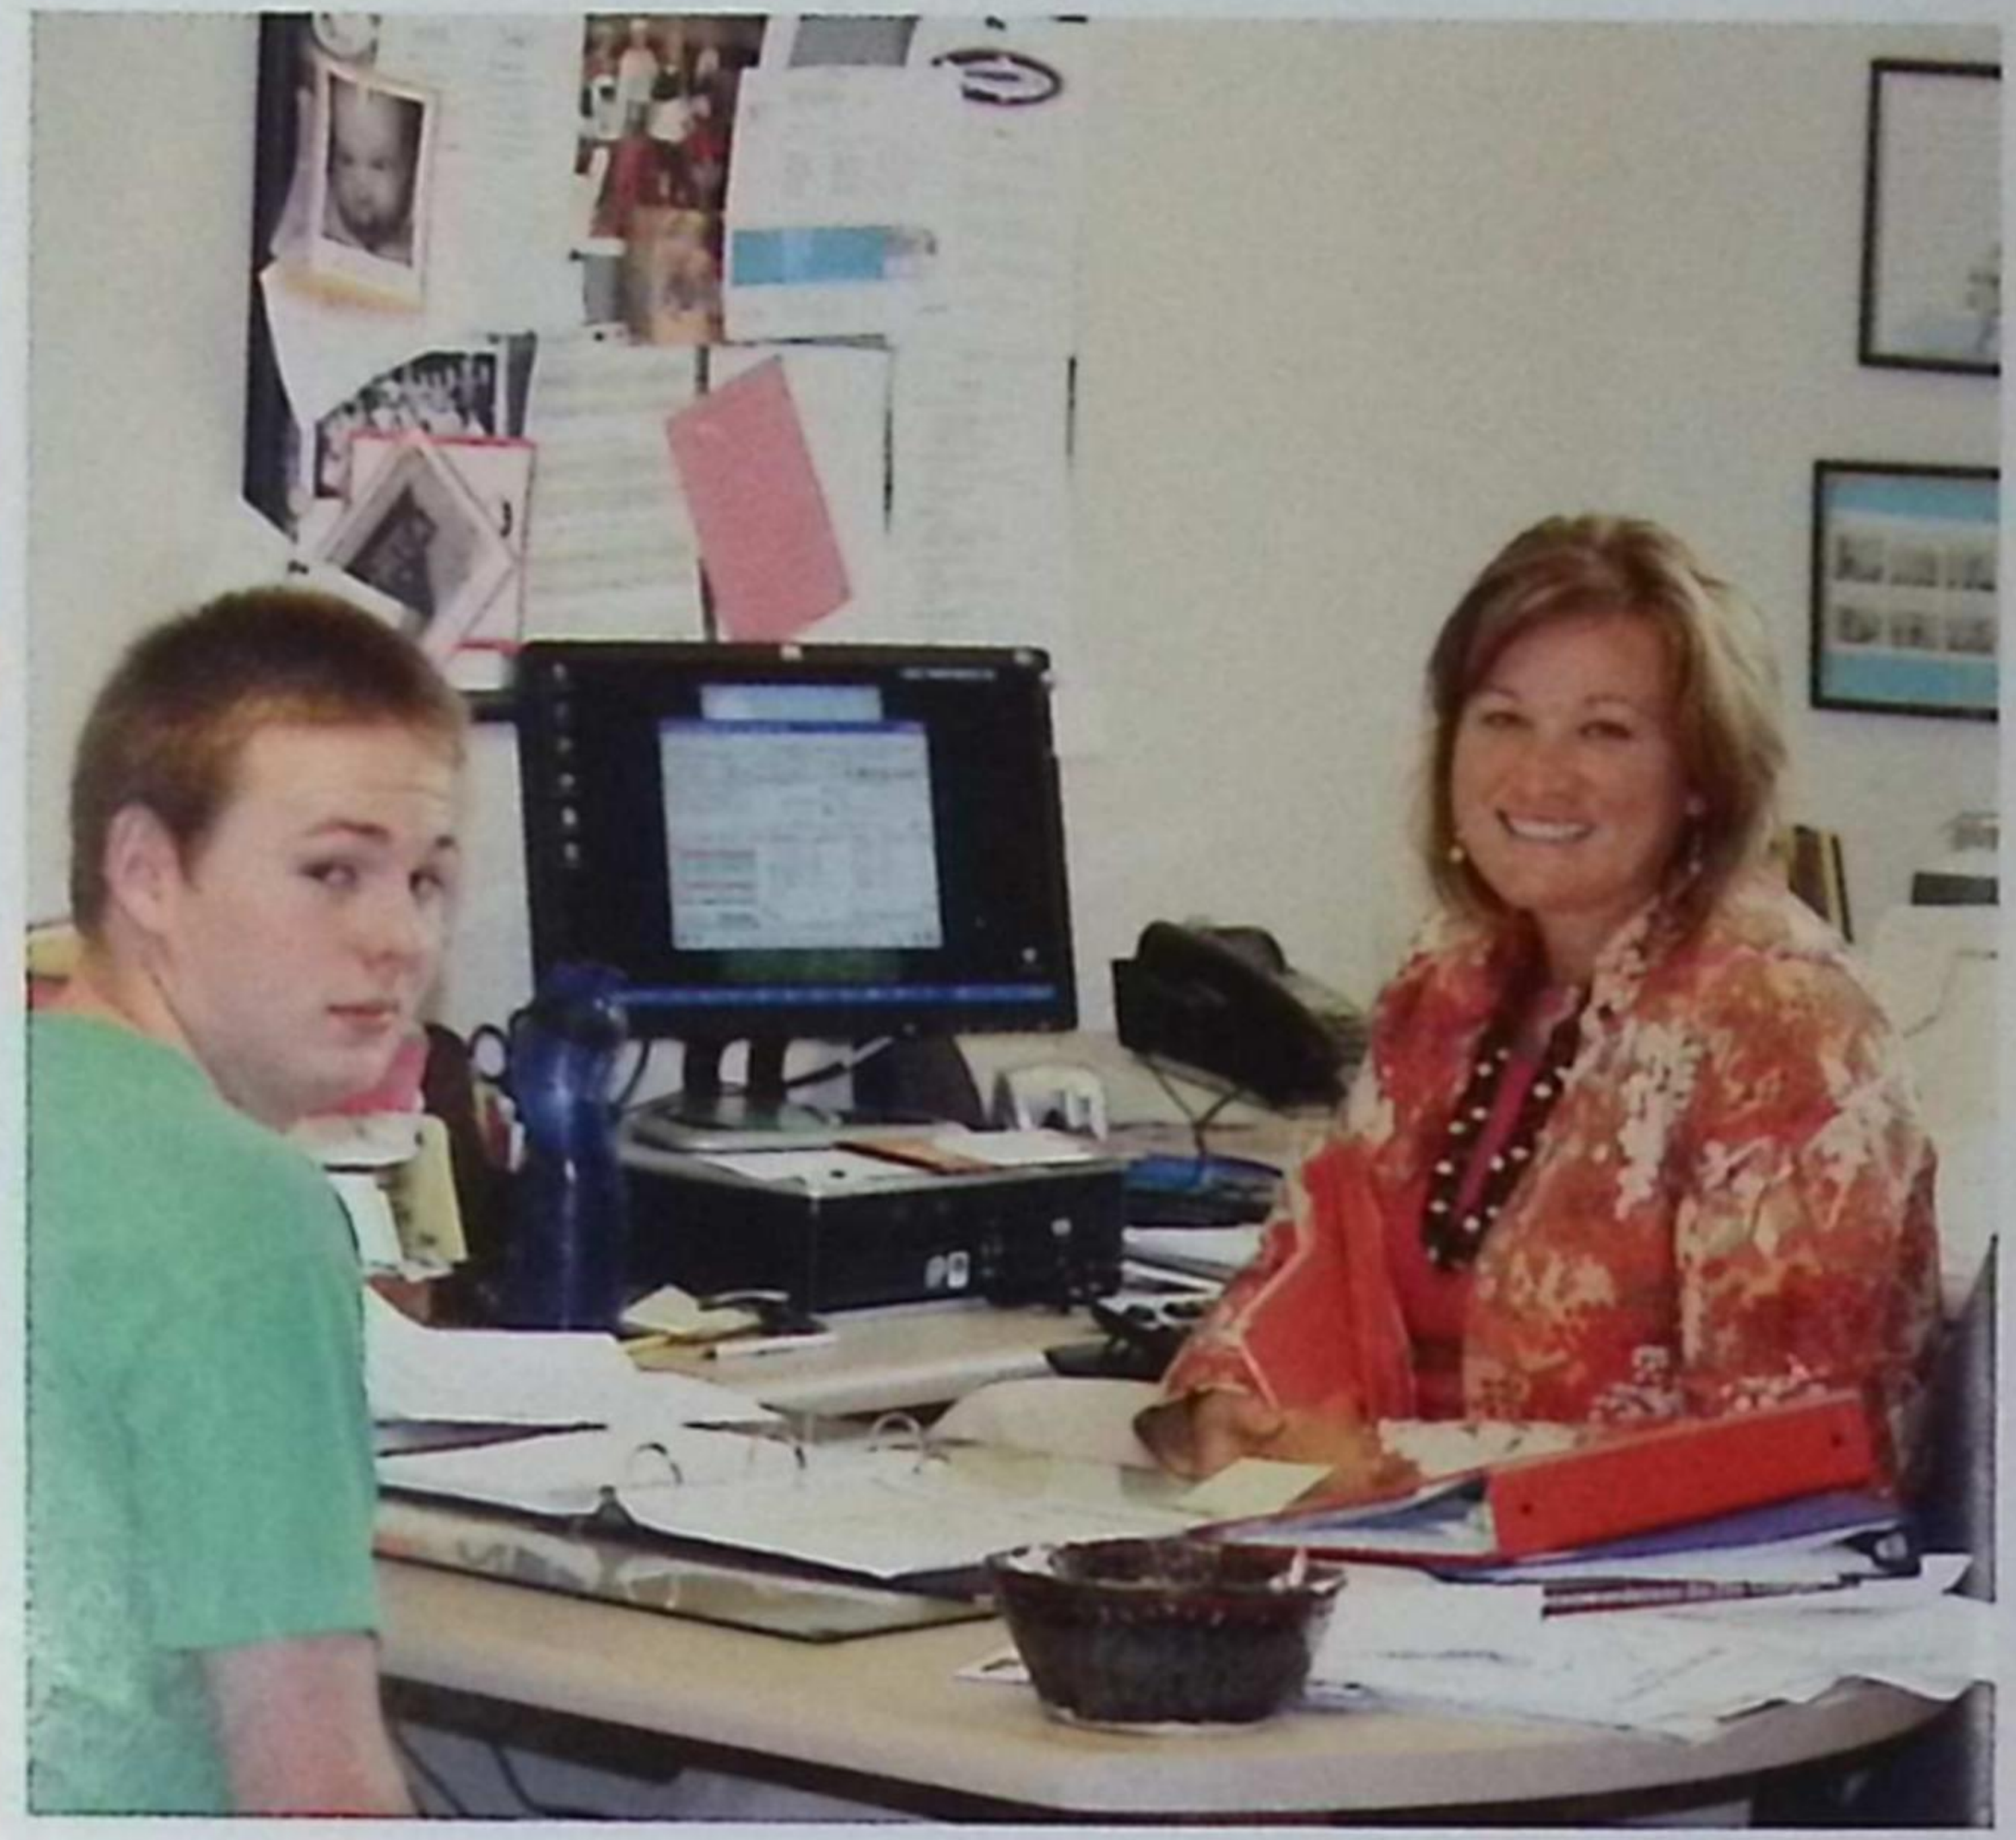
A Fabulous Line-Up

Wake up, set up; dress up, pictures galore; dance it up, party it up; all of this takes place on the crucial day of Homecoming. All assembled at Kaitlyn Davis's ('11) house, these junior girls handle the stress with ease while taking pictures on the dock before continuing on the hectic Homecoming timeline.

Home Away from Home

In the crazy twists and turns every student takes during their senior year, guidance counselors like Mrs. Higgans always seem to have the unattainable answers needed to navigate the stormy waters between high school and life outside of these St. Clair High walls.



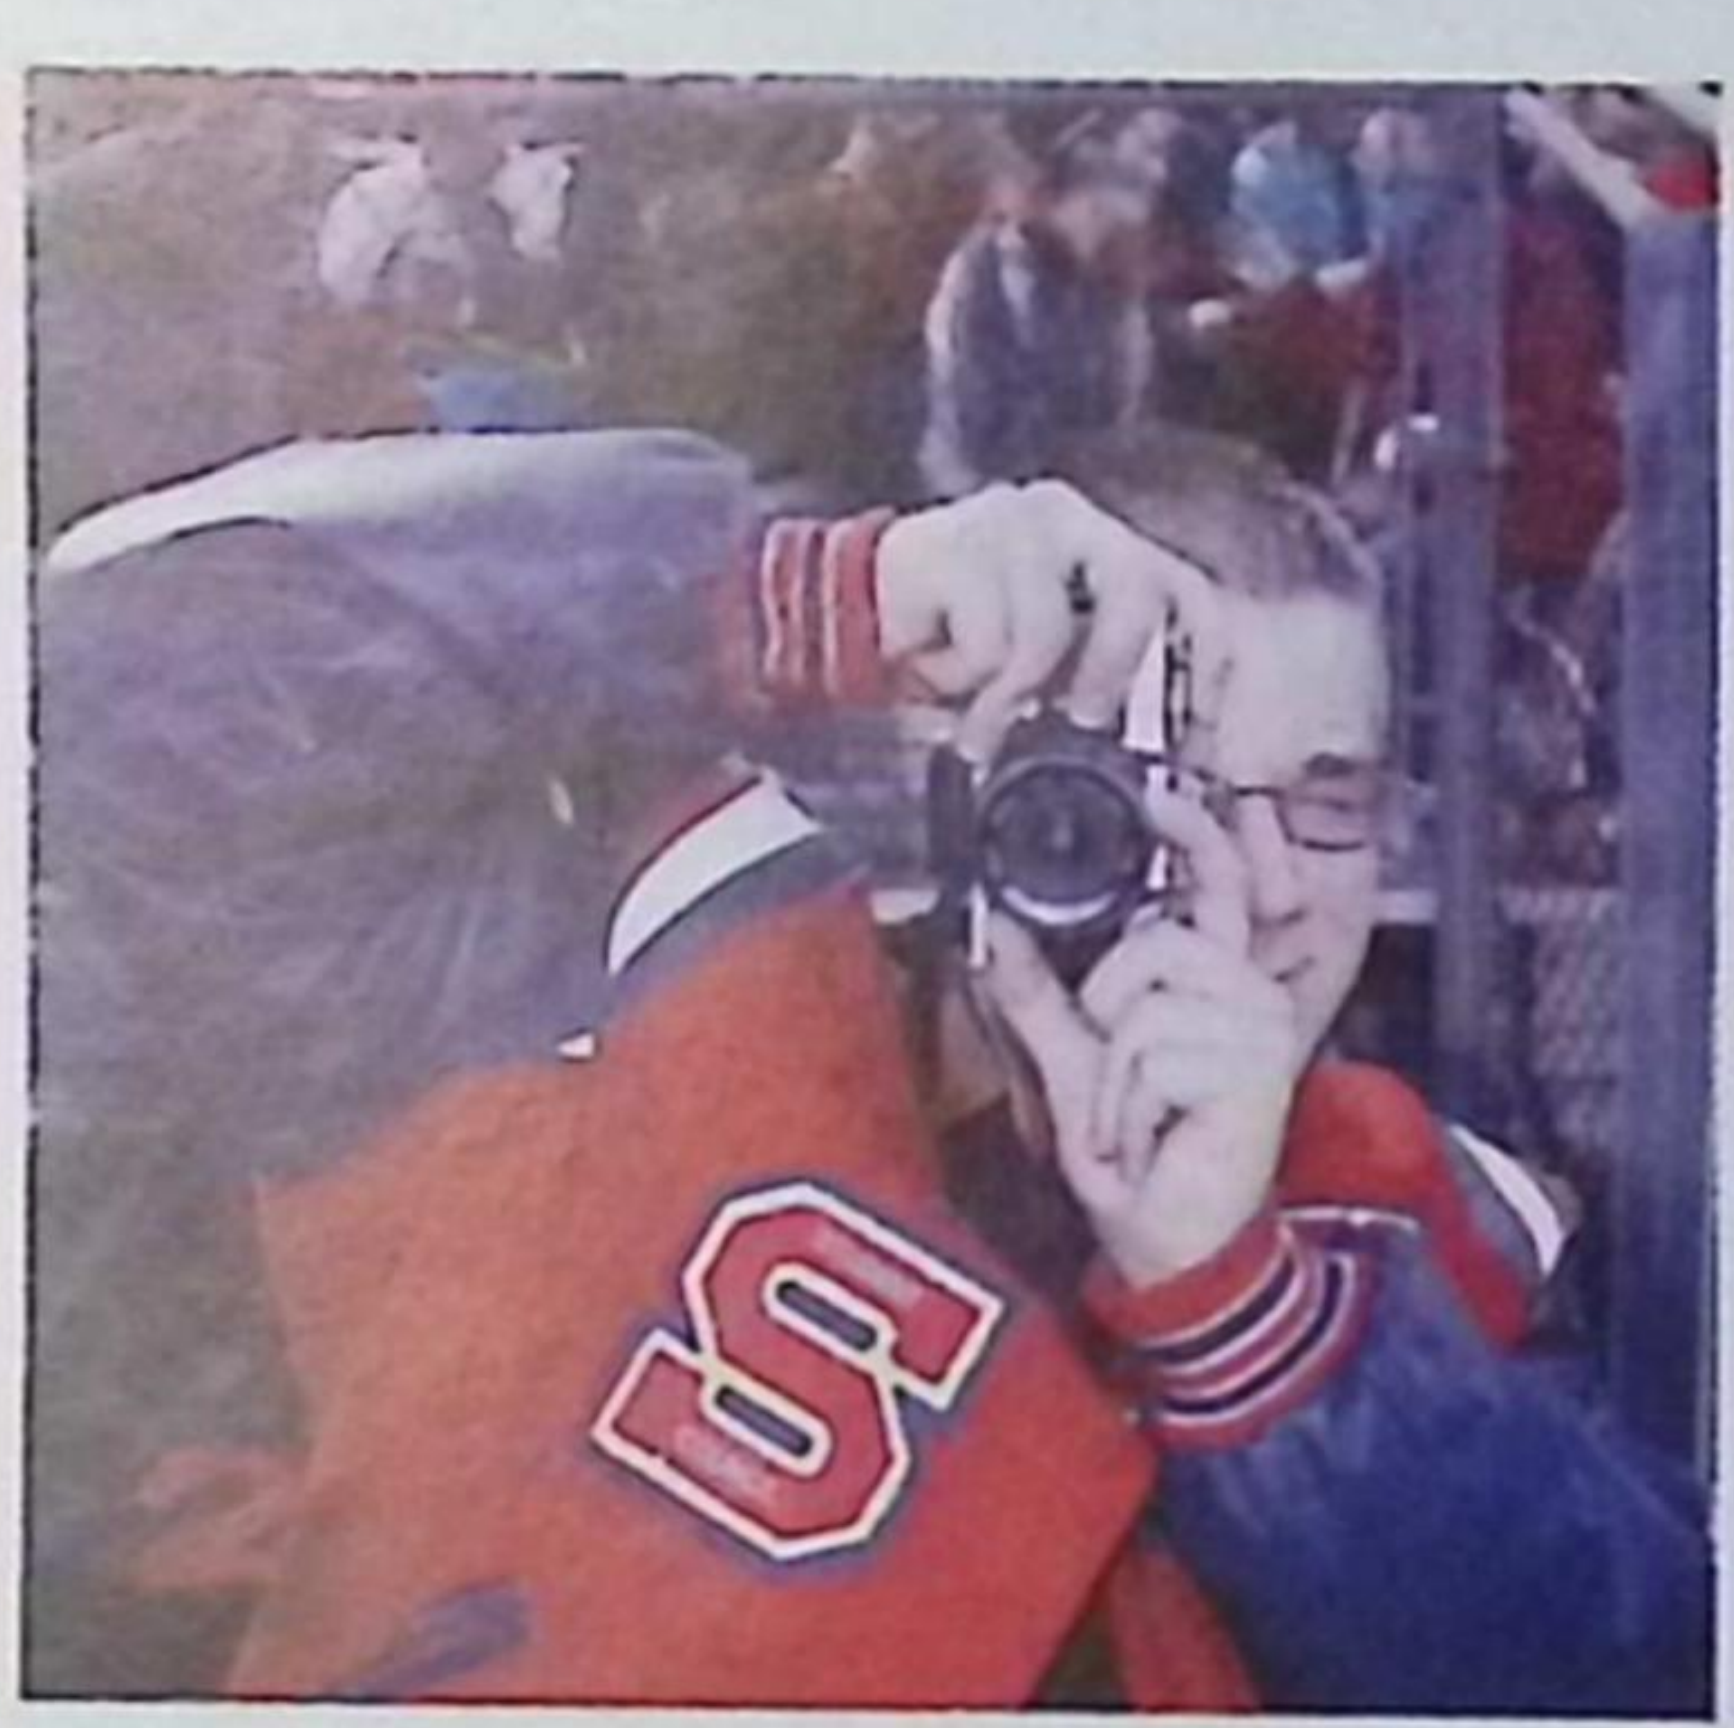
What is the cheapest costume you've ever worn for Halloween?

"The cheapest costume I ever wore was a few years ago. I was a box robot; I basically just wore a box for a costume. It was great."
-R. Couls ('12)

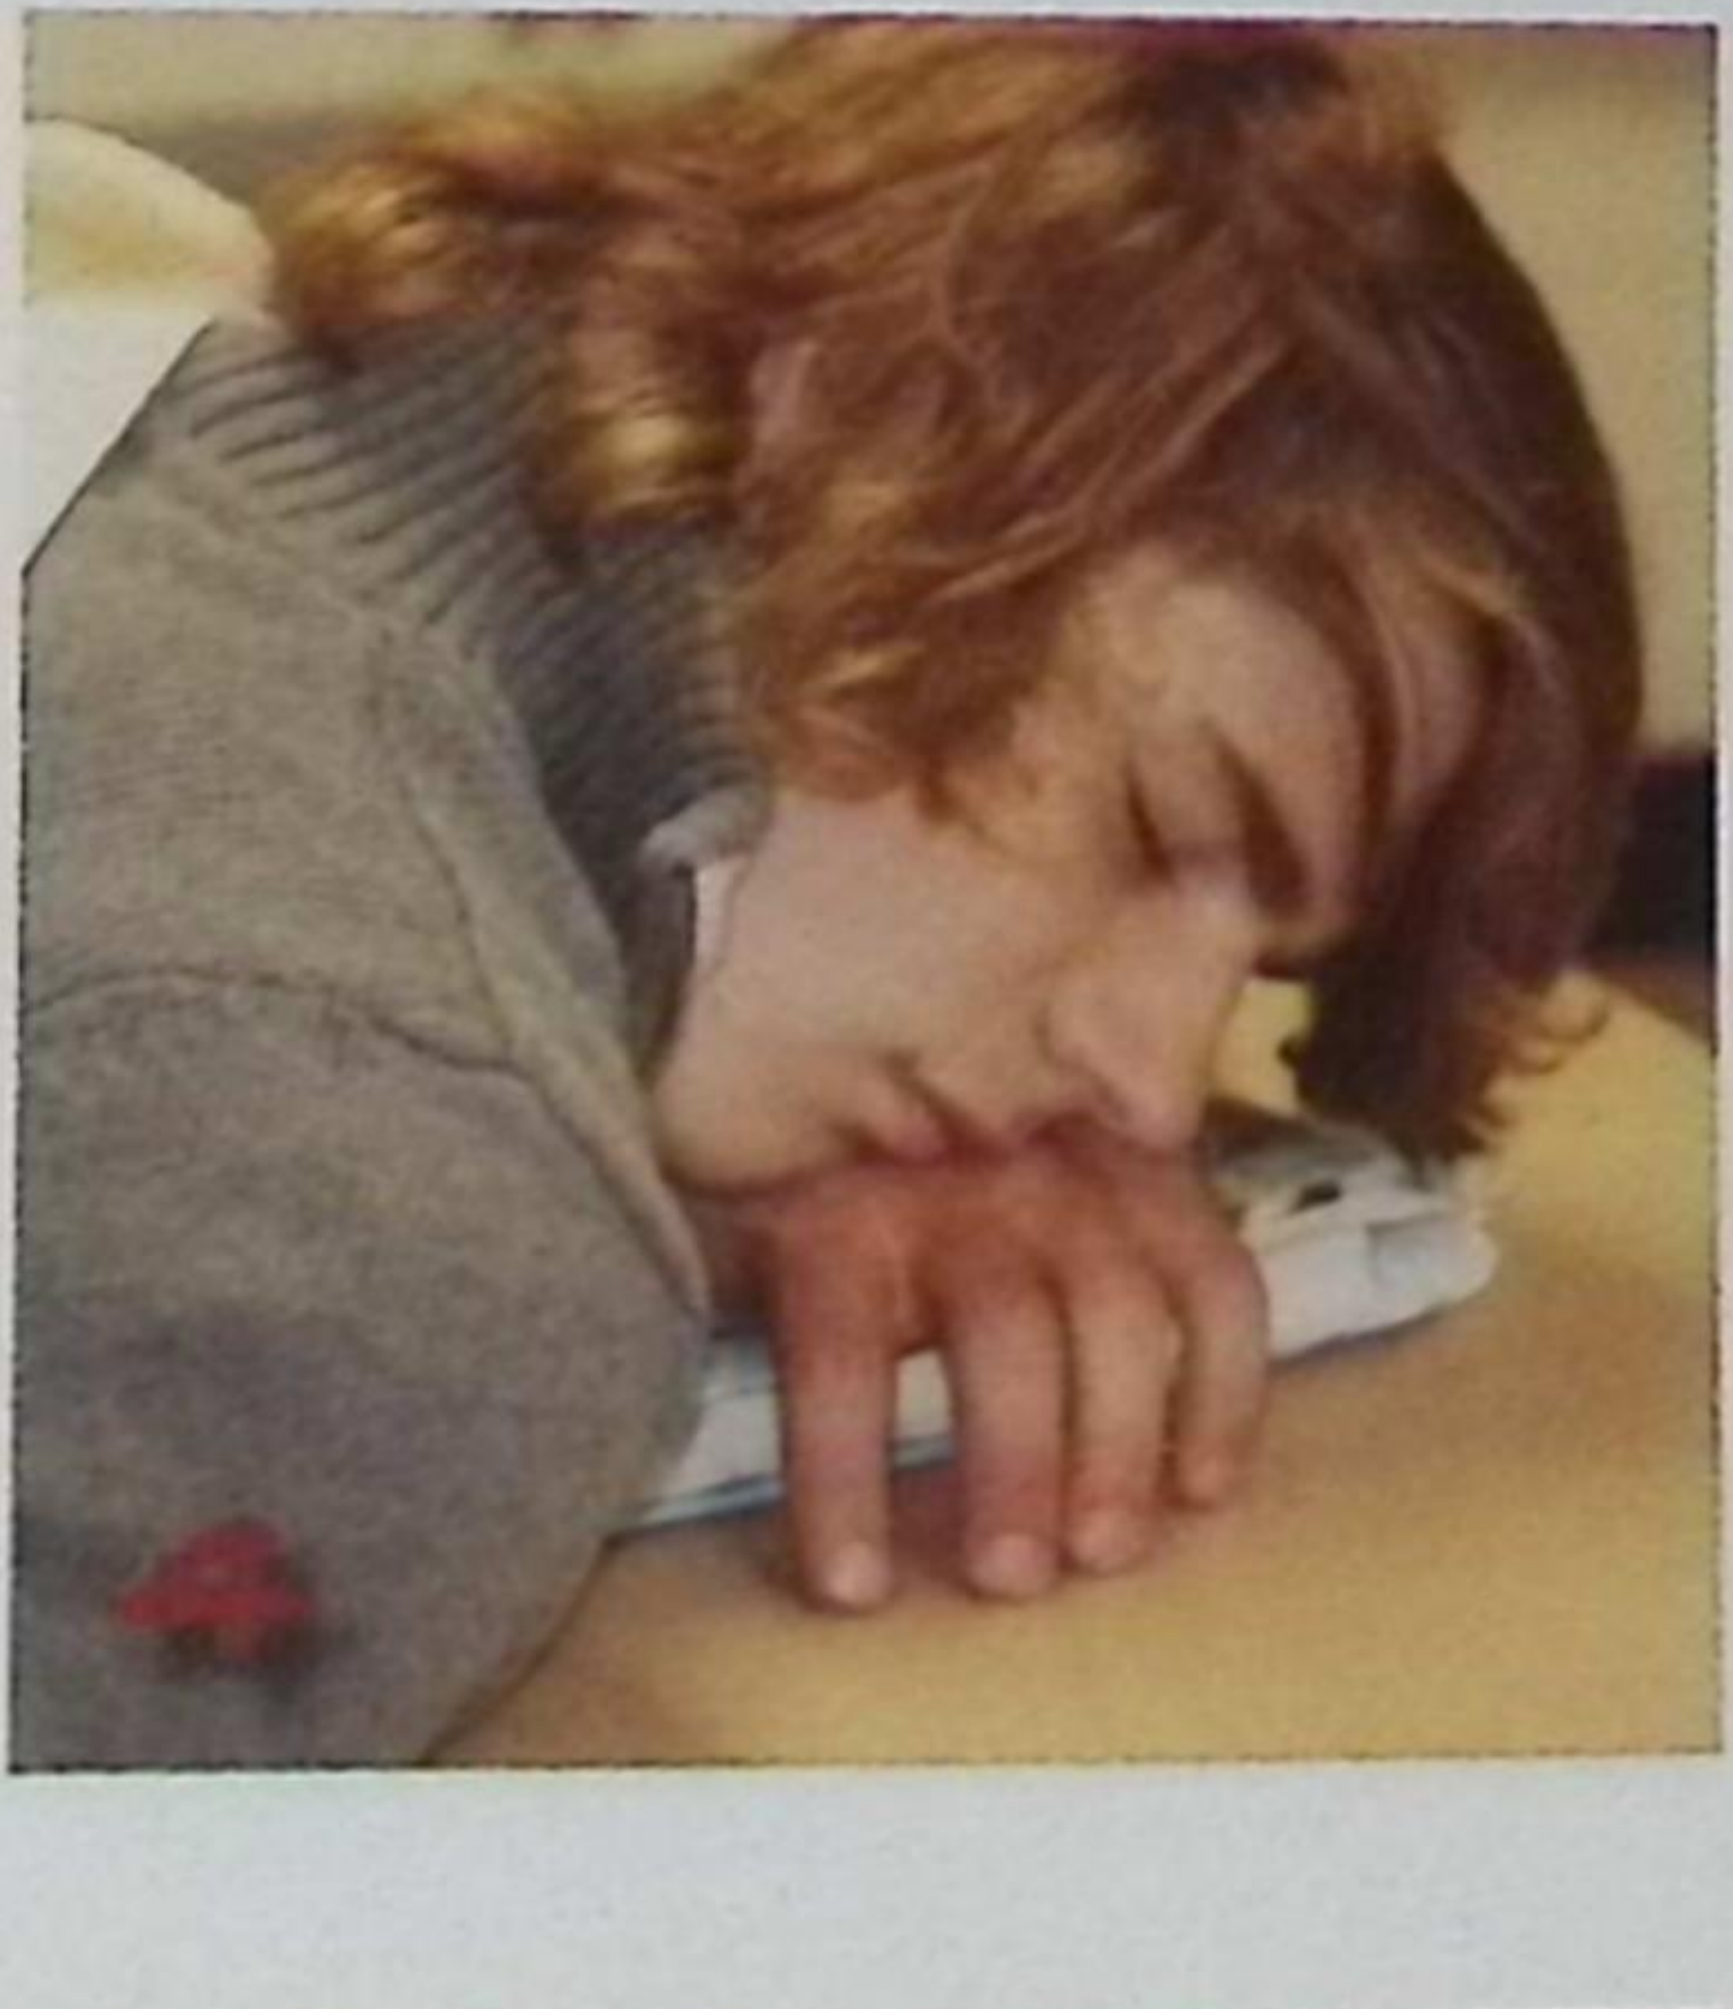
"After going as GI Jones for three consecutive years I believe that that was the cheapest. I had a real helmet and gas mask too!"
-C. Jones ('10)

"I went as a garbage bag one year. Literally, a garbage bag."
-M. Fry ('12)

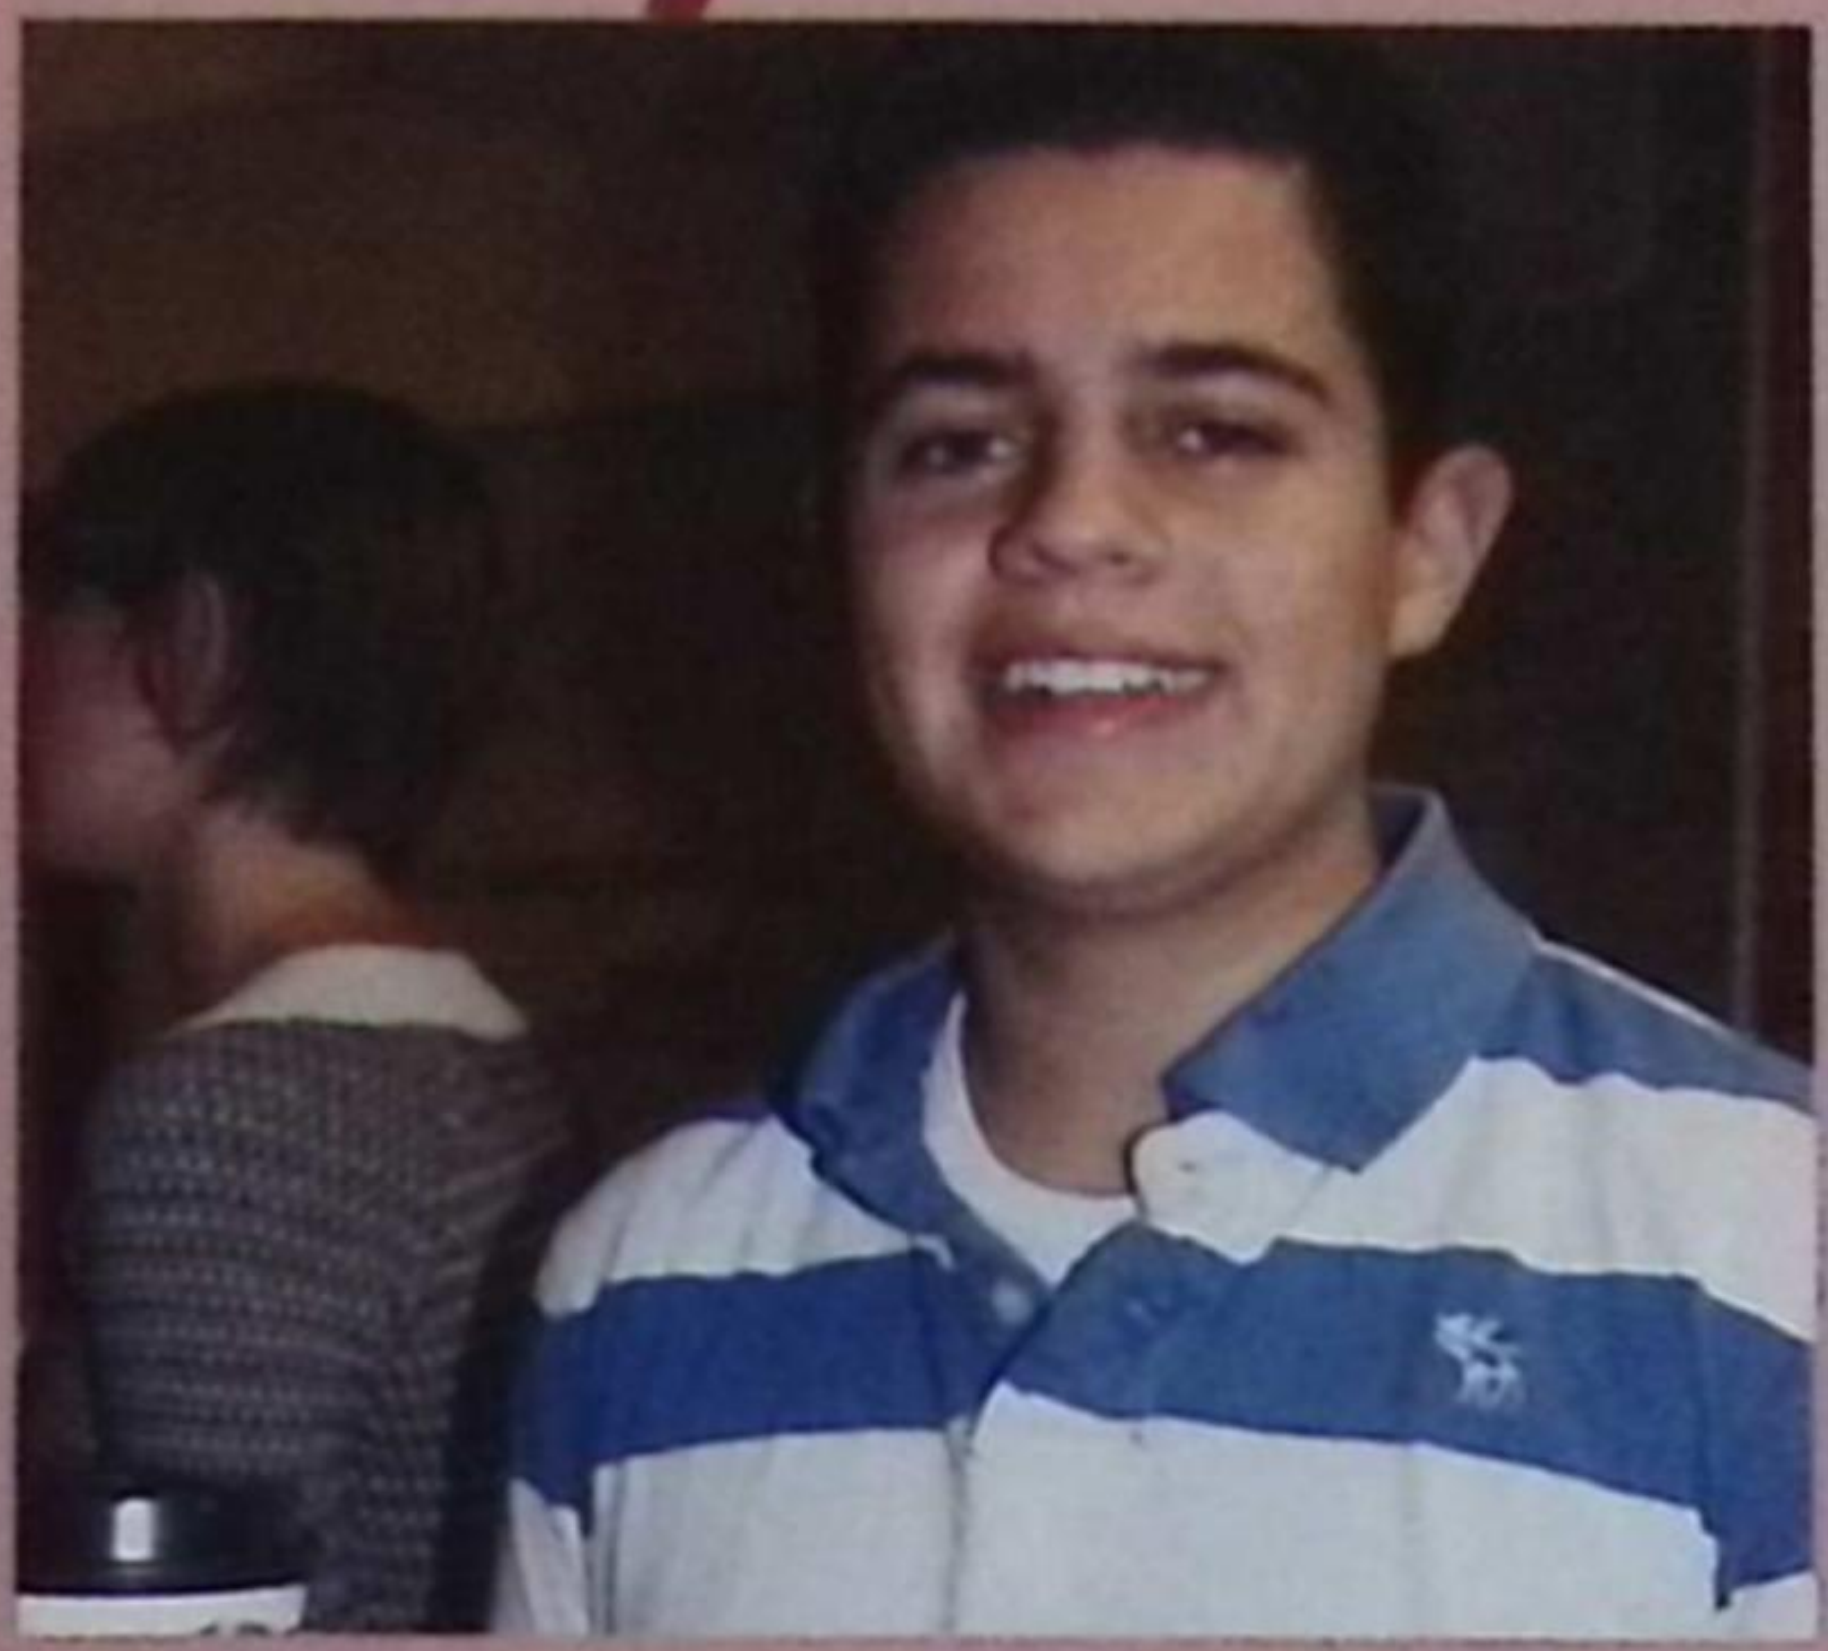
"One year I was a toaster. The costume was really stiff and boxy but I got a lot of laughs from the houses."
-S. Conrad ('12)



1. This Spanish class knows how to party! With a food day celebrating Halloween, students cheer to Los Dias de los Muertos. 2. At the Homecoming game, photographer Jameson Eisele ('10) shows the yearbook staff the ropes on taking pictures. 3. Christina Woodman ('13) and her friends spend a Saturday playing an intense game of Rock Band. 4. John Brengman ('10) takes a much needed (and unappreciated) nap during class as teachers and students alike snicker quietly as to not wake him. 5. Kathryn Roggenbuck ('10) shakes things up in AP Biology, as she tests the amount of dissolved oxygen in a water sample.

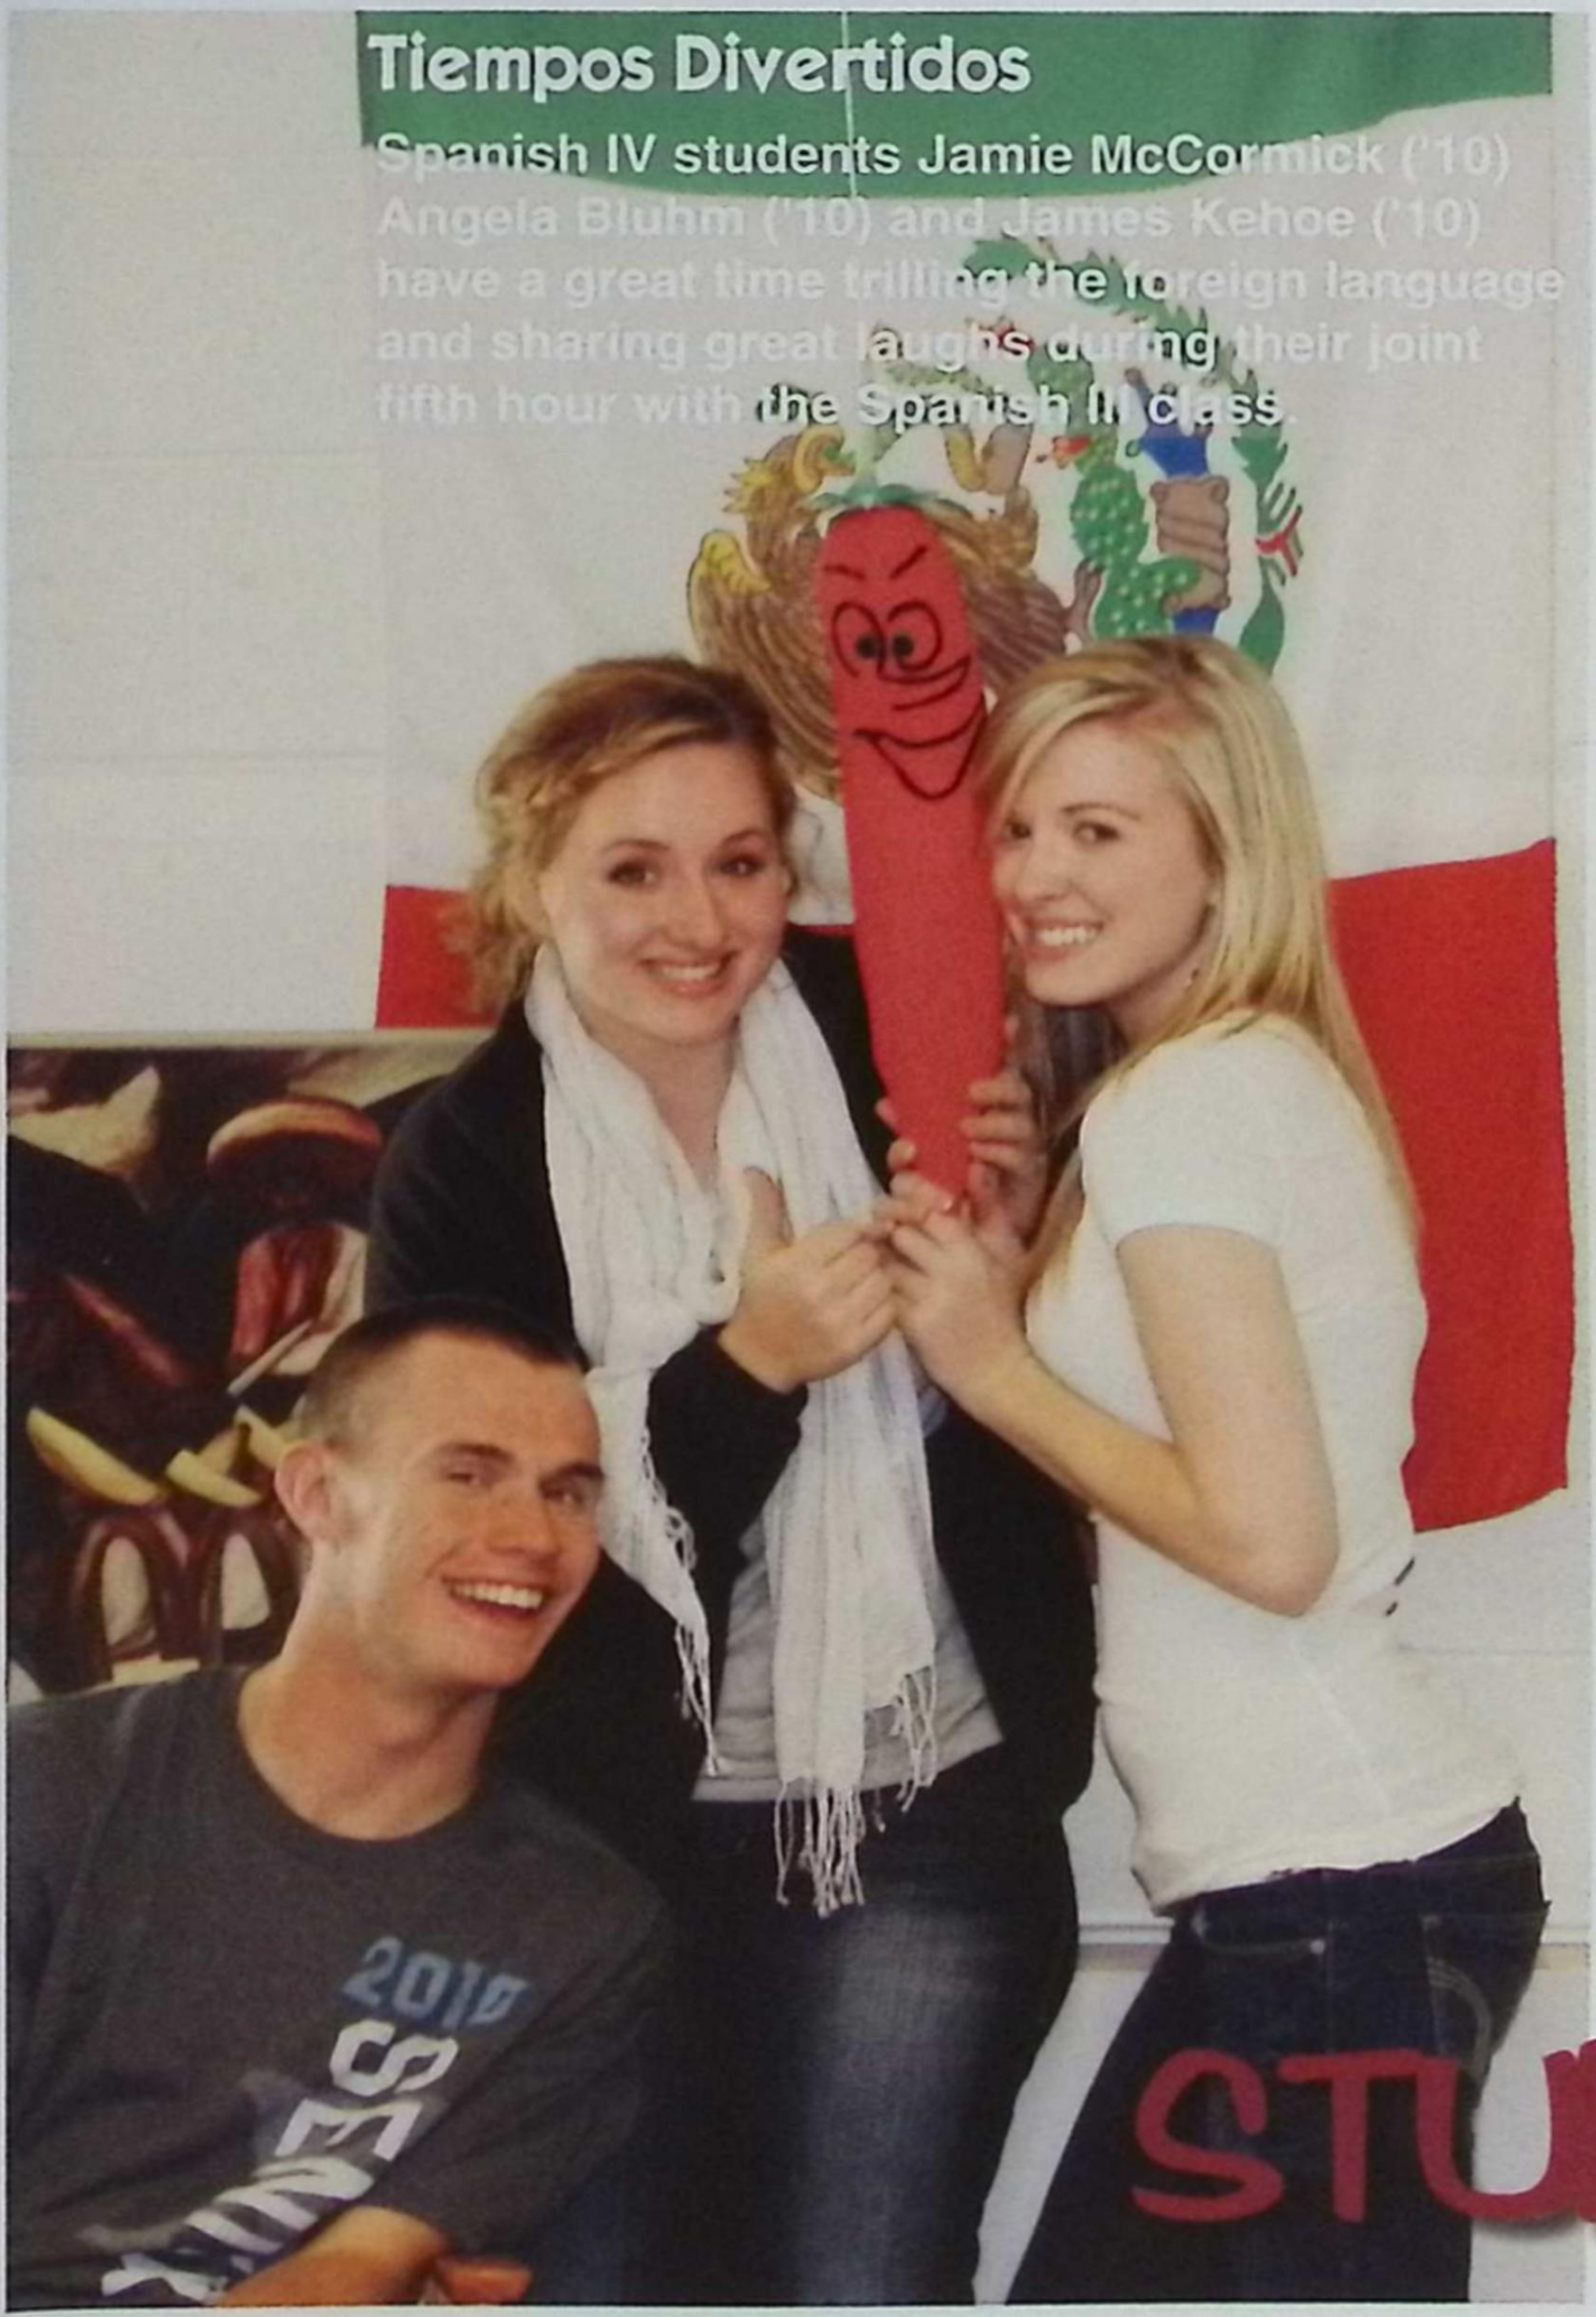


My Morning Routine



"When my alarm goes off, I get up out of bed and get my clothes out for the day. After showering, brushing my teeth, and drying my hair, I clean up my room. Then, I go downstairs and eat breakfast while watching the news in the kitchen. Following breakfast, I have to go yell at my sister to wake her up and make my lunch. Finally I put my backpack in the car and drive to school." -B. Davis ('10)

"Every morning, I get up and curl my hair. Once I finish that, I put my make up on and brush my teeth. After the nasty morning breath is gone, I eat some toast for breakfast and get my books and homework together. Before I head out the door, I always make sure to kiss my mom goodbye." -E. Selman ('10)



Tiempos Divertidos

Spanish IV students Jamie McCormick ('10) Angela Bluhm ('10) and James Kehoe ('10) have a great time trilling the foreign language and sharing great laughs during their joint fifth hour with the Spanish III class.

Circle of Fall Life

Early morning rises and the sun peaks over the trees as we drive towards school. It is a crisp fall morning as students slowly arrive to the quiet grounds, and collect their books for their first day of classes. Eyes fight valiantly against gravity, and sleep deprivation, to stay open and soak in the lessons teachers have laid out. Second and third hour come and go and the day begins to liven. Lunch comes, and the school can hear the eruption of noise from the hungry students. The afternoons always seem to fly by as students eagerly wait for the end of the day and the activities that follow. Football, Student Council, clubs and sports alike, draw the time and efforts of students all week. The weekend comes and students flock to games and parties to relieve their weekday worries. Saturday dances and late night parties fill the air with music and laughter, but all comes full circle once again on Monday morning when the weekend is over and we wake up and greet the dawn with pens in hand.

IN THE STANDS

The Biggest Fan Club

While there are a multitude of sports during the fal season, most students find themselves attending or participating in the footbal games. From the footbal team to the cheer squad and even the band, a good portion of the student body attends the Friday night footbal games. "I go to the games because I want to support the team," said Holy Bielecki ('10). "My friends and I like to sit next to the band and folow along with the dances to help pump up the team," she added. Alyssa Gunderson ('13) enjoys going to the game to hang out with her friends and watch the game. "My favorite sport is footbal, and getting to watch it every Friday night is so awesome. It's way better than watching it on TV." Thanks to spirited Saints like Alyssa and Holy, and of course, many more, the footbal team is never in short supply of supportive and loyal fans.

"The games are so exciting I love bundeing up and sitting with my friends."

-S. Duncan ('11)

Baby It's Cold Outside

Showing their school pride, Marianna Ranshaw ('11), Sarah McGowan ('11), Kayleigh Gauthier ('10), and Katie Weatherly ('12) come out to the football game despite the cold weather, proving that nothing, not even freezing cold temperatures, can break the Saints' spirit.

MY MOMENT

Jessica Kettlewell ('11)

"Hands down, my favorite moment as a fan was going to the concession stand and getting the hot chocolate. It was so delicious! It was amazingly creamy and deliciously frothy. The best time was when I was freezing cold, and I waited in a huge line to get the hot chocolate. Once I finally did, I burned my tongue because it was so hot, but it was worth it. It warmed me up, and definitely made that game, and every football game during the season much better."

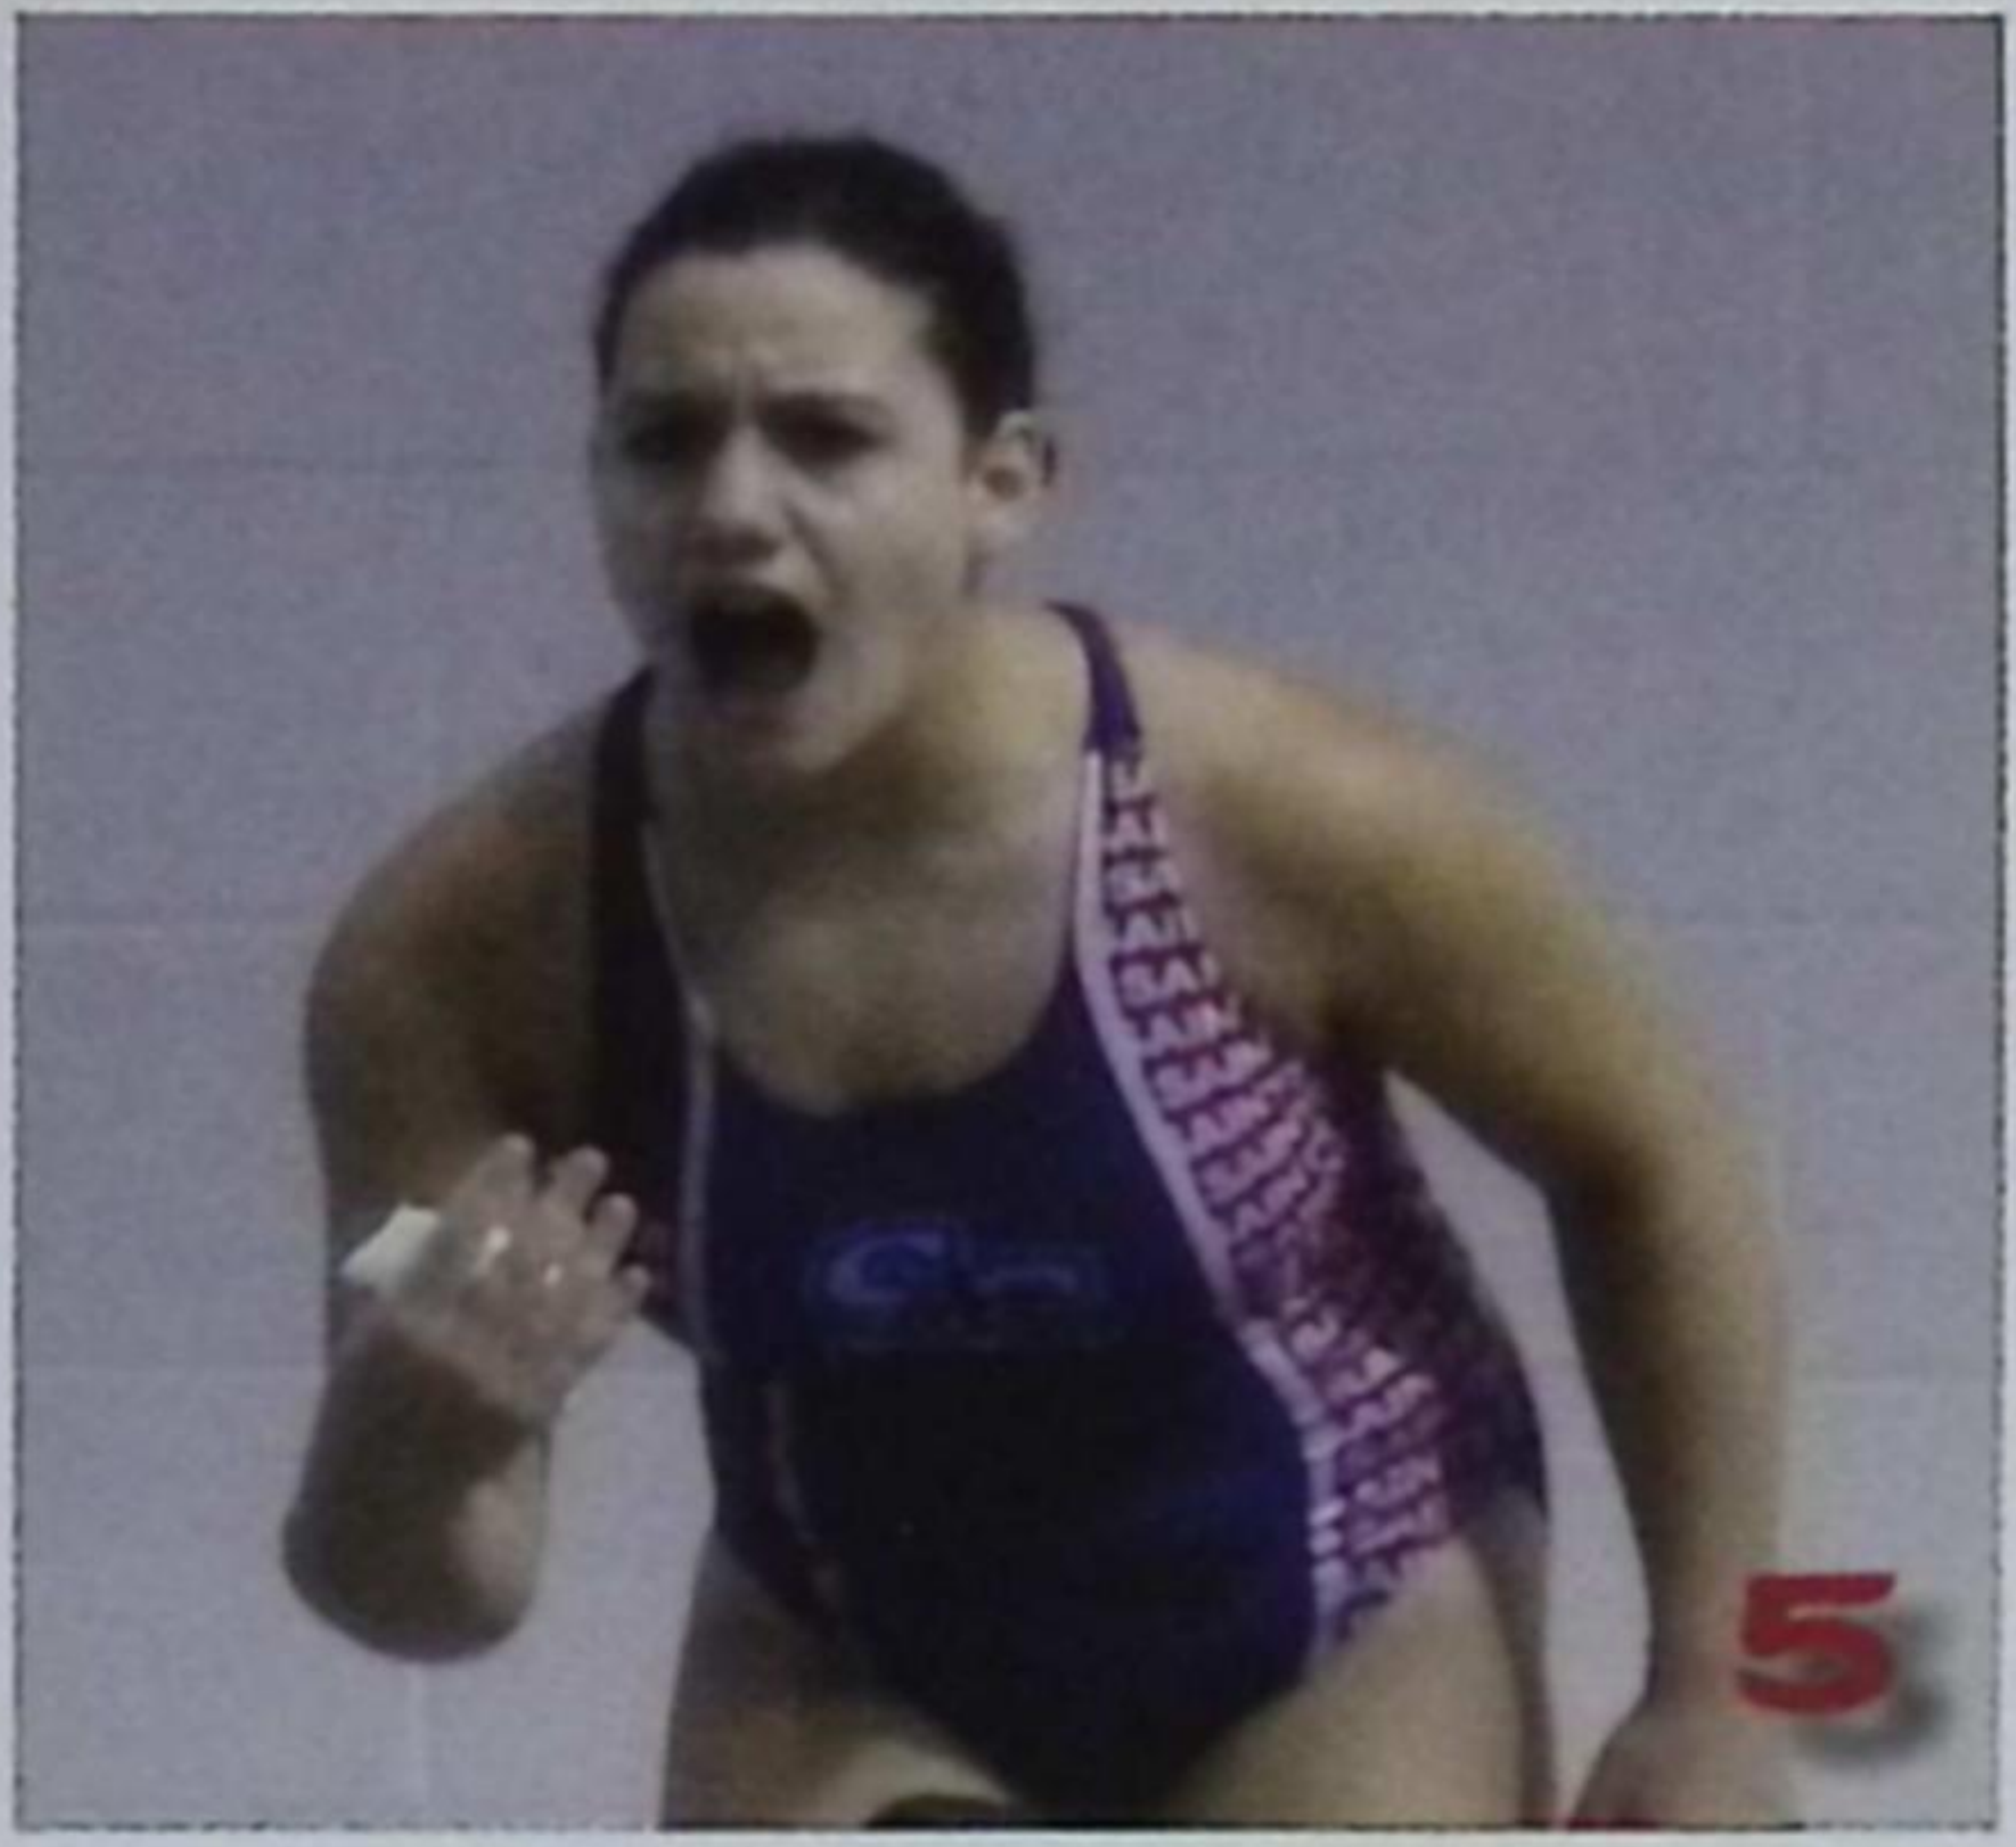
2. Wearing the Saints' colors helps Gabby Gauthier, Jamie McCormick, and Anita Chitwood ('10) look their best for the Friday night football game.
3. Loyal and devoted fans Lauren Dombek and Teri Ofeno ('12) watch an exciting and eventful soccer game from the very top of the stands.
4. The Saints' band has become a very important and loved part of the football games, and has yet to miss a beat.
5. With a fiery passion, Hope Katakis ('13) shows her teammates just how much she cares by cheering them on.



What was the craziest thing you saw in the stands?

"I saw a kid on the other team break his shin bone. It was just hanging there. I was so grossed out."
-J. Fields ('11)

"I saw a girl from St. Clair and a girl from Marine CIty going at it. I thought there was going to be a brawl!"
-K. Jarrett ('12)

"A couple guys in my grade got into a huge fight, because one thought he was tougher than the other."
-J. Eisen ('11)

"My friends went up to the concession stand, and came back with all of their money but tons of food. I still don't know how they got it." -S. English ('12)

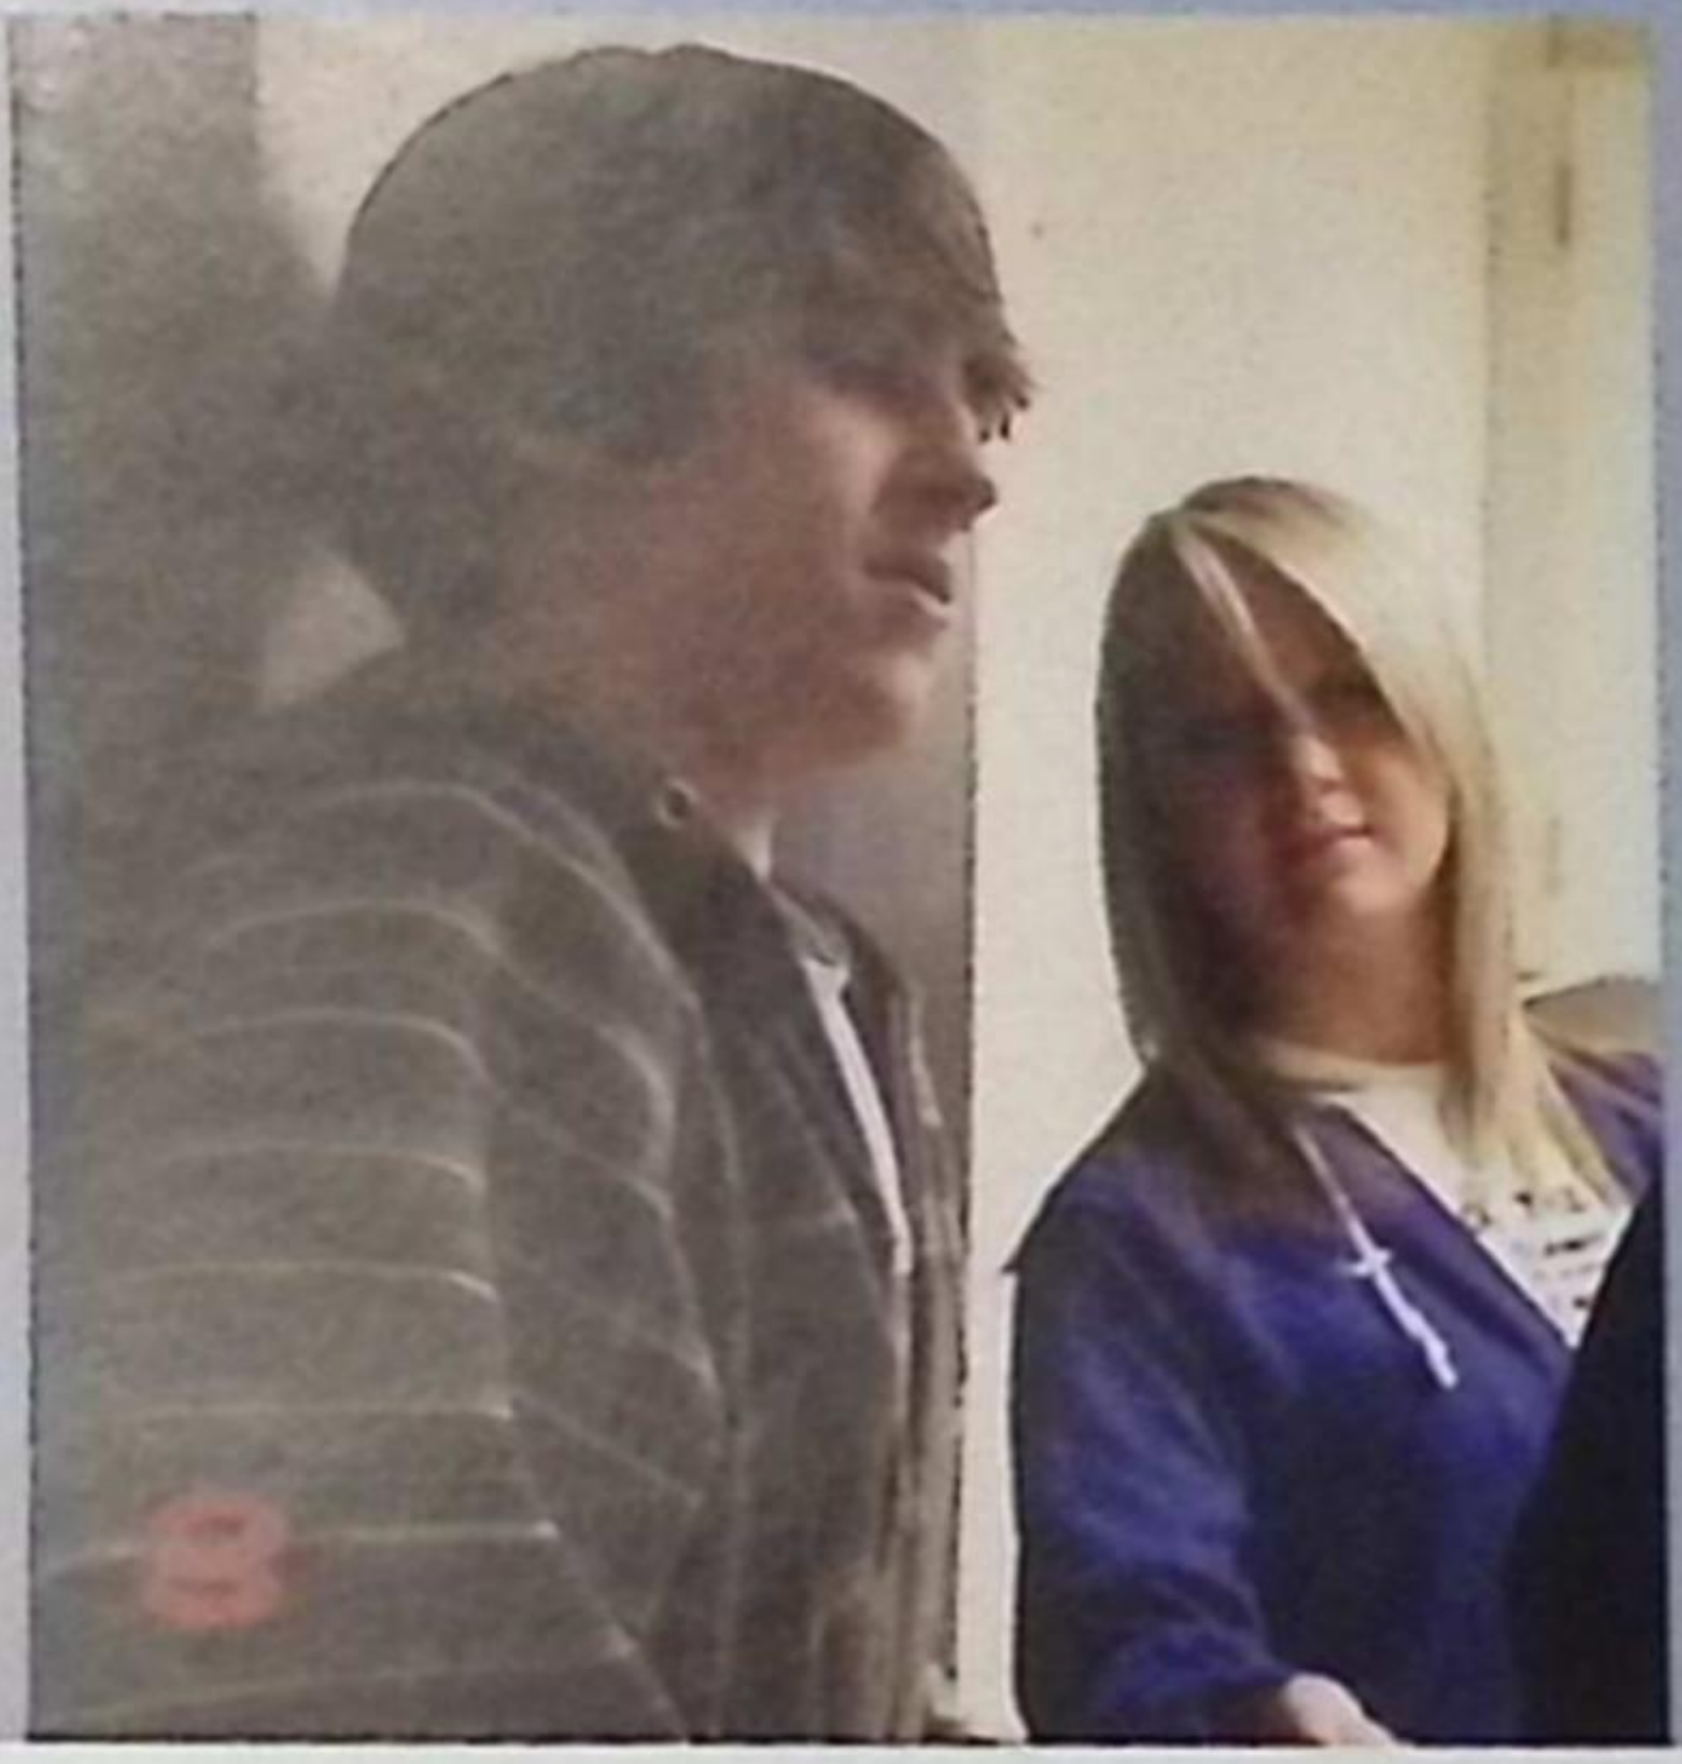
Cookie Craving

BPA members at SCHS provide a crucial service to the students: selling food between classes. Many students look forward to the daily snack they get to help satisfy their hunger. The most famous choice: delicious cookies. The mouths of teachers and students alike salivate at the end of 2nd hour as the smell of the cookies baking travels down the hallways. Cookies are sold for one dollar; it's quite a delicious treat for your stomach and wallet. Along with student store, BPA goes to conferences and competes against other schools throughout the year.

1. BPA member, Alex Hensen ('10) hands the students their change while she works the register in the student store.
2. Kaylynne Poppe ('12) stands ready to grab the various candies that the hungry students ask for.
3. As Ashley Schulte-Haslem ('12) takes his order, Zachary Kosowski ('13) looks to his friend for some help deciding which snack he wants before heading to class.
4. Satisfied with her choice of Swedish Fish, Krysta Saunders ('13) takes her candy and heads to class.



YEARBOOK STAFF

Memories

Being a member of Yearbook is more than just taking pictures, putting them on a page and writing a few sentences. It's about creating and preserving memories. Years from now, former students can look back and reminisce about their high school careers. Whether it's Homecoming dances, football games or being on Student Council, you will be able to look back years from now and remember these activities because of the yearbook. Whatever it is that you think you will miss most about high school, yearbook will capture that memory and keep it intact for years to come.

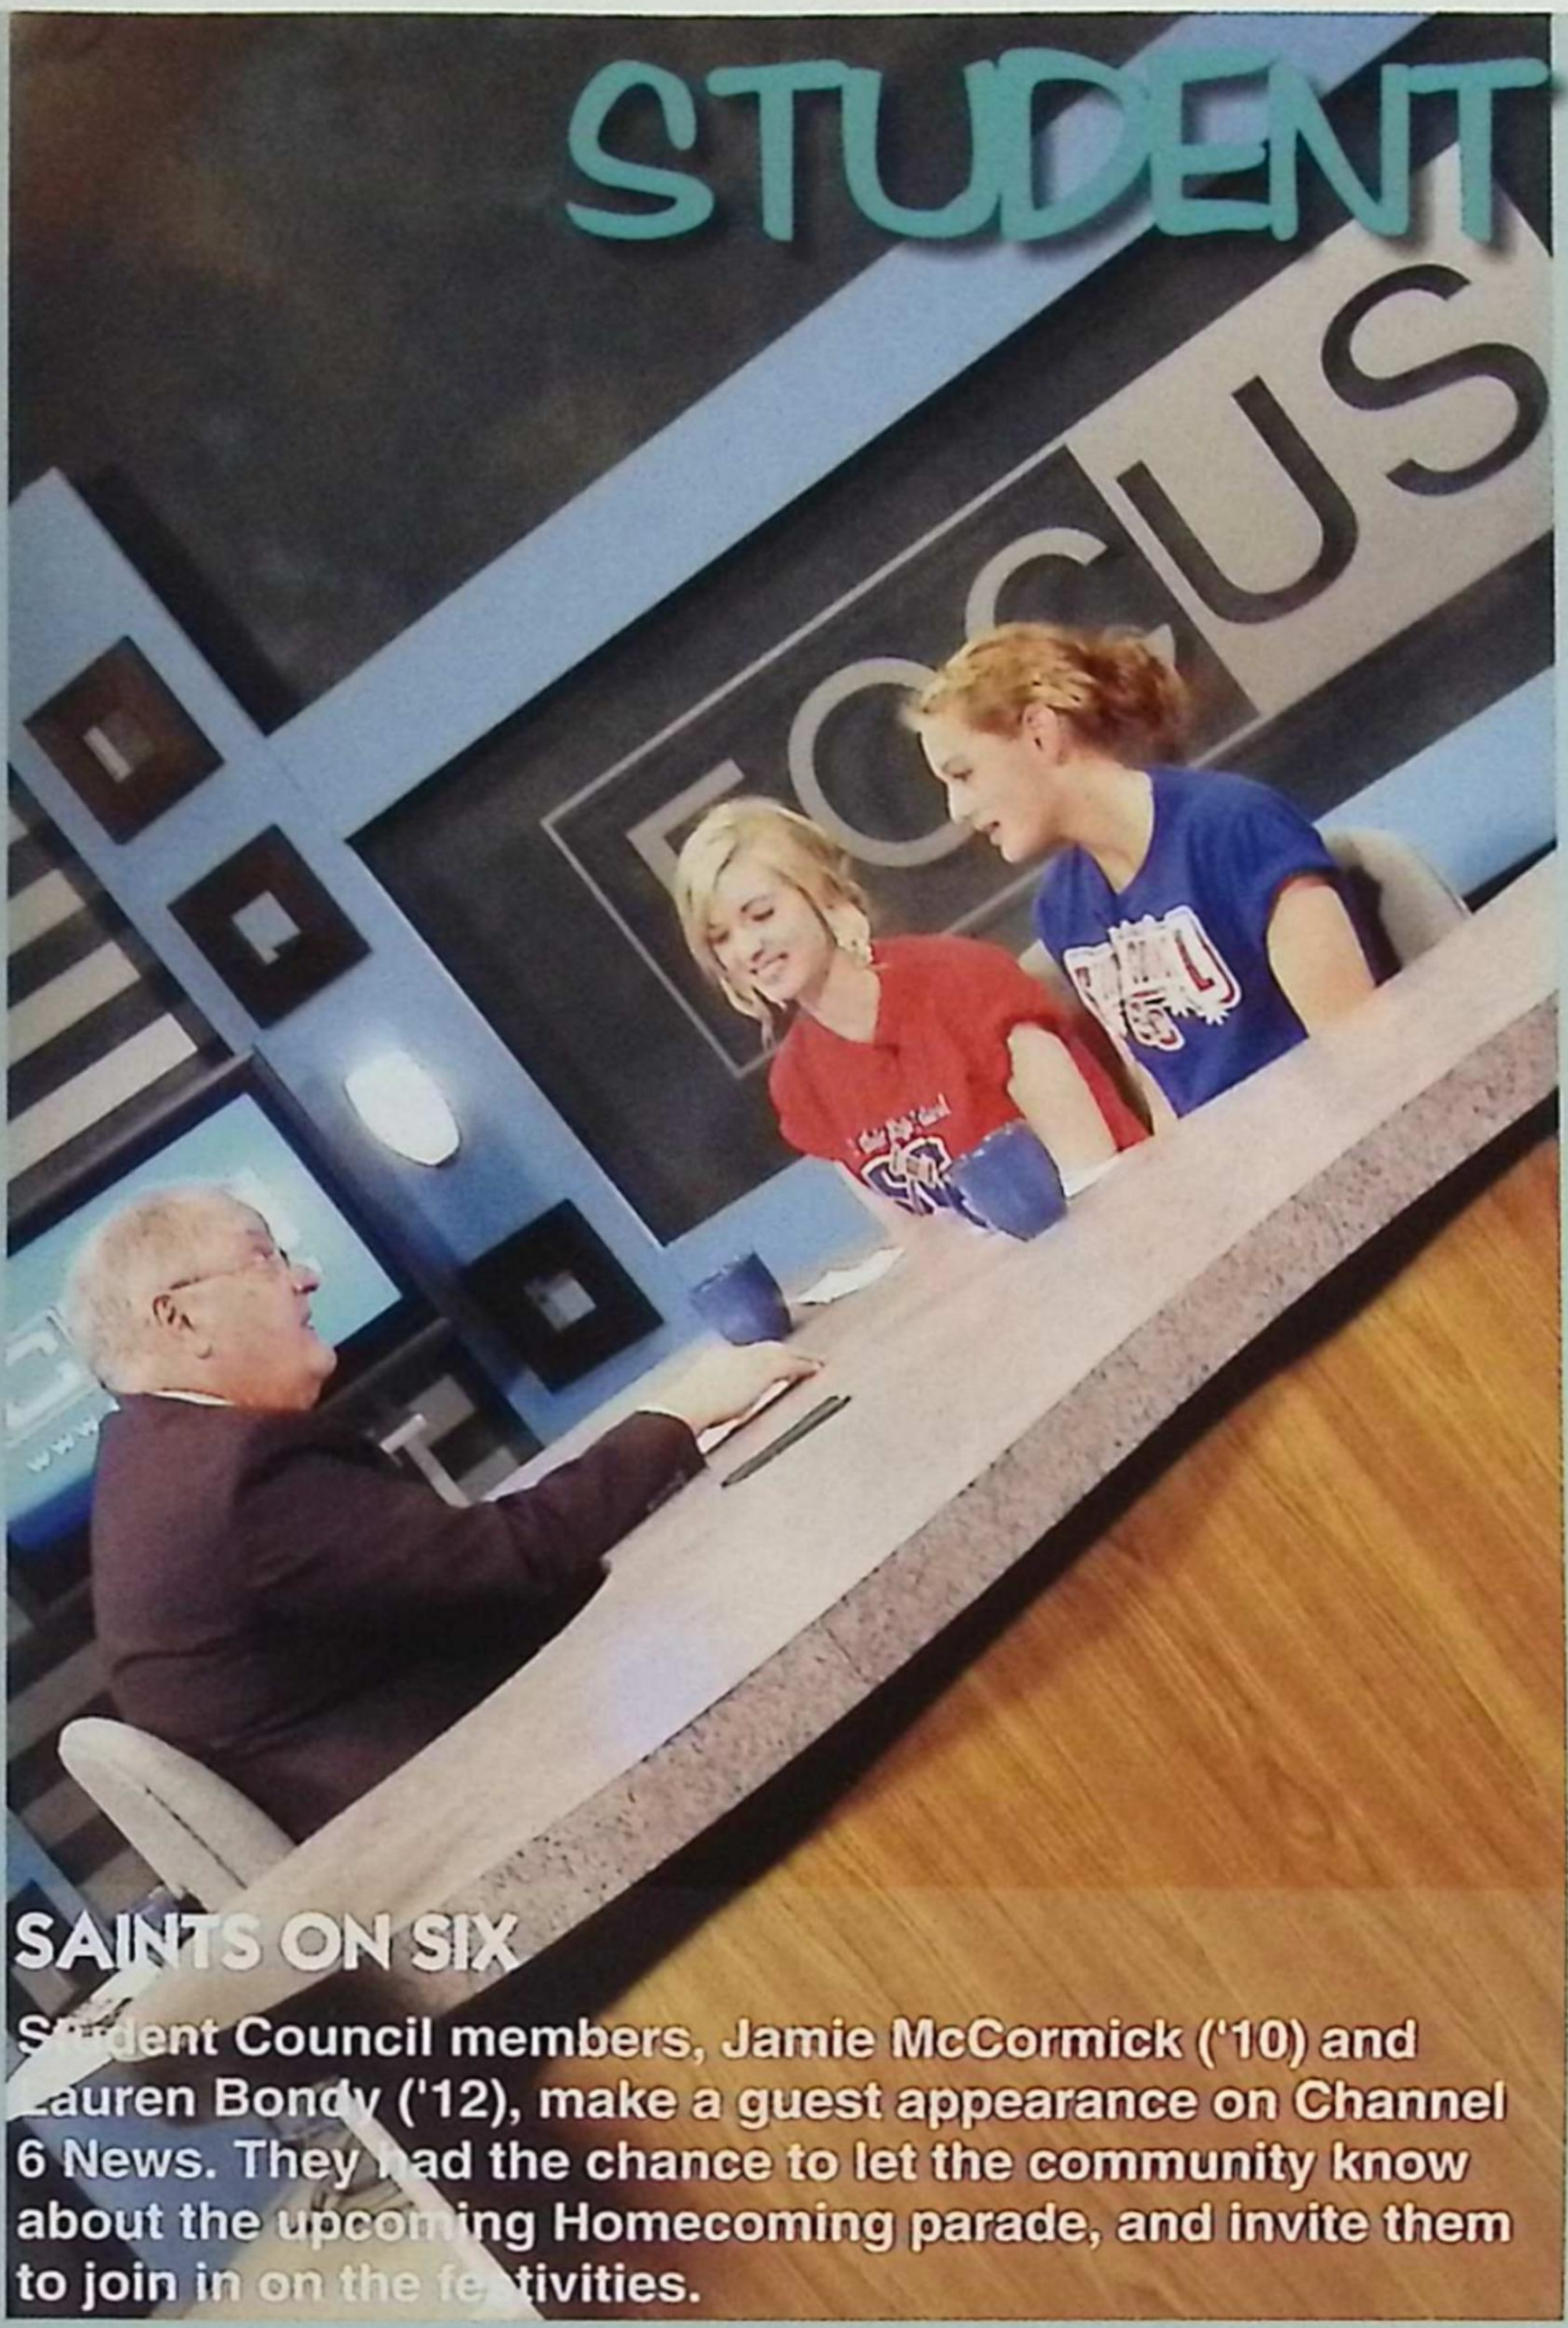
STUDENT COUNCIL



SAINTS ON SIX

Student Council members, Jamie McCormick ('10) and Lauren Bondy ('12), make a guest appearance on Channel 6 News. They had the chance to let the community know about the upcoming Homecoming parade, and invite them to join in on the festivities.

A Way of Being...

At SCHS, being a member of Student Council isn't just another thing to add to a resume, or something that will look good on a college application; it's a way of being. The members of Student Council truly enjoy the activities that they do.

> "My favorite part of Student Council is becoming friends with people you might not otherwise meet, and learning to work as a group and trust each other."
> -K. Duerrling ('10)

As the school year starts back up, the whirlwind of activities begin, starting off with freshmen orientation. The Student Council makes sure that the incoming freshmen class has nothing to fear their first year in high school. Next, they put on the senior brunch, where the seniors get to place their handprints to create the "senior wall." Also, Student Council is in charge of Homecoming, where they decorate and encourage the student body to take part in the various Homecoming activities. Whether it's your first or last Homecoming at SCHS, it's always an unforgettable event.

Clowning Around

What do you think of when you hear the words clown, acrobat, and psycho? You would normally think of a circus, with freak shows and unusual entertainment. But this year for the annual haunted house, put on by the National Honor Society, the chilling theme was "Haunted Circus." Al of the NHS members dressed up as bizarre characters from the circus. Overal, the haunted house was a huge success, with many children attending, and many NHS members participating, it was certain to be a memorable night for everyone.

"National Honors Society is a fantastic organization because it allows students to assume leadership roles in the community and learn the values of service." -M. Brunner ('11)

Lawns Loaded With Leaves

Every year after the autumn leaves fal, the NHS members participate in the annual Rake-N-Run. The members run from house to house, raking leaves for those who are unable. And, with the typical Michigan weather we al love, temperatures were of course unbearable. However, that didn't seem to matter when the members were treated to hot dogs and other food after al of their hard work.

Come Together

While the SCHS students were worrying about their floats, rumors were spreading like wild fire. Word was getting out that at the annual Homecoming parade, there was going to members from a local church protesting the GSA club. This upset many people in St. Clair, and not just the members of GSA. Other students who caught wind of this supported their fellow classmates by wearing colored pins throughout the day. Although the protesting never actually happened, these rumors brought many students together, and ignited our student body. Natural Helpers is an extra curricular group; its main focus is on helping the community. Since the year 2000, they have trained over 300 students. These volunteers are educated and taught how to cope with serious issues. One of the events they work with is the "Out of Darkness Walk," which raises awareness for suicide prevention. Along with the community, SCHS Natural Helpers get students adjusted to our school, they mentor SCMS students on the aspects of gossip, and also rumors. All in all, they work hard to make SCHS a great experience for everyone.

THEATER

Teddy Bear Love

This year, the SCHS theater troupe celebrated its 83rd season. Through many hours of hard work, they have presented the community with several memorable and outstanding plays. Theater gives students the chance to try singing, acting, and team work to present something to be remembered for years to come. The SCHS theater troupe opened this year, with The Curious Savage. This play was light hearted, and comical with the main character being an old cynical, widowed woman, Mrs. Savage, whose husband leaves her ten million dollars. She is then put in a sanitarium, for her over generosity, with the new money. The plot turns comical, when Mrs. Savages' stepchildren go to extreme lengths to find the hidden loot. The plot leaves the audience with the feeling of the lack of kindness, and the profound amount of greed.

The Marching Band is involved in many aspects of high school life, from pumping up the crowd at football games, to playing at the Homecoming parade. Along with these events they also entertain the students and the community with their performances: "Lights Out" and their involvement in the M.S.B.O.A. band festival. This year's theme was the great "Ray Charles".

> "To me, band is not a just a class, but an organization where your talent realy shows. In any class you can copy answers, but in band, if you fake the note, everyone knows." -H. Bahoff ('13)

Some of the songs that were played throughout the season, were "Hit The Road Jack," "America The Beautiful/Hallelujah I Love Her So," "What I'd Say," and "Let The Good Times Roll." The SCHS band is always there to liven things up, and even though it is an elective class, a lot of hard work and dedication is required and ultimately these attributes shine through their performances through the fall.

PARENT & CHILDHOOD

Learning is Growing

While in high school, some students take the opportunity to learn about parenthood and child development. Beginning with how to take care of a child, students have the experience of being able to wear an empathy belly in order to fully appreciate what expectant mothers go through. Also, students learn about babies' needs and wants.

> "Parenthood and Childhood Development is fun. We get the chance to have an empathy belly and also we get the opportunity to take care of a baby for the weekend." -J. Gamber ('11)

Though this takes up most of the marking period, the students who took part in parenthood and childhood development classes got the chance to read to children and be involved with kids and their daily routine as well. Additionally, students learned about how to cope with children who have disabilities or special needs. In the end, this class allowed students to gain knowledge that they could later apply in their lives.

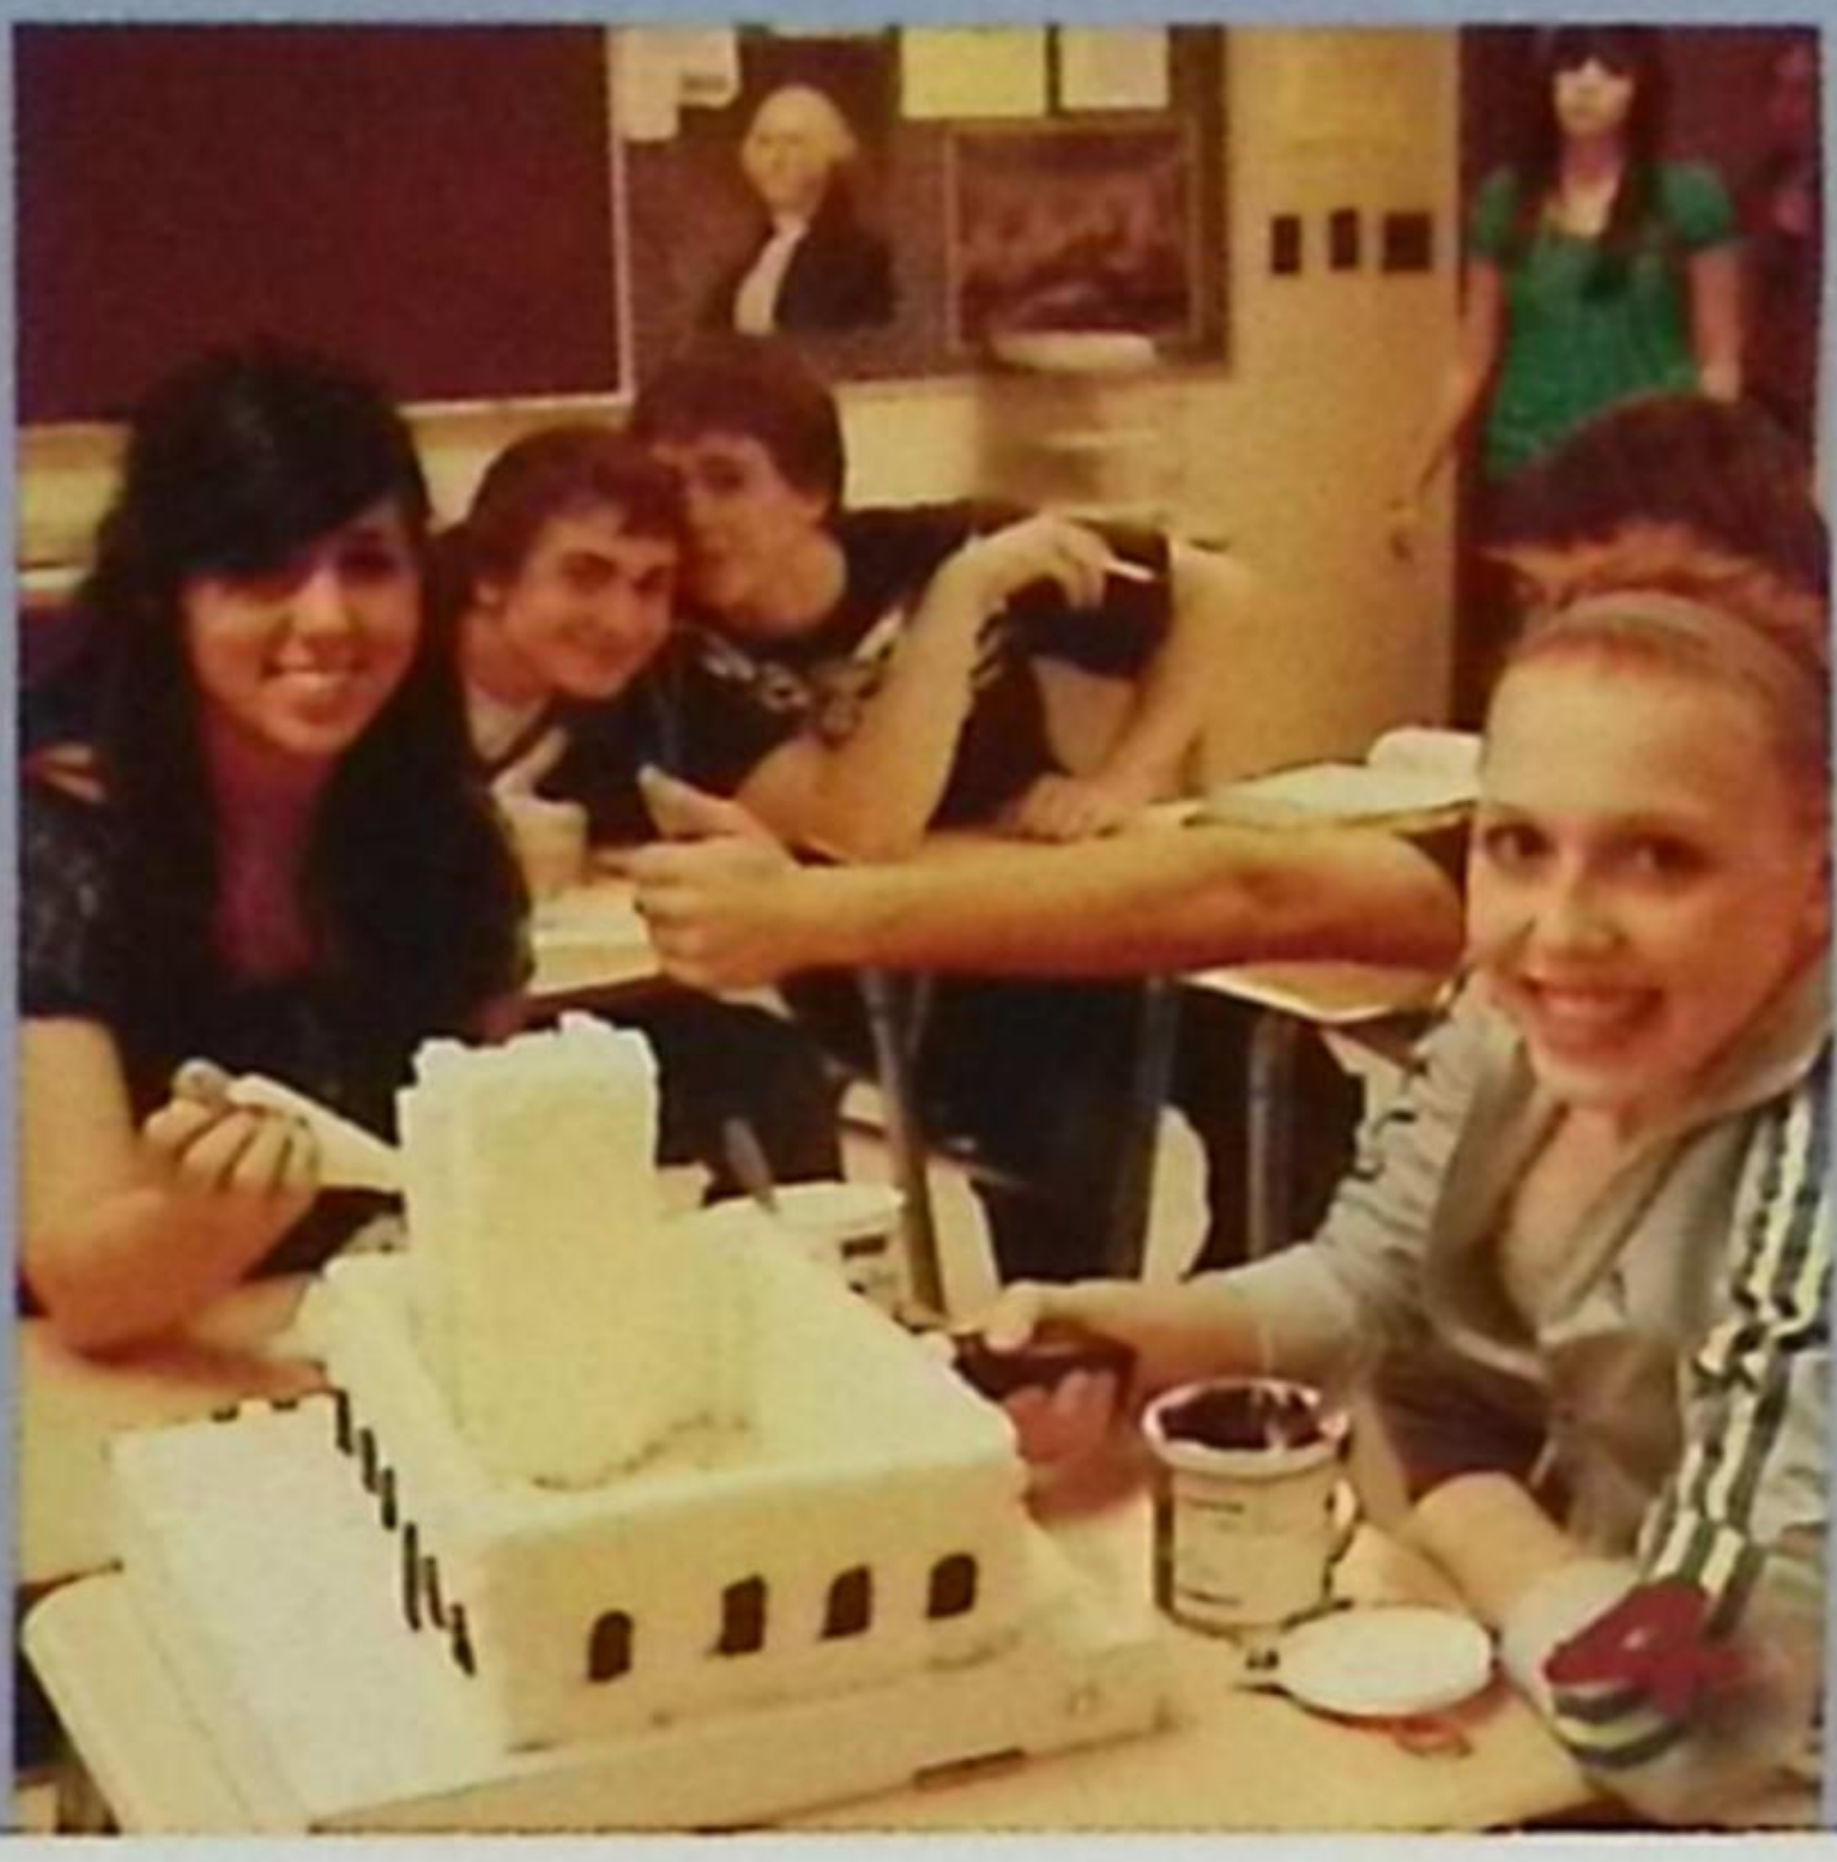
SOCIAL STUDIES

Throughout History

Throughout high school we have the opportunity to be a part of many classes. One that sticks with us all the way until our senior year is Social Studies. Just to name a few courses offered under this category are Government, Economics, and U.S. History. We begin as freshmen with the basics, becoming more advanced each year. Each class, from World History to Economics, helps us learn about revolutionary events throughout our history. As weve been taught, it's not until we understand our past that will be able to conquer the future.

1. During her U.S. history class, Mary Eves ('13) shows how much she enjoys learning by giving the thumbs up.
2. Looking over the facts during a mock court trial practice, Shane Dembinski ('11) and Nick Brinker ('10) deliberate their final decision.
3. While listening to the Ms. Osterland, Katelyn Liebeteu ('13) takes notes that she will use later on to study from for an upcoming test.
4. Building a monumental art piece for history, Gina Fuga ('12) and Ashley Koehler ('12) work hard to finish their sugar cubed castle.
5. Billy Cedar ('10) makes a strong argument about the facts in his mock court rehearsal.



DUEL ENROLLMENT

Getting Ahead of the Game

While some students spend all day in St. Clair High School, a select few are able to fill their schedules with college courses at SC4. With a free hour in their schedule, students are able to do what they like. Some students enjoy going home and getting chores done, while others finish their homework here at school. Although the classes are more challenging, those who take duel enrollment classes always seem to enjoy the free hour in their day.

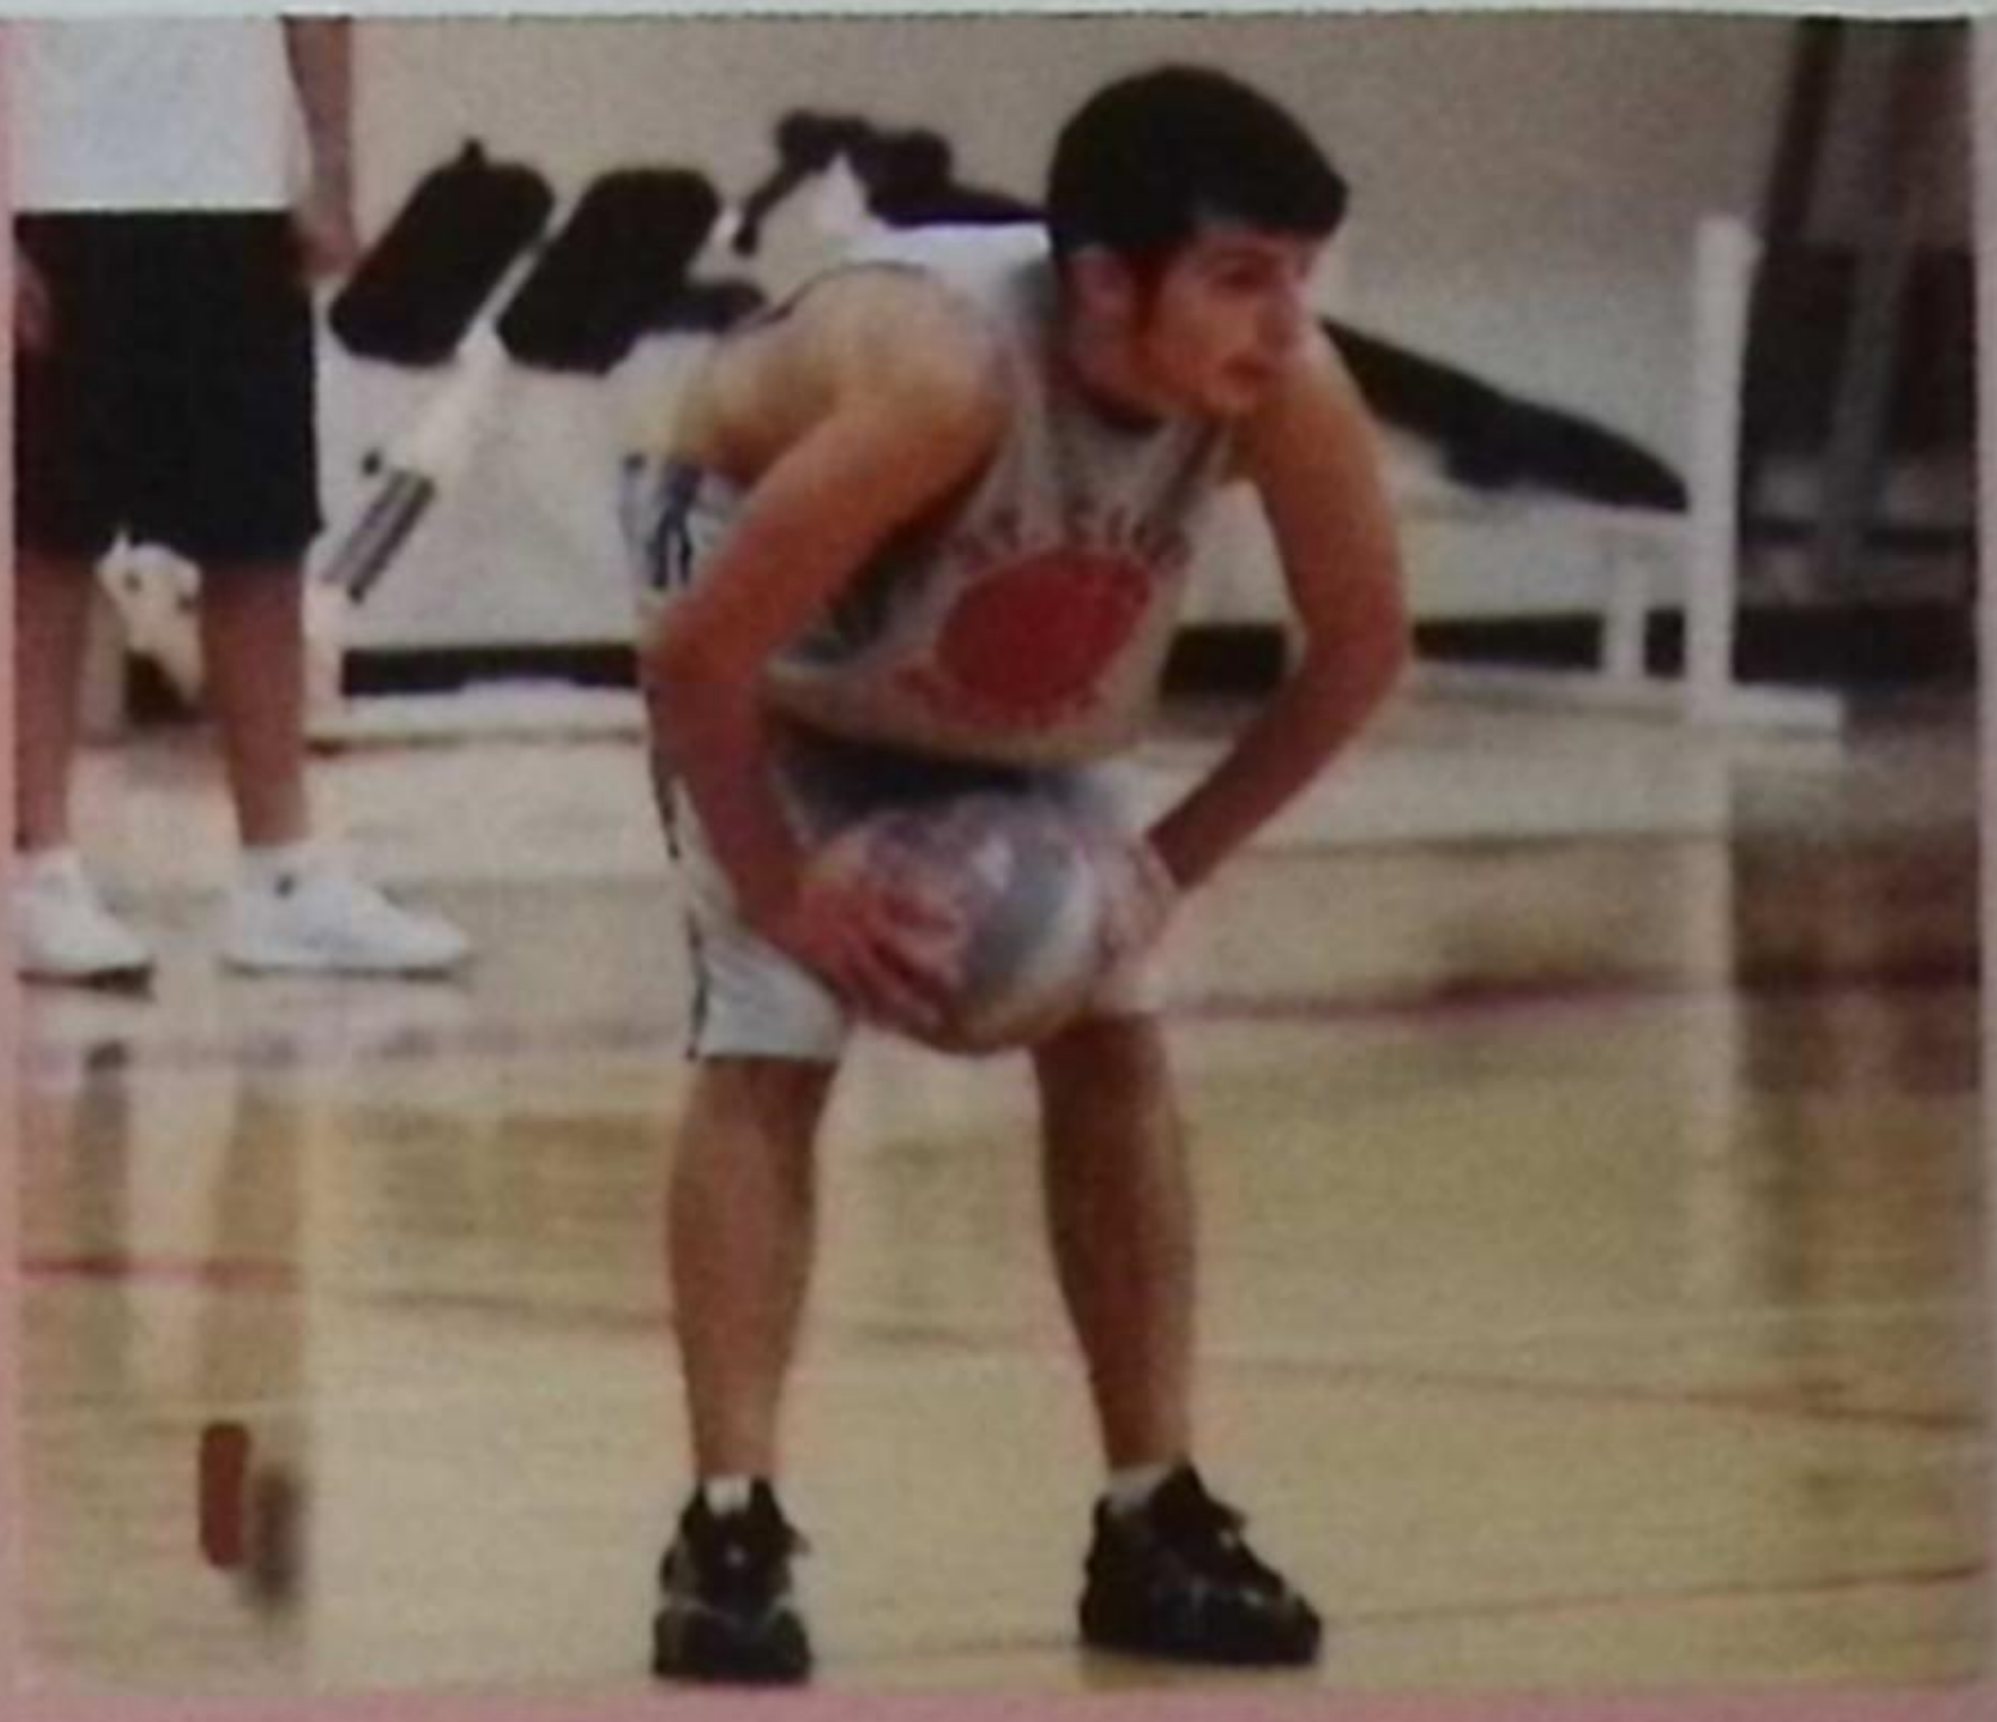
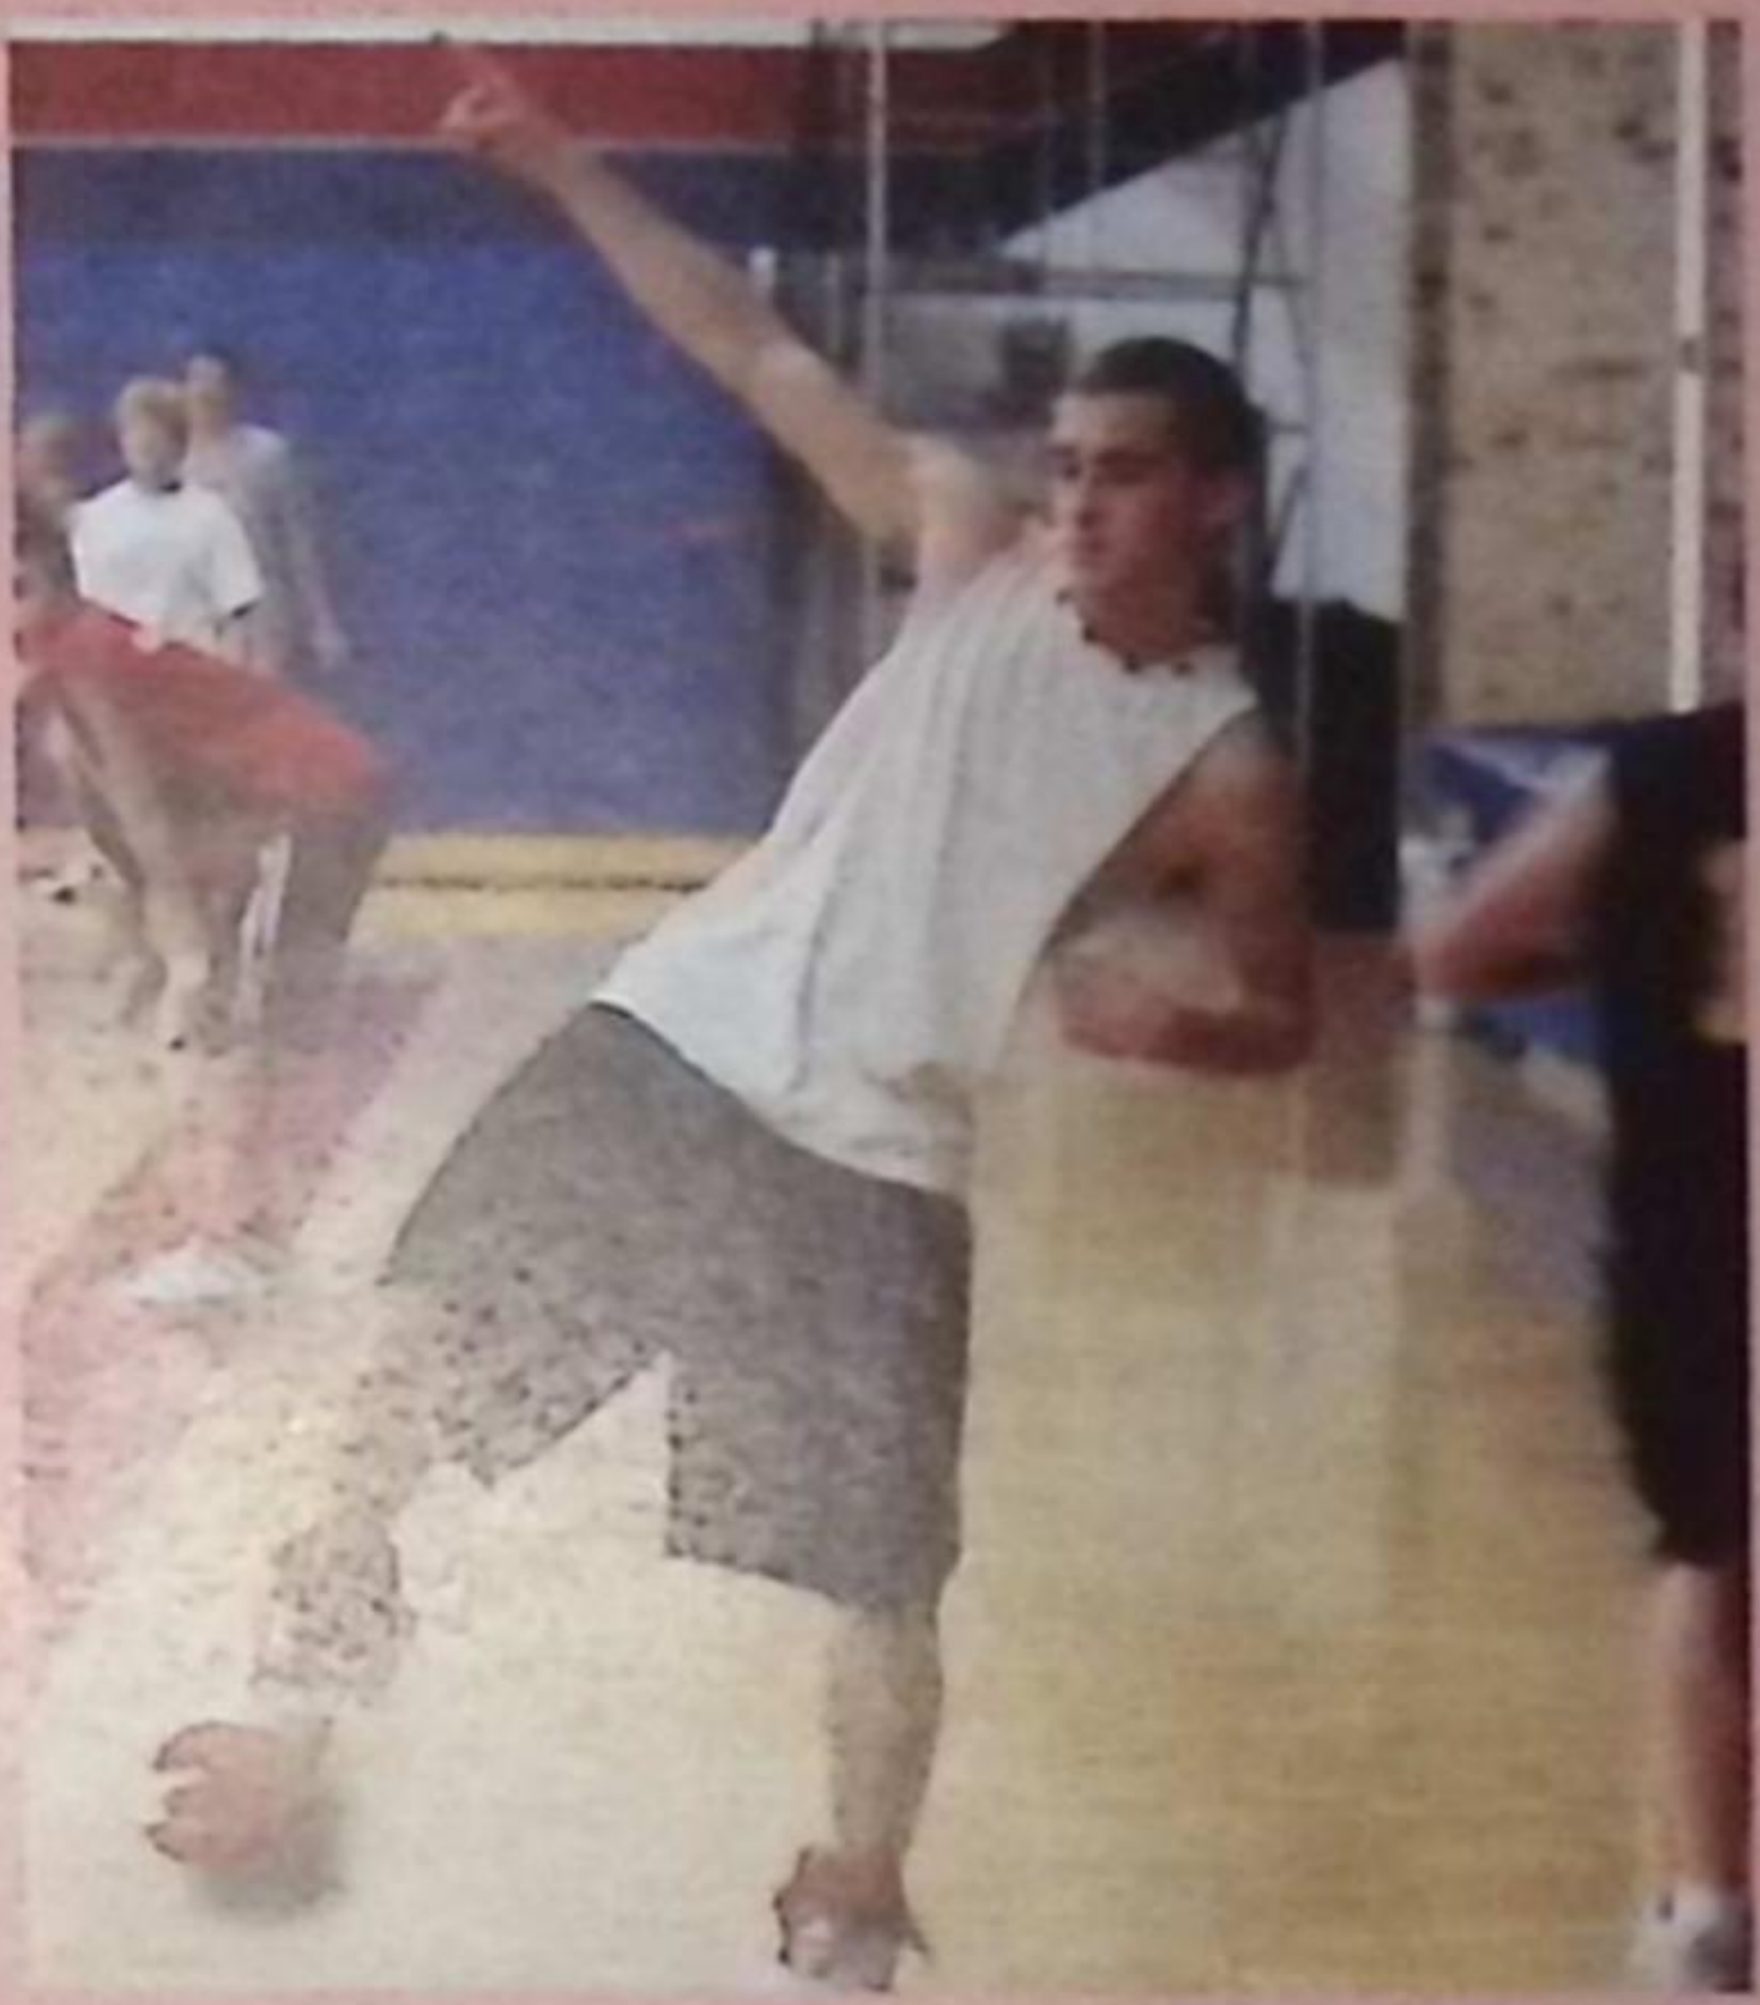
GYM

Being Well Rounded

St. Clair High School is not all about lectures and books. The ferocious gym classes such as freshmen P.E., weight training, or life time sports, help get rid of the energy that the average student may build up throughout the day. These gym classes also help people ease the pain of homework and lectures while staying in shape. Activities in gym class range from tutorials about tennis, to intense games of dodge ball. What most think are leisure sports often turn into something so intense they have become notorious for injuring its participants. Team Sports is the most athletically skilled driven class that SCHS offers. Its students participate in games such as baseball, basketball, and sometimes football. Advanced Weight Training is also a popular gym class, where its participants lift weights and do agility training for the better portion of the hour. All students, however, are required to take freshmen P.E. in 9th grade. Upon completion, students will have spent ten weeks in the gym and another ten in the pool. No matter who you are at SCHS, it's guaranteed that, thanks to our curriculum, you're an athletically well-rounded student.





1. Alex Gasparetto ('12) waits patiently to make his move while playing dodgeball in gym class.
2. These gym students must finish their sit-ups before they are allowed to move onto the fun activity for the class period.
3. After a successful throw during an intense game of dodgeball, Cody Blumenthal ('10) celebrates.
4. Patrick Bell ('11) takes a breather after a hard day of lifting in the weight room.
5. Using all the strength he has left, Jacob Cronenworth ('12) finishes his repetitions and ends the day after a muscle burning workout.

MATH

Moving Up In Math

While math isn't always the best subject for everyone at SCHS, for those gifted kids, many advanced classes, and even college courses, are available to help challenge their mathematic abilities. Students, during their 9th grade year, are able to skip Algebra and go straight to Geometry; quite a leap for a new high school student. Then, as sophomores these students are also able to skip Algebra II and go straight to Advanced Algebra and Trigonometry, also a large step. These students continue on to Pre-Calculus and then AP Calculus, if they choose, their junior or senior year. These students are especially gifted, and also have the option of taking college level math courses at the local community college, SC4, also. SCHS tries its best to cater to all its students.

ART CLASSES

Expressing Yourself

For some students, art class is just another class to take. For other students, art is a passion. The art classes offered at St. Clair High School range from basic art to advanced art. In art class you can do lots of different things; from painting to sketching, to working with clay or modeling. There are many different outlets for creativity in this class.

> "Painting is my favorite medium we use in art class. I love it because you can easily mix colors and express yourself more."
> -S. Zahr ('10)

The art teachers, Ms. Joe and Ms. Whisman, love their job and support their students in all of their projects. Some of the students at SCHS even have their art pieces entered into different contests. These students have a special passion and ability for art, and as you walk through the halls of St. Clair High School, the entire student body gets to enjoy these truly remarkable works of art.

A Chemical Romance

Science is an unpredictable class with endless possibilities. Students in St. Clair High School enter their science classes without knowing what they will come into contact with. They could be using surgical precision to complete a dissection, or watching in amazement through their safety goggles as a strange vapor fills the air.

> "I like science classes because it is a hands on class with facts and data that I can use in my everyday life."
> -B. Smith (13)

No matter what they are doing, students always walk out of class with new knowledge in their heads. When asked what they liked the most about science, everybody agrees that labs are their favorite. In labs students get to be hands on with the chemicals and materials, so anyone can see why students prefer labs to sitting at a desk taking notes.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

Gain the Confidence

Public Speaking is a class that gives students a chance to gain the confidence to speak in front of a group of people and prepare for college. There are thirty students in Mrs. Westrick's public speaking class; Tori Kem said, "I took public speaking because I wanted to get better at speaking in front of people, and to get my lit. credits over with." Mrs. Westrick also said, "The thing I like best about this class is that you get to know your students on a much different level. It's interesting to see what the students choose for their speech topics."

LITERATURE CLASSES

Speak It, Learn It, Love It

As Americans we grow up speaking the English language; we are taught this language through schooling and repetition. Everyday, students of all ages go to English class, where they are taught the rules of spelling and the rules of speaking. With guidance from their teachers they can have conversations with people and hopefully sound highly educated. English is a class where students have to be diligent with their homework, so their assignments reflect the highest quality possible. With quality work, students can be sure to earn a satisfactory grade. Although this class offers a variety of assignments, one of the most popular in the school is definitely Mr. Fouchey's weekly essays.

HOMECOMING
2009

1. Anxious for the dance, Danny Fountain ('11) proudly displays the first ticket sold. Her's was the first of 800 tickets. 2. Getting ready for the egg toss, Hope Katakis ('13) and Alyssa Quail ('13), think of a strategic way to beat the upperclassmen and add some additional points to the freshmen class's spirit point totals. 3. At the pep assembly, Calvin Marshall ('11) laughs with excitement at the amusing tasks people volunteered to do in order to gain class points. 4. Whether it's rain of shine, these dedicated St. Clair band members are willing to perform for the Homecoming parade. 5. Maison Burr ('13) shows her sisterly love by throwing shaving cream at her older sister's face during the annual pep rally.

Fantastic Fantasy Day

During spirit week, students line up at the main office in hopes of having the best Fantasy Day costume. The winners of this contest was the students in Mrs. Eberhard's 5th hour class, where they were dressed in various objects from her classroom.

Painting the Town

After a long day of float building, these crazy freshmen amused themselves by having a huge paint war. The day after this battle, the "pit" was covered with bright paint from the Willy Wonka float building members.

SPIRIT WEEK

It's a Doll's Life

Ian Campbell and Haley Rock ('12) show their class spirit by dressing up for the annual Homecoming parade as an alien and a Barbie doll, from The movie; Toy Story.

Red, Blue, Pride!

This year's Homecoming spirit week was slightly different than what it has been in the past. As opposed to shortening the day's regular hours, this year, there was a "spirit short". This meant that there were two student council representatives assigned to different second hour classes. There, the representatives held contests, such as building funky alien figures, and then gave students information on upcoming events.

> "I'm in student council, so the best part of Homecoming spirit week was when Fouchey and his freshmen class participated in the events, it made my day! Oh and wearing a cowboy hat was awesome too." -C. Potvin (11)

This year student council also brought back the float building tradition where the different grades could compete for building the best float. This year the sophomores had the best float. The year before, the different grades made class banners for this contest. Although not everyday was a dress up day, there was still plenty of participation in each diverse day; whether it was dressing up to correspond with the theme of the day, or partaking in the contest of the hour, this year's spirit week will long be remembered.

Jordan Huffman ('10)

This year Jordan Huffman played Ferris Bueller on the senior float, which was based of the 1986 movie Ferris Bueller's Day Off. He was unsure about doing it especially when it started raining, but eventually he decided to do it because one of his best friends, John Gira ('10), agreed to do it with him. "I have never seen the movie, but it sounded like a good time." Another hurdle for Jordan was that he had never heard the song before. "I just improvised and danced with some cheerleaders. It was an awesome time."

The King and Queen

This year, St. Clair High School students elected Matt Redmond as Homecoming King. Matt is known for his amazing voice and his involvement in many extra-curricular activities. Matt has been a part of St. Clair High's theater troupe since his freshman year, and his junior year he was granted the privilege to be the lead in the school's annual musical, Les Misérables. Matt has run track for the past three years and intends to be a part of the team again in the spring. He also plays a part in the Student Council and National Honor Society. Matt wants to attend either Berkley or Western Michigan University in the fall.

After many rounds of voting, Alex Bernardi was crowned Homecoming Queen, 2009. Alex is extremely active in school. She is a member of the varsity softball, basketball, and swim teams. She is a part of the Mock Trial Team and the Yearbook staff. She was also appointed senior ambassador, a small group that meets with Dr. Green to talk about school issues. In her free time, Alex scrapbooks, snowboards, and wakeboards. She has plans to play basketball in college in Boston, Massachusetts. There, she wants to get her degree in either mass communication, education, or photography. Alex was a great choice to represent the school as our Homecoming queen.

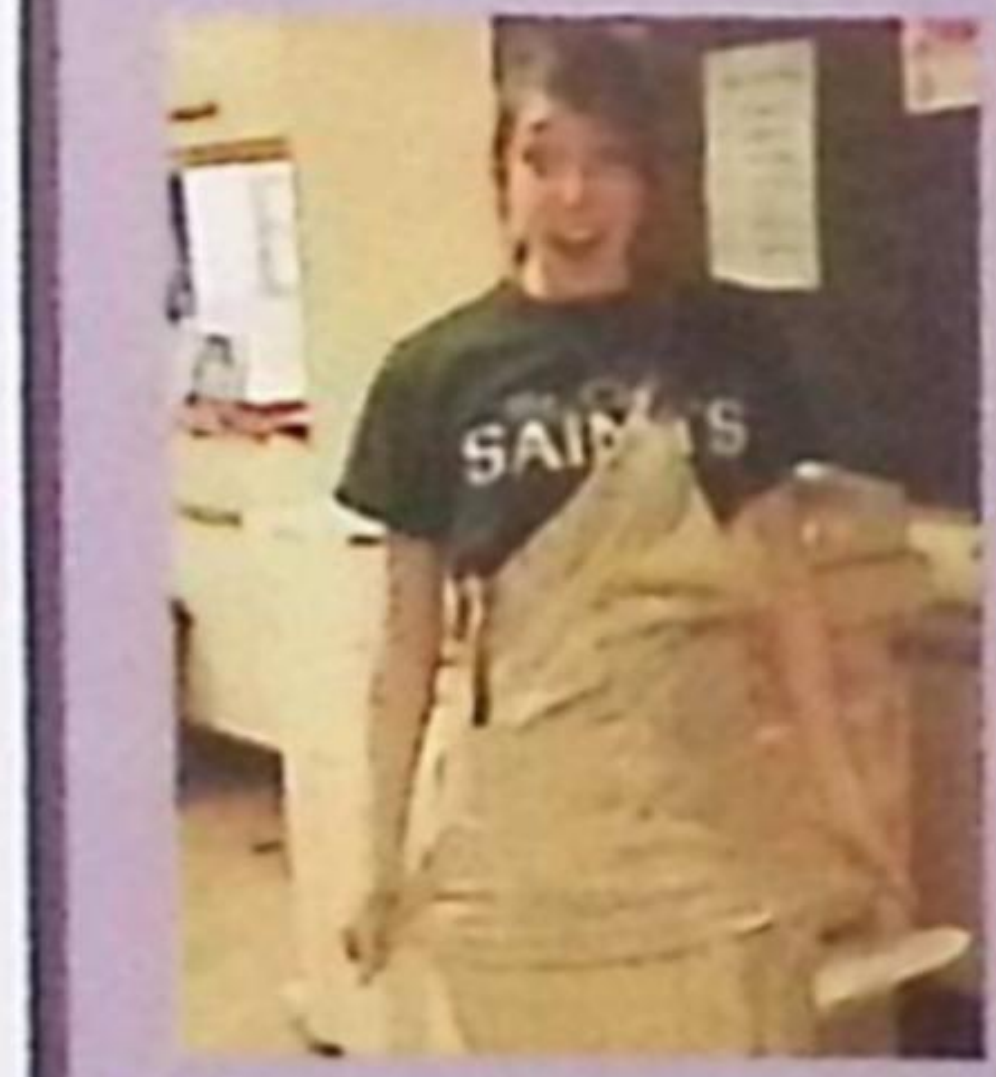
While caught in action, Scott Kutsche, Andy Davis, and Alex Walker ('12) continue their way threw the gym as they contribute to the ever so famous Congo Line.

The Traveling... Dress?

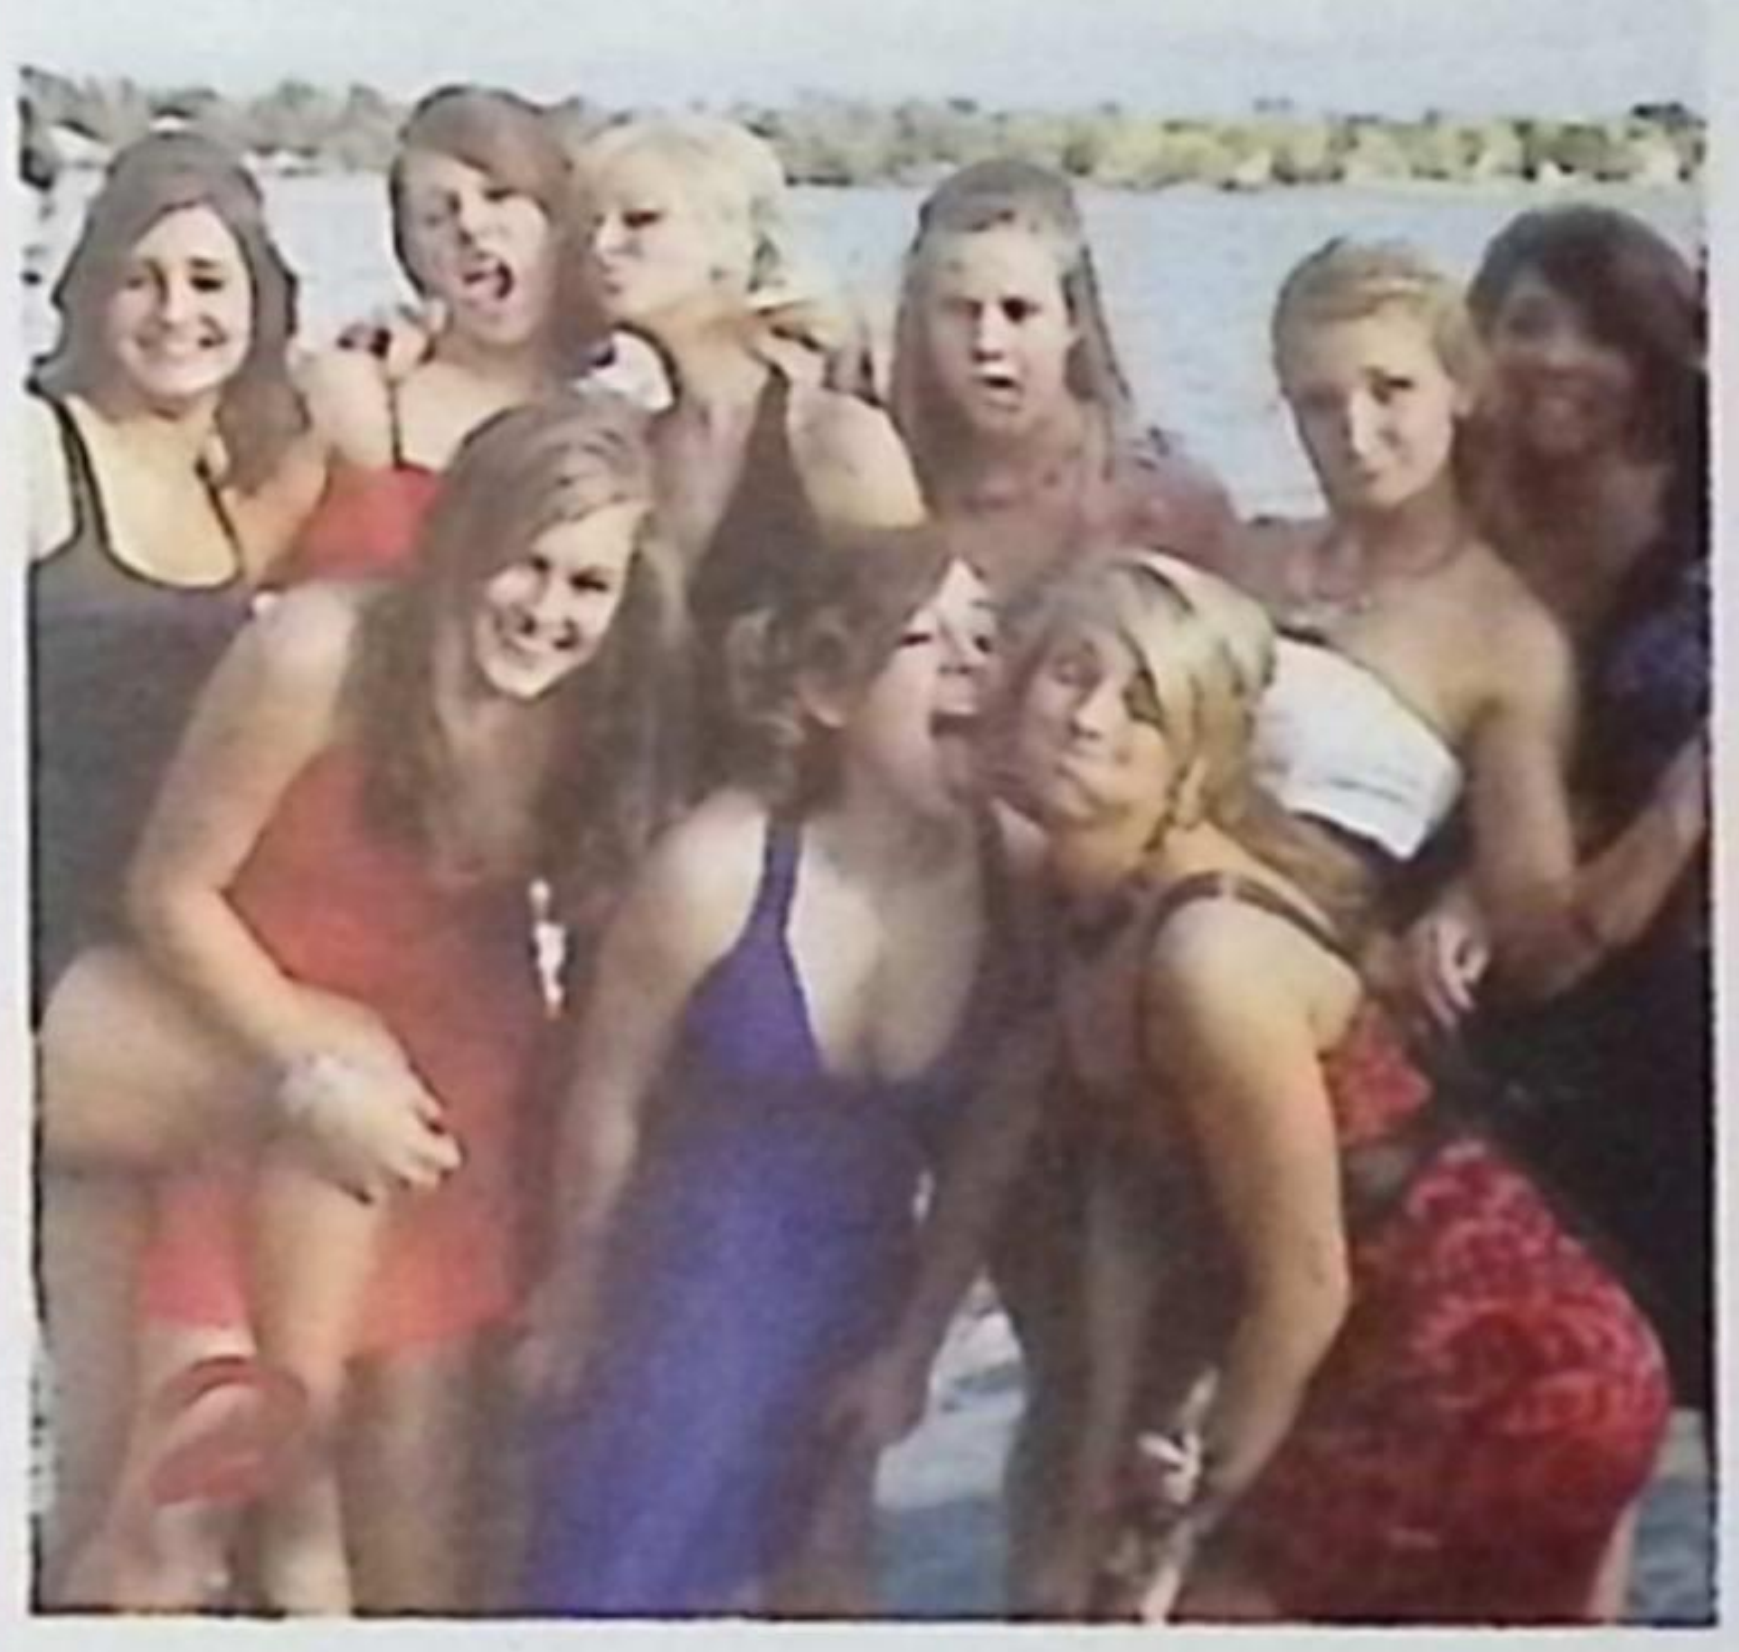
With the suffering economy, it was no surprise when girls skipped the mall and went straight for their friend's closet.



"I borrowed my homecoming dress this year from my girl Emily Jarrett! I made the decision to because i really hate shopping, plus it was free!"
-S. Sumpter ('10)

"I borrowed my dress because during volleyball season I can barley work, so in a nutshell... I'm broke!"
-A. Bondy ('11)

"I borrowed mine because it's my junior year and I really didn't want to spend money on a dress... that's what next year's for."
-M. Litton ('11)



1. Sisters: Mysha Bryan ('12), Bryana Bryan ('11), and Aryanna Bryan ('10) excitedly capture the rare moment of their first and last high school Homecoming together. 2. While keeping it comical, these juniors come together for pictures at the boardwalk before the Homecoming dance. 3. Juniors, Anne Quail and Sam Jabreal ('11) enjoy the clear weather while it lasted, before heading out for their planned dinner. 4. Students eagerly wait in line with their fellow classmates as they hand in their tickets and head towards the commons. 5. Evan Weidenbach ('11) places his arm around Joseph O'Connor ('11) as he shows off his goofy style and humorous personality while at the dance.

MY MOMENT

Neele Penning ('10)

"My Homecoming experience was definitely one that I will always remember. There was a big difference between the Homecoming here, and any dance that I have ever been to back home in Germany. First, the dance was held in the gym and the decorations were unbelievable! Also, almost the entire school was at this dance, where as in Germany, usually only the seniors attend. I would have to say that the most unusual thing that happened at the dance was that all of the girls took off their shoes right after they came into the school. Another thing is that we actually don't have a "real" Homecoming dance, and even at prom, we don't have a King and Queen. Other than the dance, my favorite parts about Homecoming week was the Homecoming parade and the pep rally. It was so nice of the school to include the exchange students in the parade. This was very special to me because we don't have a Homecoming or parades in Germany."

"More Than a Feeling"

With high heels in hand, and feet caked with dirt, numerous groups of girls limp out of the school, with their dates completely and utterly exhausted. Whether it's shin splints or calf cramps, the individual conversations of soreness from the students blend into one loud roar. Digressing into their own separate vehicles, the headlights speed out of the parking lot, and head to the nearest fast food restaurant.

"For my Senior year this Homecoming was by far a great one to end on. I think i liked it so much because everyone was there, whereas at Winterfest a TON of people didn't show up!"

-G. LaDuke ('10)

Taking the first long sip of ice cold pop is a soothing sensation that tasted better than any of the homecoming attendees could imagine. With feet acquiring their own pulse, sitting down is what everyone has been waiting for since the minute their formal attire started to become saturated with sweat. Yet, through al of the aching, and complaining everyone stil could not stop taking about the amazing night. They continued to reminisce and laugh uncontrolably about their experience of yet another successful SCHS Homecoming dance.

POWDER PUFF

Dandelion Football

Laughter bounds across the yard lines as girls practice diligently, with members of the varsity football team, to perfect the art of football. The girls fumble through drills as the boys try desperately to shove lessons they have learned over many years into the three weeks of practices. They impart pearls of wisdom onto unknowing girls, teaching them of the mystical pig skin and its supernatural ways of acrobatic twirls in the sky. Blocking, throwing, catching, passing, kicking, and other complicated skills are quickly learned for the big day: Friday's game.

"I've always liked football, but after powder puff I definitely understand it a lot better. I thought powder puff was so much fun, and if we had it as an actual sport at school I would so join!" -D. Mayworm ('10)

Game day comes and all players on each side are ready and waiting. Dressed in bright red and blue to flaunt their superiority, the competitive nature between the two classes shines through. Play after play, the girls compete in an intense battle of skill, bravery, and stamina. After long hours in the rain and mud, each player is pushed to her limit. A close game, a close call, and close friends were made through the time shared by both teams out on the muddy field.

1. Shivering in the pouring rain, teammates Mackenzie Joachim ('11), Katlyn Boeck ('11) and Brooke Saunders ('11) cheer with chattering teeth from the sidelines. 2. Jamie Verbeke ('11) practices her flawless field goal kicks late into the night in preparation for Friday's game. 3. Others stand in awe as Michelle [illegible] ('11) bravely tries a [illegible] drill taught by their student football coaches. 4. Taylor Stablein (11) catches throw after throw at practice, perfecting the art to humble the boisterous seniors. 5. The [illegible] cheerleaders yell loud and proud for their Lady Saints who are leaving it all out on the muddy battle field.

DODGEBALL

Japan's Triumph

When the annual dodgeball tournament rolls around, people always expect the senior teams to come out on top. Although that may be true for the girl's bracket, which was won by "The Big Timers," both boys' teams in the championship bracket were made up of sophomores and juniors. Ironically, the two boys' teams were "Team Japan" and "Team America" It was almost as if history had repeated itself when the "war" began.

"My team did good in the tournament. We made it farther than I thought we would, and I had an awesome time."
-C. Moore ('12)

During Pearl Harbor, Japan attacks America, and the same goes for this year's boy championship game. Team Japan, which consisted of all junior guys, were triumphant and were able to leave the tournament undefeated. Just like the attack on December 7, 1941.

This fall has been a successful one for St. Clair High School athletics. From regional championships to placing in the top 15 during states, the boys' cross country team knows this better than anyone. Through hard work and determination, they fought their way through injury and illness to a season filled with accomplishments. The boys, however, weren't the only ones who made big strides toward success this autumn. The girls' cross country team also won their first ever regional championship.

The Saints' football program showed serious improvement this season as well. Although injuries were at an all time high, the boys worked hard to overcome such obstacles. The varsity team began preparing for their season with "The Big Ten" and the freshmen team finished their season strong with a 6-0 record.

This year our volleyball teams donned pink t-shirts during warm ups that supported a fundraiser to raise money for breast cancer. They worked hard all season and proved to us all that we can make a difference.

The boys' varsity tennis team also proved that they had what it took to make it to the state finals. Coaches Dave Cutts and Dan Johnson began with a group of somewhat inexperienced players, and by the end of the season they had created a team worthy of competing with the best.

Joining the cross country and tennis teams at states were 5 extremely talented athletes from the girls' varsity swim team. Alex Bernardi, Amanda Sliss, Haley Westrick, Breezer Britz, and Morgan Schweihofer all made the trek to Eastern Michigan University to compete in the state wide competition.

Here at SCHS we hold all of our athletes to an extremely high standard. This season more than ever they have proved they truly earned this respect and we are more than proud of all of their accomplishments.

SIDELINE COOL-DOWN

Quickly running over to the sideline, the Saints' kicker, Jared Sheets ('10) takes one of the several hoses from the drinking fountain, and re-hydrates just in time for his extremely important punt.

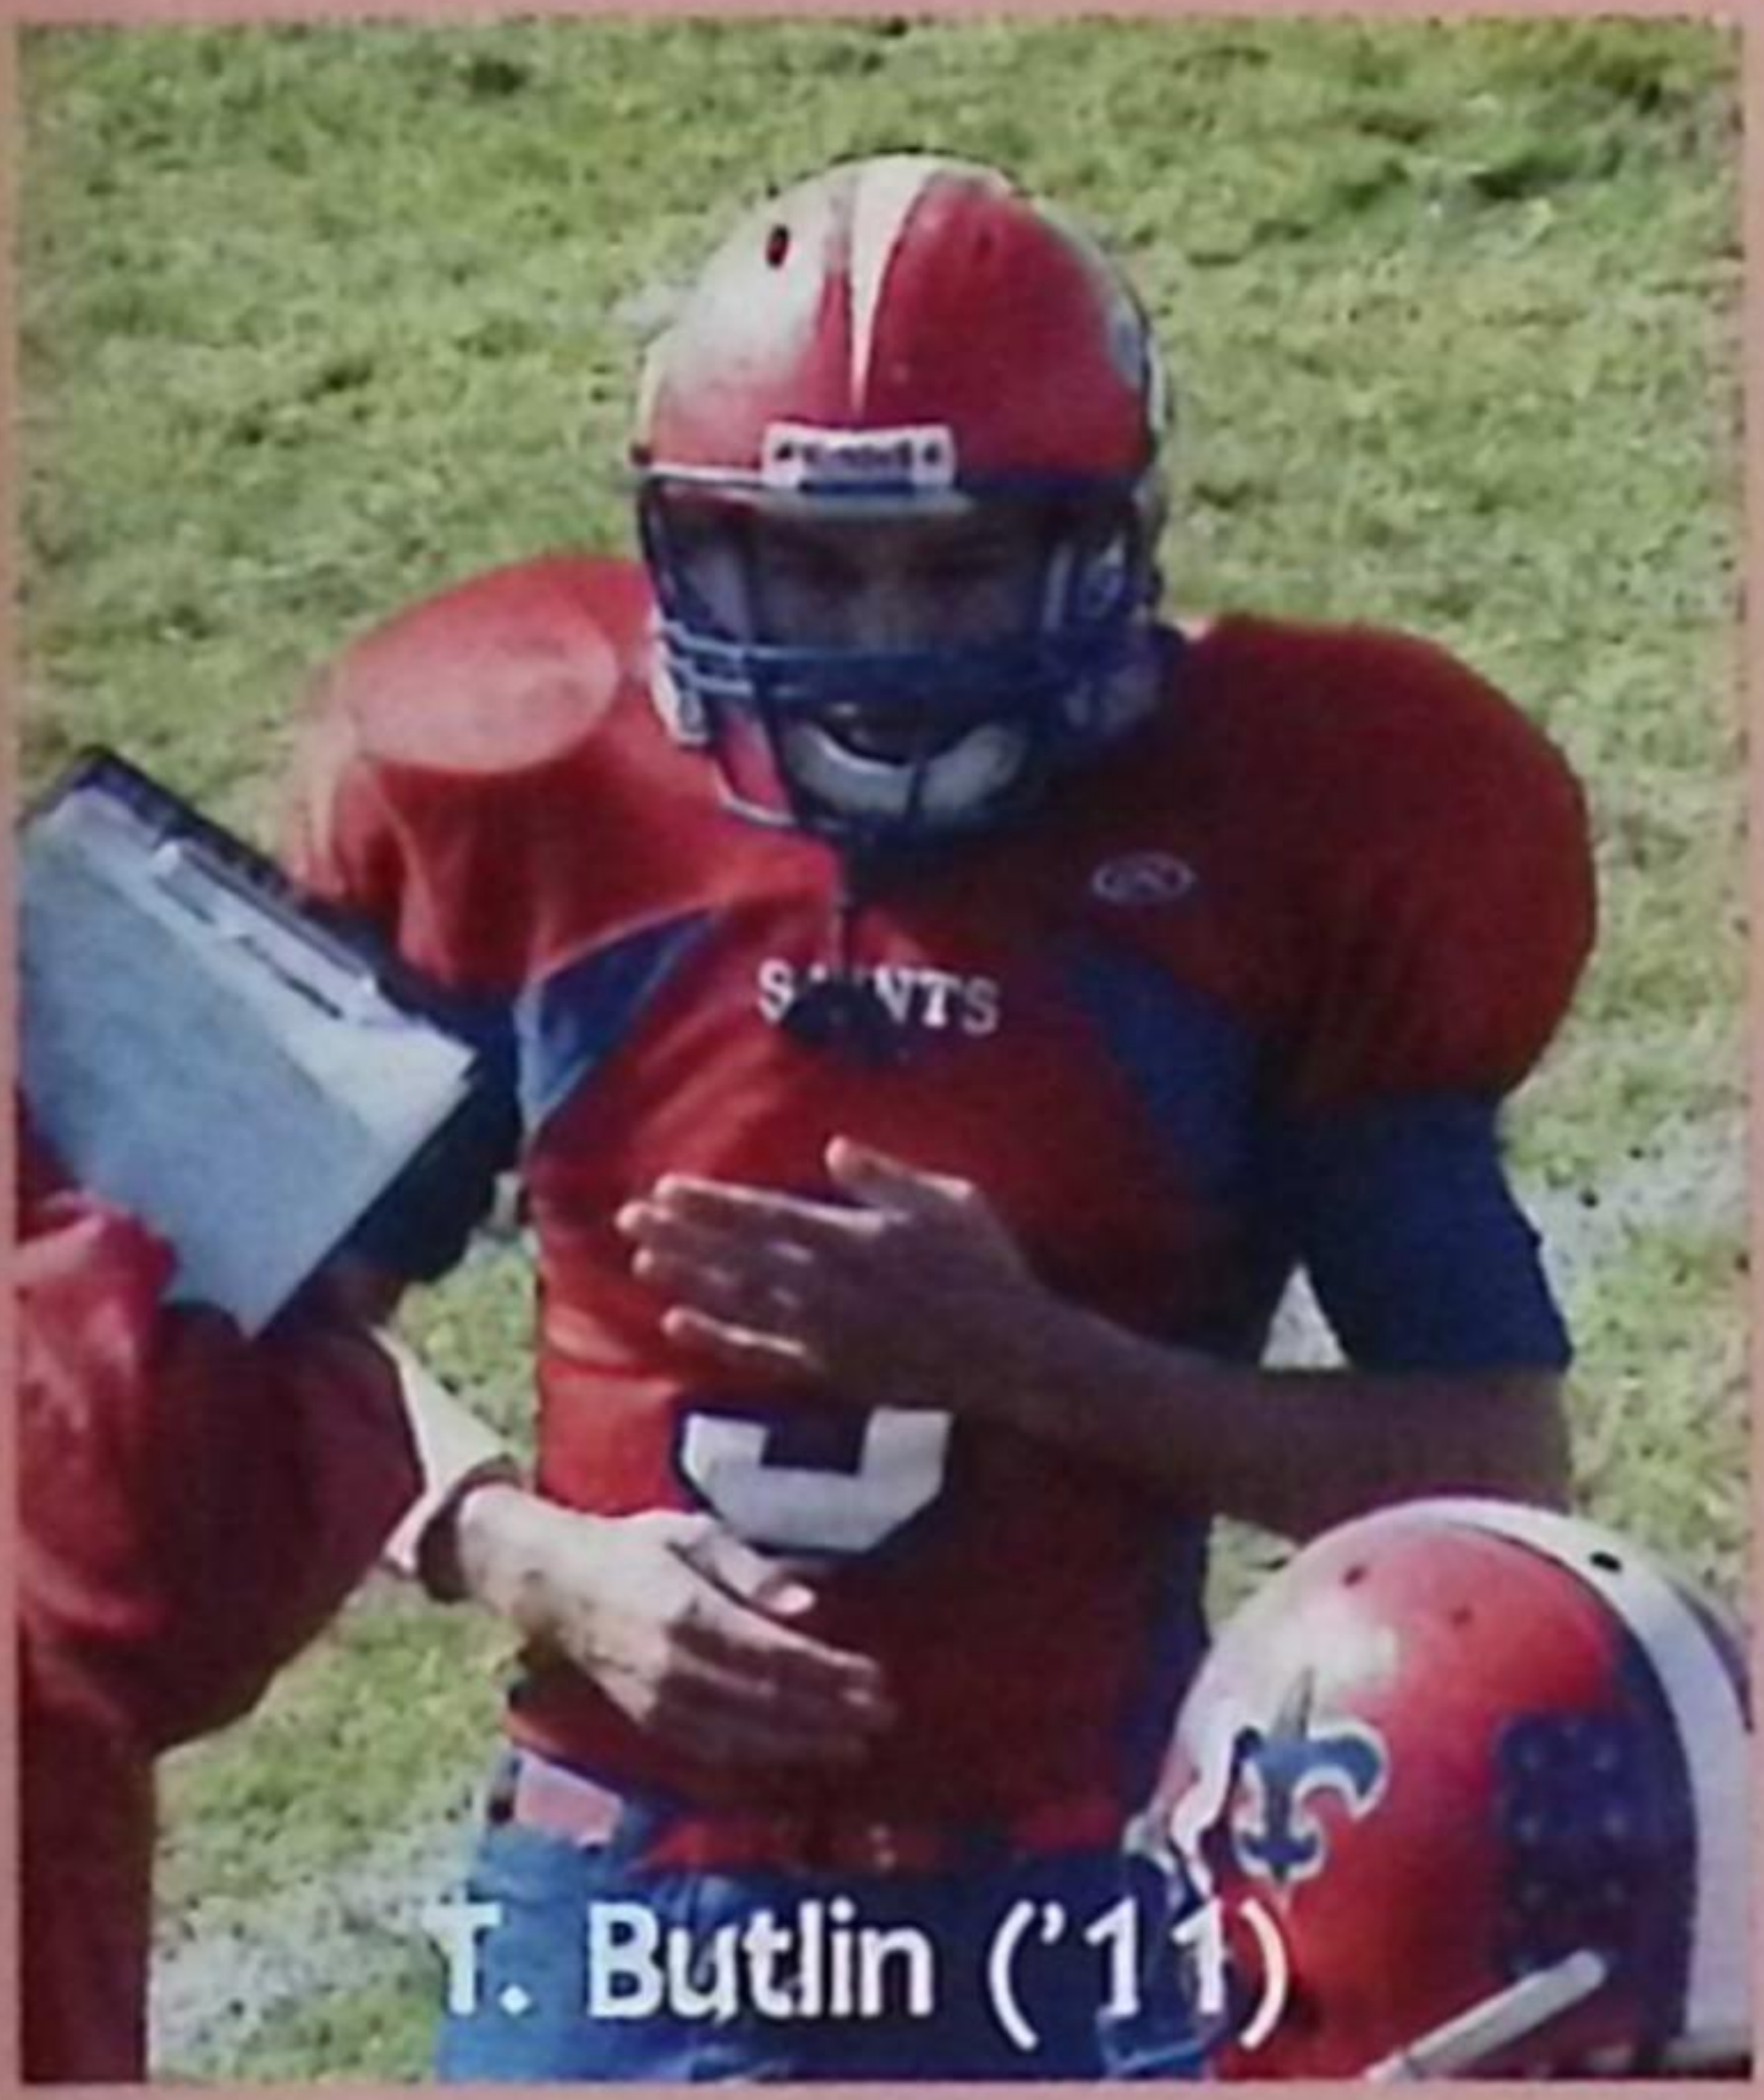
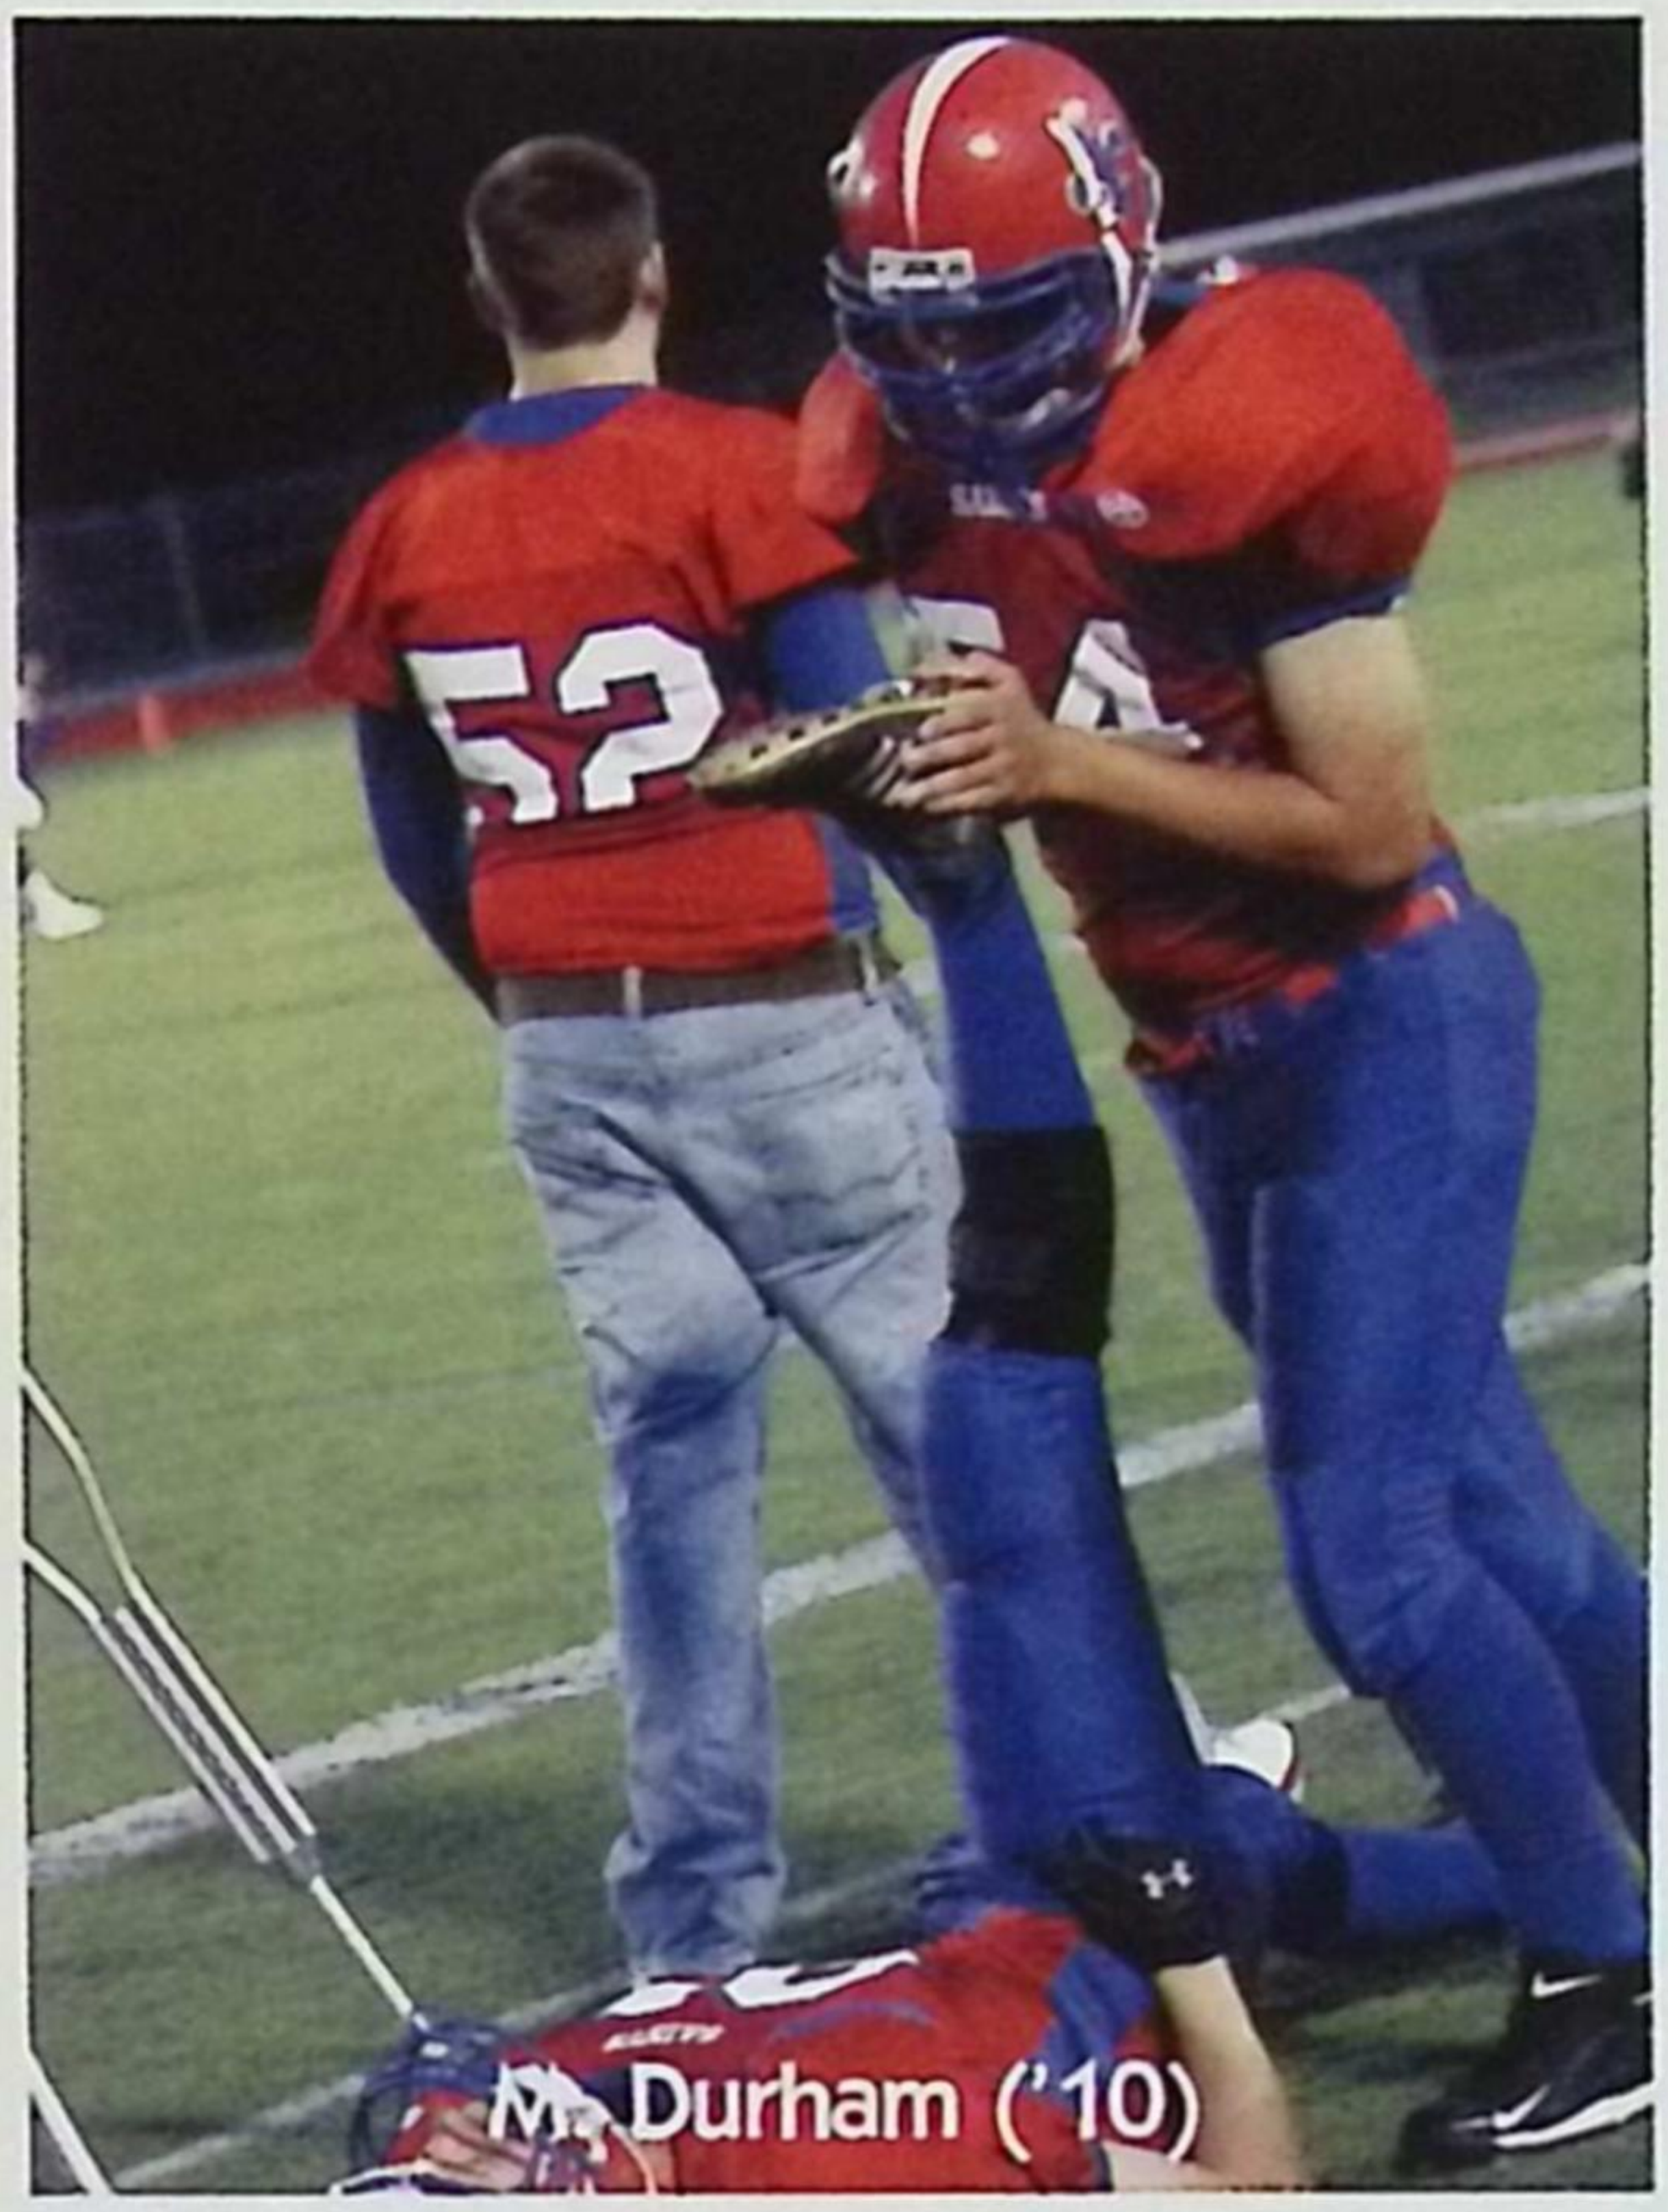
MY MOMENT



T. Butlin ('11)

After the former first string quarterback stepped down from his position, junior, Tyler Butlin had a huge role to fill. With only a few days notice to prepare for his dramatic move, Butlin knew he had to prove to both his teammates and coaching staff that their decision was the correct one. "I first heard that I was taking over the position from coach Venia like a day before the game. I was excited but nervous at the same time because I only practiced at quarterback for maybe one full practice the entire season. With that in mind, the first game at Q.B. was kind of rough. I think that everyone could tell i was new to the position, and it definitely didn't help that Tower was a physical team. Besides that, I think I did okay with staying focused and doing my job. With the first game jitters out of the way, playing in the Marine City game was really fun. I just wish I had more time to practice and get used to the position. We knew that Marine City was a good team, and I think we played pretty well for the obstacles that we had to work through. As for next year, I hope I can play both ways, but if I can't, then I will play wherever the coaches want me to!"

-T. Butlin ('11)



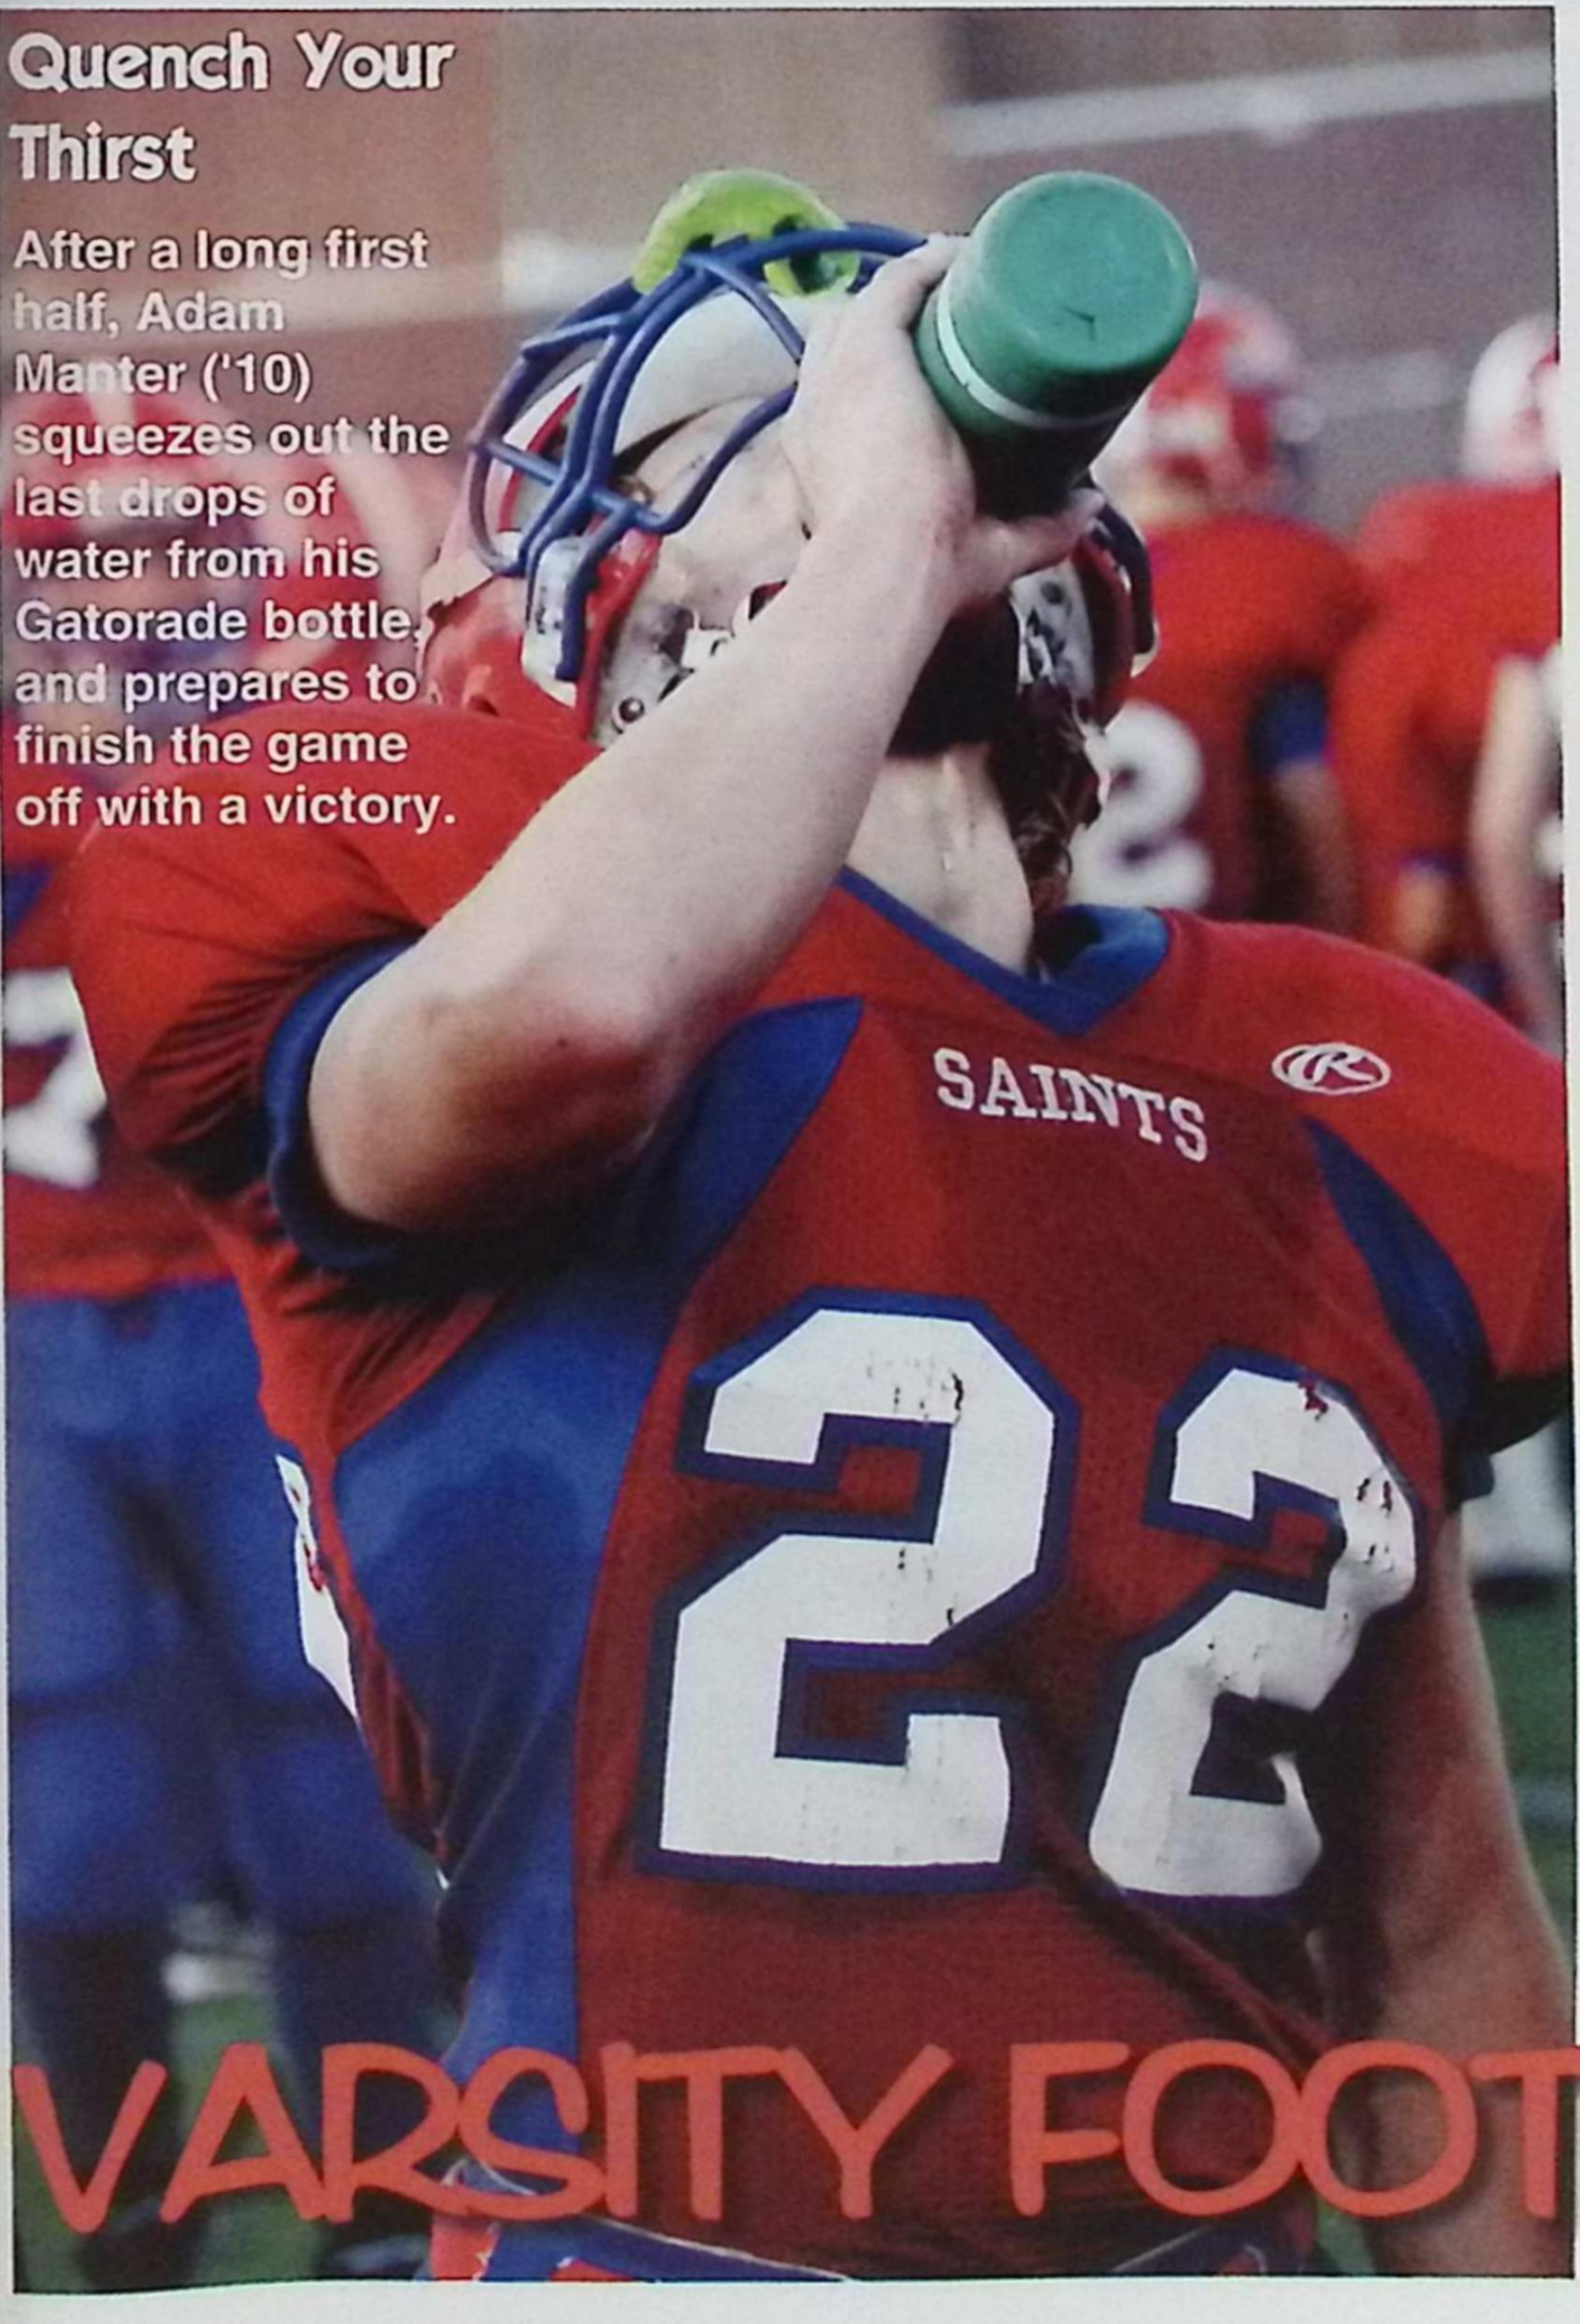
M. Durham ('10)

Working Out the "Kinks"

With almost 30 seniors graduating this season, the varsity football team used this year as their blank canvas; a season to create, tweak, and illustrate their future plans for the SCHS football program. Many players who used to be in the shadows of their teammates, were now who the coaches relied on to lead the Saints to victory. Although, with this process, the team knew they would be faced with many challenges. Players were put into unfamiliar positions and expected to fill shoes that they felt were irreplaceable.

"I'll never forget when Kutsche refused to get water for Coach Nezbitt. So for the rest of the year whenever coach needed ANYTHING, he'd go out of his way to find Kutsche." - B. Britz ('10)

Inexperienced, yet extremely talented, underclassmen were taking over spots merely days before big games such as: the Homecoming game, the Marine City game, and the battle against Class A Gross, Point South. With a record of 7 and 2, most of the boys hung their head in dissatisfaction. Yet, even though it did not show on the record board, our boys worked harder and achieved more than we could have ever imagined.



Quench Your Thirst

Rain or Shine!

This season proved to be one ful of learning experiences and opportunities to improve. The footbal team spent countless hours practicing, rain or shine, and even through the ups and downs, overal it was a productive season. Heads held high, they waked into the season, and out of it, with a good attitude. There was a talented group of boys, who worked day in and day out to be the best. The JV team waked off the field after the last game wanting to play more. Next fal they wil come again to be a strong varsity team. The team bonded together and became a close group of friends. They finished with a record of 3-6, but tried their best the whole season. One highlight of this year was the win against Warren Woods Towers.

4. Andy Davis and Hayden Robbins ('13) wait patiently on the sideline for their chance to get back into the game and help bring home a win.
5. After the Marine City game the Saints get praised for their performance that led them to a victory.

We're #1

After a long ride on the Homecoming float, some of the freshmen football team enjoy a quick frozen treat, while showing their enthusiasm for their football season.

Building A Strong Foundation

Being better, faster and stronger will win games, and the freshmen football team has taken this to heart. The team went 6-3 this season. They grew close as a team, developed new friendship which resulted in the team being undefeated their first six games. With great leadership, there was no way for the spirit to drop. Their workouts proved grueling, and to this group of boys, by them withstanding the conditioning, they knew they would walk out as a strong foundation for next year's JV team. The team will keep improving, Coach White said, "This will be a good group of kids to watch play together when they get older, there is a lot of talent on the team"

Bringing the Heat

The varsity volleyball team went 4-8 during their season. "Overall, it was a great season. Our record might not have been exactly what we wanted it to be, but every game was a battle and we worked hard to earn the wins that we did," said Carly McElreath. "The good thing about our team this year was that we put all of our effort into everything that we did, including practice," she added. With the beginning starting off a little rocky, as the season progressed, the girls really started to improve, and it showed in their games. Once they learned to work together and plays as a team, more games were won and their overall performance improved dramatically. "Everyone got along great this year, which made the season so much more fun," added Amanda Bondy. The girls learned that without positive attitudes towards the game and teammates, the game wouldn't be any fun. When they played tough, high ranked teams, they didn't let themselves fall far behind, and they fought back hard. Even though they didn't win many games, it was a season full of unforgettable memories.

MY MOMENT

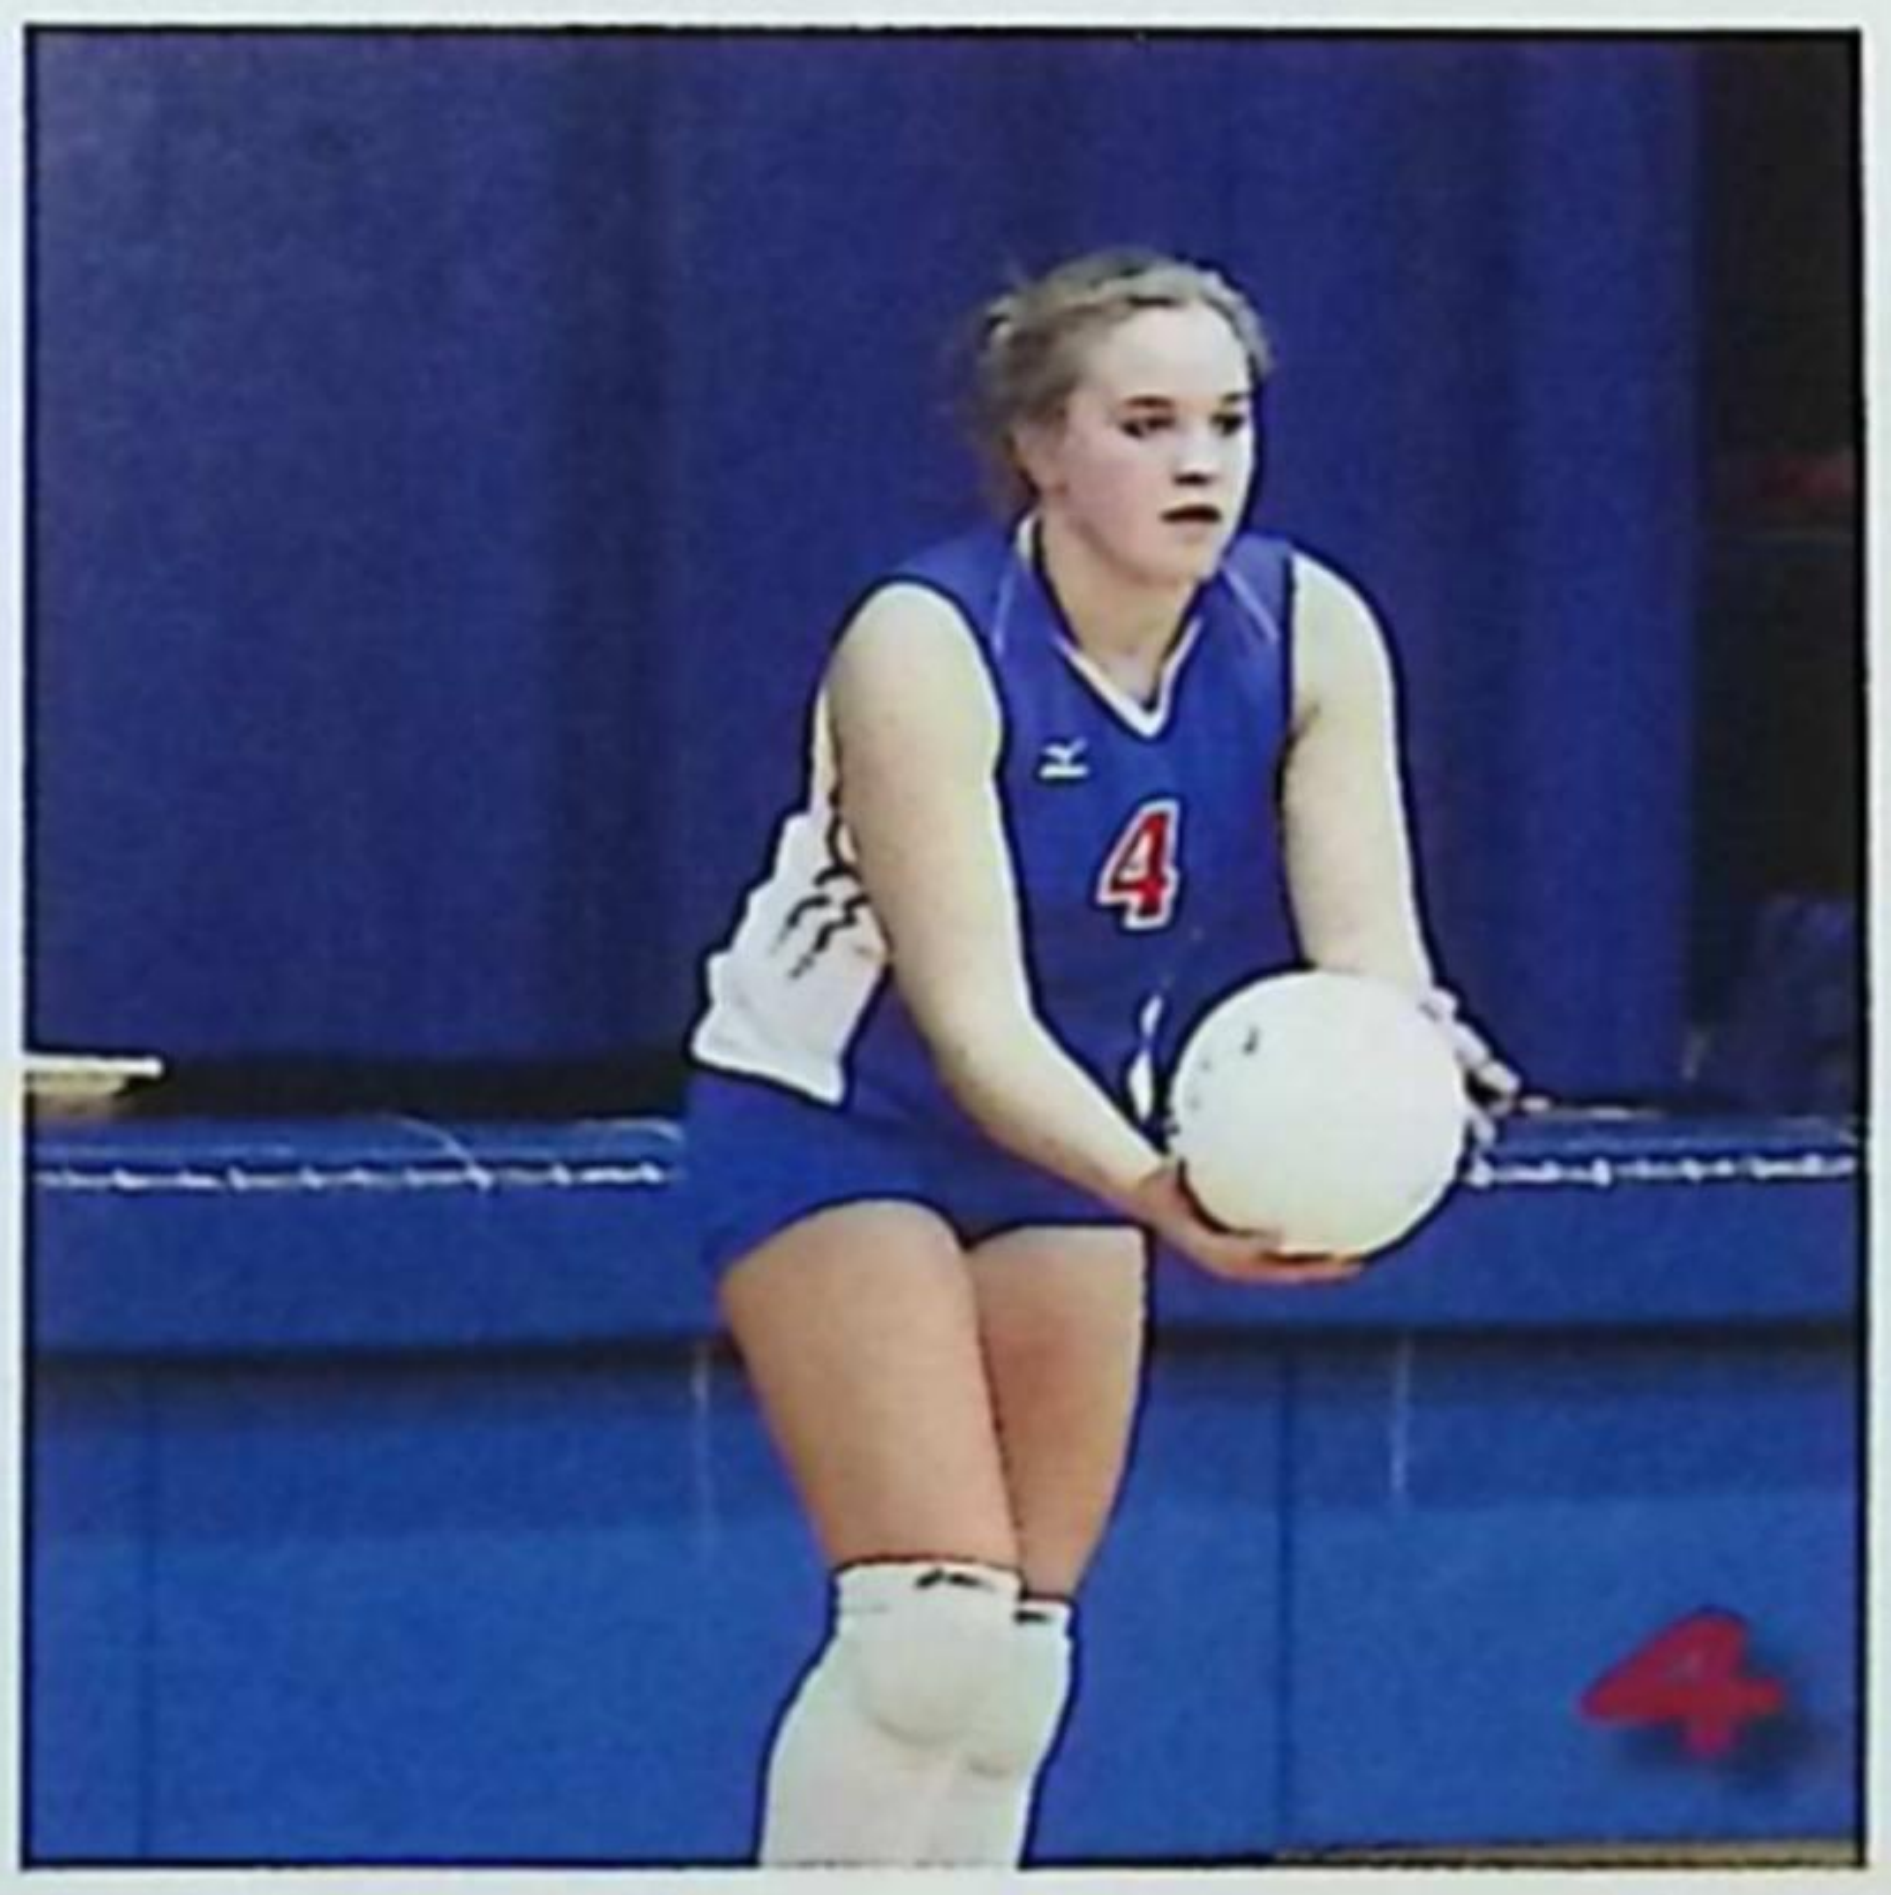
"The best moment of the season for me was definitely when I had five serving points during one of the matches with Marysville in districts. It was so exciting because Marysville is always so good, and beating them meant everything to me. The crowd was going crazy which really kept me pumped up and made me want it more then anything. It was 100% team effort, we never would have done it without everyone working as hard as they could and pumping each other up. Being apart of something so great felt amazing, and even though we did not win districts, I know everyone was proud of themselves and satisfied with our accomplishments. It was a perfect way to end the season."

-K. Liverance ('10)

1. Using great teamwork, Addie Ingles and Eden Starbuck ('11) work together to block their opponent's hit.
2. Serving for the point, Amanda Bondy ('11) concentrates on getting the ball over the net.
3. Listening carefully to what their coach has planned next, the team huddles together to make a next play.
4. Madison Burr ('10) stands ready, waiting for the official to give her the signal to begin, to serve the ball over the net.
5. After waiting eagerly on the bench, Paula Fraschetti ('11) subs in for Kellie MacLeod ('10) hoping to get some playing time in before the match comes to an end.



What was your favorite part of the season? Why?

"My favorite part of the season was the team dinners. I loved hanging out with the team after a hard practice; it allowed us to discuss our plays and how to get better, all while enjoying a great meal. Team dinners made us closer as a team and as friends. Without team dinners I wouldn't know the girls as good as I know them now." -K. Heiden ('11)

JV VOLLEYBALL

You Got Served!

As the new school year came around, the JV volleyball team got ready for new competition. As the fans moved to the bleachers, the girls got fired up to play an intense game against Utica High School. Once the game was on its way, the pressure was on. The gym started heating up, along with the players, as they tried to keep focus not only on the time and score board, but on the game as well. As the ball flew over the net, inches away from the girls' finger tips they prepared to score a point for their team. After a long hard game, the girls cheered as they took home a big 3-1 win.

As the Marysville team waked in, tension in the air rose. Beating Marysville would make the St. Clair volleyball team the most dominant in the area. Once the game began everyone felt the intensity in the air; the game was evenly matched, and both teams were playing to the best of their abilities. As the game got on its way the Saints knew what to do when the time was right. When striking the ball and going for a kill, the girls fought with determination to get every point possible. As the time ticked down, so did the girls' chances of beating one of the strongest competitors they would face this fall season.

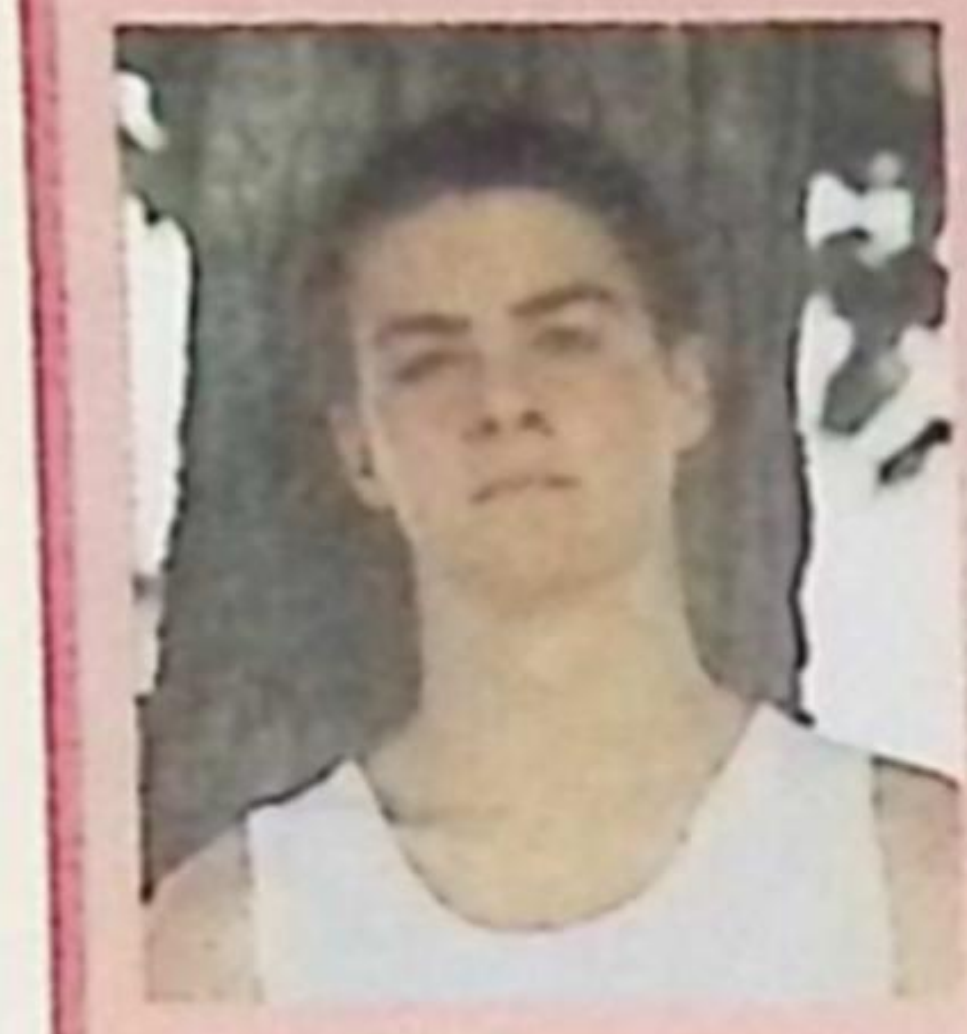
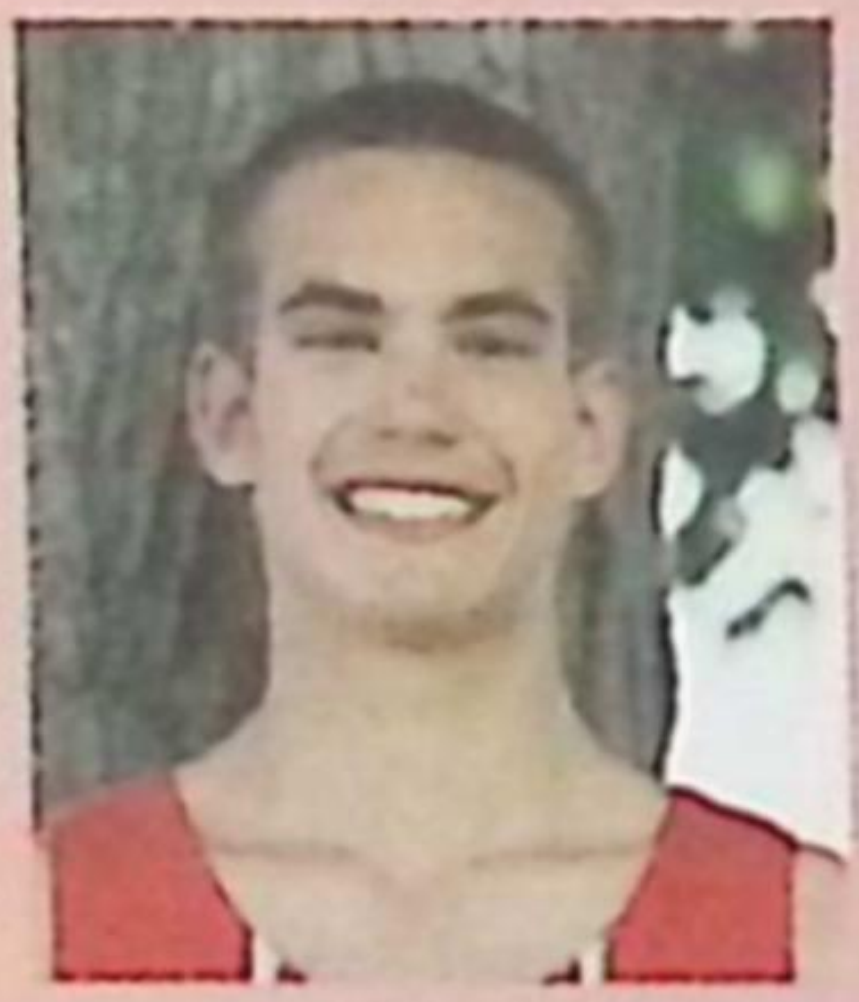
How do you stay focused?



"During a race I sing the same part of a song over and over again."
-J. Fields ('11)

"I try to run with someone and talk with them."
-M. Koester ('12)

"I think about how far we have left, because sometimes you just don't feel those long runs."
-N. Brosky ('10)



"I just think about running, what do you think?"
-N. Biewer ('11)

1. Using the strategy "strength in numbers", Garon Hamilton ('11) and Zach Tanton ('10) run side-by-side, taking the race by storm. 2. At Michigan State University, Randy Gottler ('12) keeps himself focused by concentrating on his strides as he perseveres to the finish line. 3. In the final stretch, Josh Pelcher ('10) tries his hardest to get ahead of another runner from Yale, achieving a great time of 19 minutes and 33 seconds. 4. Keeping up the tradition of "spitting in a circle", some members of the team gather before the tough Algonac meet at Stoney Creek. 5. Not looking back, Sean Hrecho ('12) keeps his eyes on the prize at the Metro Beach meet where the team captured the MAC White championship.

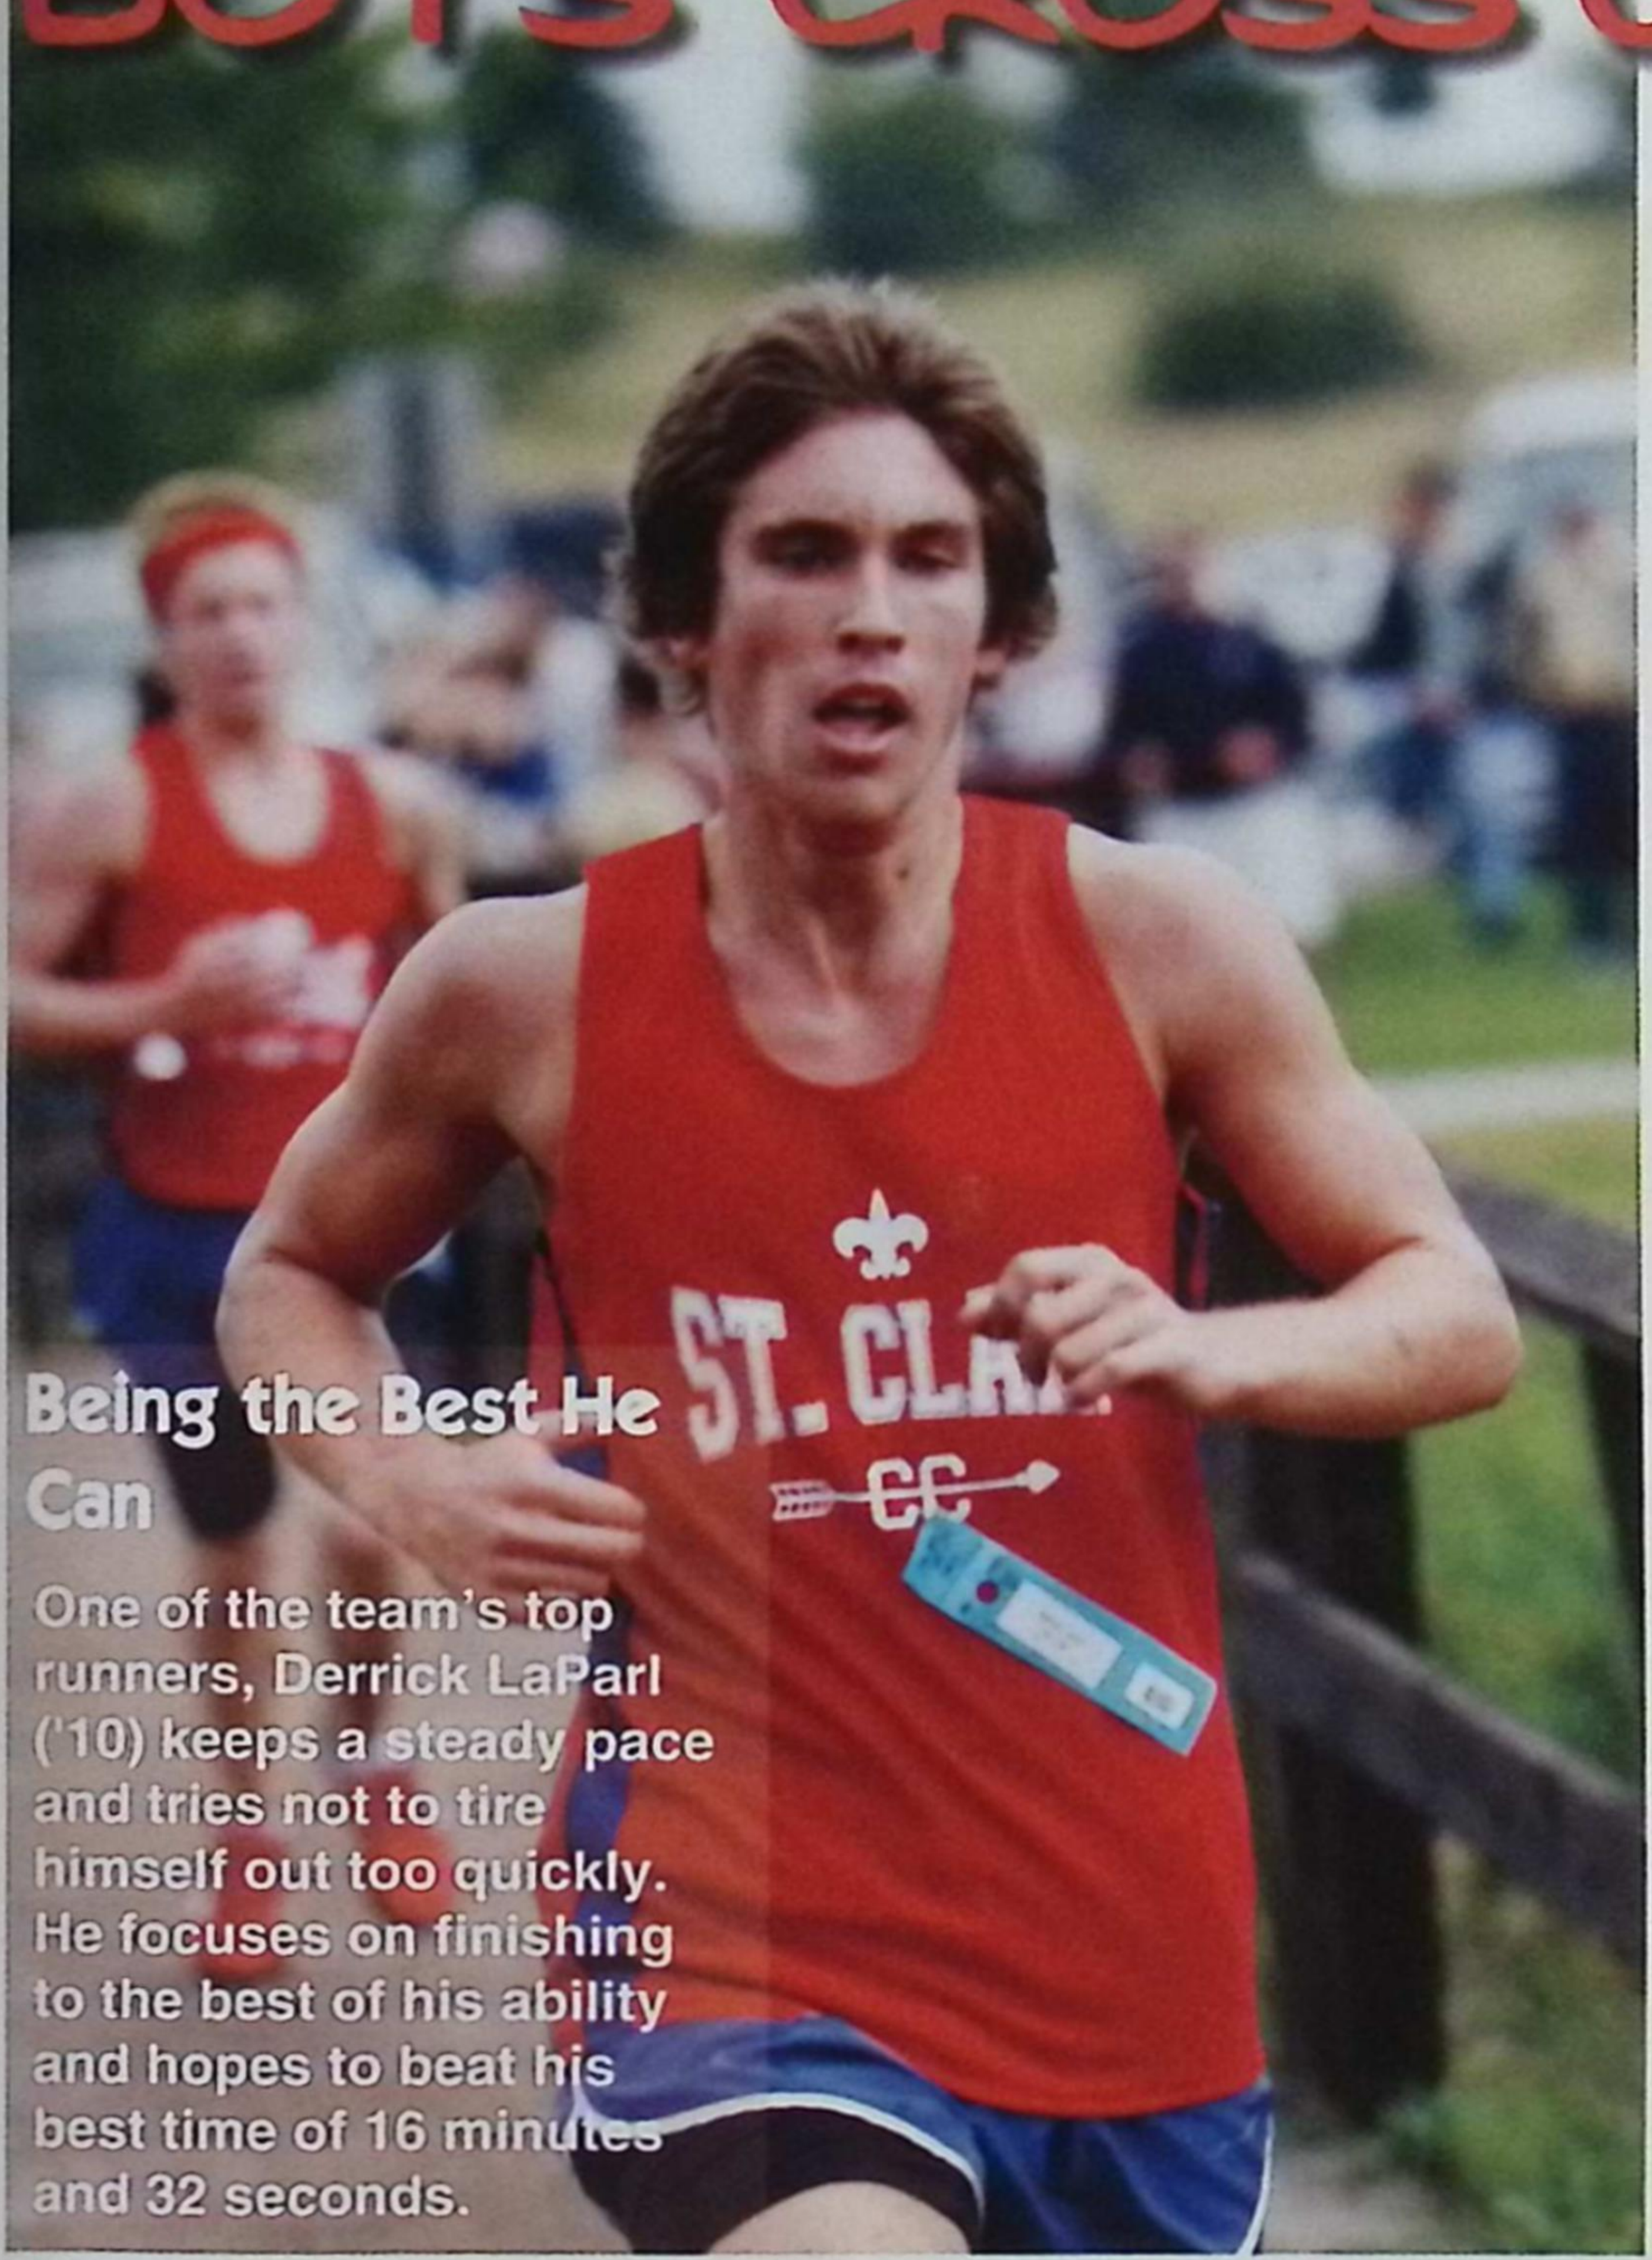
The Three Musketeers

Evan Kromroy ('12), Ryan Fitzmaurice ('10), and Zac Dunsmore ('11), keep up their pace in order to stay ahead of the competitors, who struggle to get ahead of this powerful St. Clair team.

The Final Stretch

Brennen Shafer ('12) knows the only way to out run his opponent is to ignore his exhaustion and push his hardest through the final stretch. His hard work pays off at the Marine City Meet where the team took first place.

BOYS' CROSS COUNTRY



Being the Best He Can

One of the team's top runners, Derrick LaParl ('10) keeps a steady pace and tries not to tire himself out too quickly. He focuses on finishing to the best of his ability and hopes to beat his best time of 16 minutes and 32 seconds.

Strength, Power, Will, and Passion

Strength, power, will and passion are what makes the boys' cross country team so phenomenal. This season was a great one; they placed first in six out of their 11 meets. The team practices their hardest each and everyday, giving it their best no matter what. Running on the St. Clair cross country team takes tons of will power. Rain or shine, the boys can always be seen showing off their dedication.

"Suck it up, run hard"

-The Boys' Cross Country team

As the season begins in the middle of summer, new members who once thought cross would be a fun, blow-off sport are quickly reminded that it is no joke; and even before the school season begins they are whipped into shape by Coach Jon Davidson. It isn't all work and no play for the team, however. They often joke around at practice and at meets, but when it is time to work there is no horsing around. To be a part of this incredible team you must have will power and determination.

MY MOMENT

"The Portage invite would have to be the best part of my season. It was one of the only races that I didn't feel like I was going to die after the race. It was a very fast course and it was a good day too. Also thinking about having BD's after helped me get through the race; I just had the most fun at that race and I cannot wait to go back again next year!" -P. Miller ('11)

MY MOMENT

Rochelle Gothom ('11)

"One of my greatest moments on the cross team would be when we went to the last chance meet, it was a lot of fun! Other than meets, we always had fun at practices too. At practice we would make fun of random things we did every day. Also, when we would get to meets we would complain that it's cold or really hot out depending on the weather. It's so funny because in the summer we would always complain that it was too hot and Coach Fouchey would ask us what we would do in the winter; we said we would complain about the coldness. Coach Fouchey was always making fun of one of us for something. He was always telling me to wear my wacky socks to practice; they would bring a smile to his face every time. The other fun things on the cross country team would be all of the parties. We always had a great time hanging out with each other and playing games. Those are my favorite moments of the cross country team, I can't wait until next year!" -R. Gothom ('11)

Power Driven Team

This season the Lady Saints' Cross Country Team was power driven, determined, and an all around strong team. While most students were sleeping in, or lying out in the hot summer sun, the girls' cross country team was already up and beginning their daily run. They ran in the sweltering heat, fighting to stay hydrated.

"Live Strong, Run strong!"

-Girls' Cross Country Team

However, their hard work ethic paid off during regionals, where they took home first place. It was a huge accomplishment because it was the first time in the history of the girls cross country team that they captured this title. It was a tough win for the ladies; every single one of them had to give it 110%, and then some. However, when all was said and done, it was agreed by everyone that their hard work and dedication was well worth the effort.

Layering Up

Lauren Zens ('12) knows the importance of staying warm while in a race. If your muscles get too cold they could become stiff causing it to be harder to run. Although layering up could possibly mean more air resistance, hence causing you to go slower; Lauren shows that extra layers have no effect on her times by getting her PR of 21:22.

GIRLS' CROSS COUNTRY

Anything Boys Can Do, Girls Can Do Better

Neena Pelcher ('13) and Sam Schwartz ('12) stay ahead of not only girl runners, but also some of the boy runners too. It was a tough run, but they both managed to post better times than their previous run.

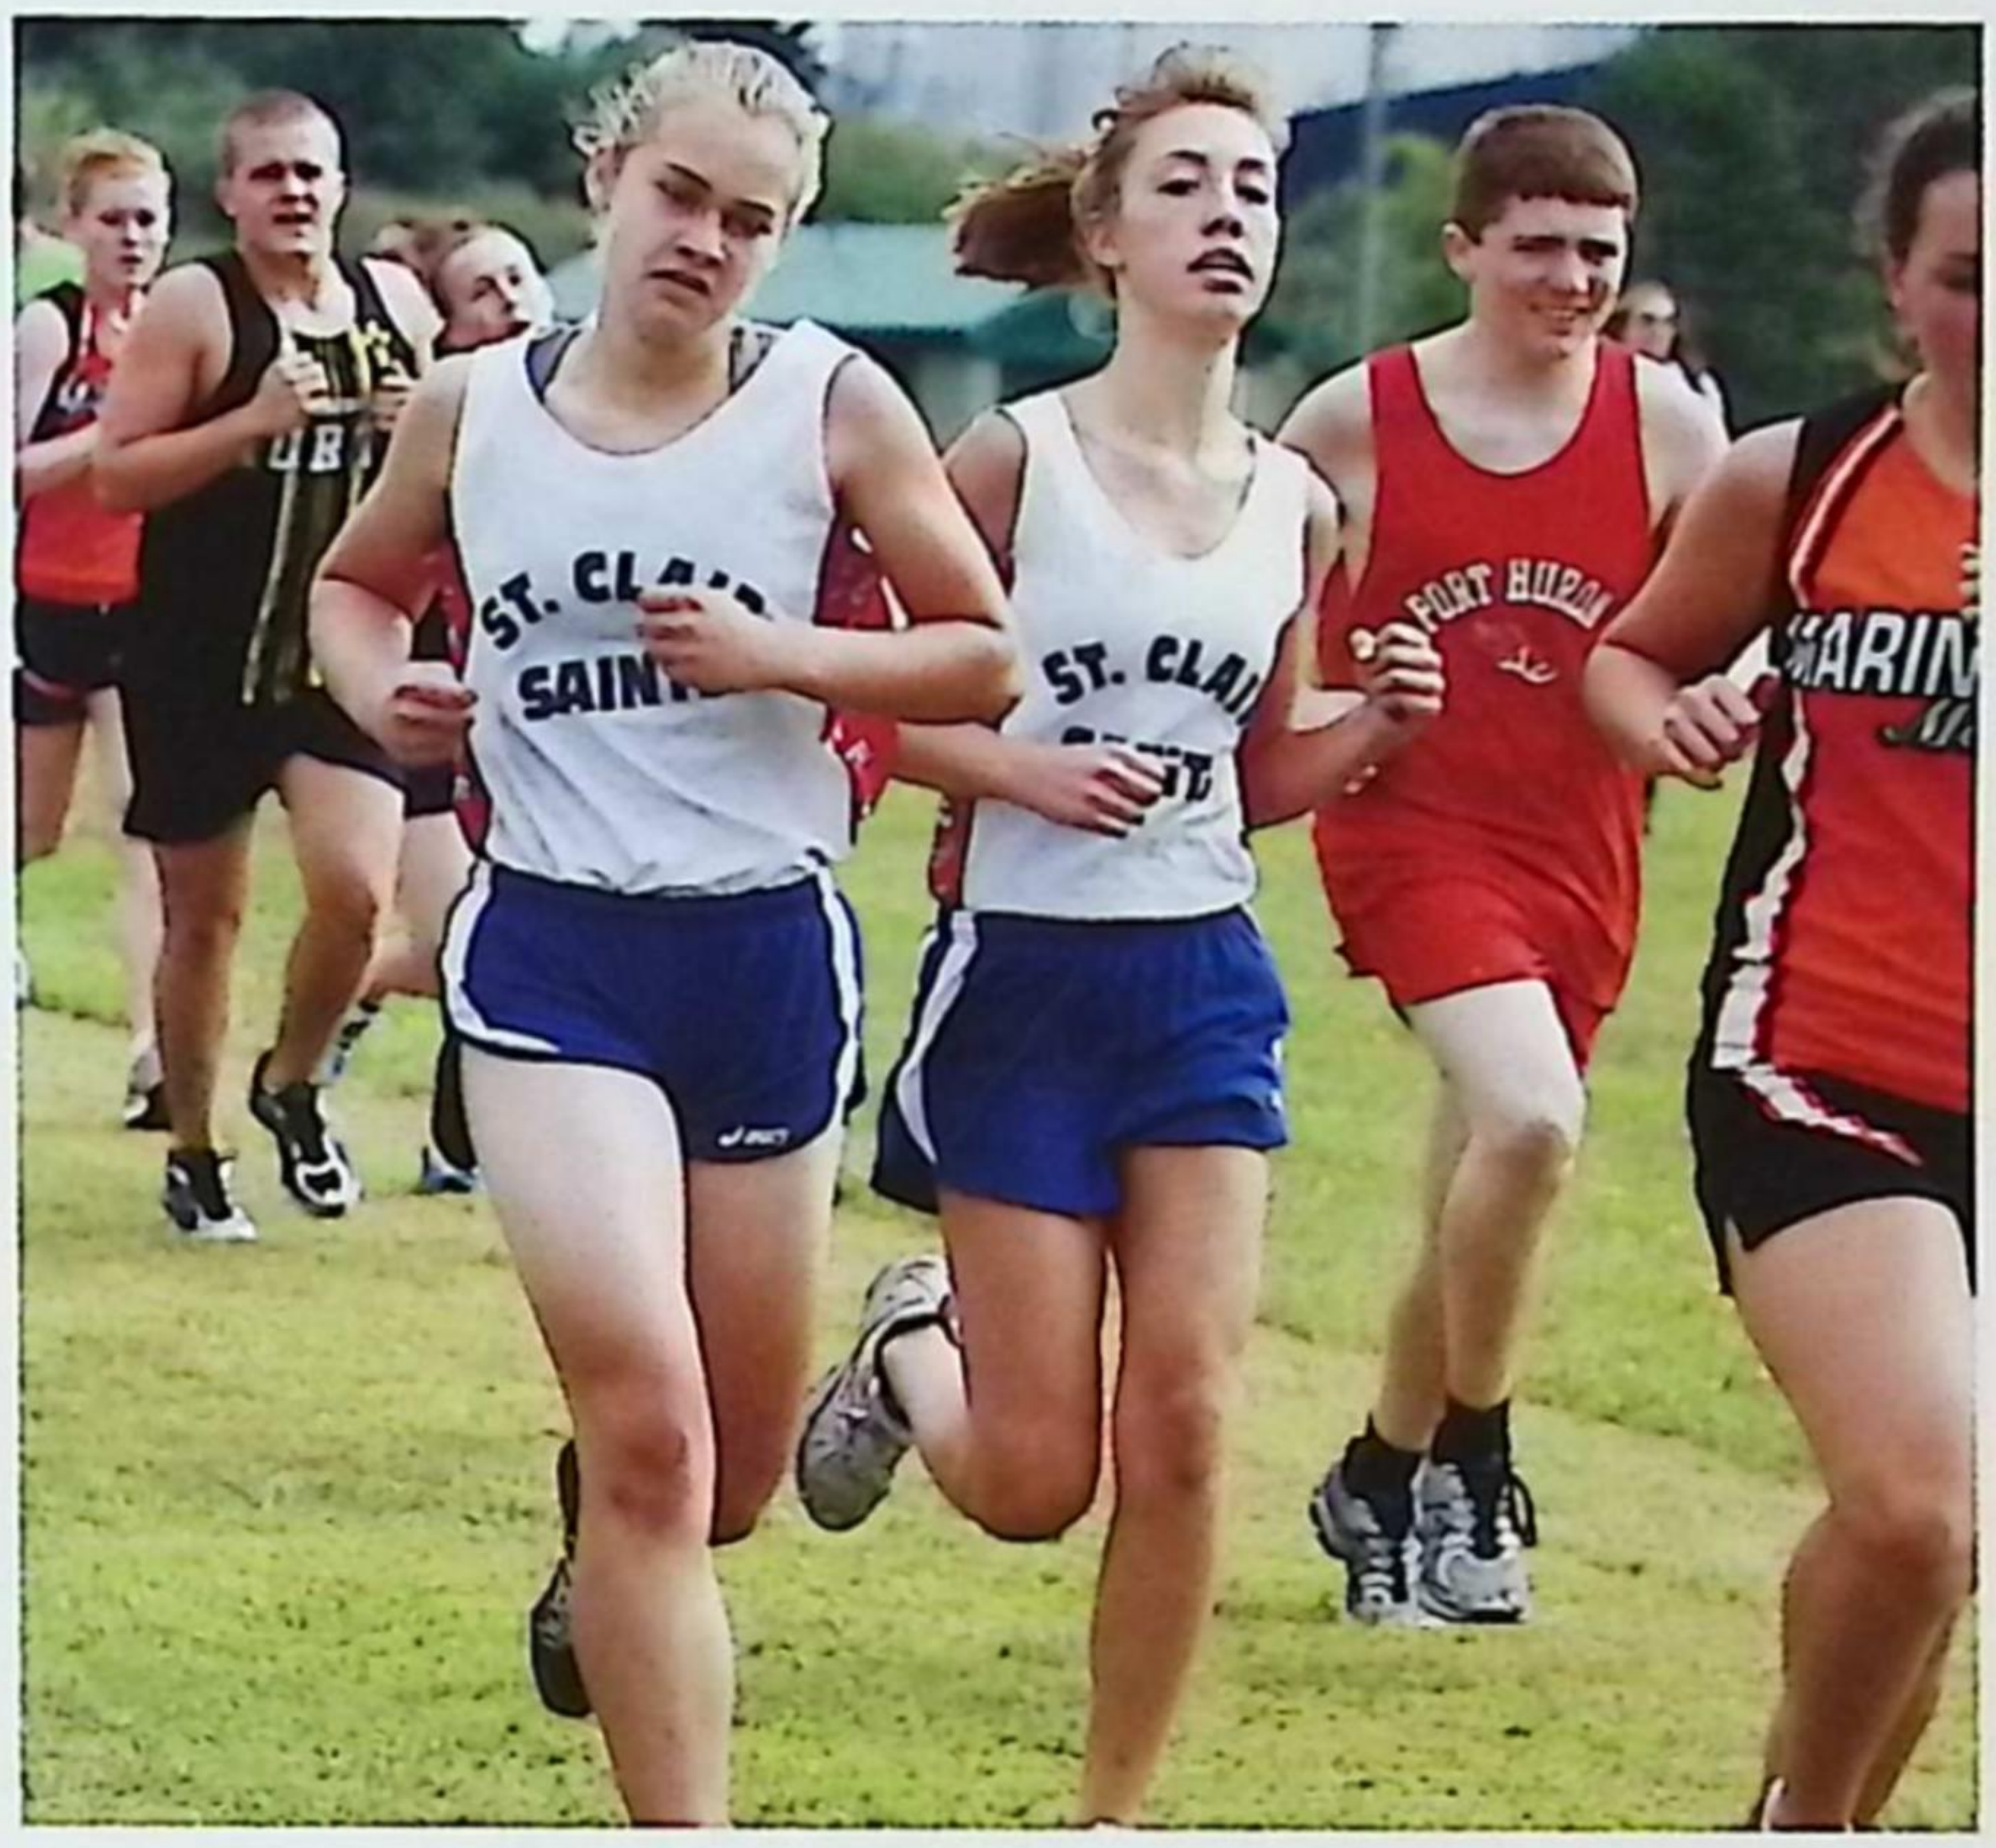

1. Keeping herself in tune, Tori Klisz ('10) sings in head to stay focused while running at the Capac meet. 2. After being injured, and missing the first two meets, Liz Nowak ('10) returns for the Marine City Invitational, helping the team take first place. 3. Kathleen Duemling ('10) tries her hardest to make it up the huge hill at the Marine City Invitational, and keeps her focus on the finish line. 4. Running through the woods at the Algonac Meet, Kayla Balfour's ('12) hard work pays off when she beats her previous time, running a 21:10. 5. Powering up the steep East China Hill, Sam Jebrael ('11) pushes with everything she has to get ahead of the rest of the competitors.

What is the most epic thing that had happened to you while running?

"Once during a race my shoe fell off, then another runner came up and stole it!" -T. Klisz ('10)

"People always try to cut me off, they elbow me and push me and I'm like...stop!" -J. Klisz ('12)

"Someone tripped me and I fell so I had to sprint to the front and my leg hurt really bad." -K. Bray ('10)

Gotta Kick It Up

With flawless form and a sturdy stance, Lucas Vitale ('11) gets ready to send the ball flying through the air from the corner, in hopes of giving a teammate on the backside post the perfect pass.

Walk the Line

While the rival players watch with stunned amazement from all angles, Bradley Kent ('13) carries the ball with precision, speed, and grace down the line towards the opponent's net.

3. Mid-stride and mid-air, Grant LaPeer ('12) swiftly dribbles the ball away from the competition.
4. By remaining alert, Brett Swantek ('11) is able to run towards the ball in the Saints' defensive third, in hopes of clearing it away from their net.
5. After making a run deep into the corner, Captain Sam Karnan ('10) winds up to cross the ball towards the opponent's net.

MY MOMENT

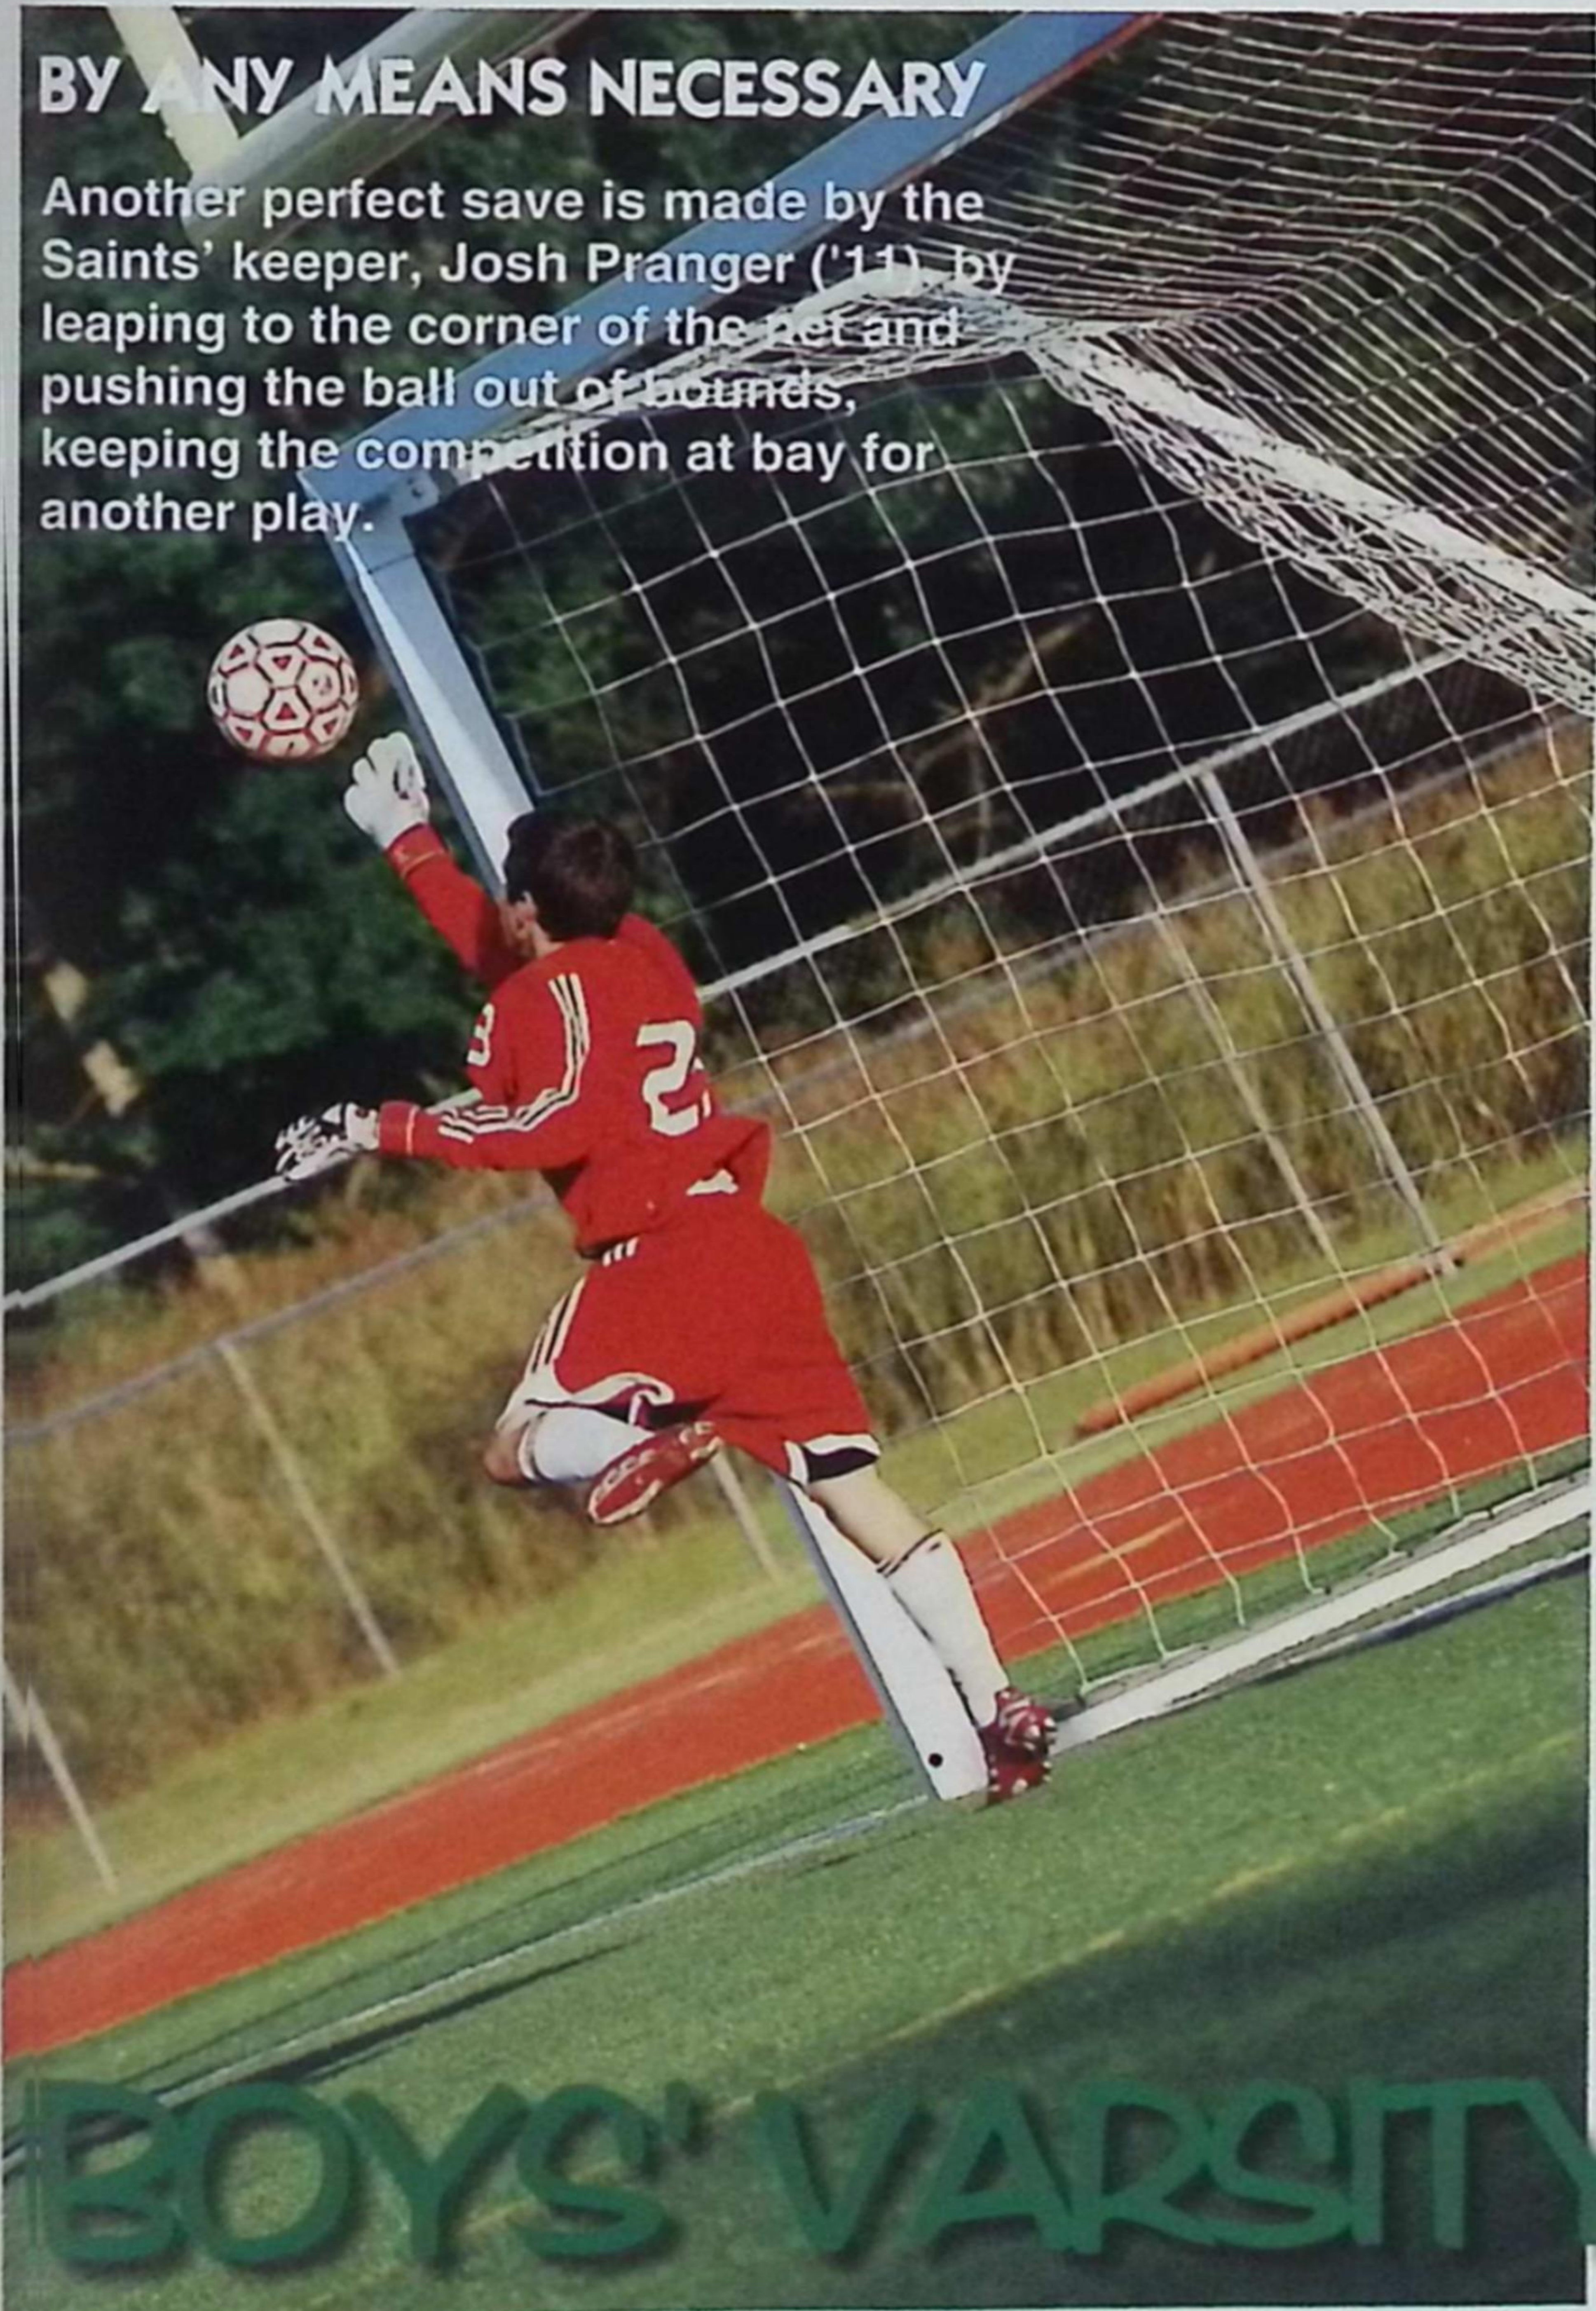
M. Crowley ('11)

"My favorite play this season was when I was playing defense on the right, and the other team's best forward was coming at me. I didn't want him to pass me and take a shot, so I slide tackled him, and he ended up spraining his ankle. He limped off the field in pain, and I'd never felt so proud in my life." -M. Crowley ('11)

J. Steffy ('11)

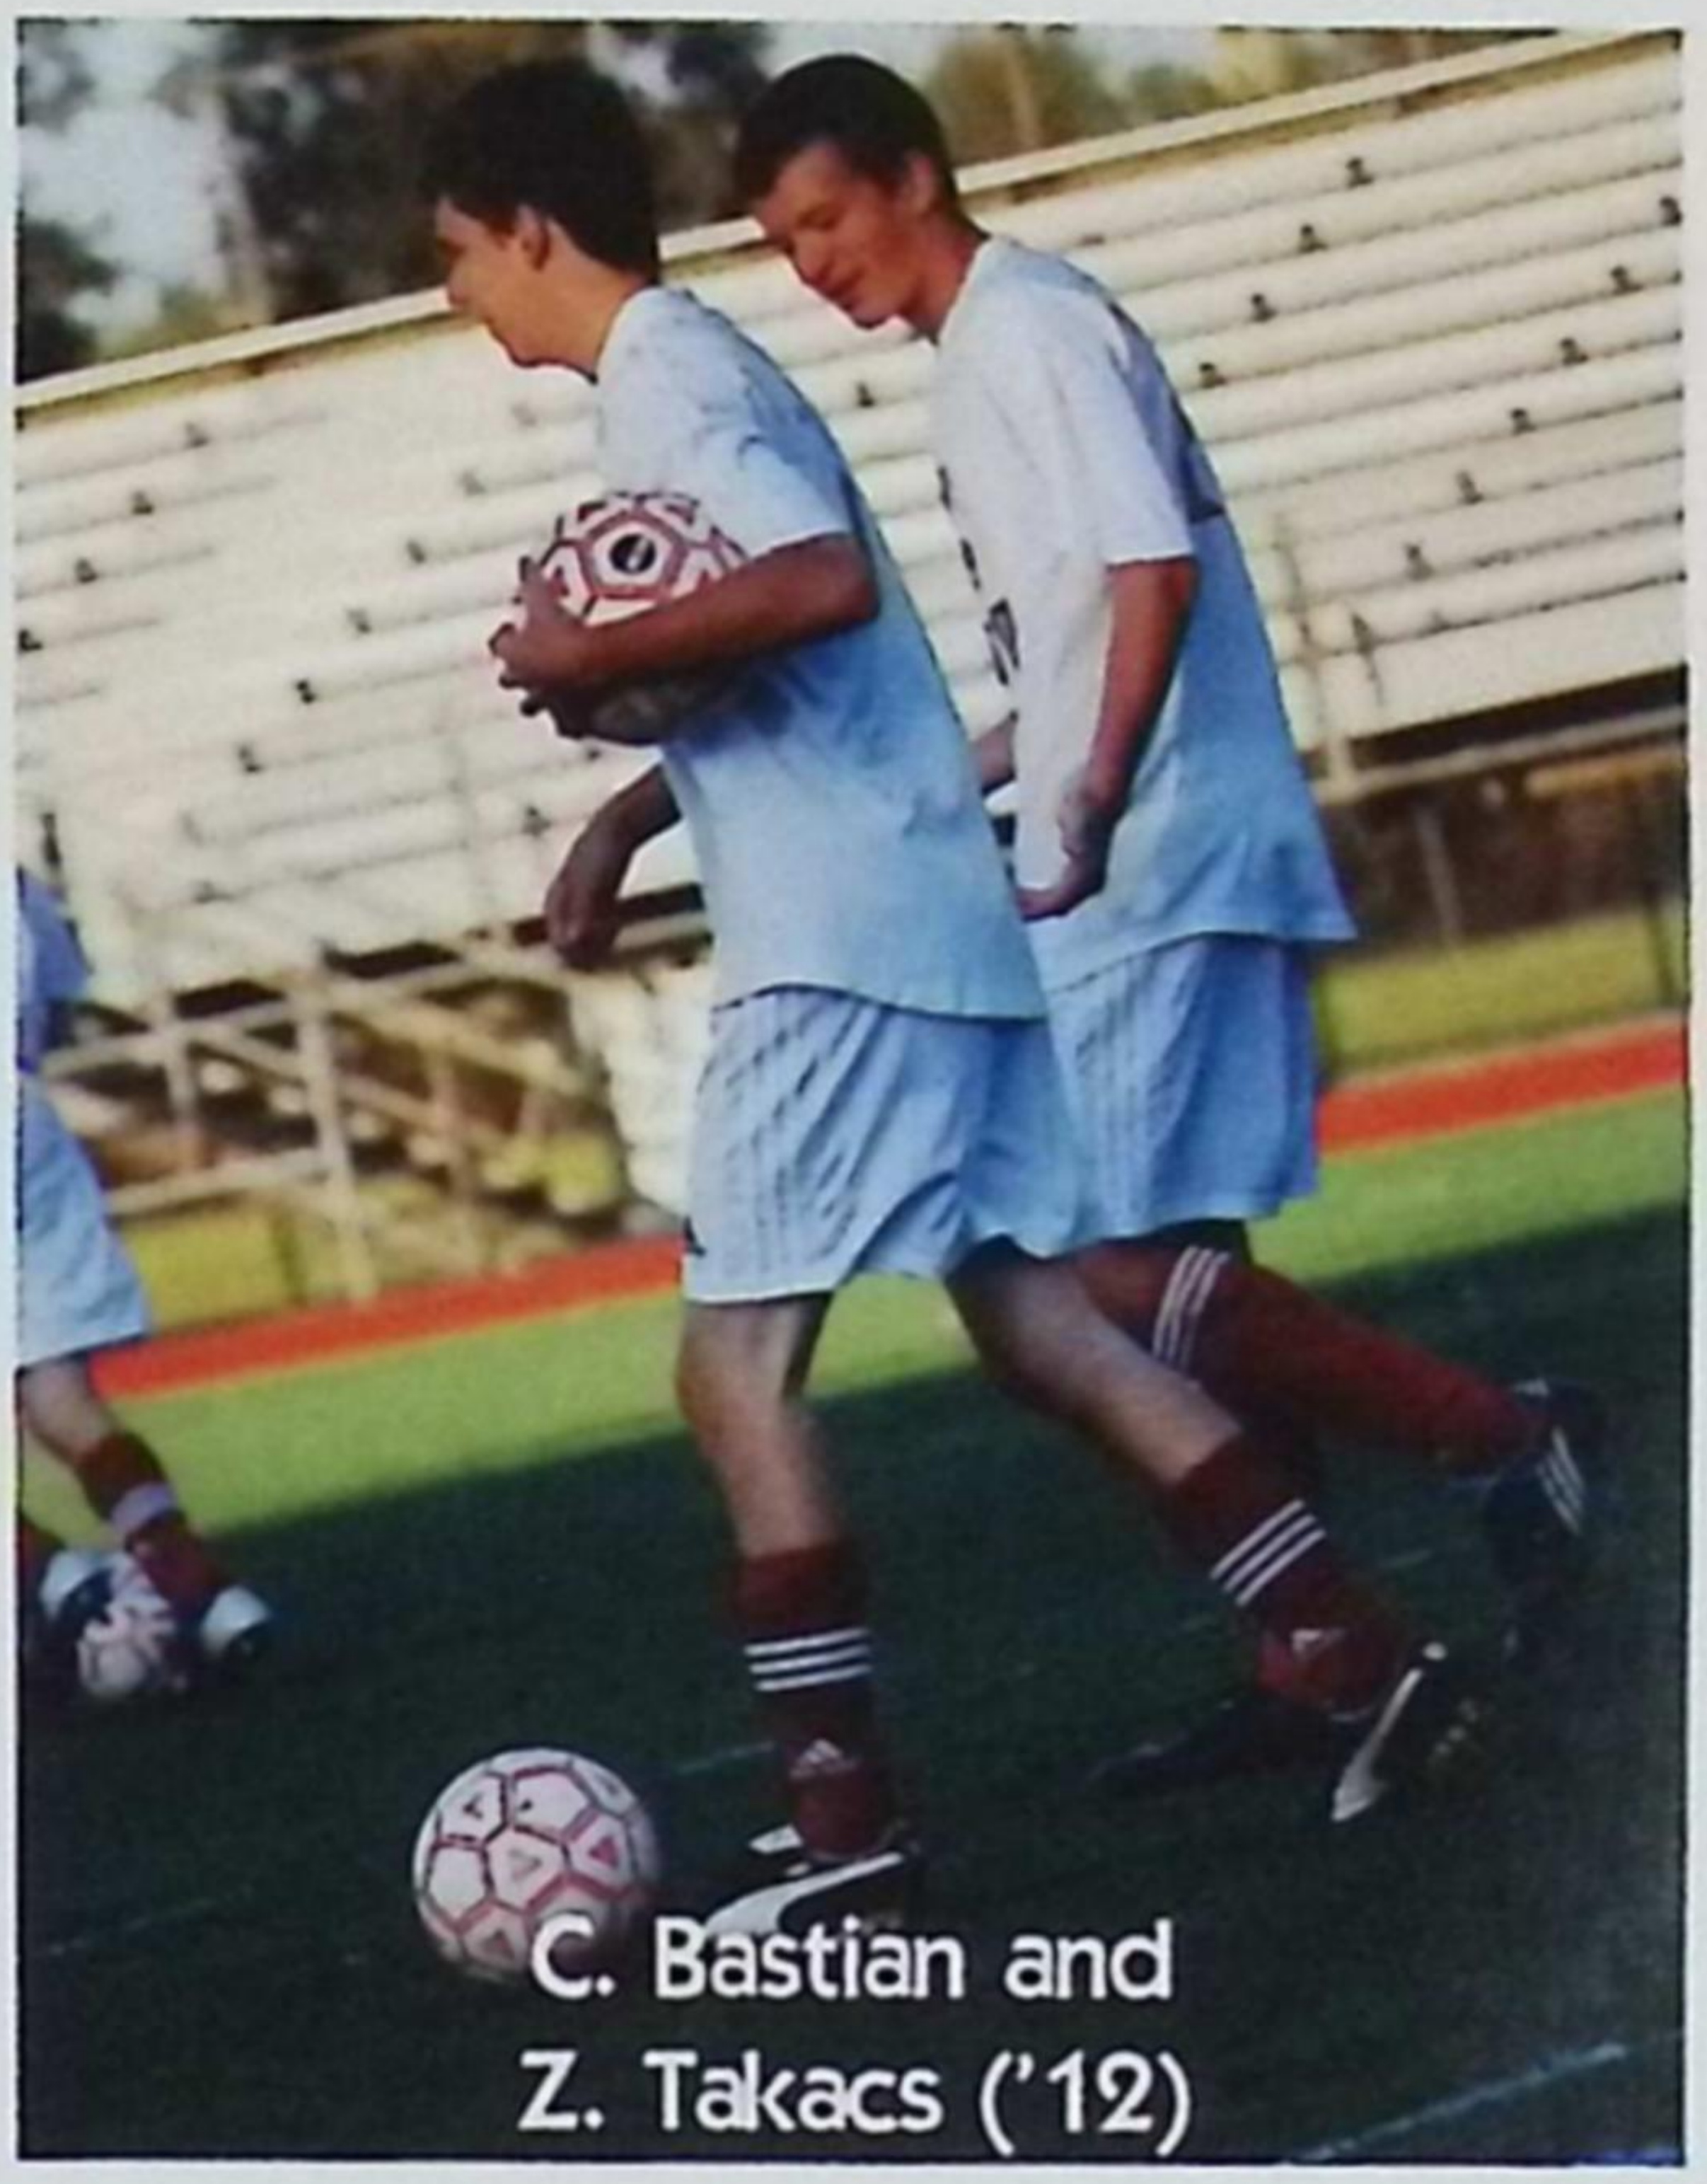
"This past season, I was moved to midfield, so I thought I wouldn't have as many chances to score. My favorite moment, however, was when Brett Swantek sent me a long ball down the field towards the net. The goalie almost grabbed it, but I redirected it with a header. It went right to the back of the net! It was my first goal this season, and we ended up beating the team 6-2."

-J. Steffy ('11)



BY ANY MEANS NECESSARY

Another perfect save is made by the Saints' keeper, Josh Pranger ('11), by leaping to the corner of the net and pushing the ball out of bounds, keeping the competition at bay for another play.



C. Bastian and Z. Takacs ('12)

Taking the Title

Every year, the boys' soccer team prepares for the epic battle against the Saints' arch rivals, Marine City. Not only does winning this game mean bragging rights for the next year, they are also fighting for pride. The tangible form of this pride is the Burns' Trophy. Each year, the soccer teams battle it out for the right to have the trophy sitting in their school's trophy case for the duration of the year. This year, it was the Saints who were victorious. After a long game filed with passion and intensity, the Saints emerged on top, and were able to cal themselves this year's owners of the trophy.

"The best part of beating Marine City was getting to see the Mariners' faces."

-M. Crowley ('11)

With the close score of 2-1, it could have been anyone's game. Thankfuly, the Saints fought hard until the end, and gave the game all they had. Even though the Saints fought to the near death for the Burns', they were truly fighting for something more: glory.

GIRLS' SWIM AND DIVE

Give It Your All

A season that started out shaky, with the loss of several swimmers, turned into a season of great excitement. The Lady Saints swim team came together and learned what it meant to be a strong team and what a difference it makes.

"It's not how many hours you put into practice, but how much you put into practice."

-Varsity Girls' Swim Team 2009

The girls won first place at the St. Clair Relays, second place in both the Warren Woods Tower Relays and the For Sports Invitational; they finished 5-1 in the league, 8-2 over al. Qualifying for the Division III State Meet at Eastern Michigan University were Haley Westrick, Brianna Britz, Amanda Slis, and Alex Bernardi in the 200 Medey Relay. Also, Haley Westrick qualified in the 100 yard Breast stroke and Brianna Britz in the 100 yard Backstroke and 50 yard Freestyle.

BACK TO BACK

In deep concentration, Amanda Slis ('13) and Katlin Pfropper ('11) relax and wait for the start of the 100 yard backstroke. Both girls compete in this even to help the Saints achieve victory.

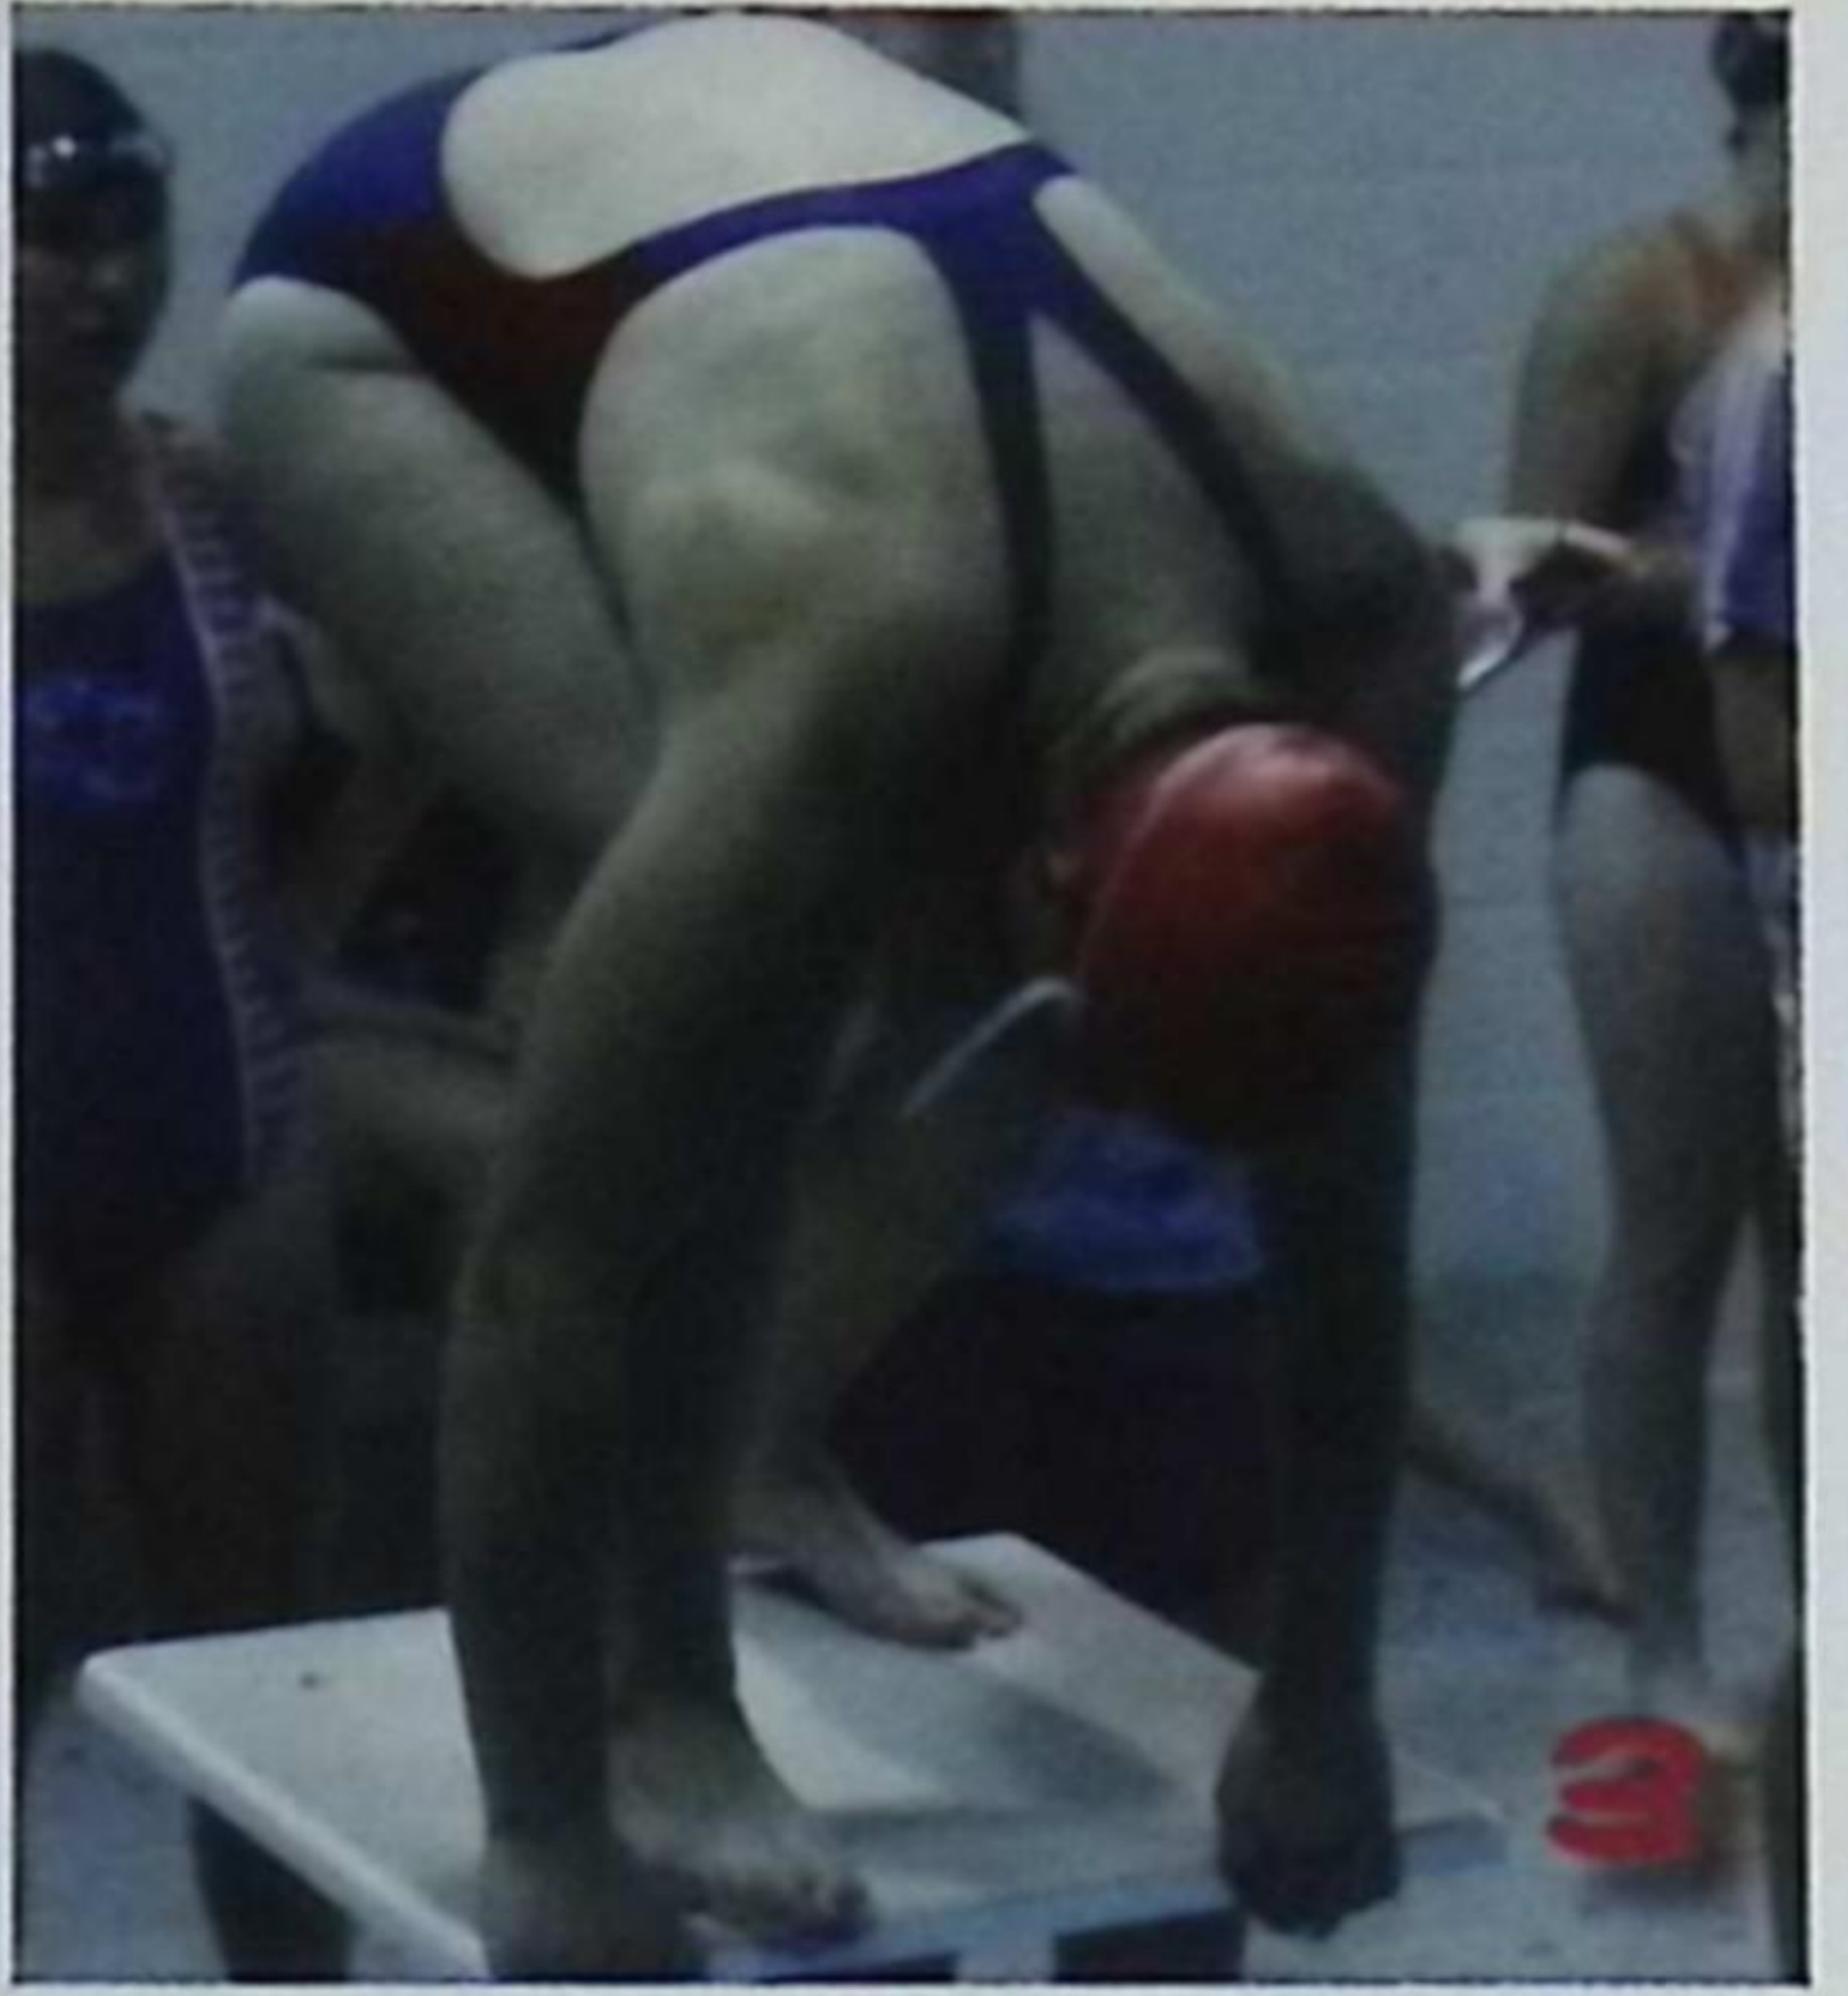
MY MOMENT

Haley Westrick ('12)

"My Moment was when I beat my biggest competition from Marysville. I've swam with her on Blue Water Swim Club since I was really little and never had to compete against her until high school. She worked really hard during the summer and beat me my freshmen year. That gave me the drive to work harder and to go after her this year. When the day came that we had to race them at their pool, I couldn't have been more nervous. It all came down to who wanted it more; when I hit the wall to finish and looked at the clock to see that I beat her, words couldn't described my excitement, I was so happy and will always remember that moment."

-H. Westrick ('12)

1. Competing for first place in the relay, Hope Katakis ('13) swims the 50 yard butterfly during a home swim meet.
2. Working together, Kelsey Dietlin ('10) and Amanda Slis ('13) help each other put their swim caps on before heading up to the starting blocks. 3. Waiting for the official to start the race, Kathryn Roggenbuck ('10) gets ready on the block to swim the 200 yard freestyle. 4. Taking a break between their sets, Haley Westrick ('12) and Bryana Bryan ('11) manage to show that swim practices are not as bad as people think. 5. Looking to see how her teammates finished, Melissa McDonald ('12) catches her breath after swimming a leg in the relay.



LUCKY BOOTS

Her boots started as a funny joke but turned into something serious for Sam Schweihofer. "It all started when we had to dress up for a swim meet one day, and I decided to wear a sun dress. Since I'm not a girly girl and everyone knows it, I thought it would be funny to add my camouflage work boots to my wardrobe. After beating a team that was very good, I believe that my boots were lucky, and I've worn them on every meet day since."

Which Pro-Tennis Player Inspires You the Most?

"I would have to say Raphael Nadal because he can hit the ball with so much spin and still get it in!"
-L. Paulun ('11)

"Definatley Roger Federrer! No matter how he is feeling on the court he doesn't let it show; he always looks so calm!" -E. Rood ('10)

"I have always really admired Andy Roddick because he is the only good U.S. player."
-A. Nancarrow ('10)

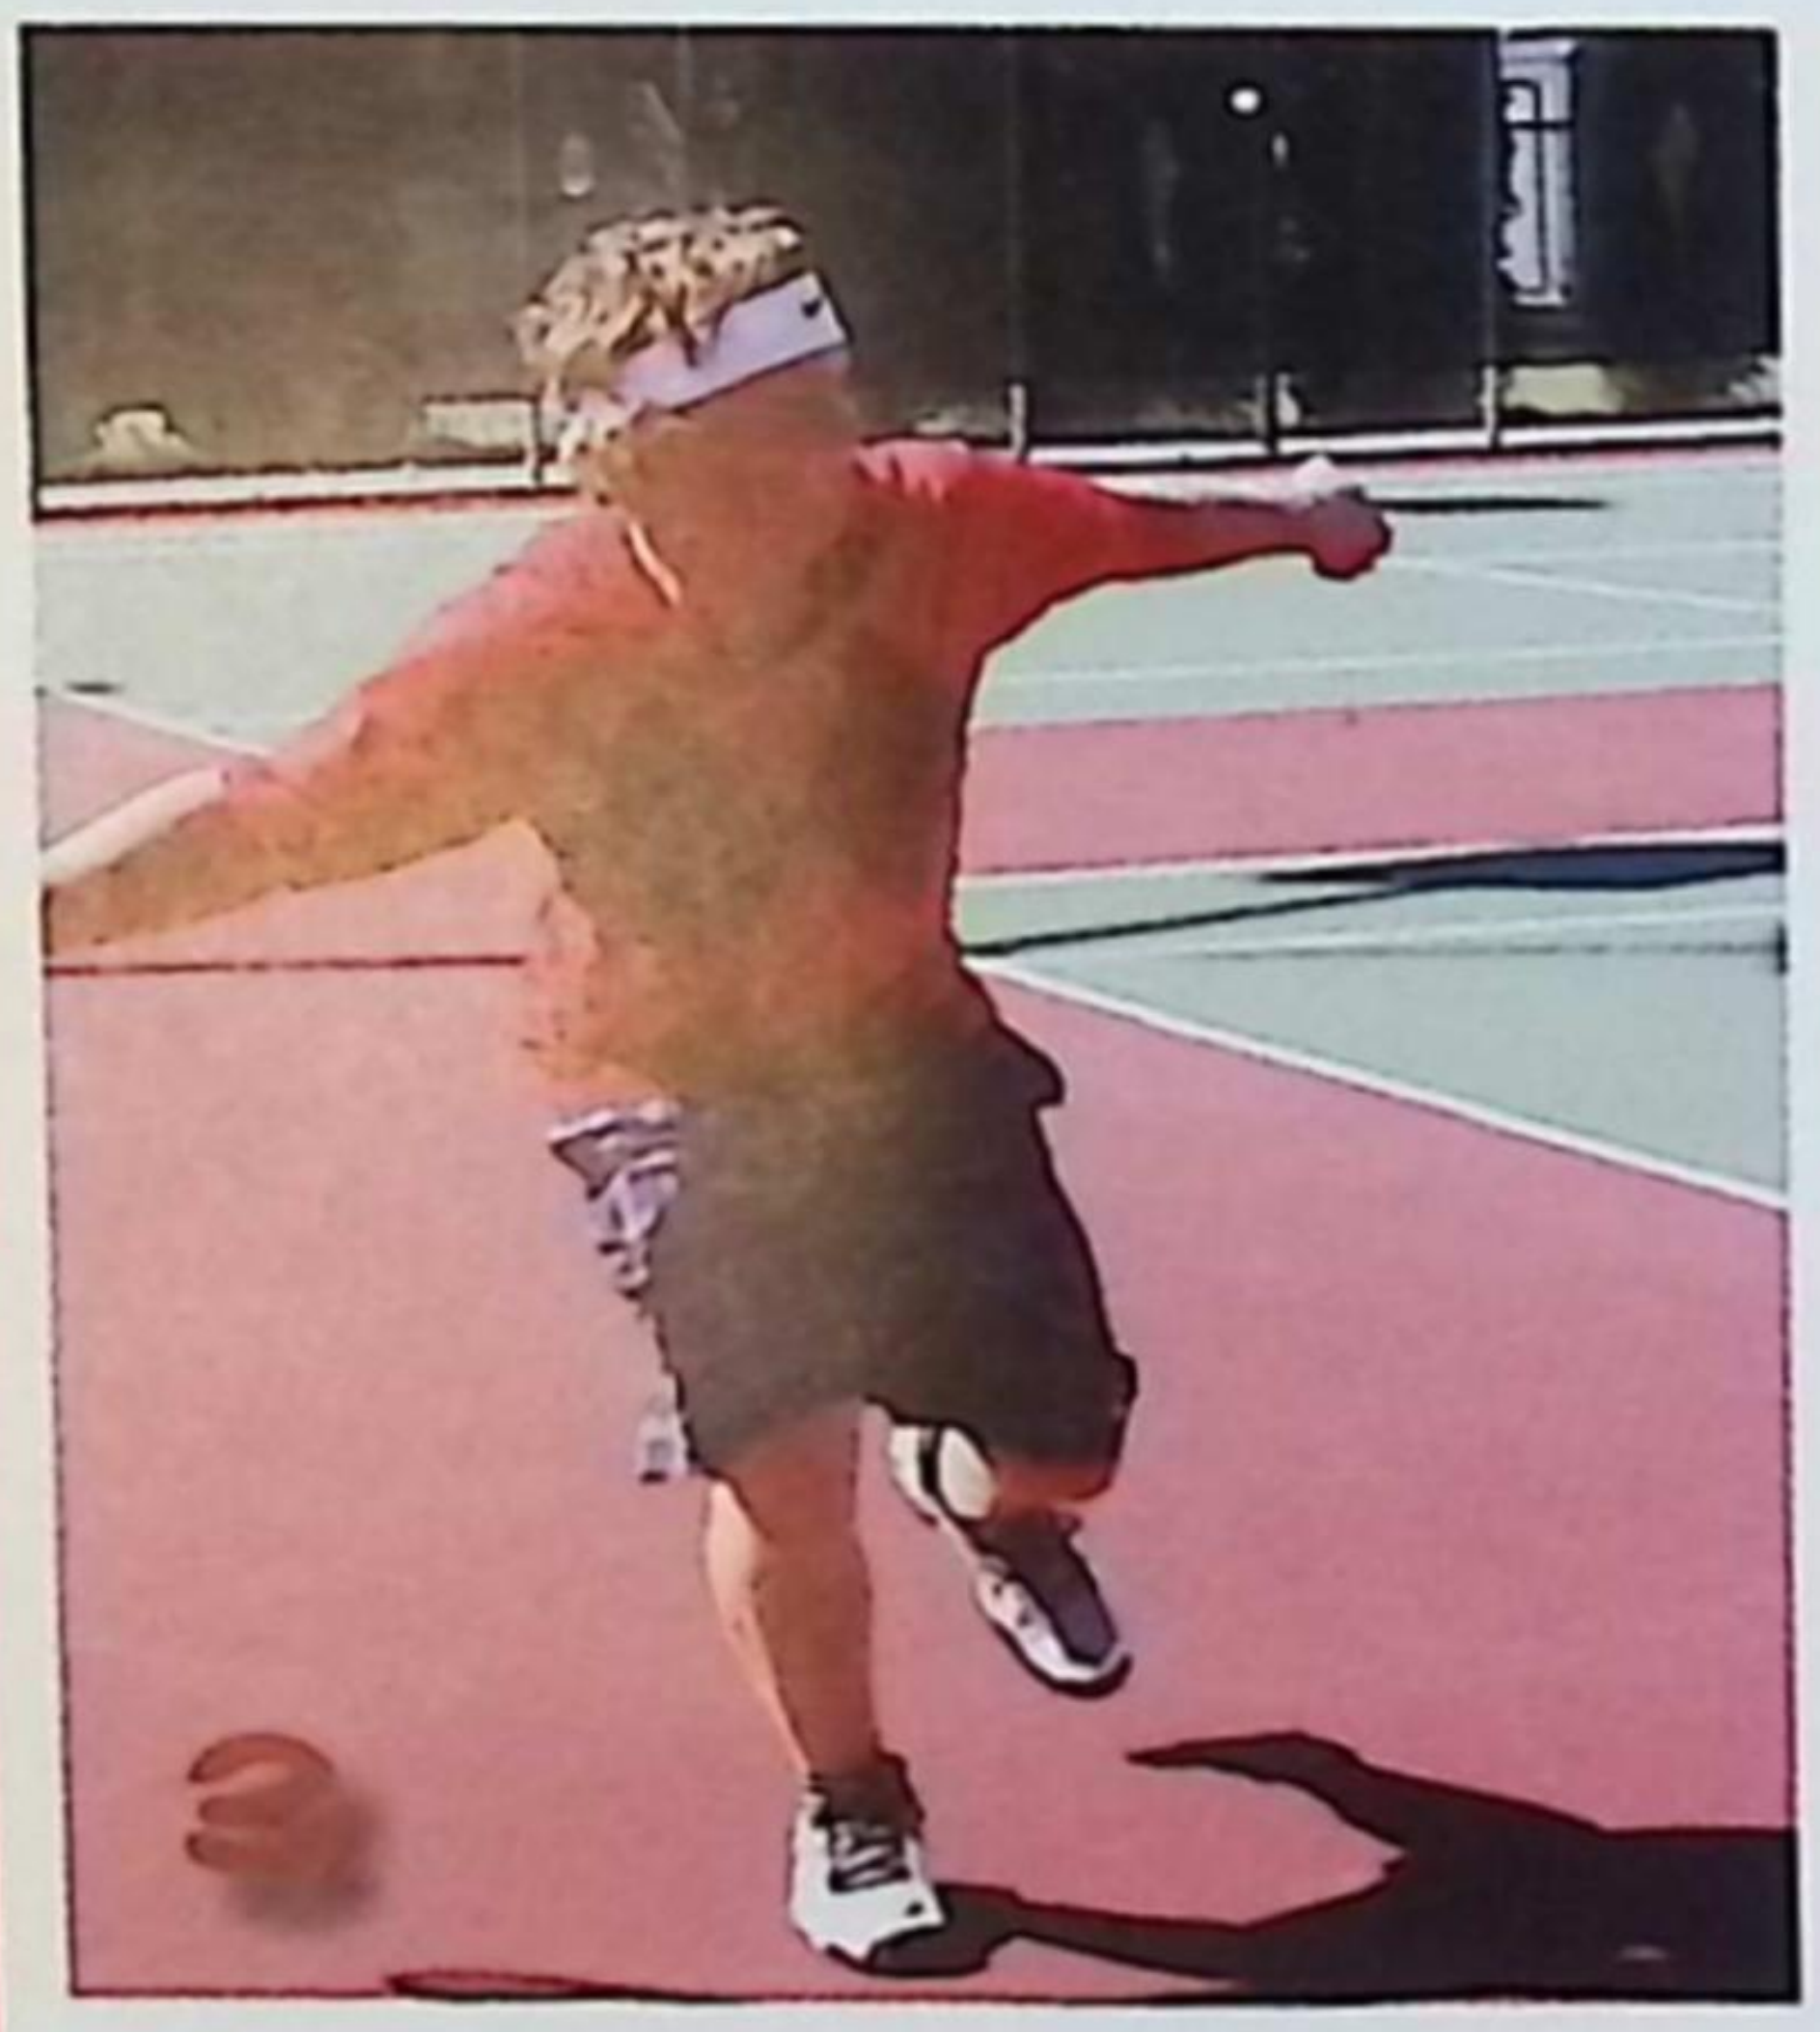
-M. Dodea ('10)



1. Giving each other high-fives, Justin Killewald ('10) and Nicholas Kenny ('10) get pumped up for their match, while Cameron Ciaciuch ('11) stands back and laughs. 2. Fully at ease, Scott young ('11) is confident knowing that his forehand slice is going to be a perfect winner. 3. Seeing that his opponent is hitting a cross court shot, Kyle Mazolla ('10) runs over in advance giving himself plenty of time to hit a winner. 4. Having a Kodak moment, Saint Clair's varsity boys tennis team poses for a group picture. 5. Effectively hitting a slicedrop shot, Bradley Biewer ('12) realizes how to defeat his opponent.

McDonald's Break

After warming up, Justin Killewald ('10) and Nicholas Kenny ('10) are in need of some serious energy. Waiting for them on the bleachers are two shakes from McDonalds; soon Coach Clutts calls for them to get back on the court. Taking a final drink, both boys are ready to play their match.

Reaching for the Stars

As the match begins, Jason Davis ('11) chooses to serve first. Staying out of the sun and trying to remember what Coach Clutts said, he strikes the 'trophy pose' and hits his serve. Hitting the line, the serve ends up being an ace!

It's Volley Time!
It's match point and Cameron Ciaciuch ('11) is playing at the net. The ball goes flying up and Cam [illegible] sees his chance to make his shot. Butterflies fly through his stomach as he prays that he will make the shot. Aiming at his opponent's feet, he makes it impossible for his competitor to make a return, and he is overcome with triumph.

"No Love Here!"

August 7 marked the beginning of tryouts. Courts were filed with players from every grade trying to make the varsity team. As tryouts came to an end, there were only fifteen boys who made the cut. Being part of the boy's tennis team is more than just playing matches. For every hour spent playing, the boys spent an hour at practice working on technique and building their endurance to sustain an entire match.

"Don't play with the fear of losing. Play to win." -C. Ciaciuch ('11)

Running, stretching, and practicing can get old realy fast, but this team always finds a way to make it fun. Starting out the season the boys took their first win (5-3) against Armada. That was only one of six wins to folow, plus three tied matches. Dedication, practice, and intensity led these boys to have a great season!

MY MOMENT

"While we were at regionals, my partner Scott Young and I had to play the Richmond team. So far I hadn't been able to beat them. I walked out on the court thinking that I was going to do anything that I had to, to win. I tried my hardest, but I just wasn't able to pull it out. I ended up losing 4-6, 4-6. I was really bummed, but I still wanted a rematch. A few days later Coach Clutts told us that we were going to have another match against Richmond to prepare us for States. For days all I could think about was how I was going to walk out there and beat them really badly. When the day finally came I walked on the court super confident and walked off the court with a 6-0, 6-4 victory. It was my favorite match of the season!" -R. Rabillas ('10)

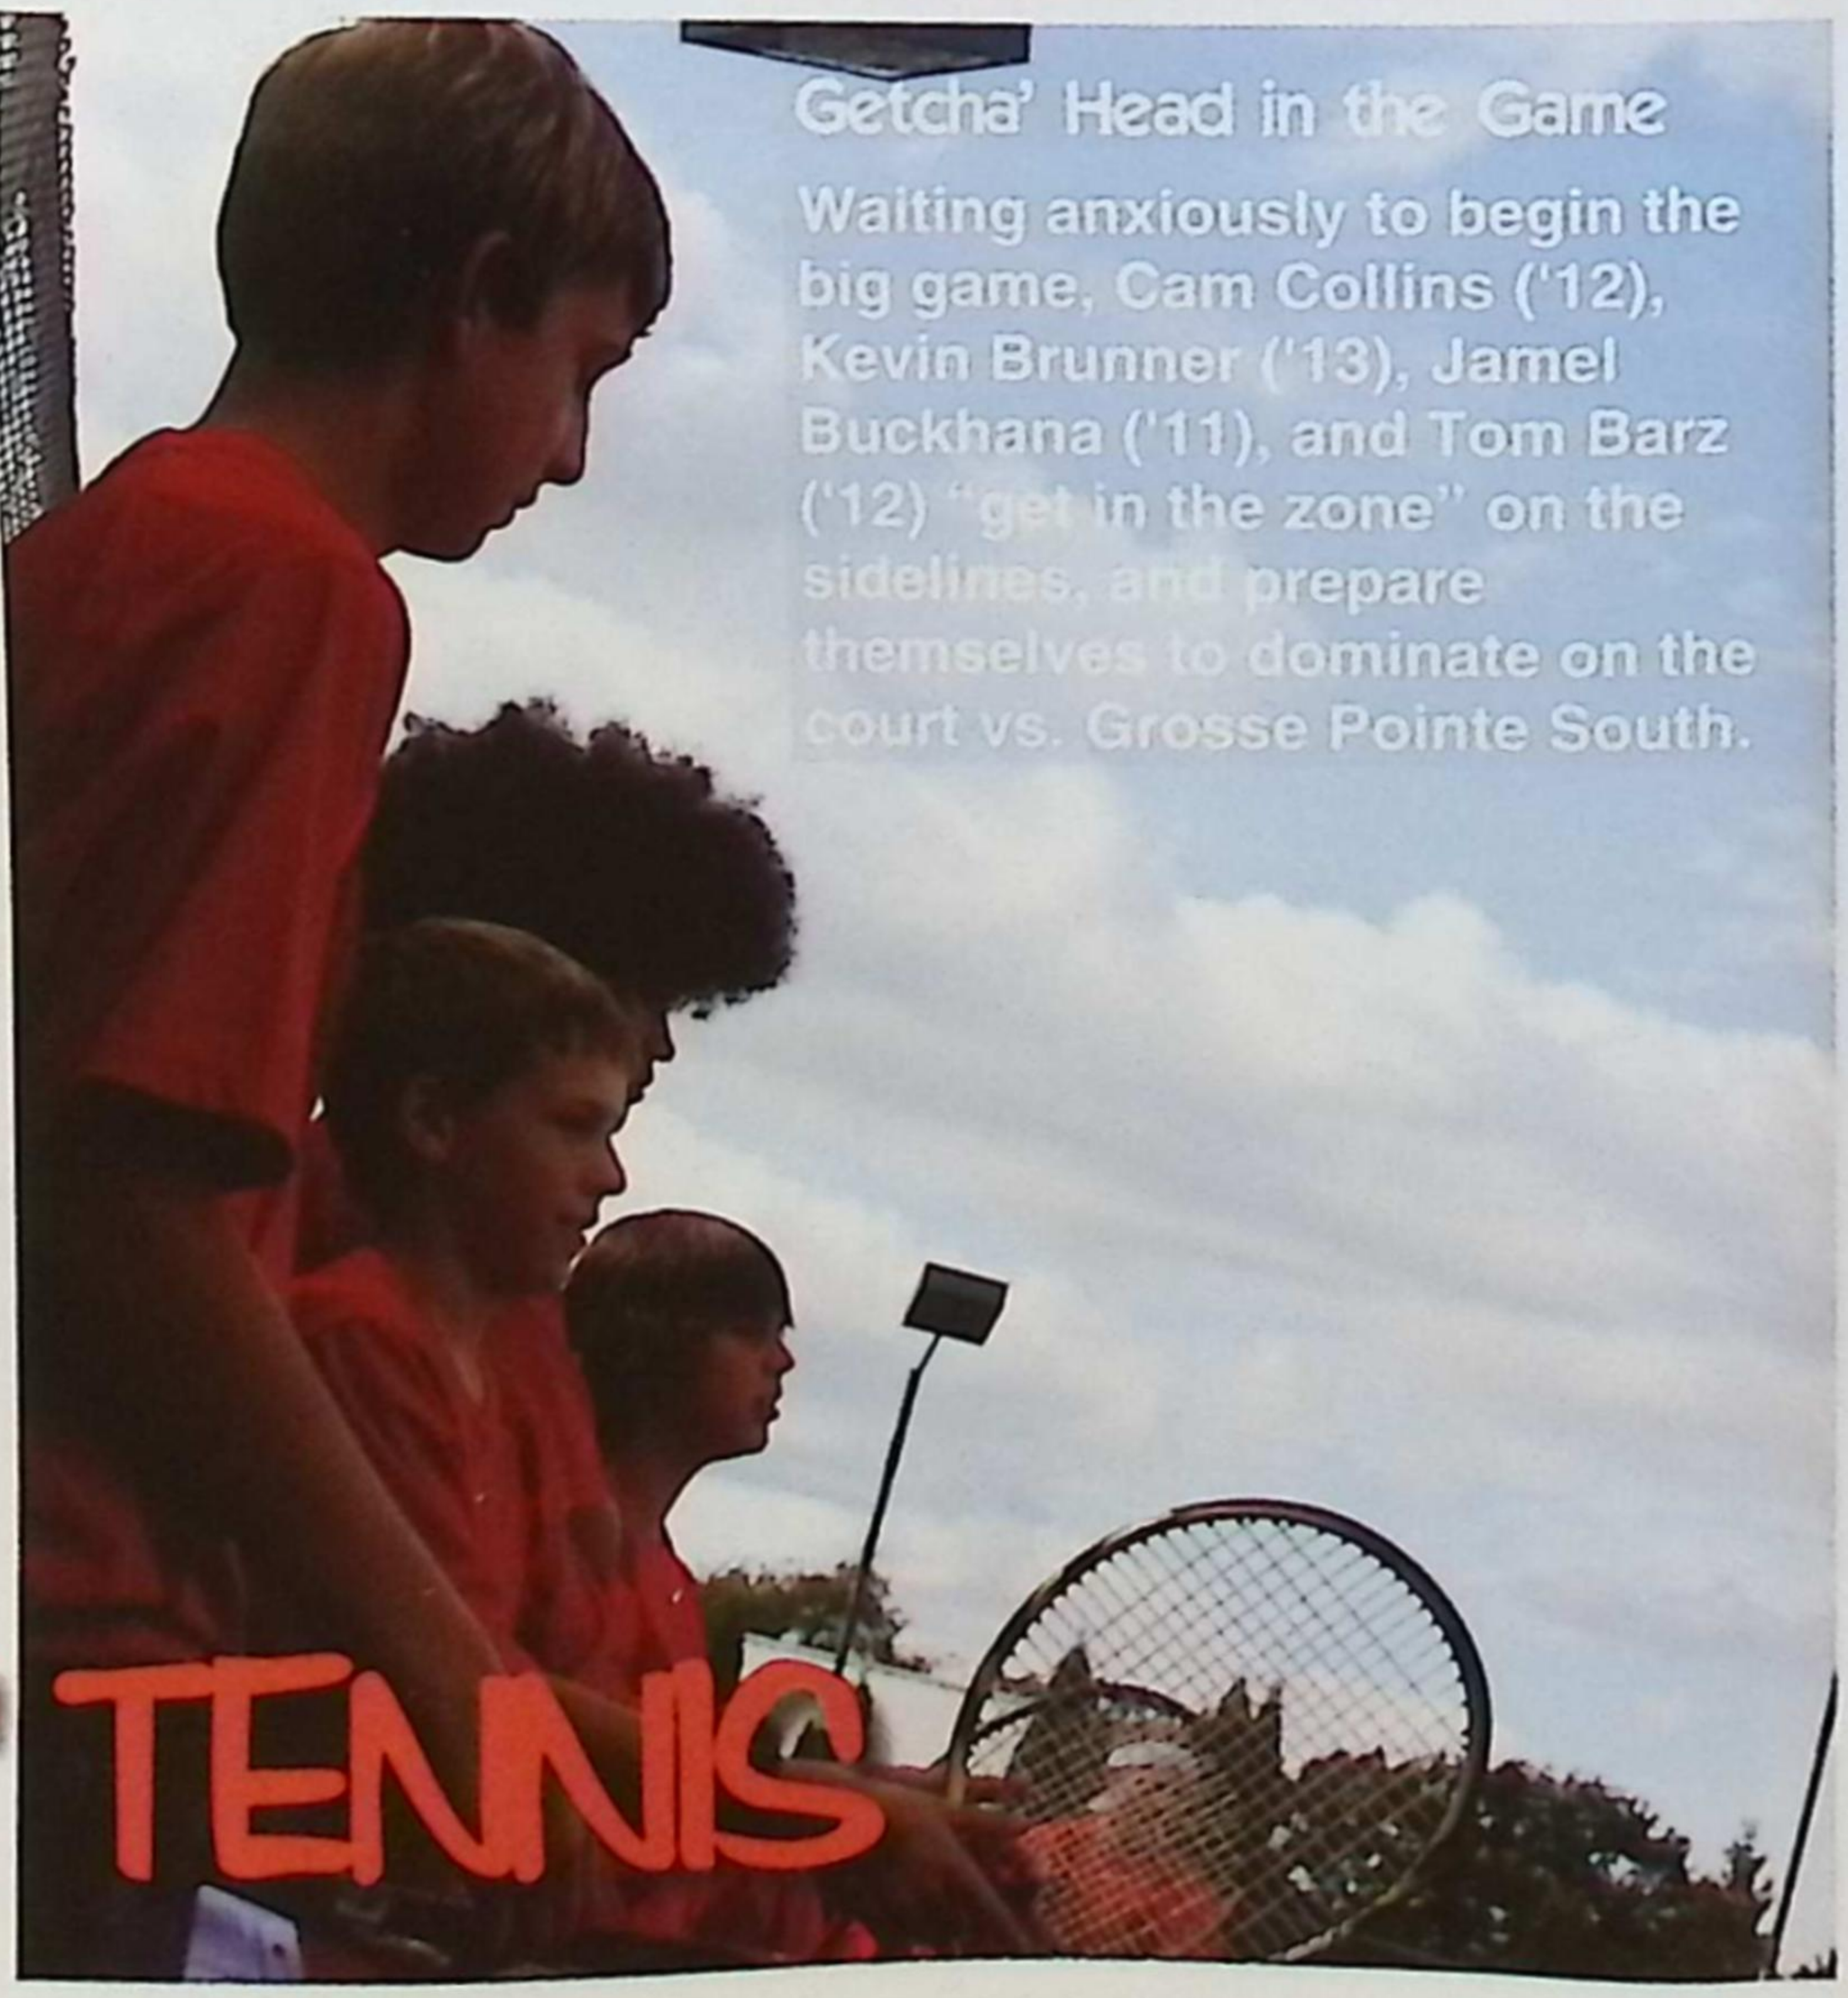
A Big Team With Big Dreams

The JV tennis team had a season full of achievement and triumph. Even though they had some fierce competition, these boys developed a bond with each other that set them apart from any other team. Having fun, yet remaining determined, the long hours of practicing in scorching heat paid off when it came time to play. When these 30 boys stepped foot on the court, they put forth all the effort they had. With their heads held high, the boys on the team proved that in order to reach a goal, mistakes are inevitable and they must learn from them. They faced many challenges throughout the season, like overcoming the toughest matches, and learning to work together with brand new people. In the end, however, these difficulties were an important part of what made them grow into the victorious and successful JV tennis team that Saint Clair High School is honored to procure.



Getcha' Head in the Game

Waiting anxiously to begin the big game, Cam Collins ('12), Kevin Brunner ('13), Jamel Buckhana ('11), and Tom Barz ('12) "get in the zone" on the sidelines, and prepare themselves to dominate on the court vs. Grosse Pointe South.

1, 2, 3...TEAM!

After a long and intense two hour practice at Riverview East High School, the JV cheer team comes together in a huddle to successfully end the day with smiles all around and a collective "teamwork".

Three Cheers For Saint Clair!

Saint Clair High School's JV cheerleaders do more than just clap and yell. They bring the entire student body together to support the JV football team at every game, rain or shine. These hard working girls pulled through a rough beginning, starting over with a new coach and a new program. In the end, though, this turned out to be a great change for the team. Having started from scratch, there was a tremendous amount of improvement in the team's performance as the season progressed. They never gave up on each other, no matter how frustrating it became to stay positive. The cheerleaders practiced not only their cheers, but stunting, flexibility, strength, and tumbling as well. With every grueling practice came another opportunity to accomplish something new and impressive. They work their hardest to make our school shine with spirit, and the JV cheerleaders are a crucial part of what makes our school scream red and blue.

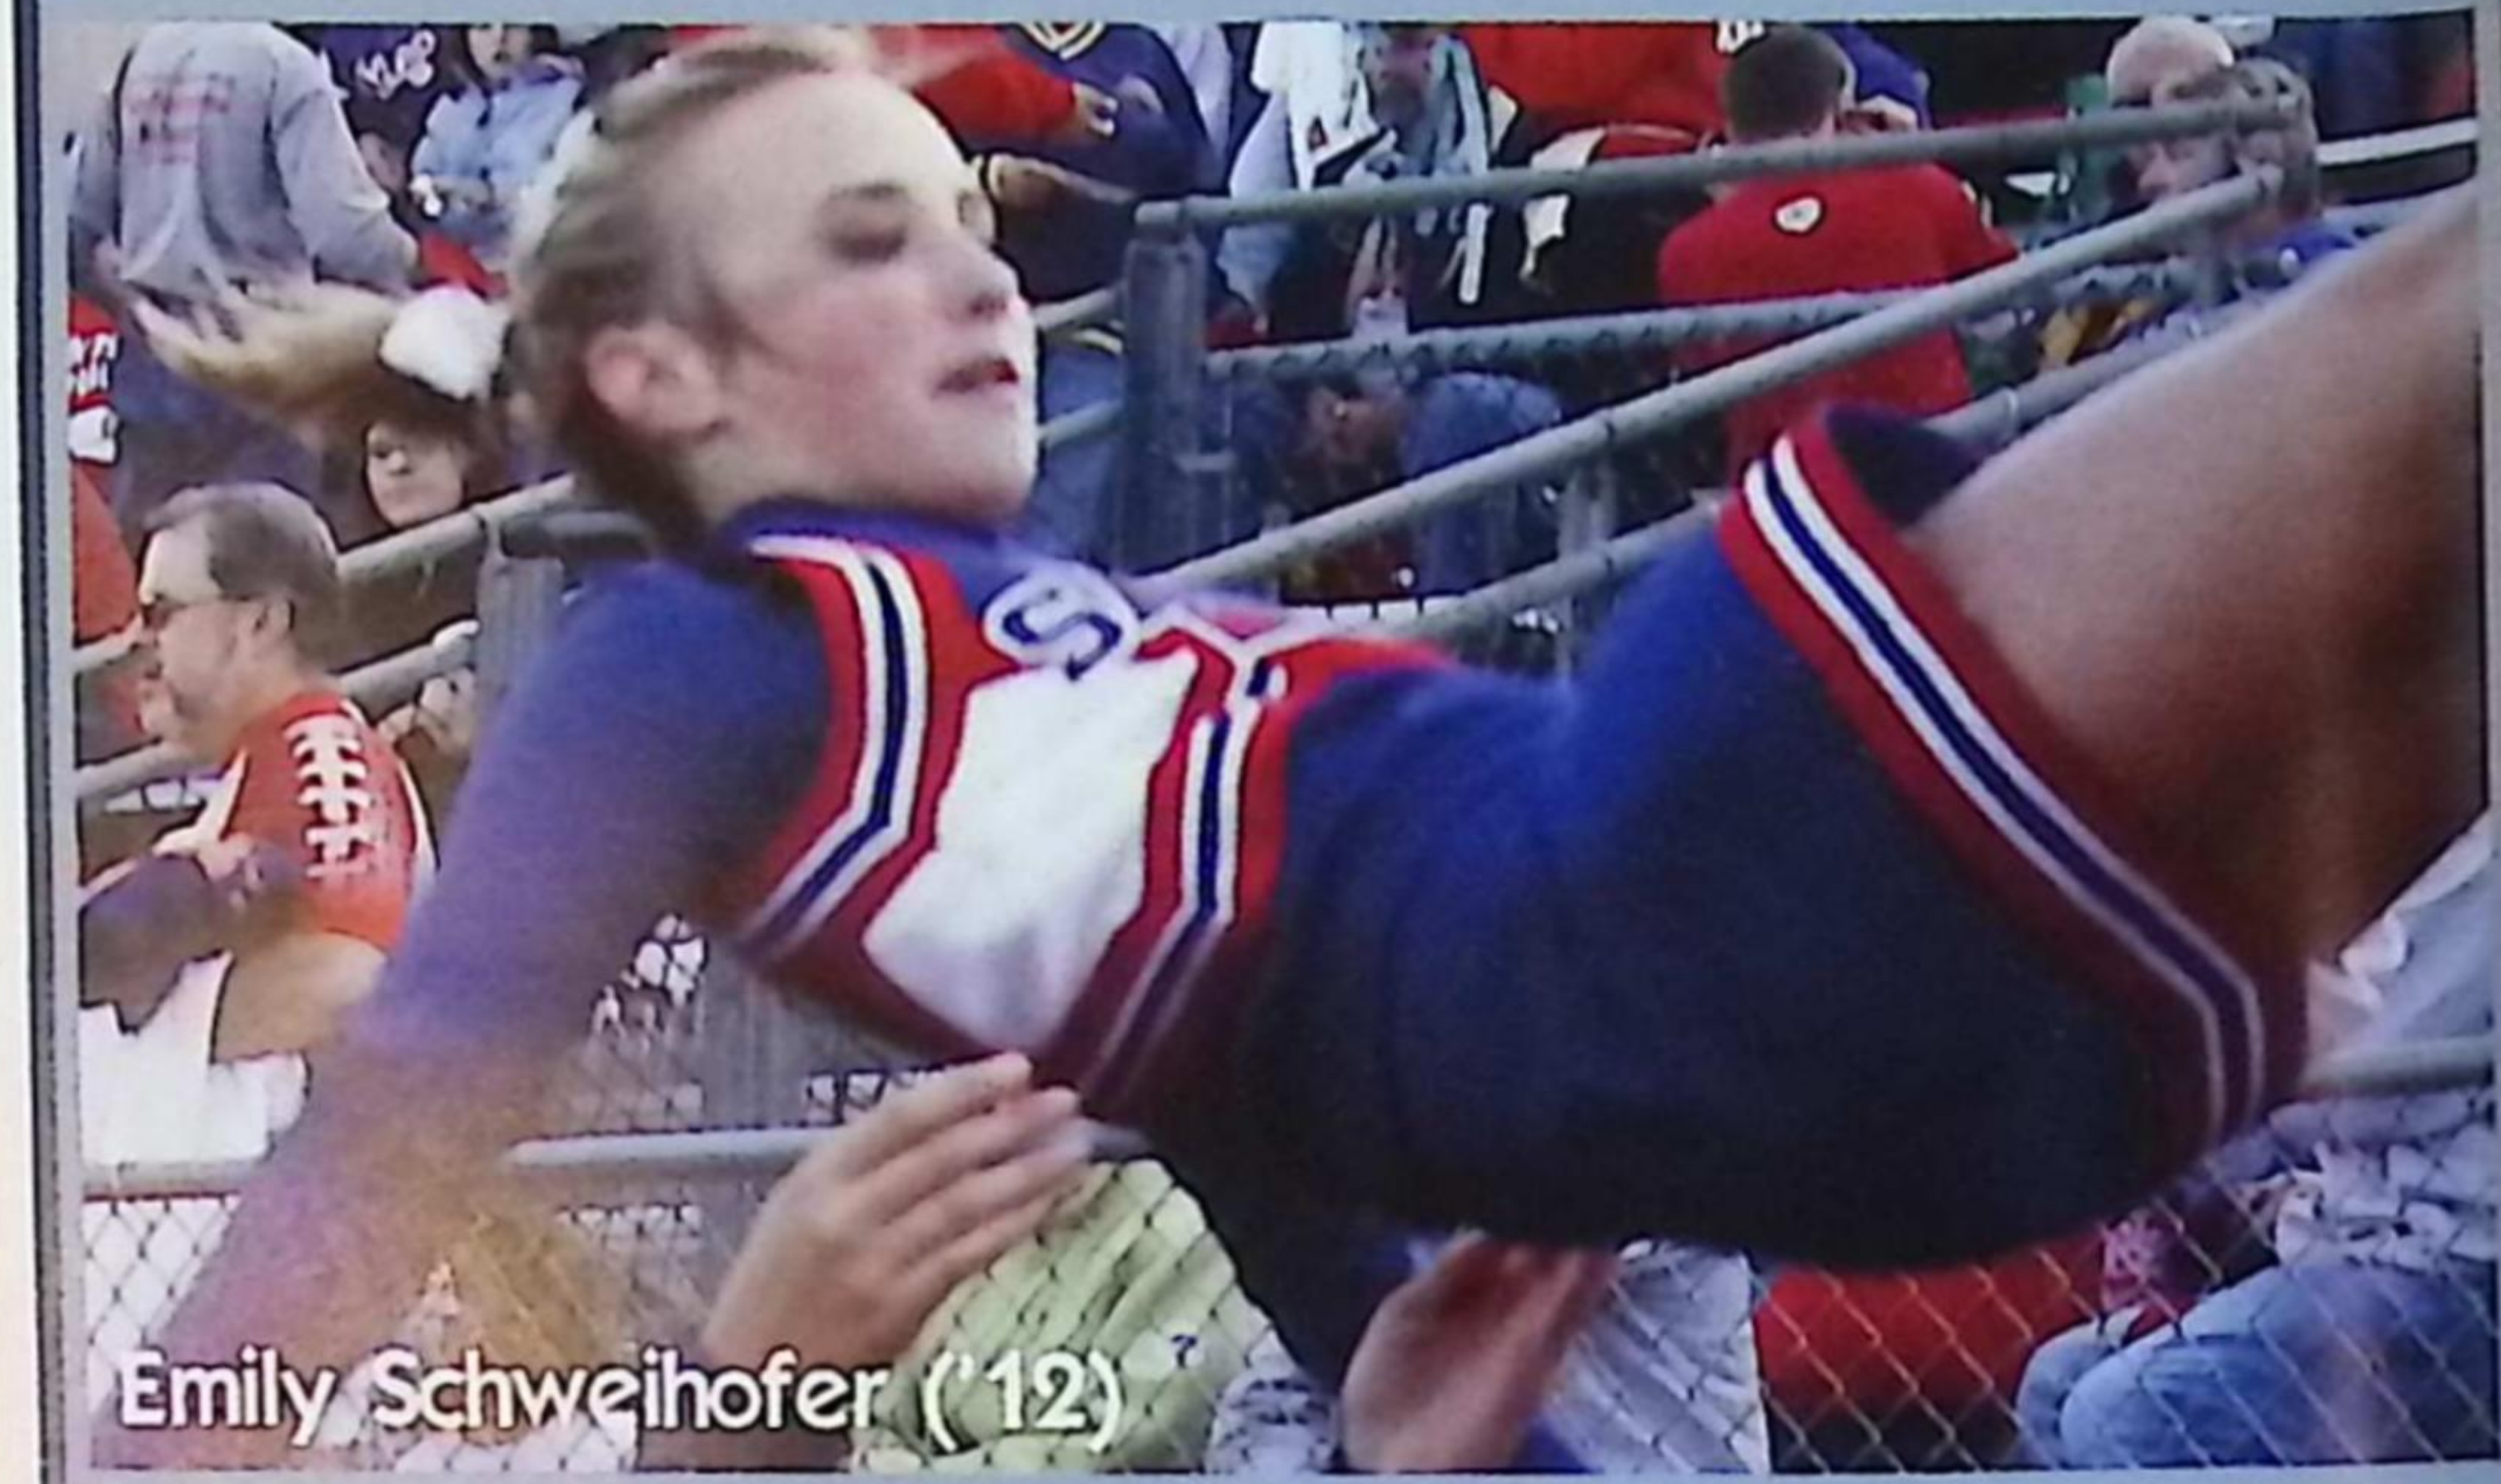
MY MOMENT



Emily Schweihofer ('12)

"Throughout the season I have grown a lot as a person, and a cheerleader. When I began, I had very few skills, and the ones I did have were not up to par. Over the course of this season I have accomplished so much, and improved at almost every aspect of cheerleading. From libs to splits, I have come a long way, and was glad that I had the opportunity to better myself. My proudest moment would definitely be when I mastered my arabesque, it's a difficult stunt, and I was really happy to have finally stuck it, even though I got a few bumps and scratches trying!" -E. Schweihofer ('12)

Old friends, New Beginnings

The 2009-2010 sideline cheerleading season has been one of change and adaptation. The girls have worked together to overcome a multitude of obstacles, including the loss of their coach before the season even began. The bond that this fiery group of girls share is unbreakable.

"Kick it out !"

-A Darhausen ('11)

Many of the girls went above and beyond this season to ensure that it was a success. They put in long hours at practice preparing for the Homecoming assembly, which was a departure from their usual routine, and were extremely proud of the way it turned out. All in all, everyone on the team did their part to make the 2009-2010 season the best one yet.

Movin' On Up

Cheerleading has definitely come a long way over the years. What changes have you noticed?

"Cheerleading is a lot different now than it was because everything is much harder now, and our stunts are more advanced."

-L. Caister ('13)

"Cheerleading has changed a lot in the last couple years, everything has gotten more technical, and we are more respected as a sport now than we ever have been."

-T. Baron ('13)

"We are a lot more advanced, and stunting and tumbling are now a crucial part of practice, rather than something that would be nice to have."

EQUESTRIAN TEAM

Saddle Up

To many people, equestrian is just a club, but it is much more than that. Determination, hard work, passion, and responsibility al outline what the equestrian team stands for. Hard work brings the team together as they ride daily in preparation for the next horse competition while determination pushes them to do their best and to bring home a blue ribbon. Also passion defines the team as they train everyday. Equestrian combines these elements with an everlasting love of horses. Finaly, it demands responsibility through taking care of another animal. Al in al, it is both a sport and a way of life.

Ride Hard

Kicking up dust, and trying to rack up some points from the judges, Tyler Adams ('12) works in harmony with her horse, Lexi, making it around a difficult obstacle at a local horse show.

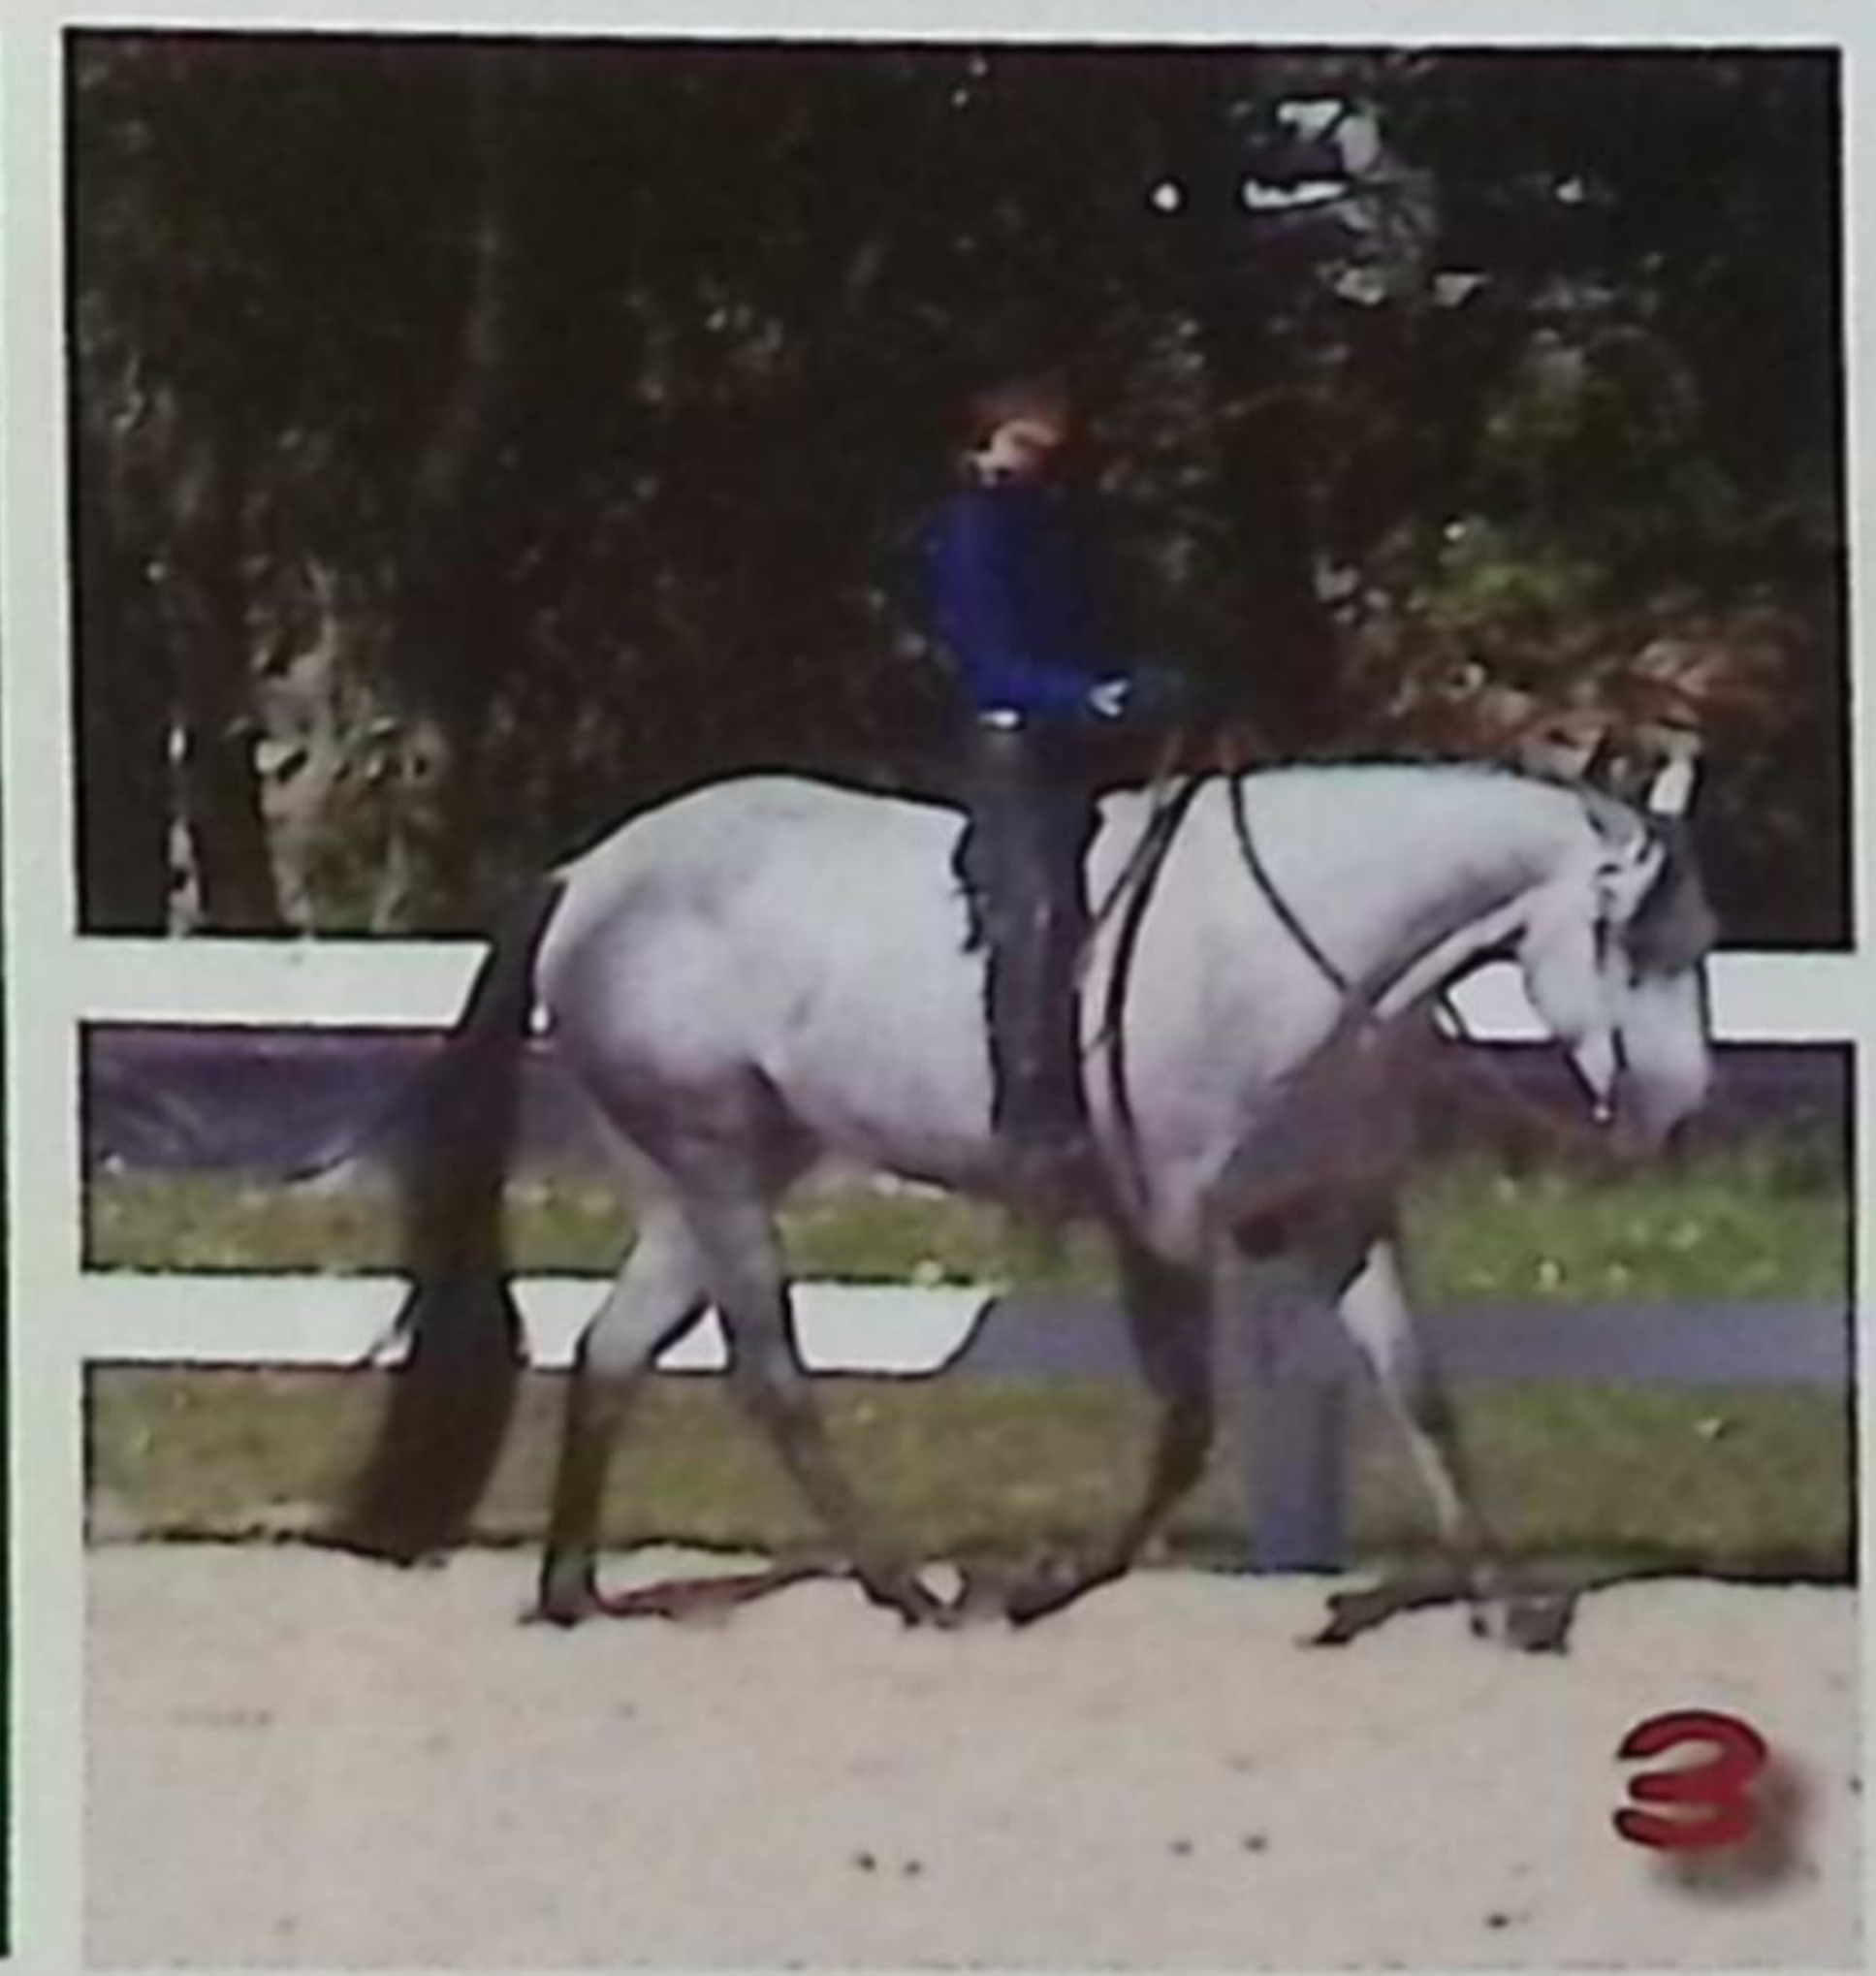
2. With perfect posture, Alyssa Terzo ('10) rides her horse, Ben, at the Goodells Fair.
3. Warming up her horse, Breeze, Melissa Rust ('10) trots around the ring.
4. Taking a break on a sunny day, Nicole Johnson ('10) waits patiently for the competition to begin.
5. Preparing herself for the competition, Libby Kronner ('13), gets ready for a fierce day of riding.



What makes Equestrian special for you?

"I love the competion, and I love getting to meet new people."
-J. Duchene ('12)

What is your favorite part of Equestrian?

"I like Equestrain, beacause in the end I get to see all the progress that I have made."
-M. Rust ('10)

How long do you train each day?

"I usually train about an hour to an hour and a half a day." -J. Cain ('13)

WINTER DIVISION

"Winter came down to our home one night, quietly pirouetting in on silvery-toed slippers of snow, and we, we were children once again."
-Bill Morgan, Jr.

A new season marks a new beginning for the students of Saint Clair High School. Falling leaves have turned to falling snow, and rosy cheeks become common throughout the halls. The soft snowflakes add a hint of beauty to everything they kiss. The minds of the students have been occupied by exam reviews and sporting competitions, but the chilly air soothes the tense atmosphere. Among the stress and pressure, the students never forget this time they call a winter wonderland. Winter brings the warmth out of each person's heart, and sends through them a glow that is recognized by all. It is a time to appreciate the elegance that lies beneath the snow, and the mystery that the students of Saint Clair High School are eager to discover.

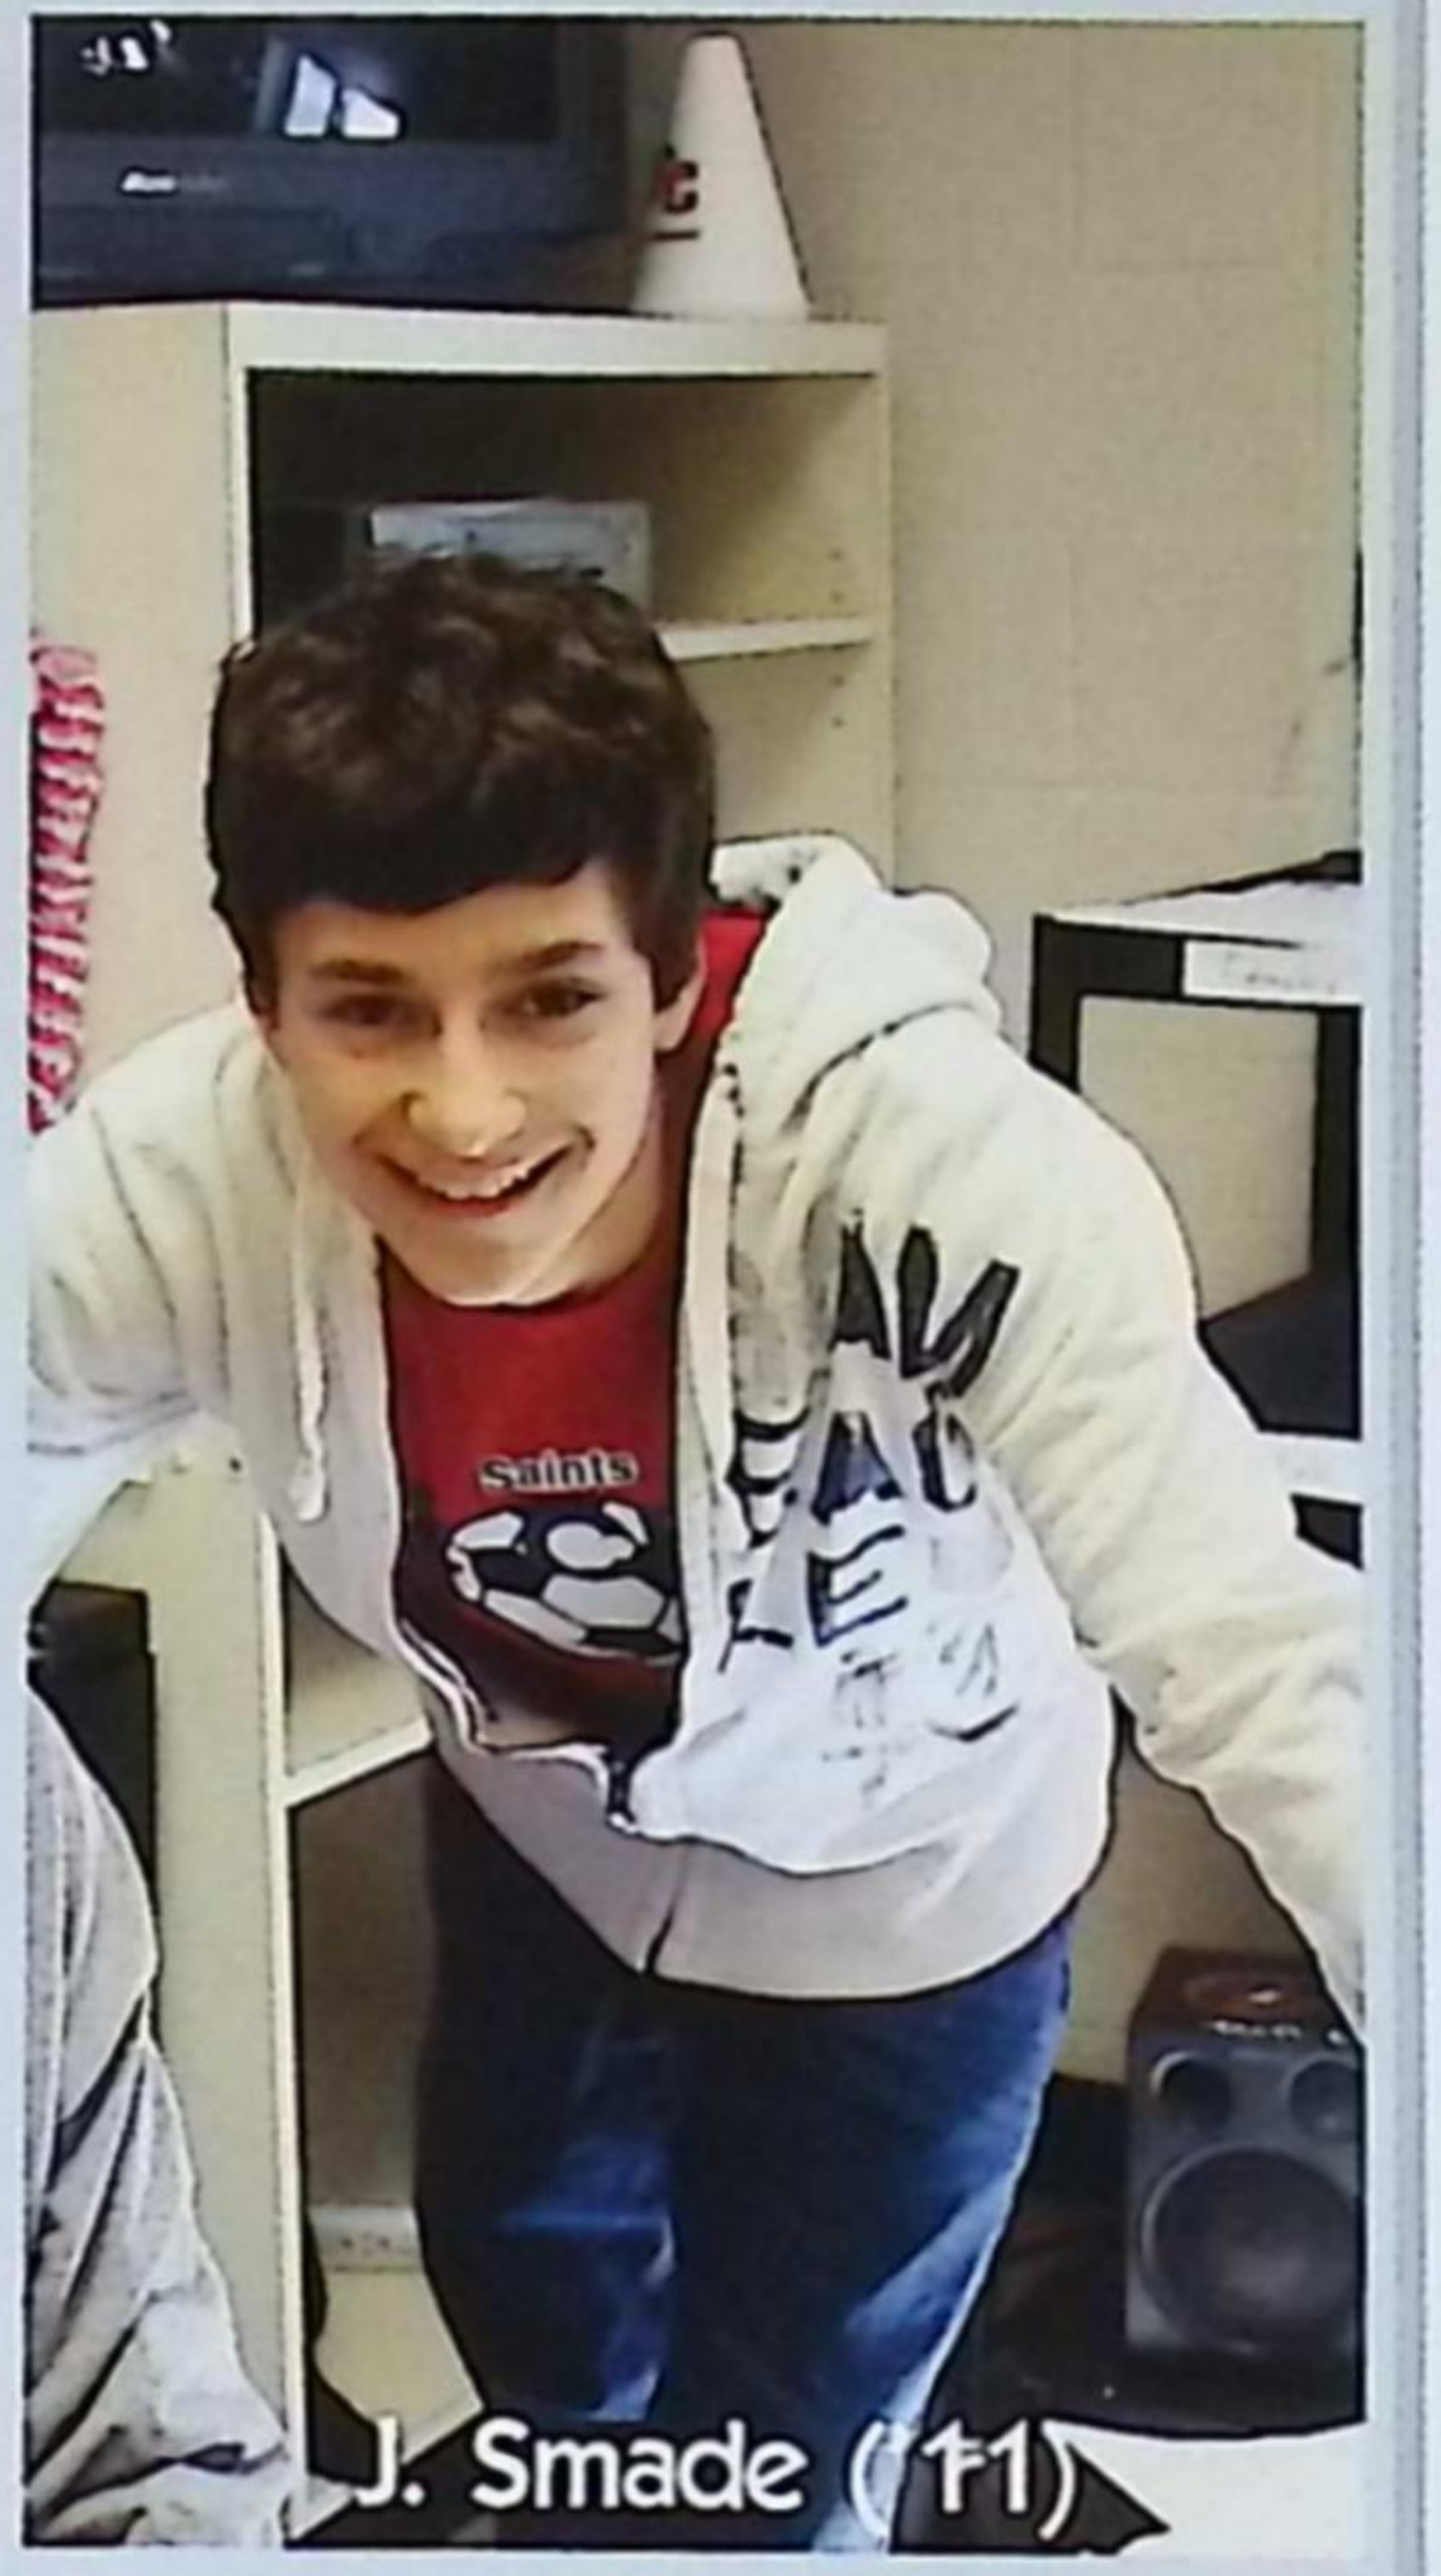
5. Aaron Izworski ('10) shows his kind side by wiping off the cars of his teachers after a blizzard like snow.

MY MOMENT



J. Smade ('11)

"The craziest thing I've ever done in the pit was have a snowball fight. We seem to have one almost every day. My favorite one was when the whole parking lot ganged up on Alec Fielhauer and threw a ton of snow in his truck. It was so funny, because we all started making snow balls and putting them through the window he left open. He was so mad when he found it, I wish I could have taken a picture of his reaction."

Scarcity of Snow

Winter is a fun filed month with tons of activities involving snow. You can go skiing, snowboarding, sledding, build snowmen, have snowball fights, or just chill inside with a snuggie and some hot chocolate with marshmalows. However, thanks to Mother Nature there was a shortage of snow days this year. Many times, students' hopes were crushed when East China School District's name did not appear, but yet they saw many schools in the area were closed.

"Oh the weather outside is frightful
But the fire is so delightful
And since we've no place to go
Let It Snow! Let It Snow! Let It Snow"
-Vaughn Monroe

Negative energy filed the halways, along with a laundry list of complaints by students and staff alike. The day finaly came when Dr. Green let up, and the Saints were all over the place. Many kids went sledding or snowmobiling. The night before, many students stayed up late and didn't do their homework, hoping the school's name would scroll across the screen indicating its closures the next morning. When school was finaly canceled for the first, and possibly last time, there was a unanimous shout of joy heard across St. Clair.

WINTER FANS

Put Your Hands Up!

St. Clair High School fans can always be counted on to cheer on their fellow classmates during a game. Whether you are at a girl's basketball game or a guy's hockey game, you will always see groups of St. Clair High School students in the stands. The crowd screams and shouts with every point scored by the Saints.

> "A true fan is one who believes in the team, even when the players has ceased to believe in themselves."
>
> -Author Unknown

At the end of the game, the fans faces always show the outcome. Try as they might, the fans are not able to change the outcome of a match, but their cheering doesn't go unnoticed Their positive spirit and faith in our teams, gives the players the determination they need to win The game is nothing with out the dull roar of the crowd's enthusiasm, ringing in the players ears.

MY MOMENT

When the boy's varsity basketball team was told that they would be able to play at the Palace, Chris Brown couldn't have been more excited. Chris had never been to the Palace before and since he video tapes all of the games, he got to go for free. His favorite part was being able to go down onto the court. He cheered the Saints on the whole time, and kept hoping they would make a comeback. The Saints played Cross-Lex and unfortunately they were defeated, but that didn't stop Chris from having an awesome time! He was able to stay and watch the Pistons play and he had a lot of fun experiencing his first NBA game, live. -C. Brown ('11)

2. With only a few seconds to go, the boys cheer at a basket made by the Saints.
3. Haley Rutledge ('12) and Josh Pranger ('11) enjoy the game from the stands with a few of their friends.
4. Understanding the effort the boys basketball team exhorts, Tyler Butlin ('11) takes a drink of his water.
5. With the Saints taking the lead, Kelsey Stone ('11) can't help but smile.

What makes you cheer the loudest?

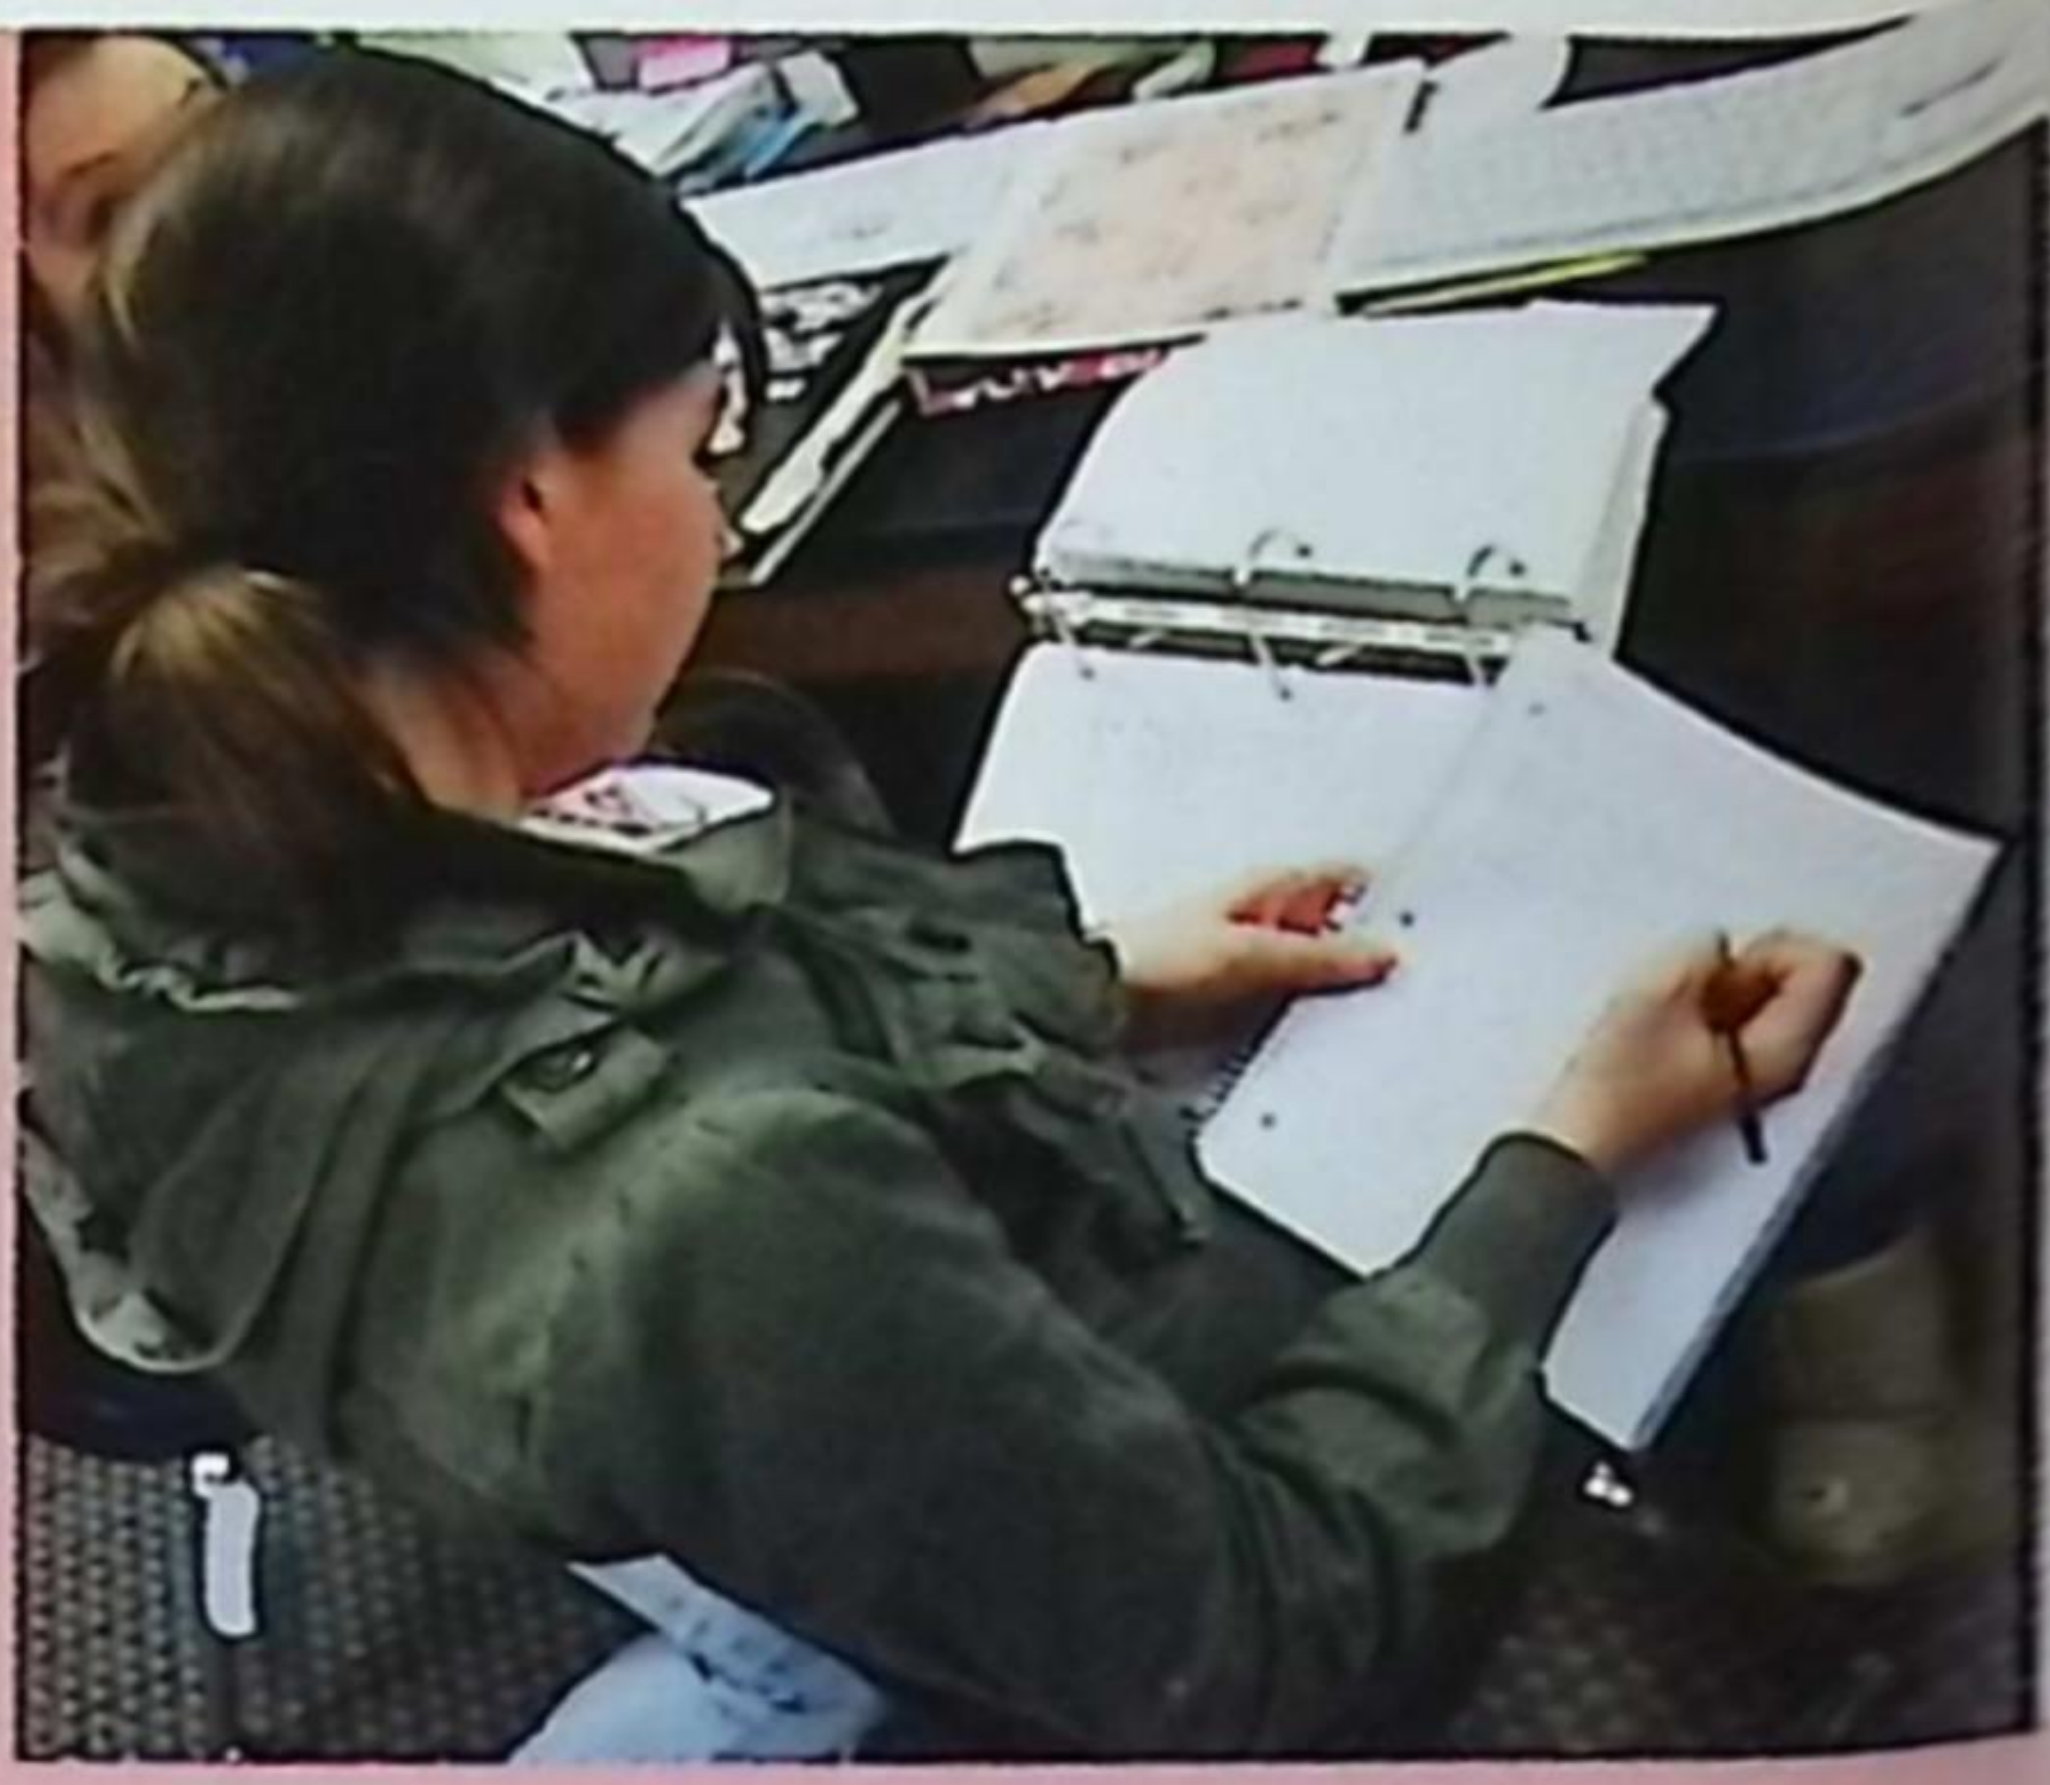
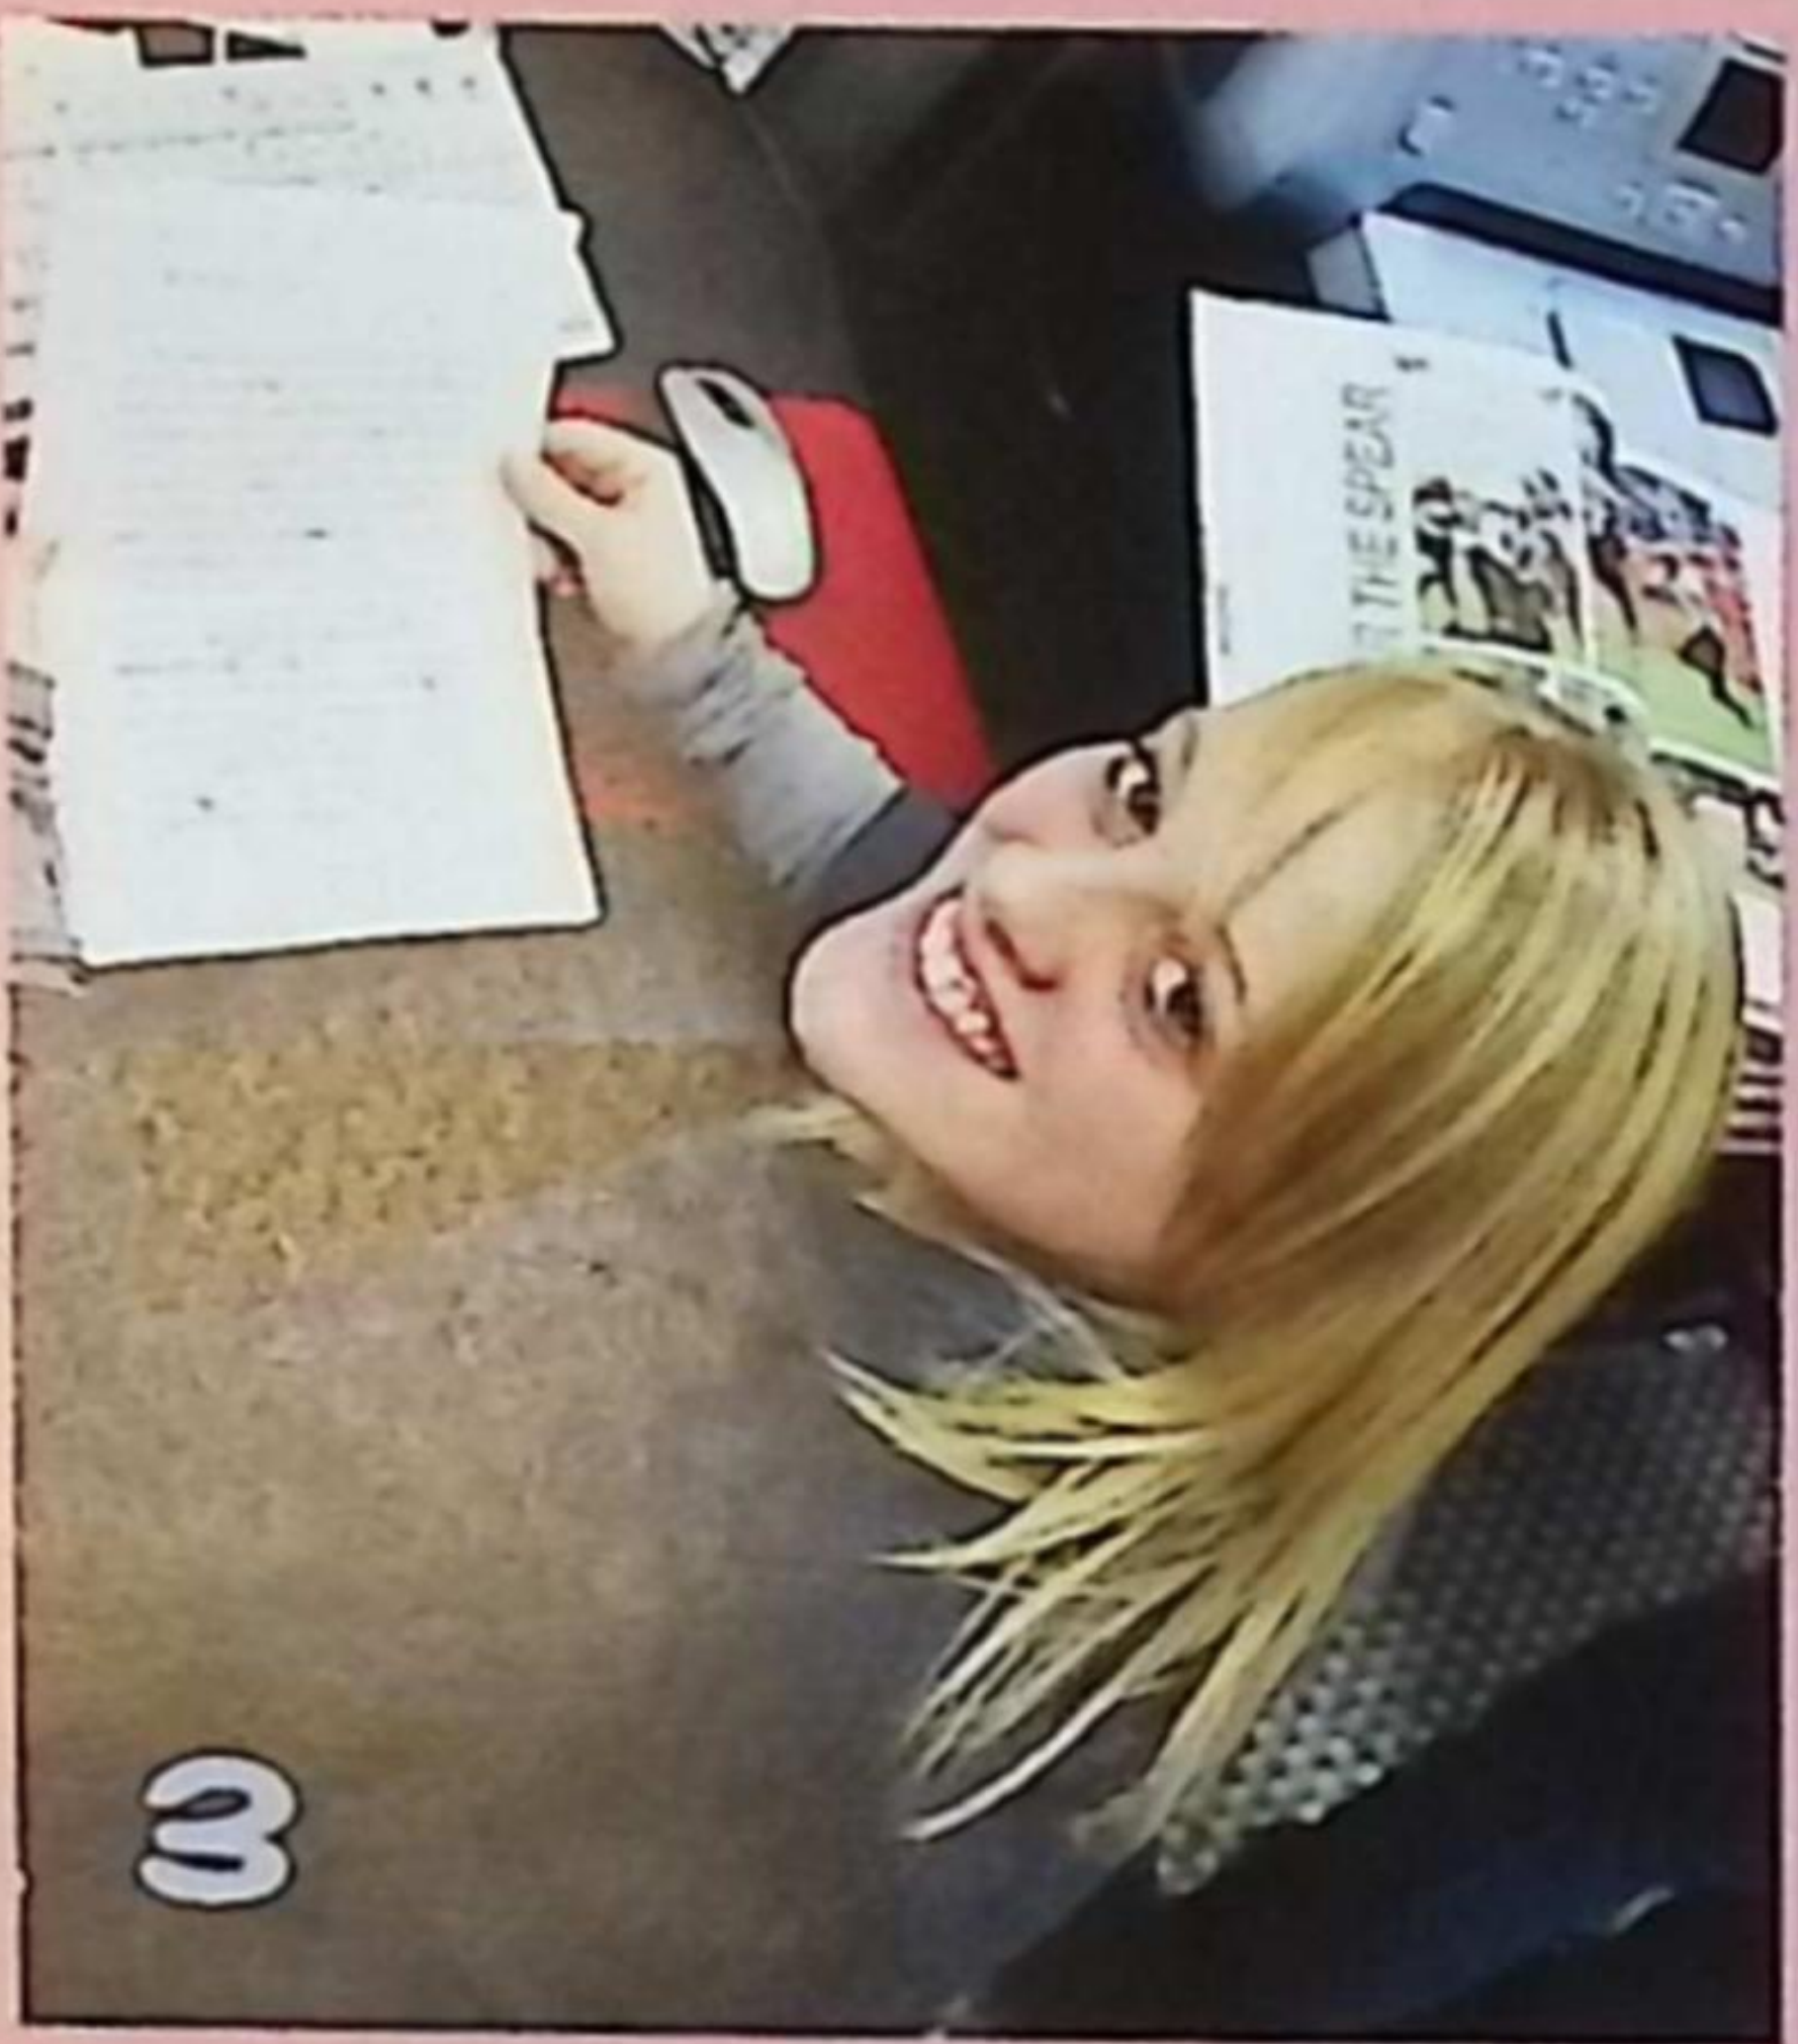
YEARBOOK STAFF

Come Together

Currently yearbook is an exploratory class, where students put their passions for writing, photography and salesmanship to good use. This challenging class consists of 15 students who work daily together, to complete what will become the school's yearbook. To be a part of this rigorous course, students must be persistent, diligent, and have a positive attitude in the face of many truly challenging situations.





1. Wracking her brain, Maddie Soave, ('12) ponders for a new, exciting idea for yearbook survey.
2. Sharing a smile, Alex Bernardi ('10) and Christina Woodman ('13) enjoy a Christmas party before departing for winter break.
3. Working with precision and speed, editor, Mel Rhein ('10) edits cut lines for her fellow yearbook staff members.
4. Putting their heads together, Lauren Bondy ('12) and Lauren Clemens ('10) work diligently on their page layouts.
5. Rejoicing in the Christmas spirit, Paige McCommas ('13) and Becca Phyle ('12) celebrate the holiday with an infamous food day.

Room To Grow

Business Professionals of America is an organization for students who aspire to be in a business profession and are looking for practical experience. BPA prepares students for the workforce outside of school, through leadership, technological skills, academic and citizenship. BPA is a rewarding program where students obtain exposure to the business world. Students grow in their work ethics, develop intellectually and gain once in a lifetime opportunities. This winter our SCHS members went to The Competitive Event Program where students participated in such events as leadership abilities, along with business and office skills. BPA is an organization that gives students a kick start on the right track in a very challenging business world.

It's In Our Blood

This year NHS went above and beyond to help our community. Before departing for holiday break, they hosted their annual Holiday Babysitting. NHS helped the parents of 118 children relax and finally do some leisurely holiday shopping while their children crafted memories, new friends, and also played some fun activities.

"National Honor Society is really important to me because I love being able to help others not only in the school, but also in the community."

T. Klisz ('10)

NHS also sponsored a Red Cross blood drive. With the help of our fellow Saints, SCHS had 52 new donors register, and 68 pints of blood were donated. Because of our generous contribution, 204 patients in need were given a second chance. From blood drives, to Holiday Babysitting, NHS. has done there part to give back to the community.

Taking the Stage

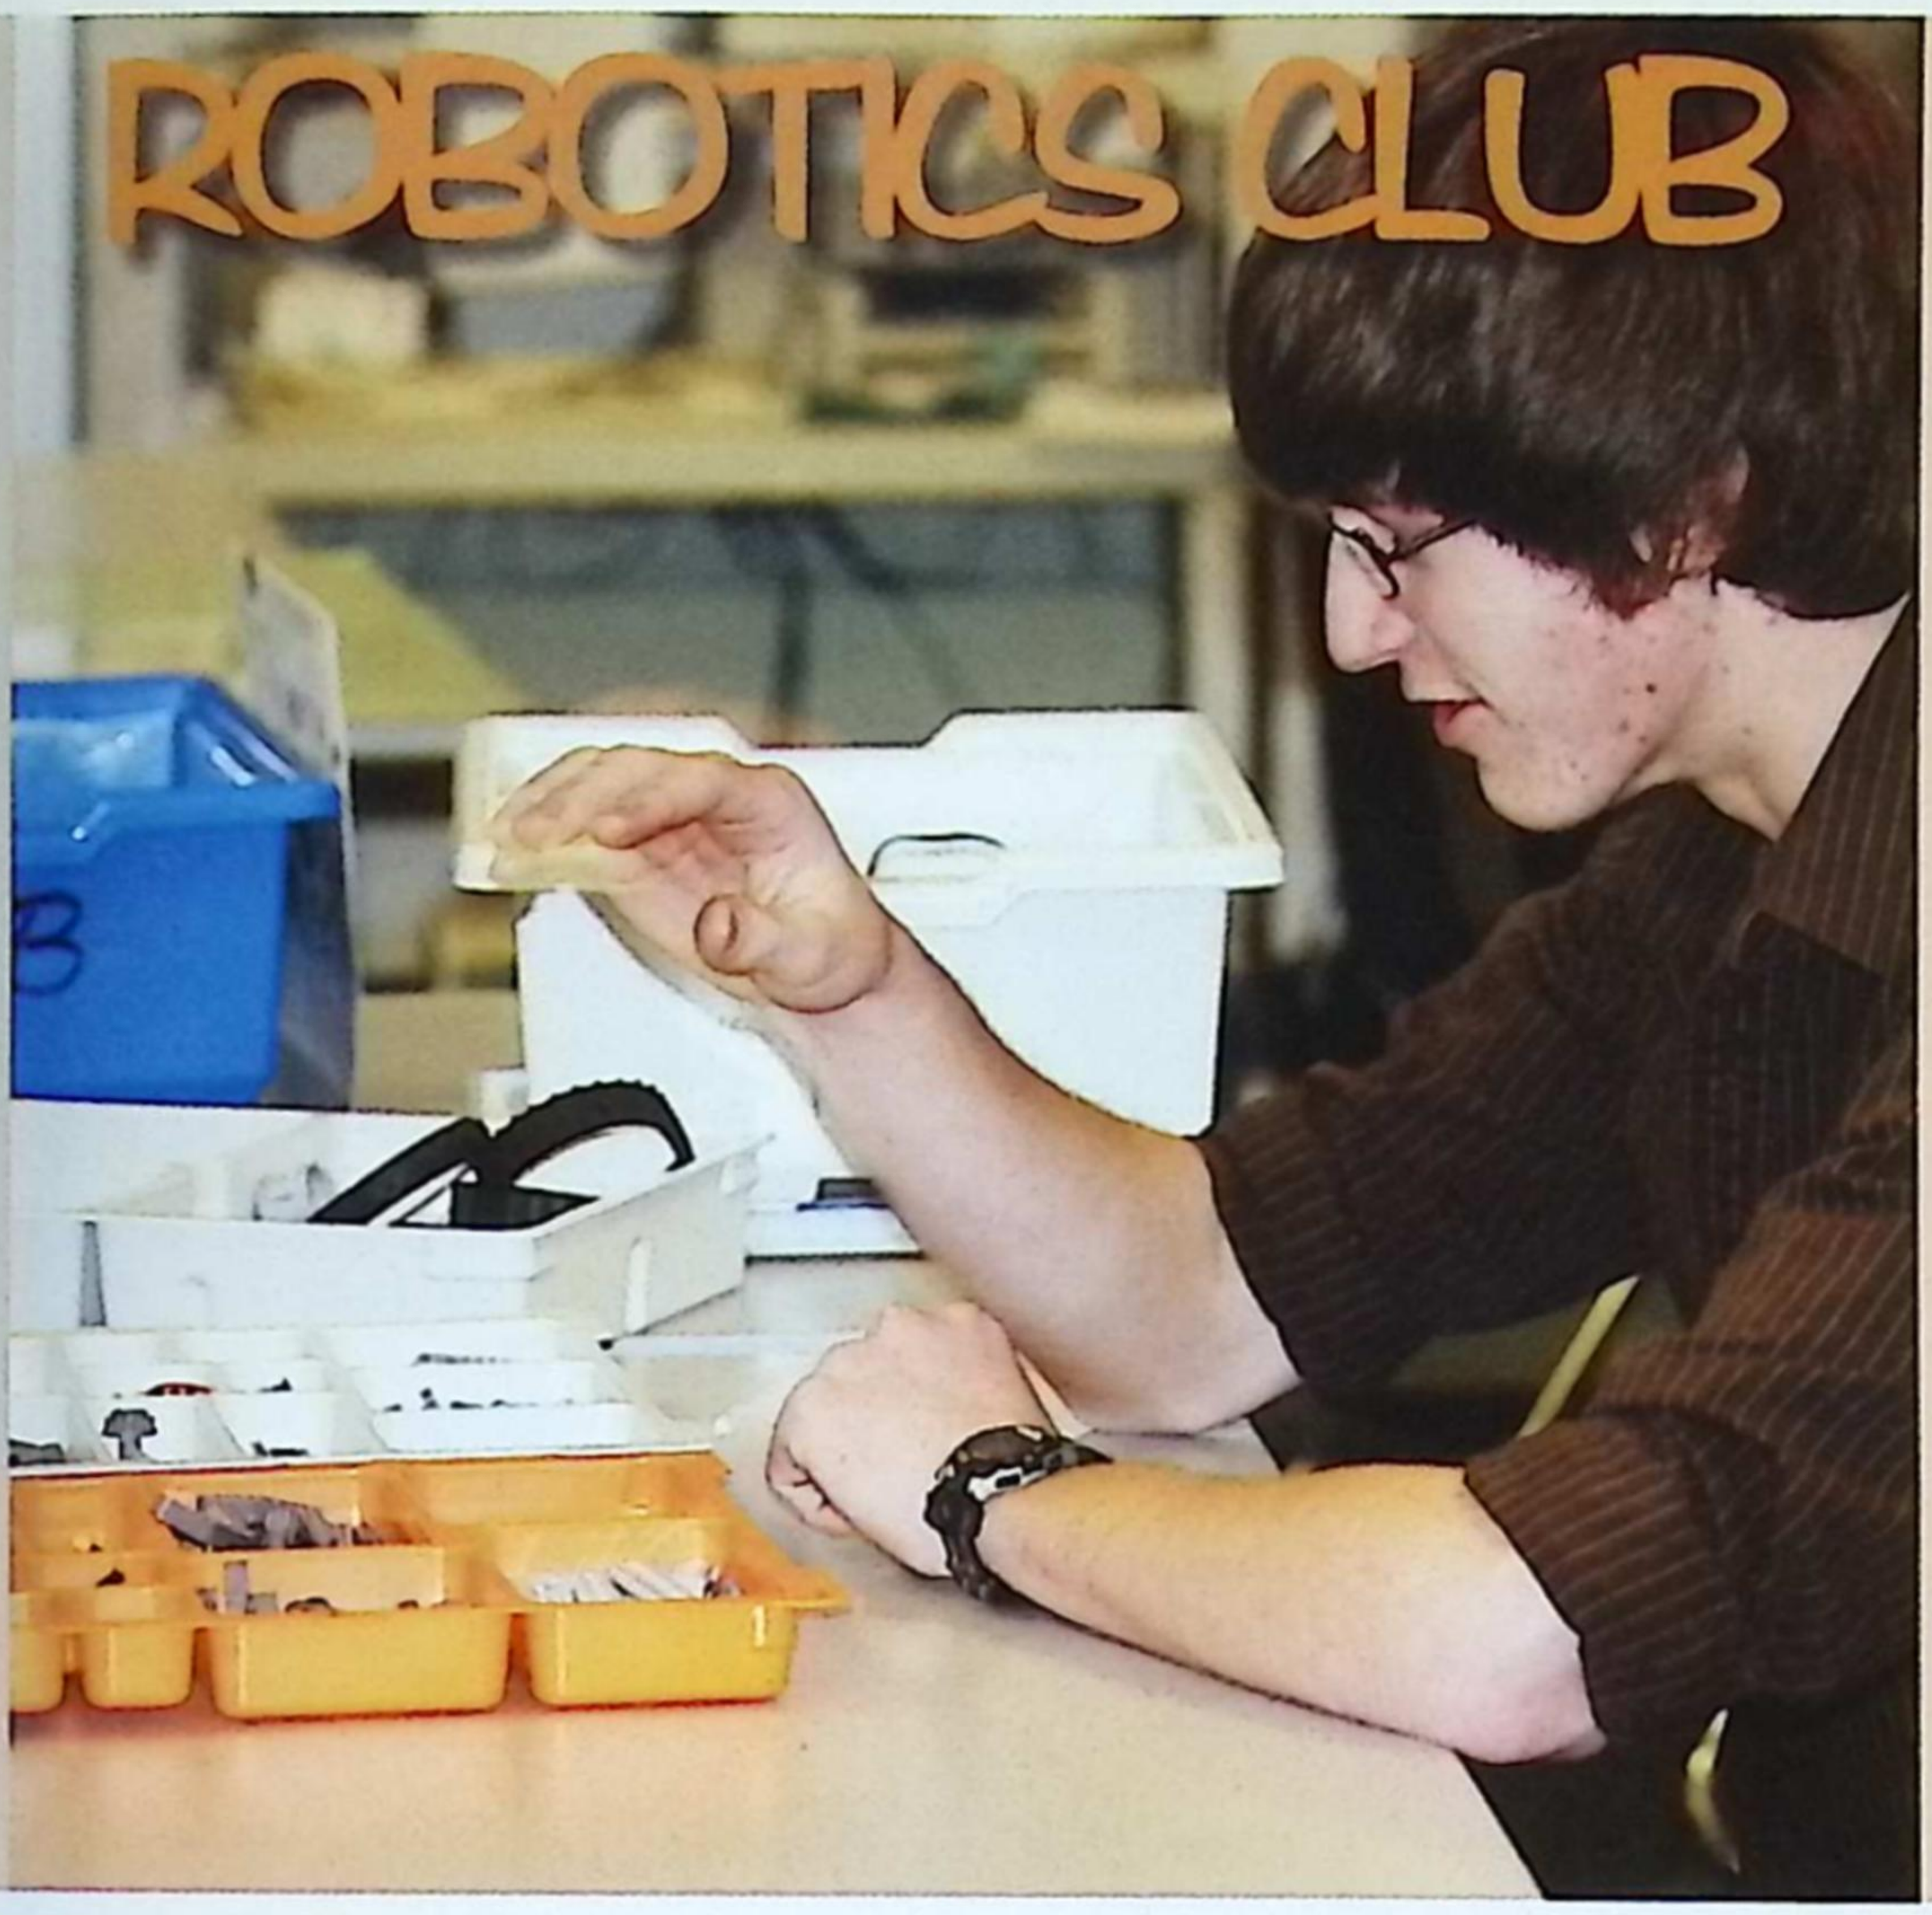
The theatre troupe's winter production this year, "Big River", was a musical take on the classic, Huckleberry Finn. With songs in almost every scene, it was necessary for the cast to be full of not only talented actors, but talented singers as well. With such large shoes to fill, this play could have easily been a disaster. Instead, "Big River" was one of the most successful and well performed plays St. Clair High School's Theatre Troupe has ever put on. "It was amazing," Bonita Hazel ('11) said. "The acting was great, and the singing was even better. I wouldn't be surprised if I saw Chad [Zieler] or Matt [Redmond] on TV one day." Chad Zieler ('11) and Matt Redmond ('10) both held starring roles in "Big River". Chad played Huck Finn, who accompanied a runaway slave named Jim, played by Matt Redmond, to freedom in the northern states. Both actors had their "best performances yet," according to Liz Nowak ('11), who saw the play opening night. While Chad and Matt were the stars of the show, other actors and actresses stood out as well. Anson Pavlov ('11), Christian Jones ('10), Jacob Wiseheart ('11), and Billy Cedar ('11) also gave outstanding musical performances, on top of portraying their characters in a very convincing light. Thanks to all of the hard work and long hours the cast put in, the St. Clair Theatre Troupe, once again, has outdone itself.

"Although the hours of hard work were grueling, the reward was worth every second." -C. Woodman ('13)

SENIOR STARDOM

In a classic Broadway pose, Christian Jones ('10) warms up his vocals and runs through some lines last minute with his fellow cast members. Big River is one of Christian's last performances at SCHS.

ROBOTICS CLUB



"Domo Arigato Mr. Roboto"

The Robotics Team at SCHS is not just any ordinary group: this club is a group of extremely smart and ready-to-learn students who happen to be especially gifted in the math and science fields. This elite club has only two competitions, unlike many of the groups here at SCHS. From regionals, with other teams competing from around the eastern side of the state, the Robotics Team moves right onto Worlds one of the only clubs at SCHS to do so. The team competes with schools not only from Michigan, but schools from places such as Japan and many other countries around the world. With such fierce competition, it's amazing that SCHS does so well in the Robotics tournament, but then again, it's nothing new for the Robotics Team, or the Saints: with hard work and determination, even the smallest clubs at SCHS can accomplish worldly things.

BAND

Toot Your Own Horn

Sometimes, kids in band acquire dreadful names: bandie and band geek are always popular ones but in fact, kids in band are more important than most people may think. The truth of the matter is, we would be no where without our band. Assemblies surely would be music-less, the football games would be spirit-less, and the halftime shows would be non-existent.

"I actualy realy like being in band," Lauren Dombek ('12) said. "It has become a part of who I am." Without fiery spirited people like Lauren, SCHS would not be the school it is today. So why do most students make fun of band members, when in all actuality, they are the backbone to our school? No one may ever know, but one thing's for sure: without our band, SCHS would be missing a crucial part of who we are as a school.

MOCK TRIAL

Case Closed

Mock trial, although a relatively new organization, is certainly a productive one. This year alone, five members received awards at the county level. Samantha Schmitz ('11) received 2nd place for her direct examination and 3rd place for her cross examination, Maddie Soave ('12), Austin Nancarrow ('10), Erik Rood ('10), and Brad Biewer ('12) all won for "Best Witness" and Mark Durham added a win for "Best Direct Examination" as well. St. Clair had two teams competing at the county level, and both placed in the top five. Every member of the 2009-2010 mock trial team was extremely determined and committed to the ultimate goal of making it to states. SKI CLUB

Don't Catch the Edge

This year, SCHS's Ski Club went above and beyond when it came to boarding faster, higher, and with more style than ever. When the weather was right for hitting the slopes, they took Friday trips to Mt. Holy, and in January they traveled to Canada for their annual Blue Mountain getaway. When it comes to blowing off some serious steam, there is by far no better way that boarding. Flying down a black diamond run with the wind blowing in your face as the cold air kisses your cheeks and tints them a peachy pink is without a doubt the best way to leave your problems, and drama, and issues behind.

> "There is absolutely nothing better, than pure, fresh, white powder!"
> - N. McCallum ('11)

Although the weather this year was definitely not ideal for fresh powder, Ski Club members stuck it out and got in as many good runs as they could. In fact, some members even took matters into their own hands and traveled as far as Utah in search of that euphoria that can only be achieved from pure white snow.

Taking time out of their busy schedules to give back to their community, Napat Tungkunsiri ('10) and Celena Comerio ('12) spend their Saturday staining the playground equipment at the Imagination Station.

Making Over and Moving On

This year, our Student Council made the most of a seemingly endless winter by keeping busy with community projects. One of these labor intensive projects was the Greig Park Clean- Up. This was an all day project that involved refinishing and freshening up the equipment at our local park. At the end of the day, though exhausted, every member who volunteered their services felt extremely rewarded.

"Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever has." - Margaret Mead

Student Council, affectionaly nick named "Stu-Co", also sponsored a multitude of school based functions. They decided not to host the annual Winterfest spirit assembly, due to the tragic loss of SCHS senior Randy Sugars, but they did succeed in creating a phenomenal dance even in the midst of such an emotional time. Through all the hardship, drama, and utter chaos that this year has brought upon us, our Student Council fought hard to make the experience a good one in the best way they knew how. Their efforts did not go unnoticed and they are appreciated by each and every student that reaped the benefits of all of their hard work and sacrifices.

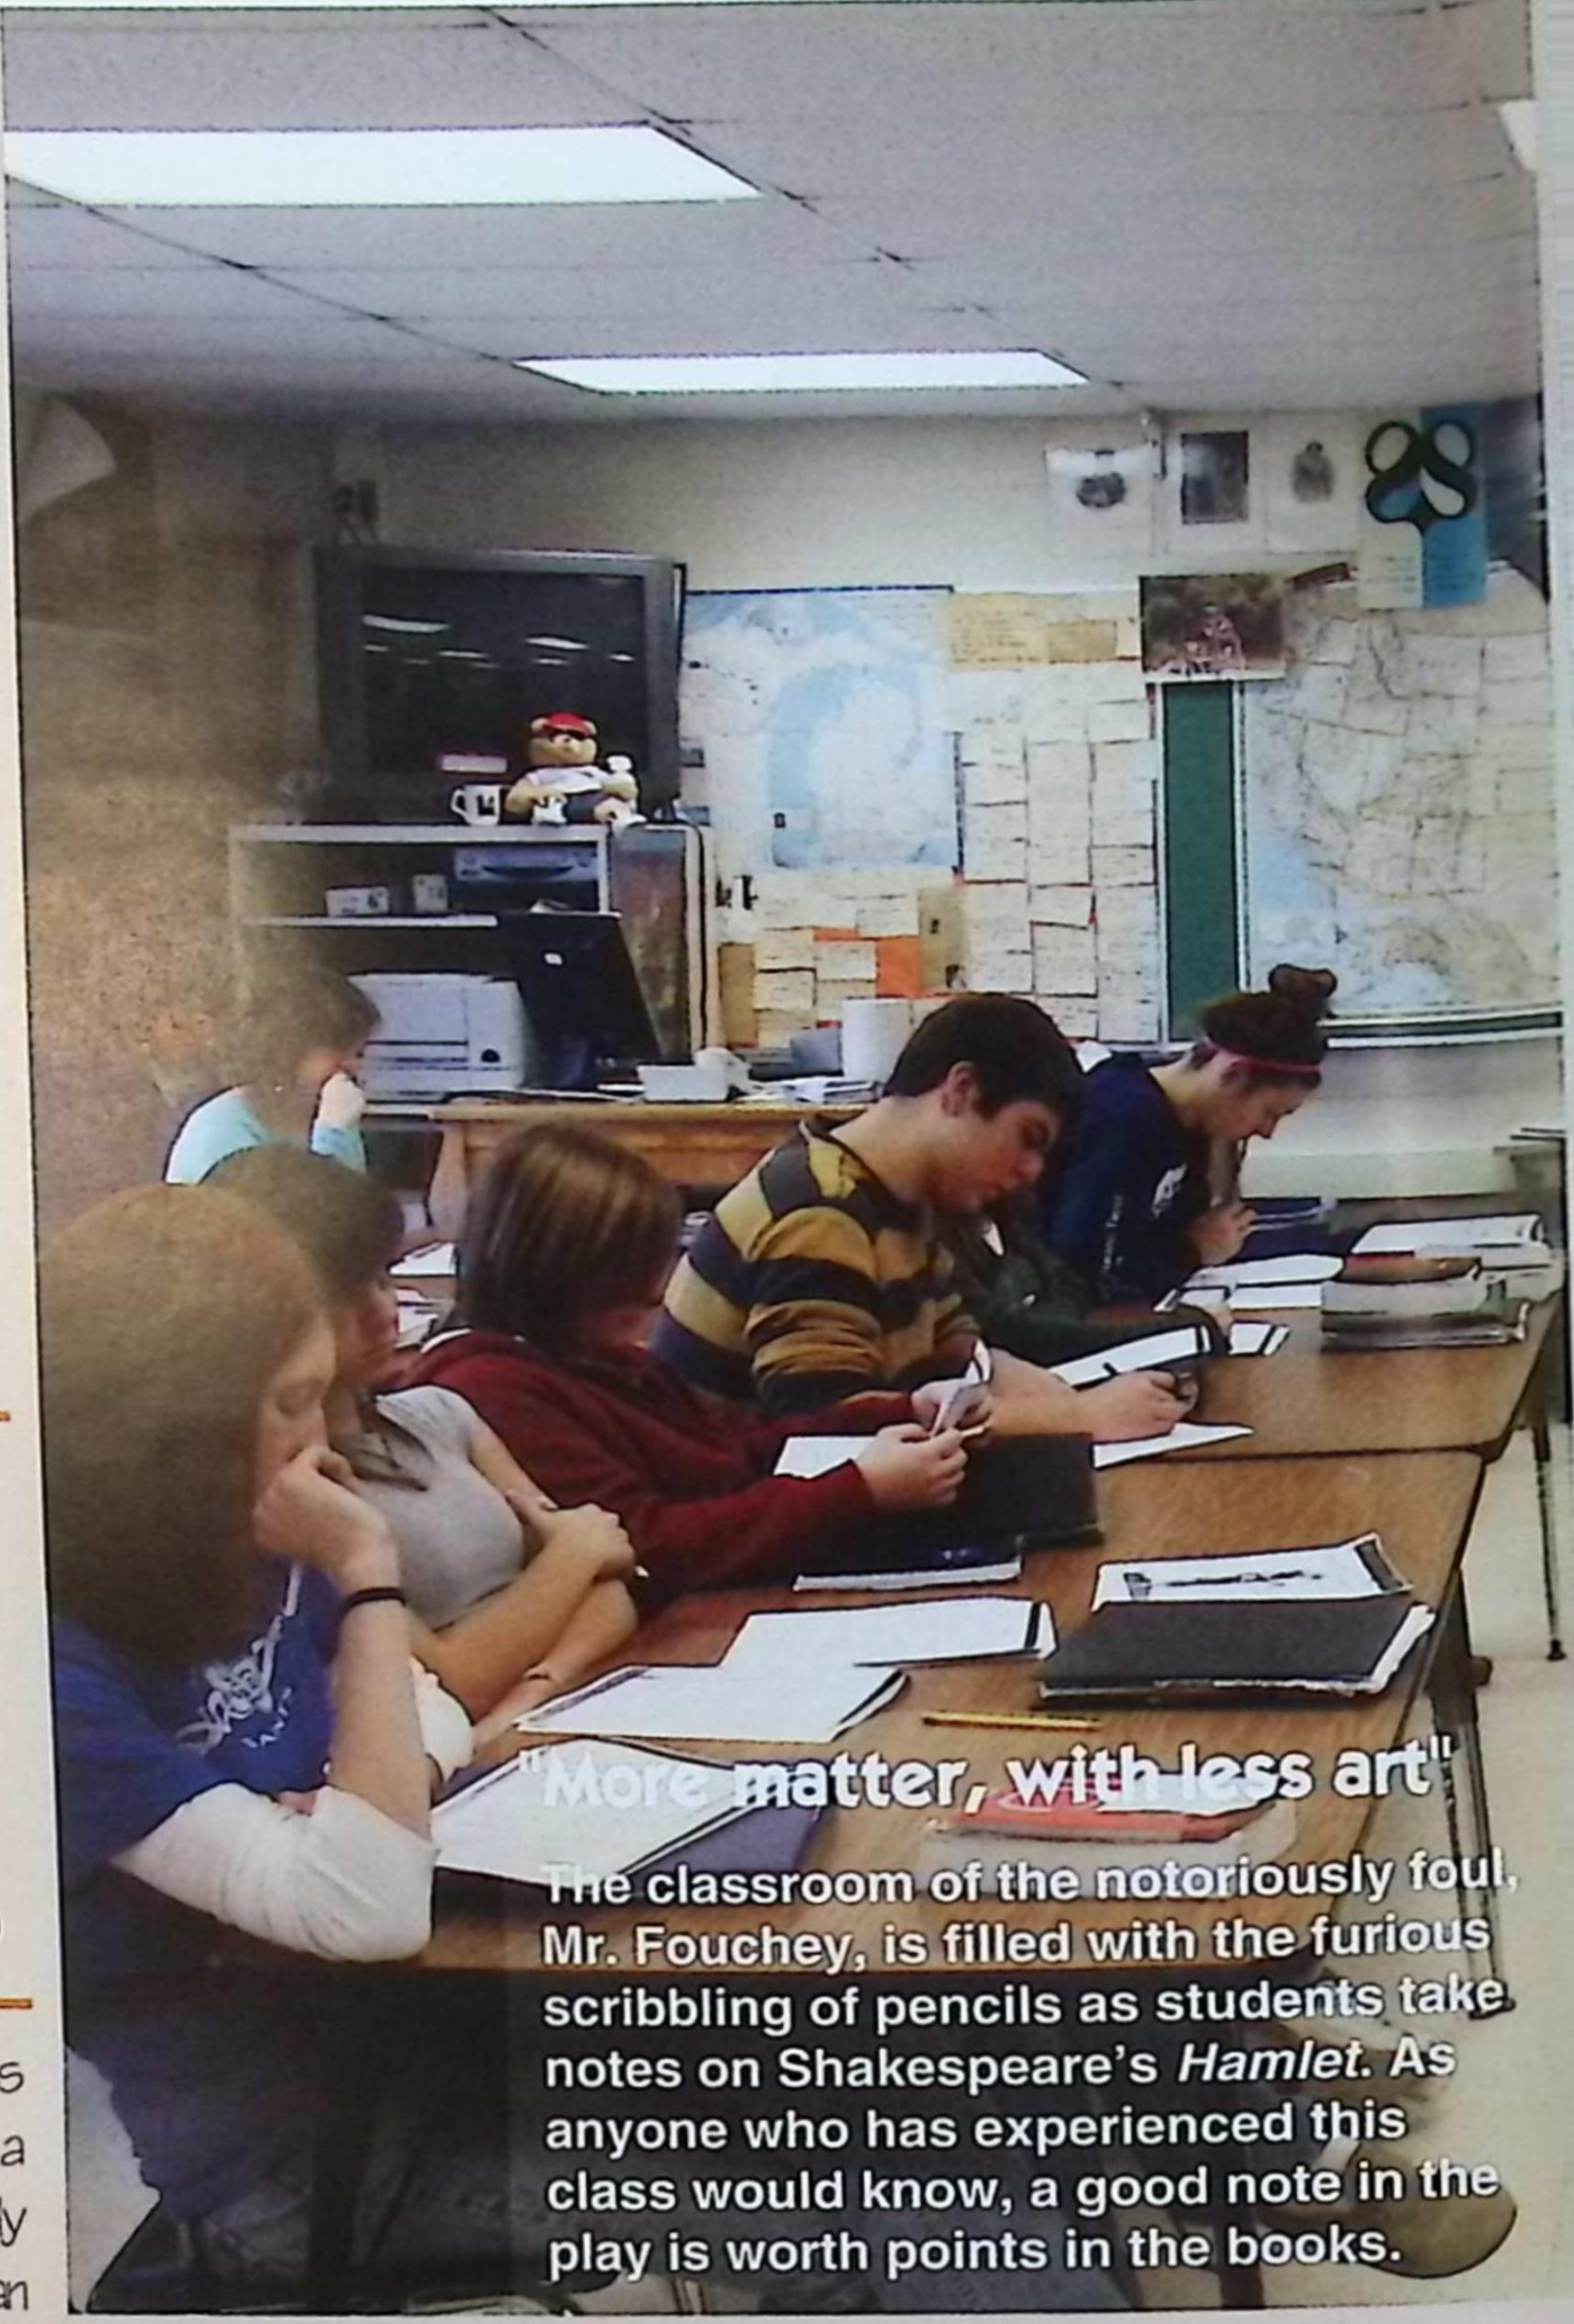
ENGLISH

A Book is a True Window to the Soul

Literature has been a way of communicating for centuries. Not only does it display a valid point of human nature and how people behave, it also allows students the opportunity to explore both the aspects of the written language and of our own behavior as people. Shakespeare was one of the many masters of English, writing soliloquies and dramas to entertain both royalty and the masses of England.

"AP. Language is hard work, but definitely a lot of fun. Mr. Fouchey knows it all, but he leaves room for opinions. That's what great literature is fueled by, the world's many interpretations of it. Existentialism owns." -J. Wiseheart ('11)

"Bill" said it best himself in these lines from As You Like It: "All the world's a stage, And all the men and women merely players..." Our writings depict the human race, and define the cultures that exist over time. Without it, our species would be lost in time.



"More matter, with less art"

The classroom of the notoriously foul, Mr. Fouchey, is filled with the furious scribbling of pencils as students take notes on Shakespeare's Hamlet. As anyone who has experienced this class would know, a good note in the play is worth points in the books.

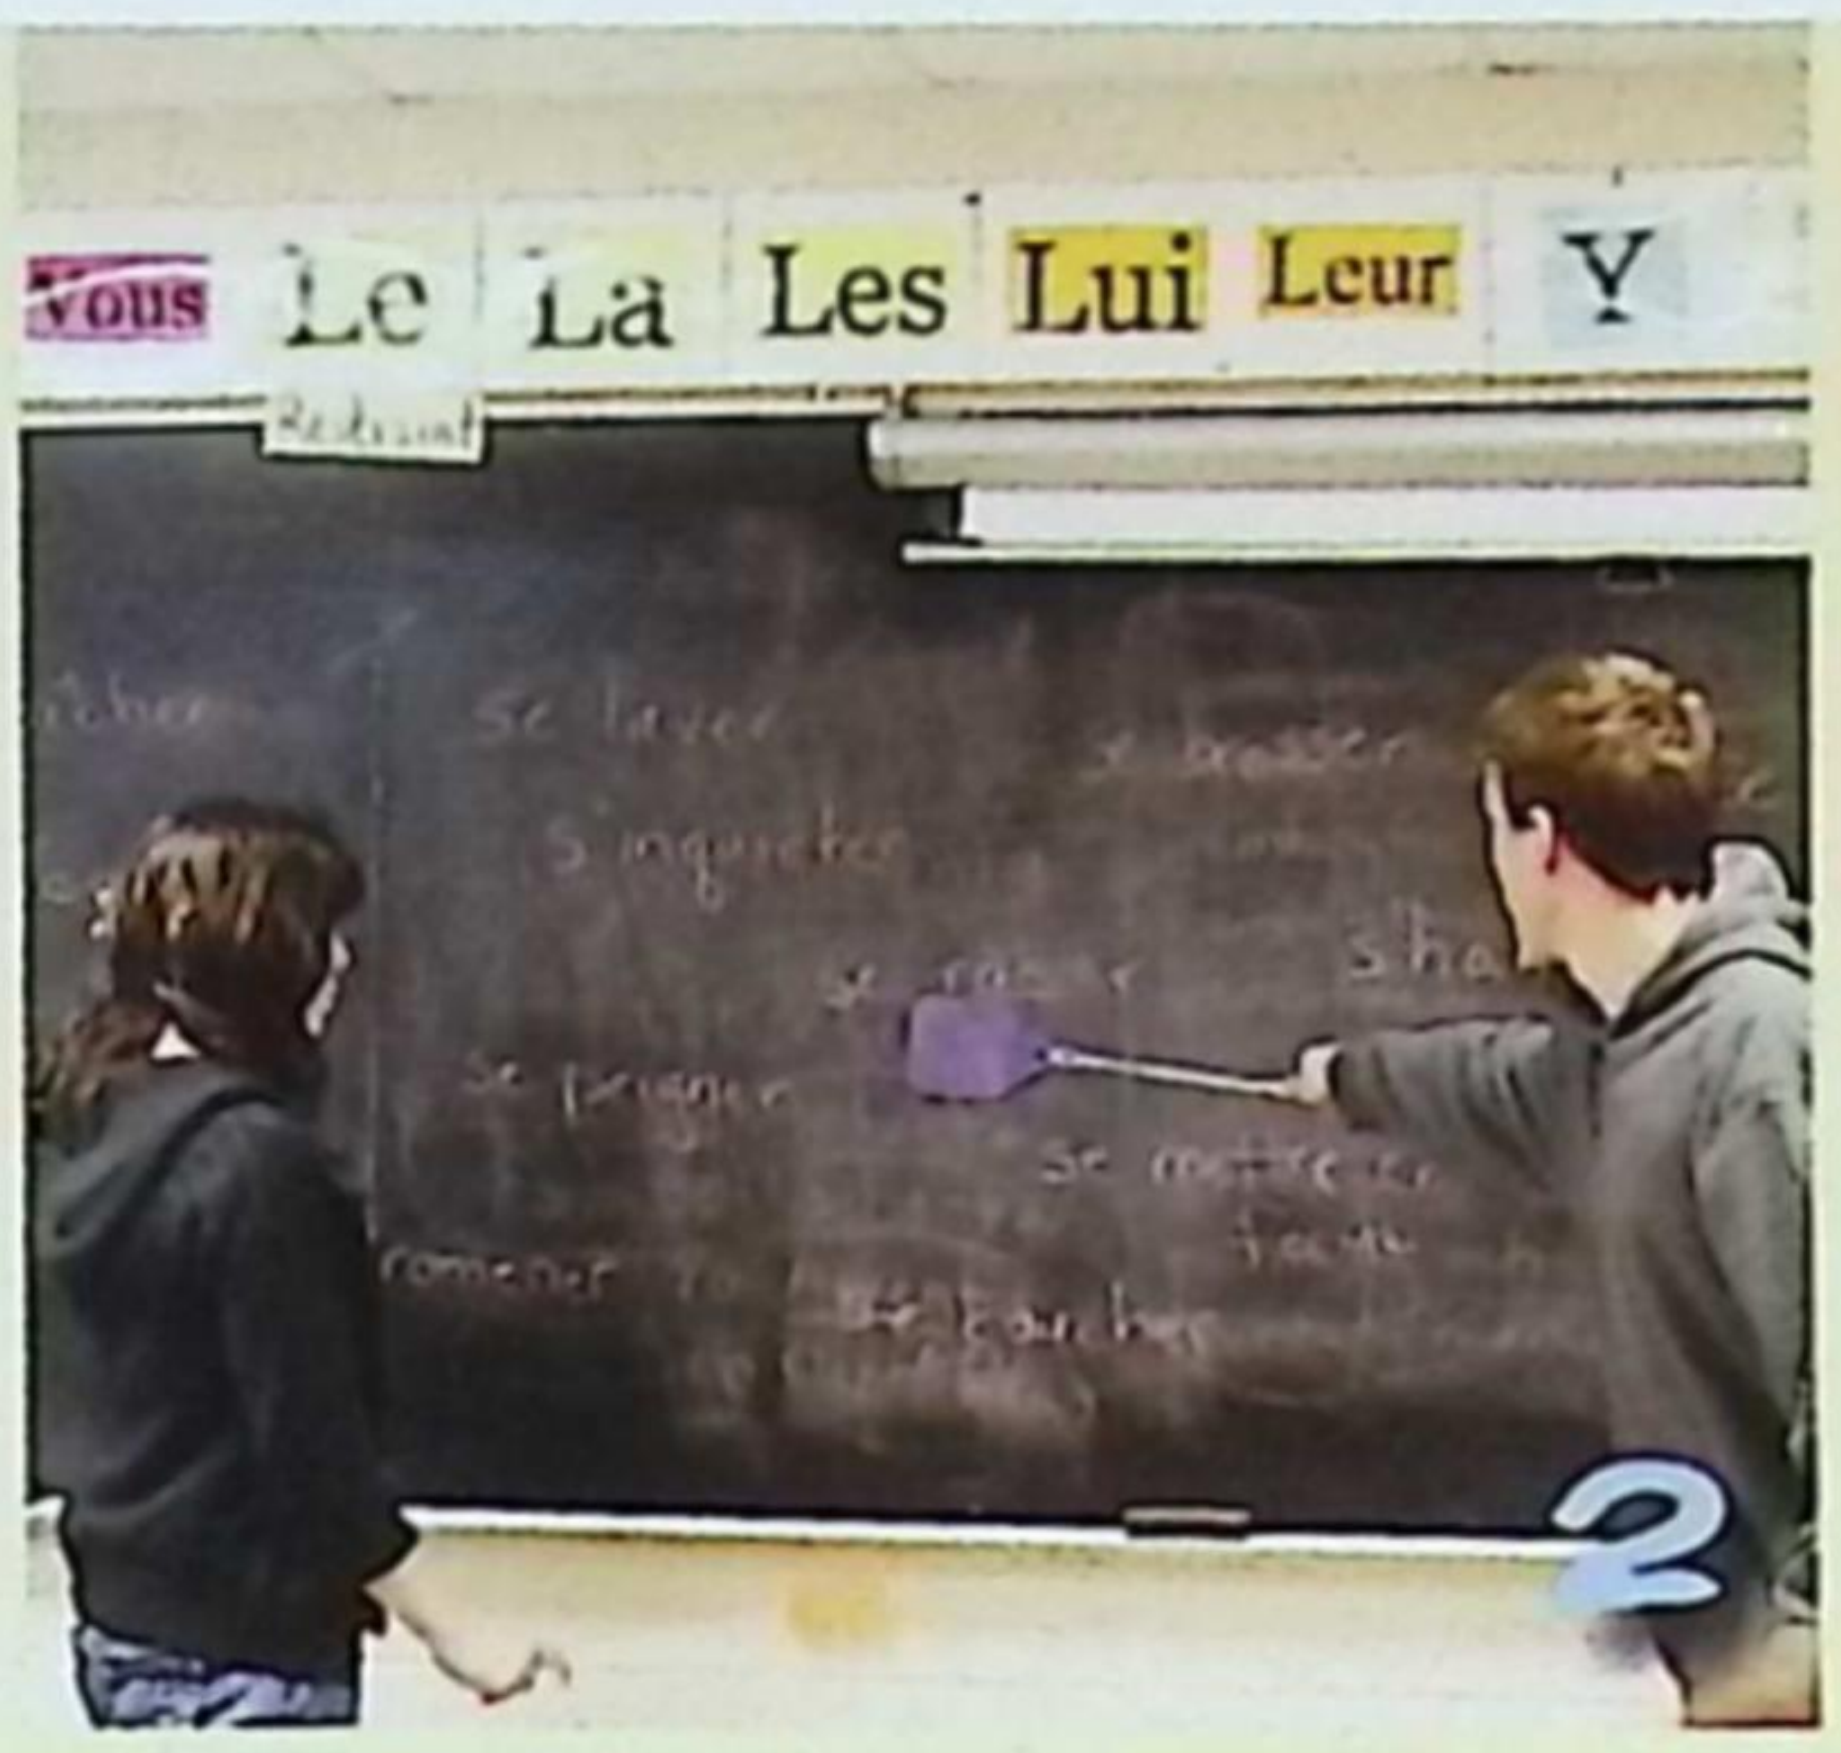
FOREIGN LANGUAGE

It's a Small World

When it comes to being versed in worldly cultures, high school students are not the first people that come to mind. Even so, foreign language classes are becoming more and more popular. This can be heard in the hallways after an advanced class is released, with the sounds of the language reverberating through the halls mixing with the sounds of our English language. The smells of their food and the sounds of their music can also be experienced on certain days, as high school students experience the cultures of these separate worlds. Stepping into a foreign language classroom seems to be like stepping into another world, and it is because of these experiences that more students are being drawn into these classes.



1. Japanese is more than an alternative language class: it is also a space of personal expression as Natasha Golubinski ('11) demonstrates with her very temporary artwork on her desk. 2. Kelly Etz and Jake Dwyer ('10) play a popular game in Madame Clyne's class, helping them learn important vocabulary. 3. Jamie McClure ('11) shows her exquisite cooking skills while showing off her delicious log cake during an ever-so-popular French Food Day. 4. Alyssa Horton and Sherry Li ('12) laugh over the pronunciation of their new Japanese terms, enjoying their class together as good friends. 5. When trying to sell some Spanish merchandise, Craig Gilewski ('12) is held up for his imaginary money by Griffin Trents ('13) in Spanish class.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The Importance of Being Historic

The only difference between man and ape is the ability of introspection. This can be seen in anyone whose interest lies in history or social studies. The ability to record and analyze our past actions and the actions of others, and apply those conclusions to our lives is an amazing human capability that would be impossible without the study of our history.

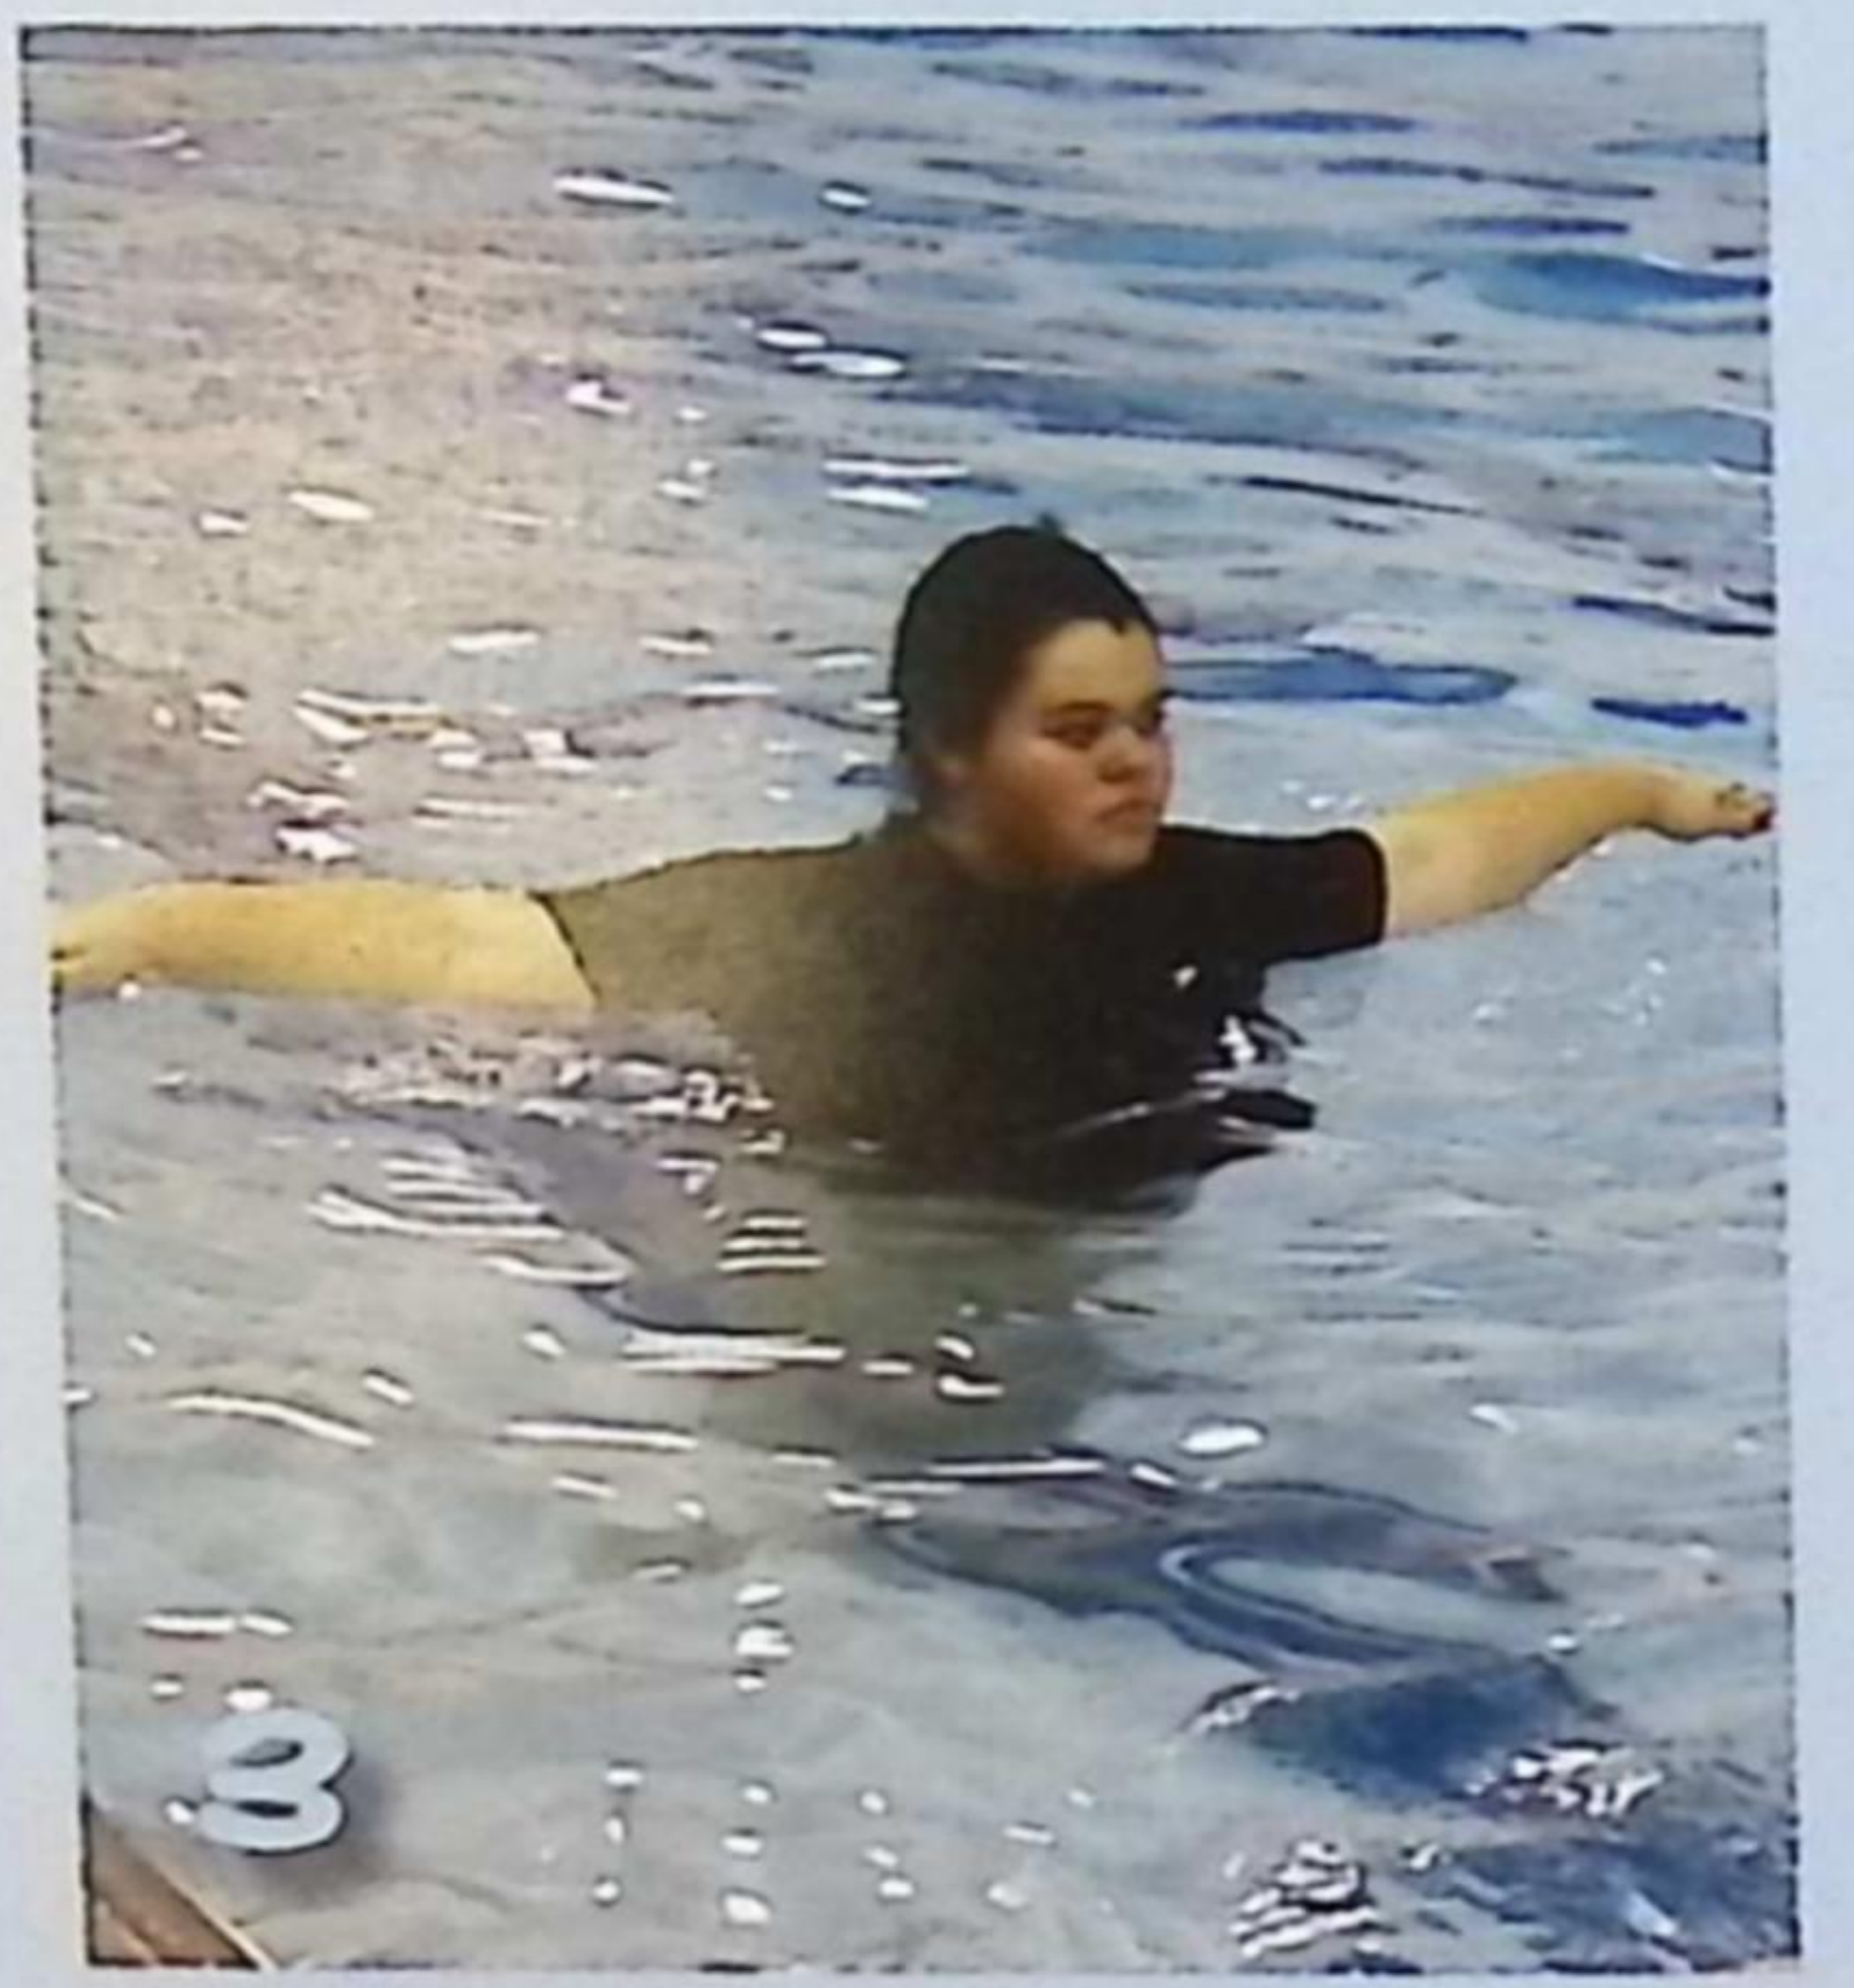
SWIM

Learning the Basics

Getting your hair wet, standing in the freezing pool, and ten minutes to get ready isn't exactly everyone's first choice, but all students are required to take a quarter of swim. The beginning is always harsh, but after a while swim becomes a fun part of your day.

In PE 9, Students learn how to do the elementary backstroke and freestyle, how to tread water, and how to save their own life. Free days on Friday are always highly anticipated, with games, races, and just having fun. Swim class is a fun way to learn the basics of swim with all of your classmates!

Even though most freshmen dread this class, it's very reassuring to know that our Saints, who live so close to so much water, will have the necessary skills to save themselves if something should ever happen!



1. Learning how to do the elementary backstroke in swim class, Alexa Kosztowny ('13) is corrected by their student teacher, Justine Spencer ('10)
2. Racing her fellow teammates, Dannie Fountain ('11) uses the freestyle stroke to beat them to the wall.
3. Step-by-step, Madison Currier ('13) perfects the skill of treading water while in the freezing water.
4. Tyler Arrant ('13) helps Cody Alberty ('13) stay afloat while mastering the steps of the elementary backstroke.
5. In the deep end of the pool, Nicole Knoth ('13) braces herself for her floating test!

HEALTH

Learning to say "No."

Peer pressure is around us everyday, in both good and bad ways. Health class is everyone's insight to the pros and cons of situations that students may be involved with. In high school, some activities can seem like a good decision, but are actually very dangerous to your health, and could ruin your future! Students are put in different situations to gain an understanding of why you should say "No." One of the situations health teachers purposely put students in, requires using impaired vision goggles to gain a perspective of how it feels to be drunk. With the goggles on, students are not able to shoot a basket, walk around a chair, or catch a ball. Students also learn how important it is to eat healthy and be safe. Health class is a fun way to learn how to take care of your body and make good decisions.

GYM

No Pain, No Gain

Gym class is a great way for students to get their necessary 5 hours of exercise per week. Along with keeping students in shape, gym also is a great stress reliever. With tests, homework, and projects piling up, students can always count on a fun day in gym to make them feel better.

> "Never mind what others do; do better than yourself, beat your own record from day to day, and you are a success."
>
> -Joe DiMaggio

There are five different types of gym classes that students can take. Each revolves around a student's athletic abilities, therefore providing all students with an exercise level that is appropriately challenging for them. Students enjoy working out, playing badminton, dodge ball, and other physical activities. Through all of their hard work, everyone at St. Clair knows that with out pain, there is no gain!

Einstein Ambition

Mixing, popping, bubbling, SCIENCE! The students of Saint Clair High School bring out their inner Einstein while they work their brains to solve seemingly impossible problems. Science is a subject that can, at times, be one of the most difficult, but its unpredictability never fails to electrify the minds of students.

> "Imagination is more important than knowledge."
> -Albert Einstein

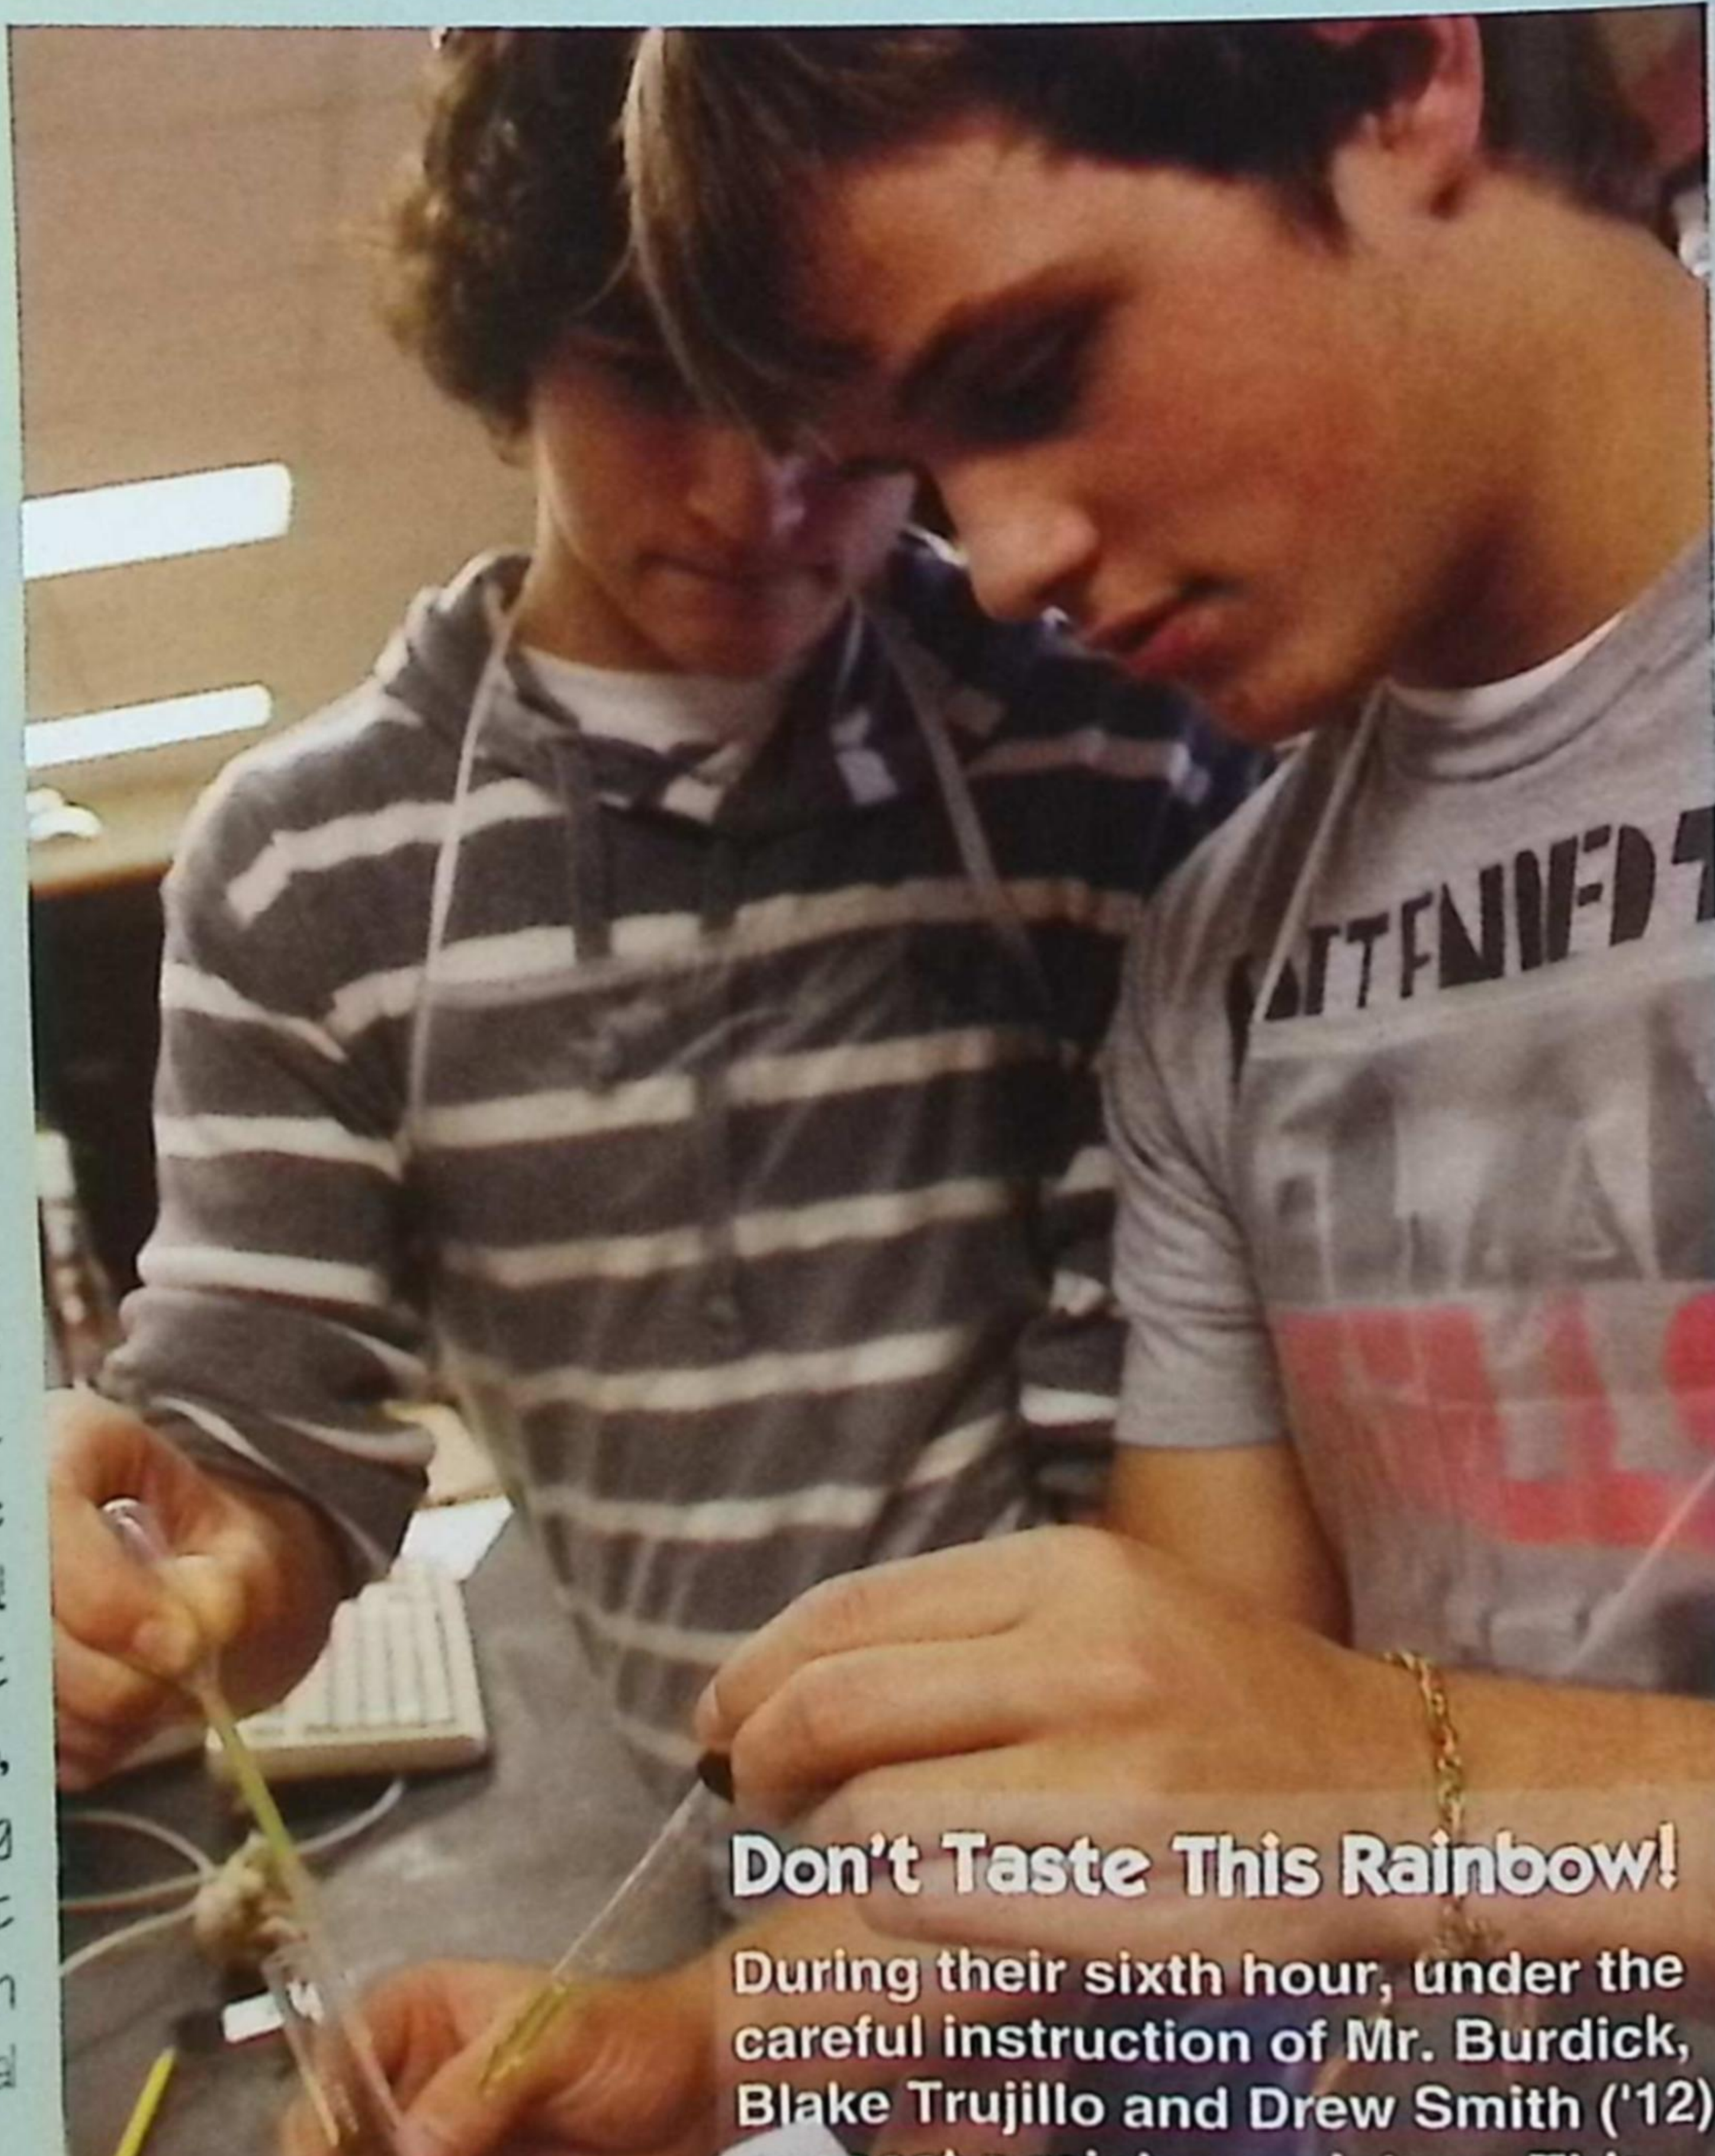
However, there is so much more to science than what meets the eye. It takes careful concentration, pinpointed focus, and most of all, ambition. Our students are not afraid to go the extra mile, think outside of the box, or pour that last drop of acid! The outcome is risky; the mixture might overflow in the beaker and create a mess, but it may just as well become something entirely new! Science is one of the best ways for the students of Saint Clair High School to release their inhibitions and reveal something wondrous.

SCIENCE



Don't Taste This Rainbow!

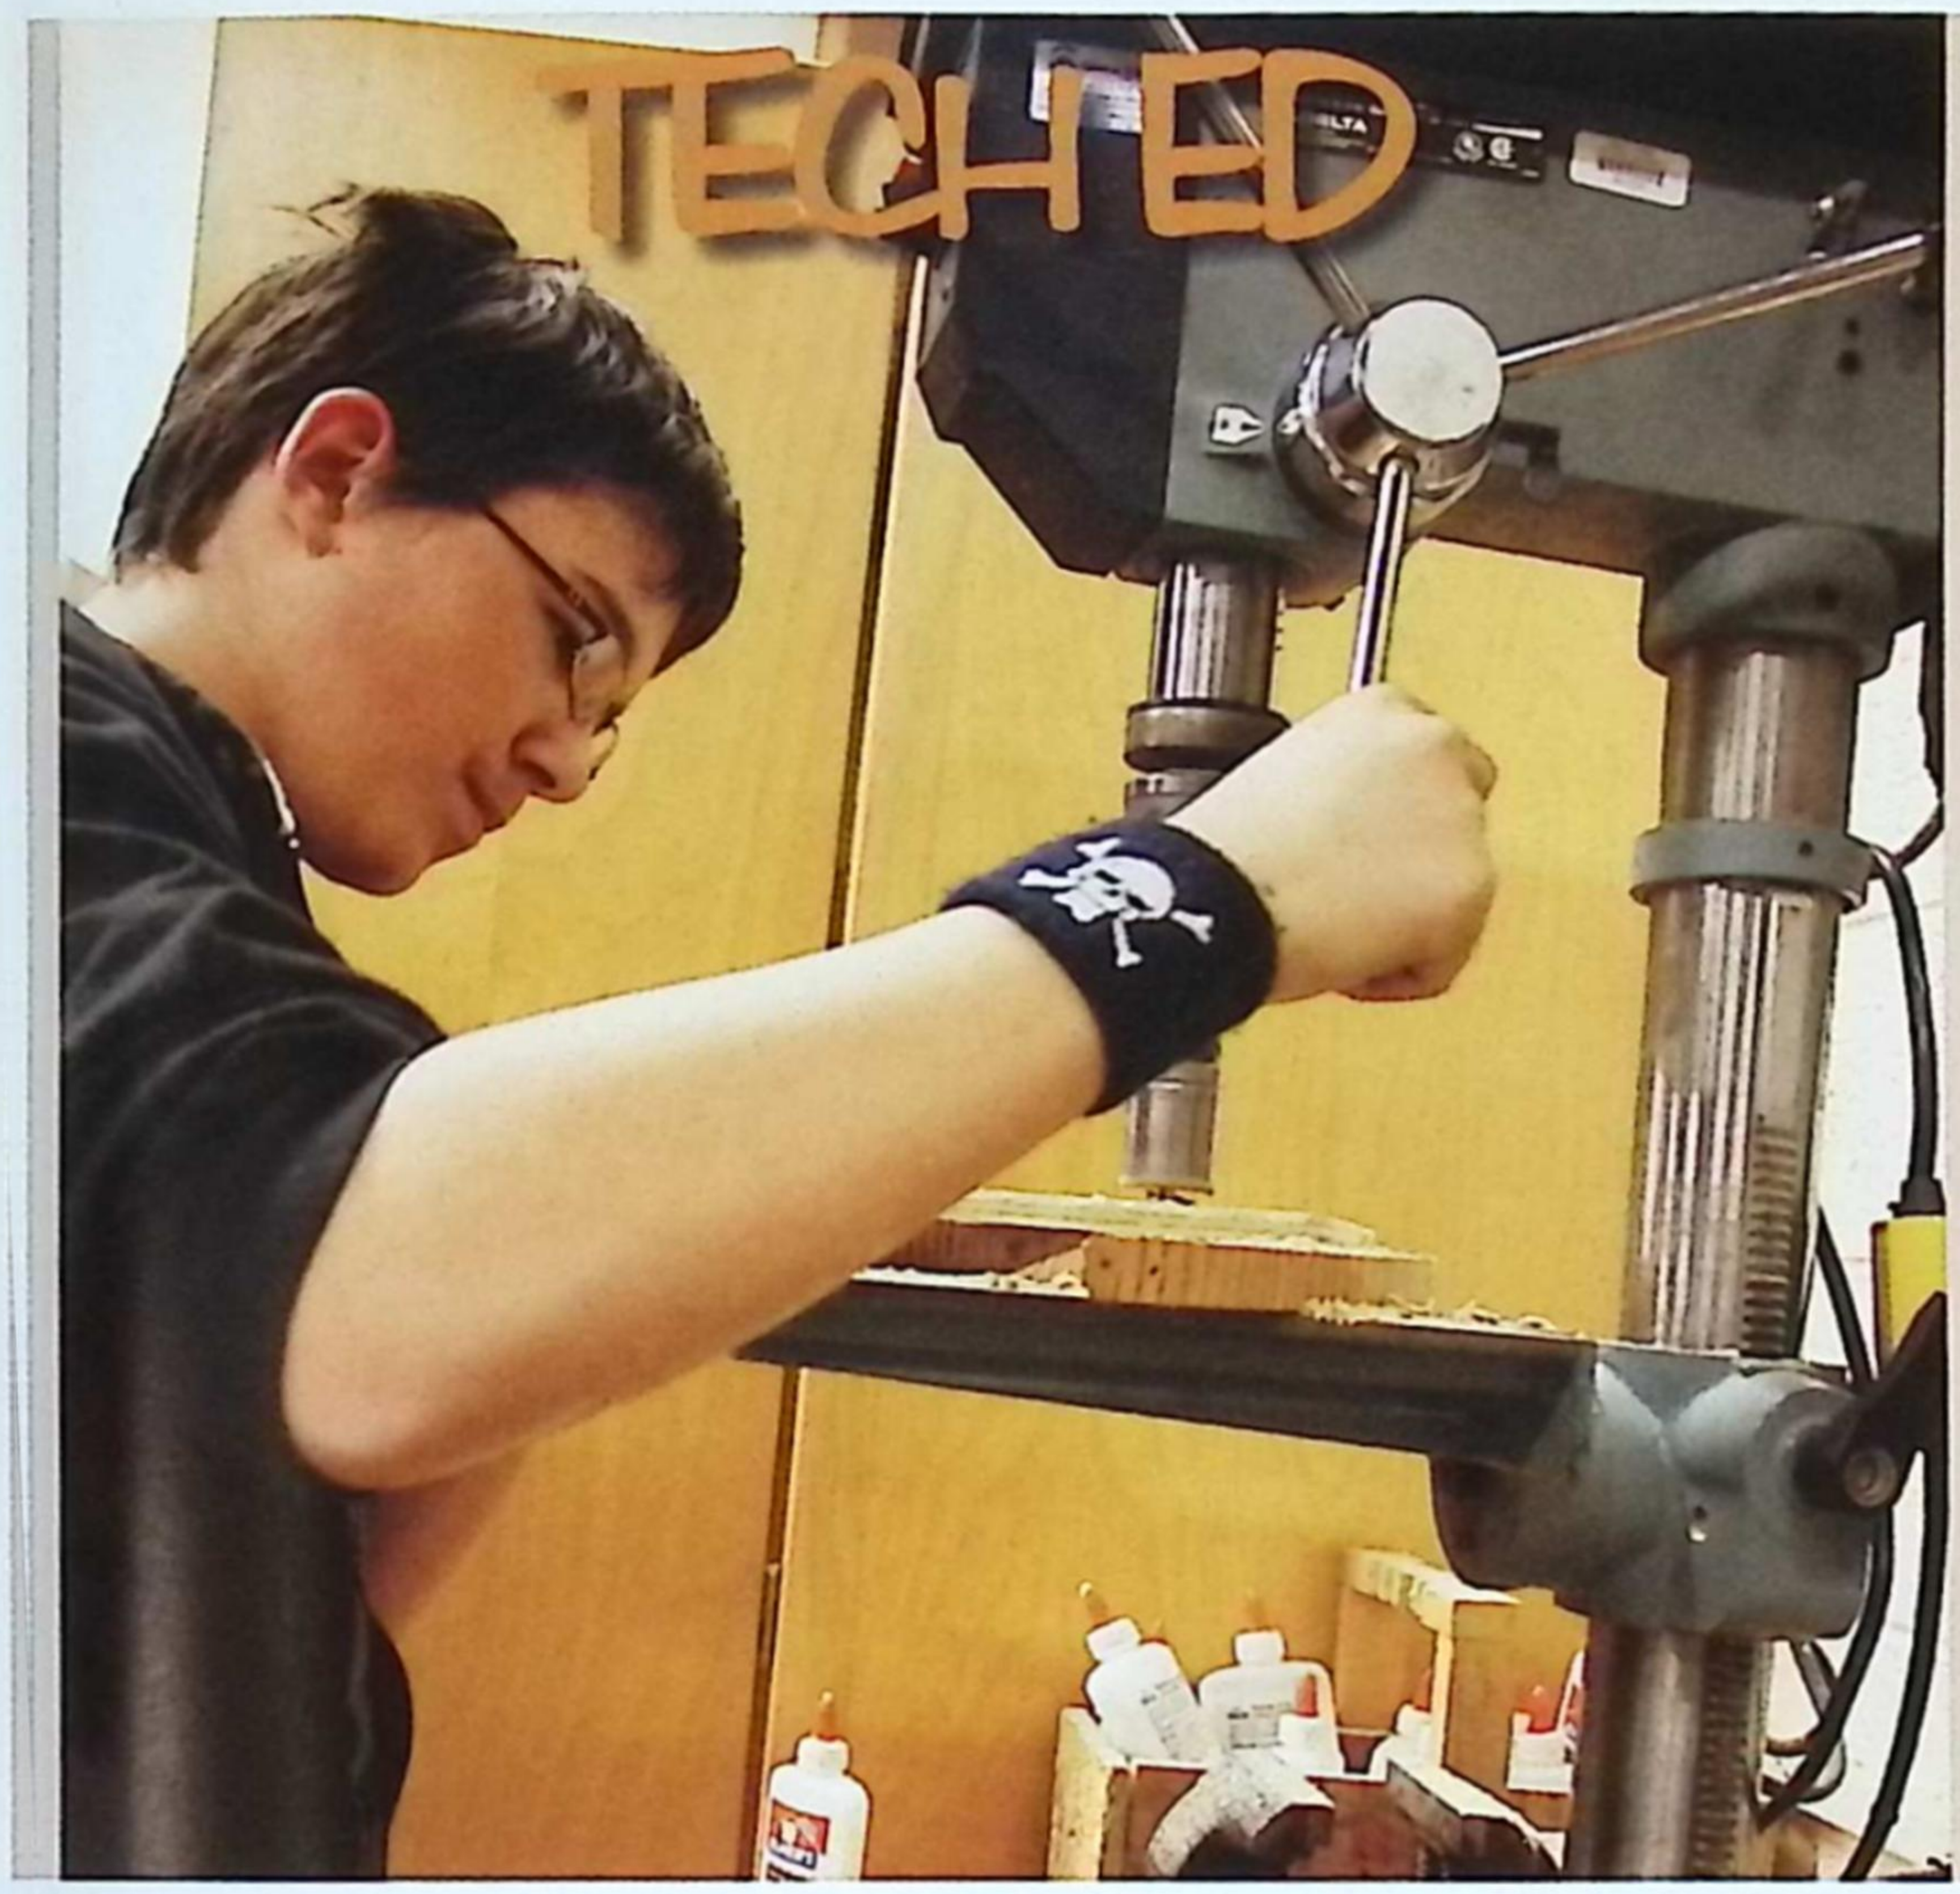
TECH ED



Can We Build It? Yes, We Can!

A wooden race car is a cinch. A birdhouse is effortless. Problem solving is no hardship for the ingenious students in the SCHS tech education class. Each day represents a new opportunity to brilliantly construct a masterpiece. The ambitious students never take their focus for granted, no matter the hustle and bustle going on beyond the classroom door. Each student has their own practical creation pictured in their mind, but the classroom is where the skills and handiness are developed to make it happen. Tech education is more than just a class; it's a challenge for each student to demonstrate the fulfilment of their innovation. Our tech education students' solid initiative is the number one factor that guarantees them a top spot on the ladder of success

ART

Pursuit of Imagination

There is no better way to express oneself than to put it into a work of art. There is a different meaning, a different feeling, and a different story behind each and every piece of art. For many students at Saint Clair High School, art class is the most treasured hour of the day. It is the time where they release their inhibitions, forget about the pressure and structure of the school day, and simply let their passion pour into their work. Creativity flows through their fingertips as they brush, stroke, and shade their way to a Michelangelo masterpiece. Each blank canvas gives the students another chance to express their ingenuity in a way that is all their own. Art class uncovers beauty that students did not even know they concealed. It fills the classroom with a harmony that brings out an inspiring pursuit of their unique excellence.

1. Carving out a clay masterpiece that is all her own, Carly McElreath ('11) remains flawlessly focused, oblivious of the chaos around her. 2. Taking a short break from his work of art, a drawing of the video game star, "Mario", Eric Hudolin ('12) stretches out his back as Brendan Buffa ('12) marvels at Eric's job well done. 3. Perfection is just around the corner from Sherry Li ('12) who is delicately drawing a picture of people holding hands around the world, which demonstrates the peace and love that she longs for. 4. With unfinished sketches, classic paintings, and eye catching magazine clippings strewn about the work table, it's a wonder how Mrs. Joseph's art students can find their own work. 5. Working with passion through the last hour of the day, Jordan Huffman ('10) blocks everything out but his sketch, as his music blasts through his headphones.

With the overall excitement of Winterfest at its peek, Kayla agreed to share her favorite parts of the festivities which occurred throughout the week. As games were played, and prizes were won, Kayla did not hesitate to admit that her favorite part of the five days were the popsicles. As the competitions continued, Kayla also stated that the game she liked the most was when each class was asked to make a body sculpture of Kraken, the monster from Pirates of the Caribbean. Even though the majority of the week went smoothly, Kayla felt as if it could have gone better. When asked about the activities, Kayla responded with, "We didn't really participate a lot during "spirit shorts" because there was a lack of instruction and time." With that said, she also felt that the theme was a really good idea, and was glad to be a part of recreating the 'life of a pirate.' Lastly, as the week quickly came to a conclusion, Kayla affirmed that she would definitely be attending the dance, because she "regretted not going last year, and sadly only has one more left after this."

A Pirate's Life For Me

It's that time of year again, where students dress in their most outrageous attire and fight for spirit points to the bitter end. Where every day consists of games, prizes, and laughter that will be remembered and cherished for a lifetime...yes, it is Winterfest week once again at St. Clair High. As the exceptional week begins, students are challenged with pirate trivia and ship building contests first thing Monday morning. Immediately following that, were events that brought the school a whole new identity. The hallways were filled with ship captains and dirty pirates longing for class points for their participation.

"The dance overall a bumpin' time. The music was without adoubt the best it's been in a while."
- E. Macker ('12)

By the time Wednesday rolled around, students felt as though they were capable of conquering whatever Student Council may throw at them. Little did they know, 5th hour would later consist of making an exact replica of the Pirates of the Caribbean octopus. Even though the grand finale, (the assembly,) was canceled under extremely sad circumstances; the students felt that this year was yet another successful Winterfest affair.

Ahoy Mateys!

Blimey, the Winterfest dance was shipshape! As you can probably tell by this pirate talk, the theme for this year's Winterfest dance was Pirates. As soon as students stepped into the gym, it was as if they stepped on to an actual pirate ship (minus the loud and exciting dance music). Most of the decorations were based on the famous movie, Pirates of the Caribbean. Also, some of the classic pirates, including Black Beard and Davey Jones, were inspirations for the dance theme.

> "I thought the decorations were amazing. The photograph area was really cool. By far the best decorations Ive seen since Ive been at this school."
>
> -A. Gauthier ('12)

One of the many positive changes of the dance's layout was the photo area in the back. This gave students a chance to pose as pirates, and capture the memory of the very special Winterfest night. It also gave them an opportunity to act a little silly and outrageous with their eye-patches and pirate hats.

MY MOMENT

"Umm...the Winterfest decorations were pretty awesome, but I would advise them to never put a pole in the middle of the dancefloor again ...unless they want everyone to see a striptease.

Other than that, I had fun hanging out with my senior friends at their last Winterfest dance. Also, I hope student council didn't want to keep all those pirate hats because I took one.

Overall, this Winterfest was one I will never forget, and I am glad I got to share it with my senior pals. I'm glad I got to be a part of one of their lasting memories from their senior year."

1. Following the tradition of dressing up silly for Winterfest, these students show their spirit through their cooky pirate outfits.
2. As a fairly new couple, Anson Pavlov ('11) and Anita Chitwood ('10) enjoy their first dance together.
3. With swords in hand, eye-patches on their faces, and hats on their heads, Josh Mead and Blake Biewer ('13) pose like dangerous pirates.
4. Having fun at the dance, Fred Duemling ('12) proudly dons his eye-patch.
5. Senior friends, Megan Burkhart, Cheyenne Womack, Leah Farina, and Kelli Macleod make the best of their last Winterfest dance.

"Dance, Dance!" How are your dancing skills?

"Dancing is my favorite sport. I took classes with a partner, so i was very prepared."
-T. Hastings ('13)

"Although I am certainly not a good dancer, I still had fun at Winterfest."

Snow or Shine: Where do you prefer to go in the winter?

"I like staying in Michigan with the snow, of course!"
-A. Buckley ('13)

"I would go somewhere warm so I could wear shorts and a t-shirt and play sports, like swimming and football."
-B. McDowell ('12)

"I prefer to stay in Michigan; you can go sledding."

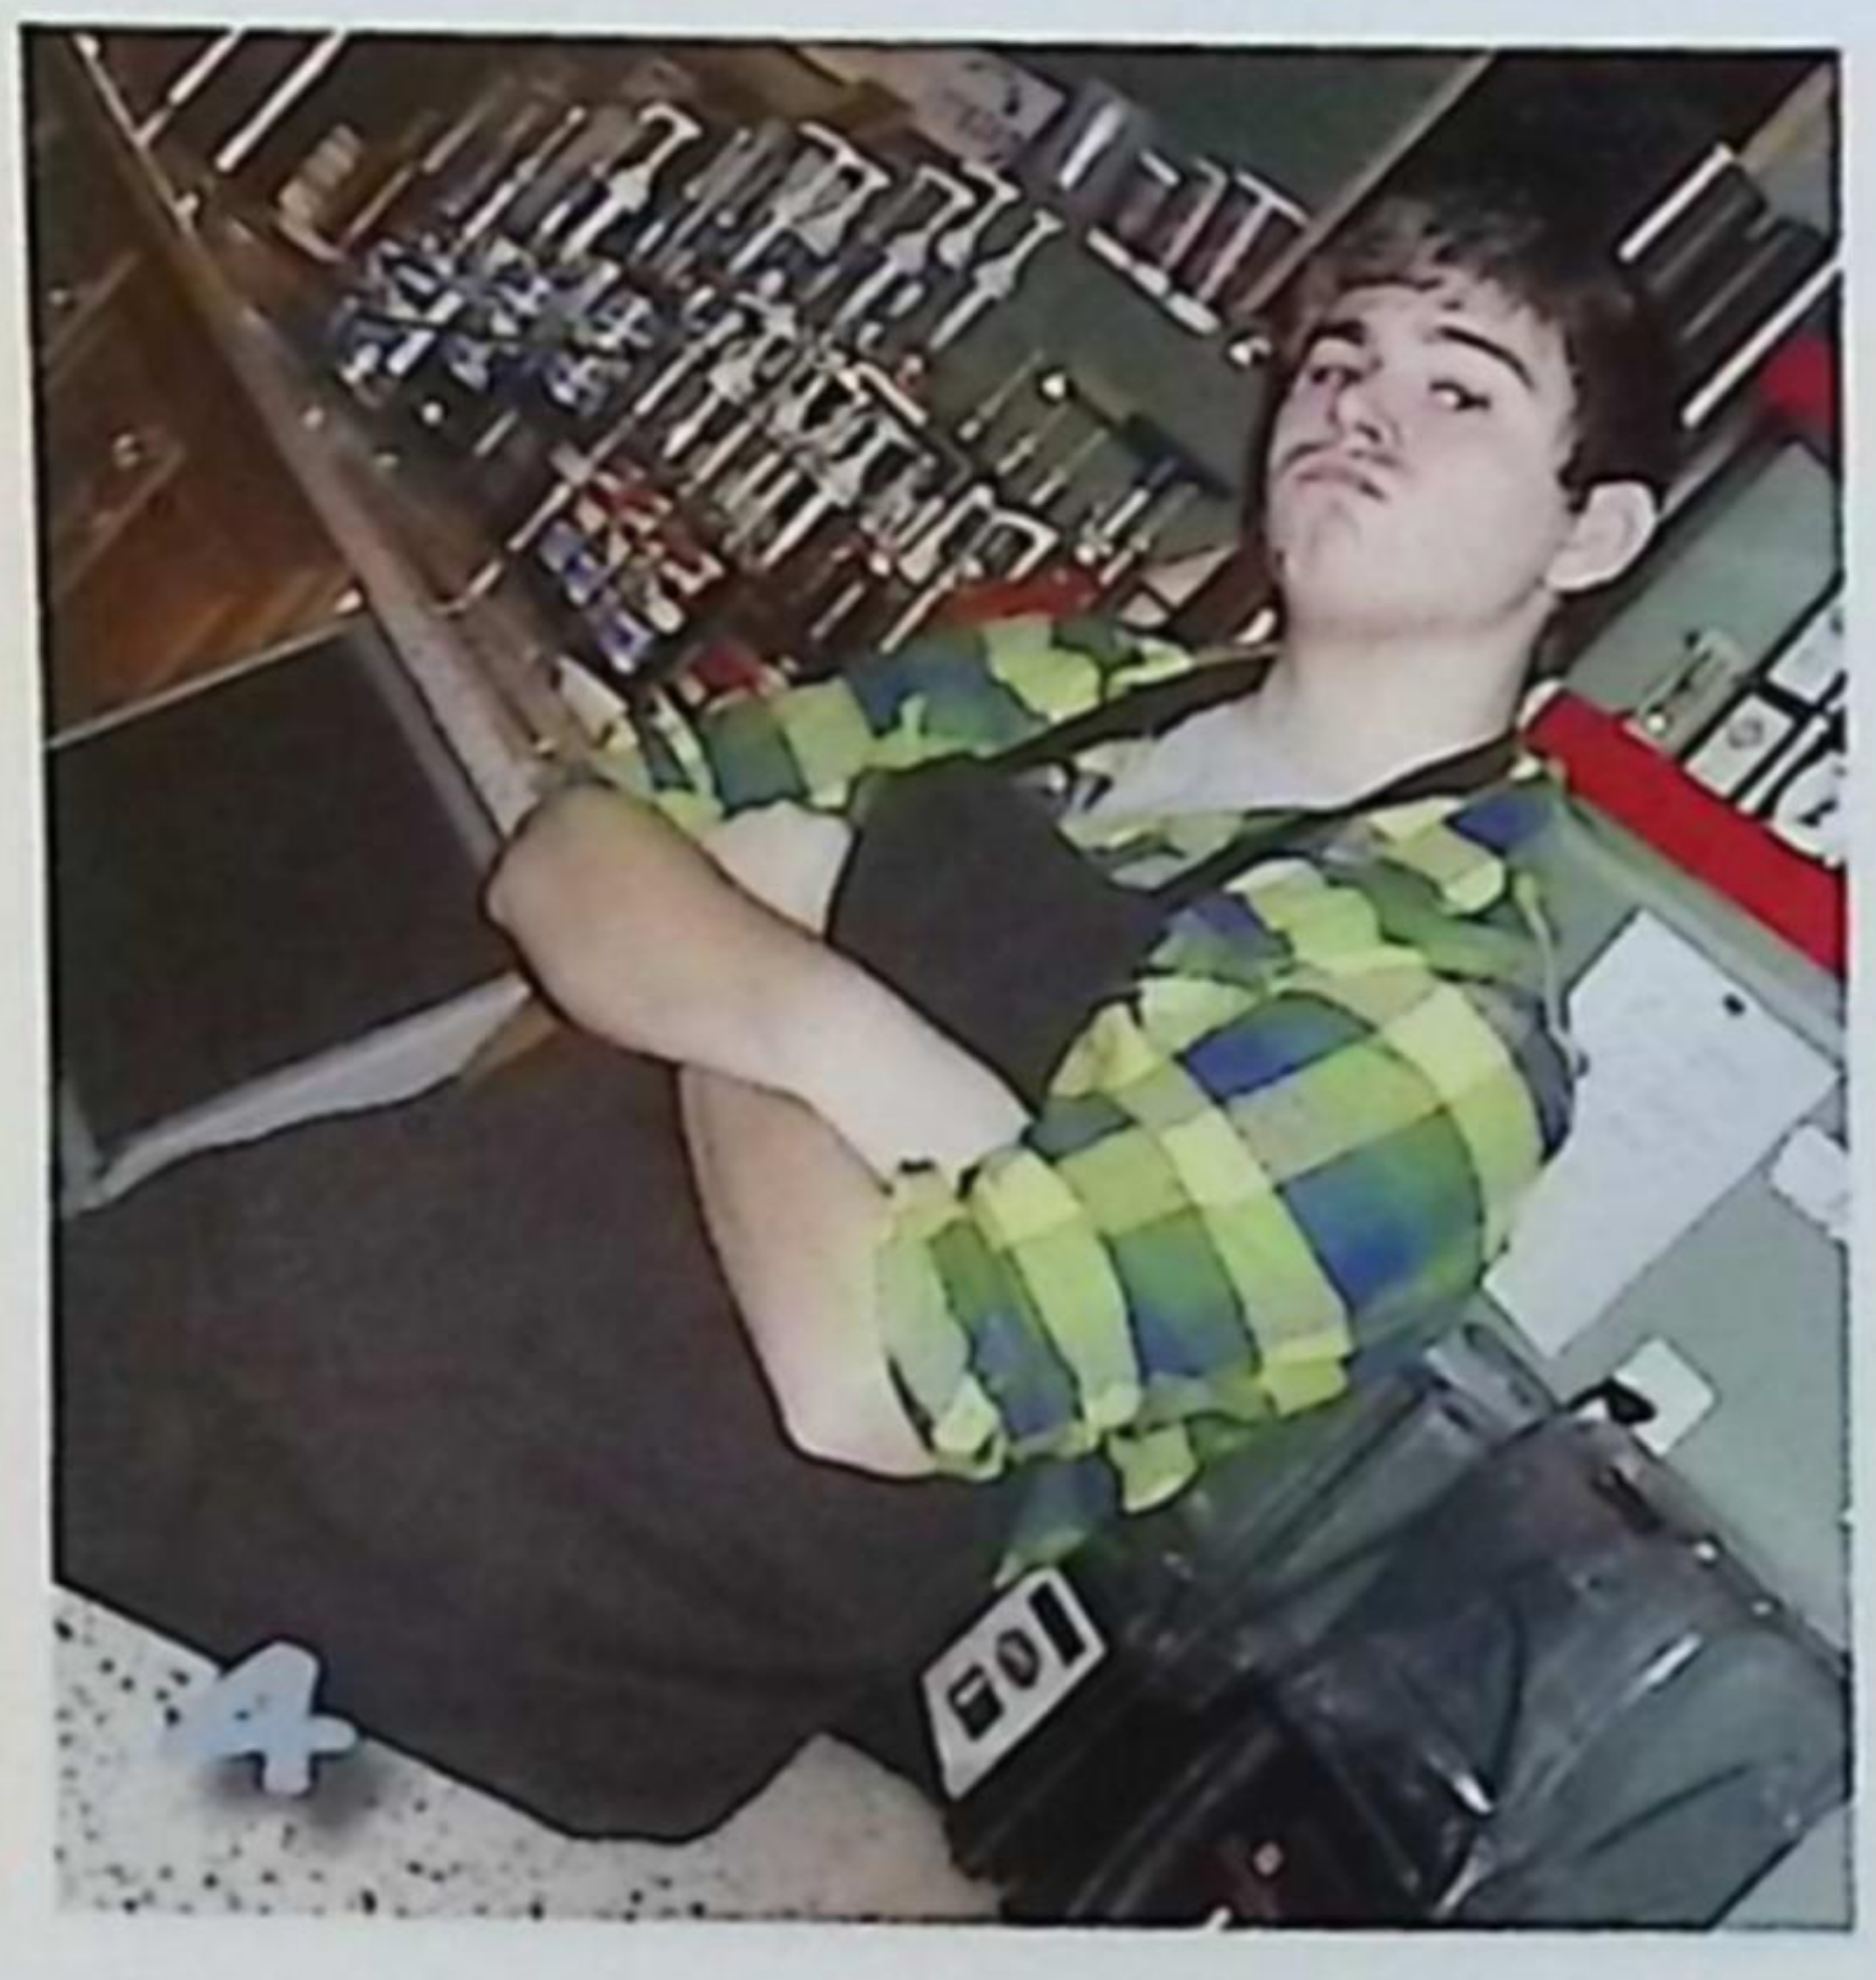
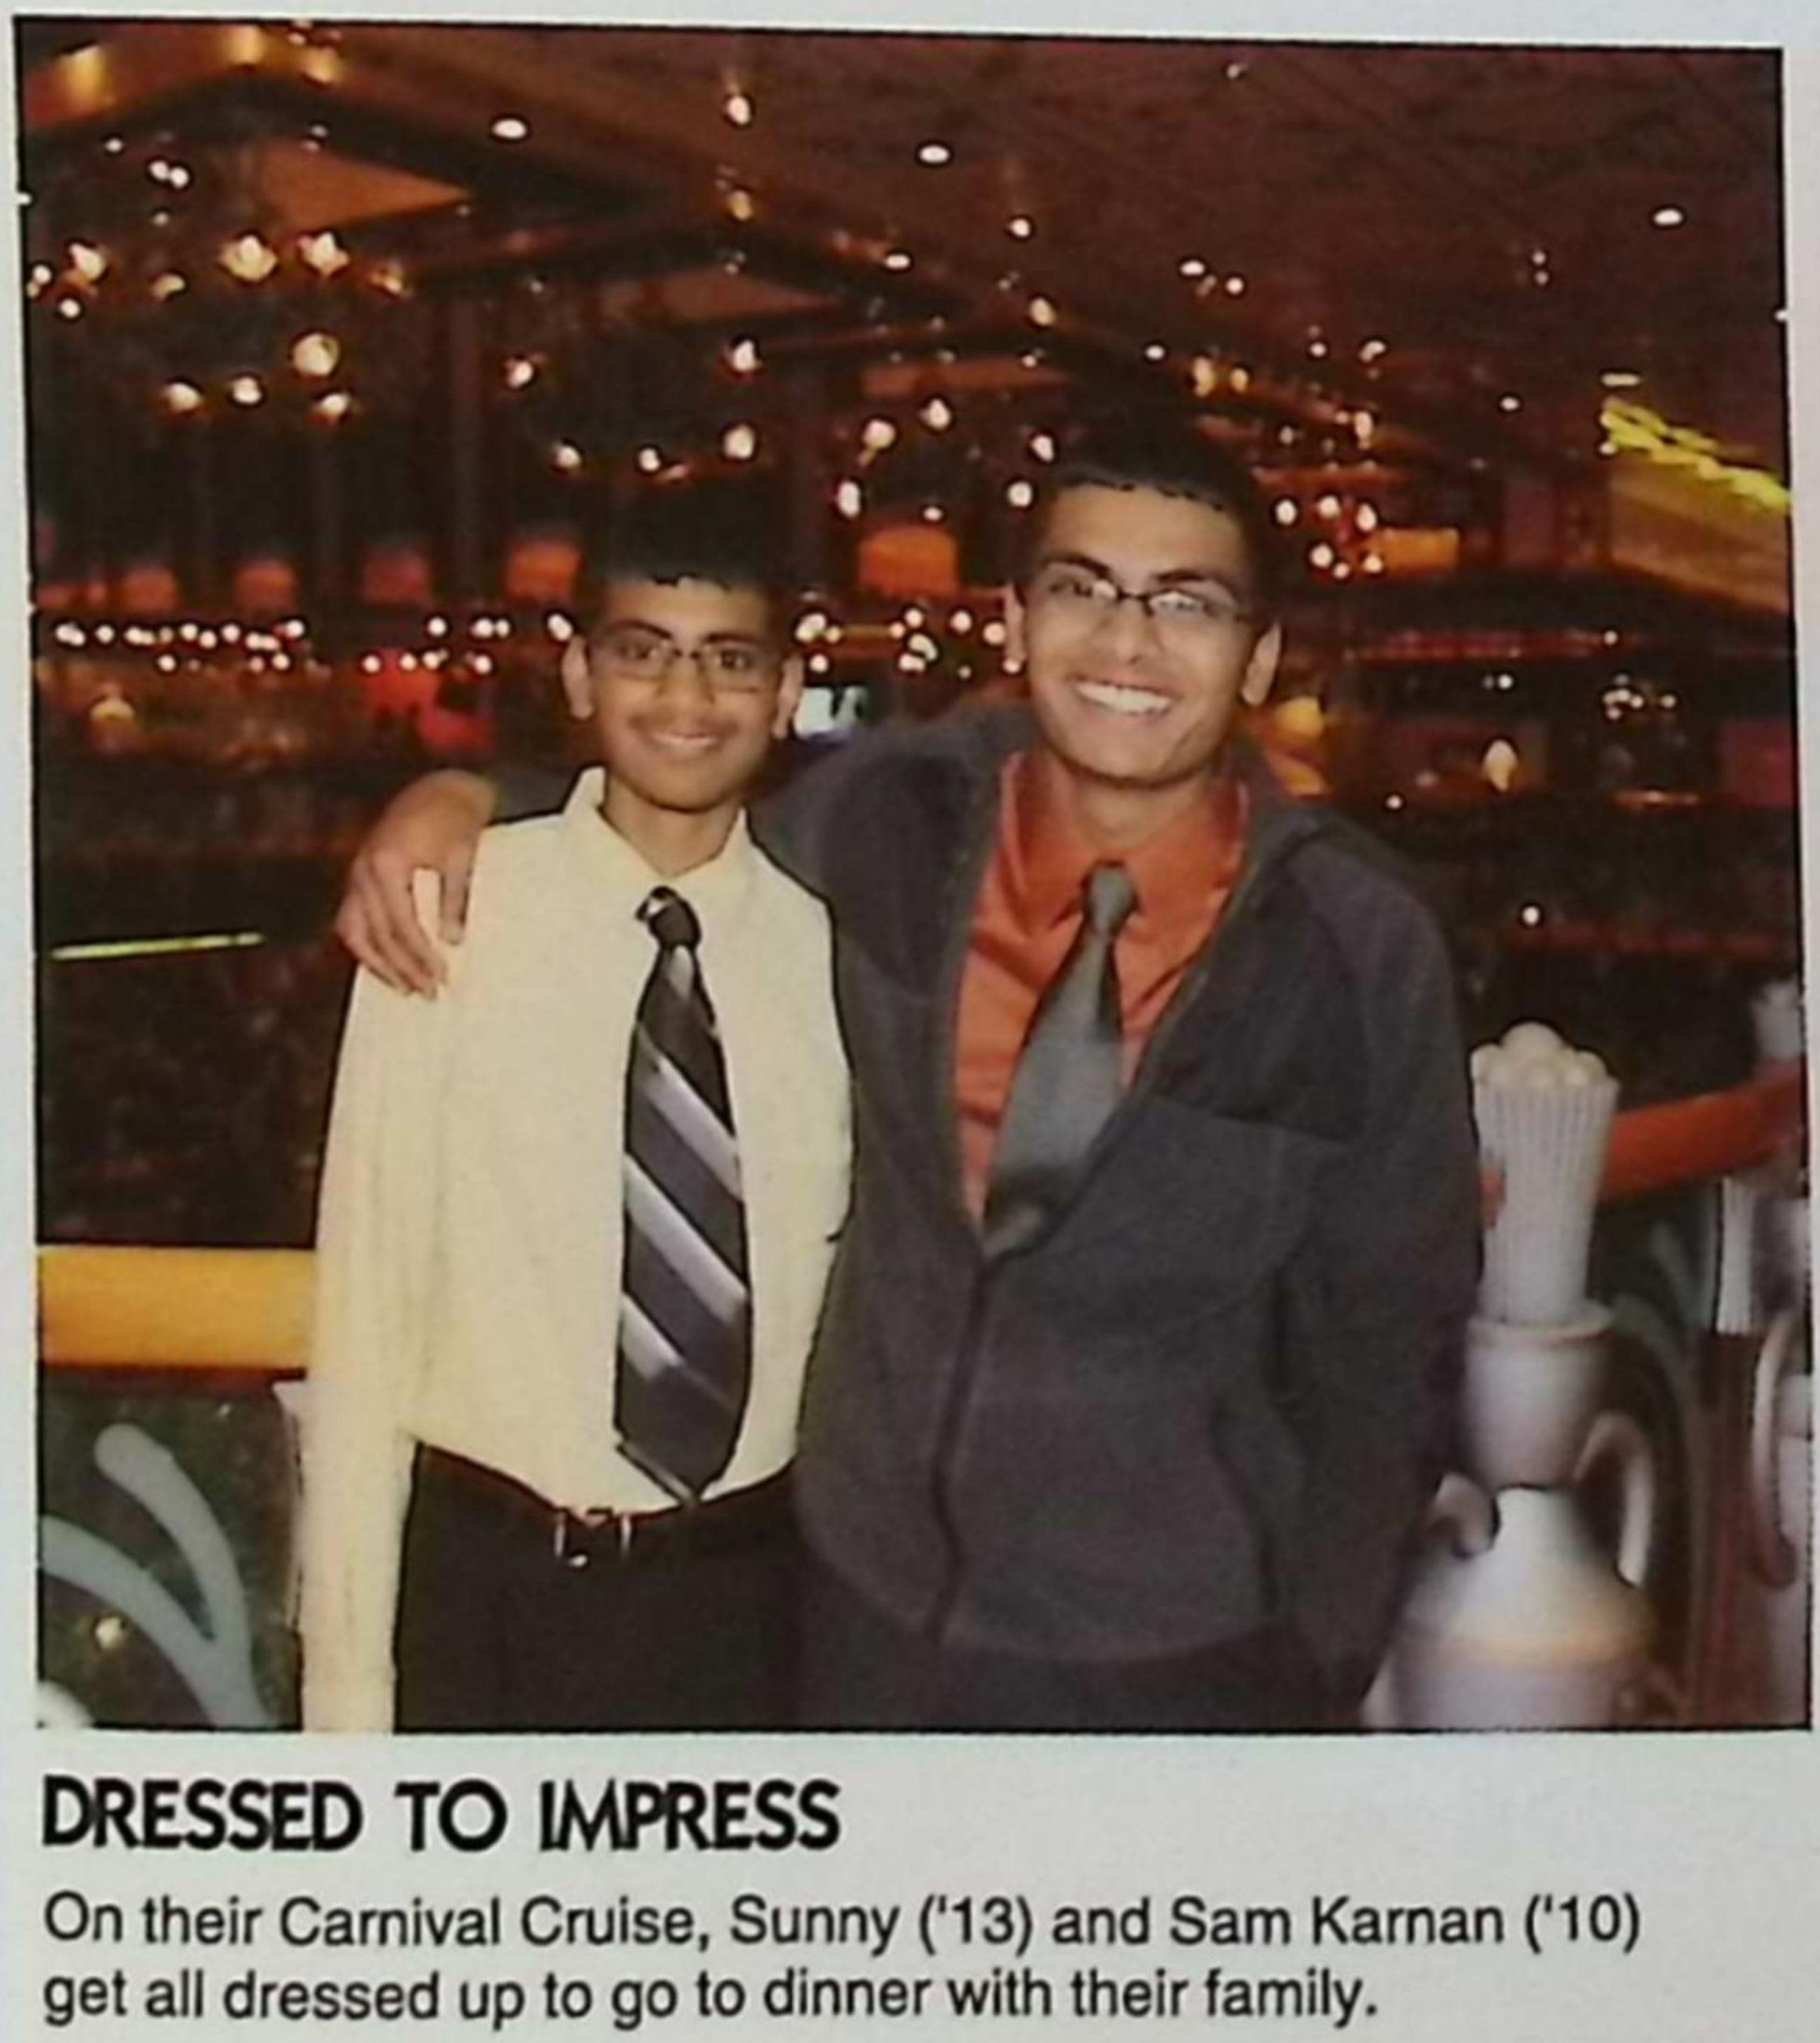
1. Good friends, Fred Duemling and Ian Wendt ('12), attend a Red Wing hockey game together over break.
2. During some down time during his shift at Sue's Coffee House, Jacob Wiseheart ('11) takes a break for a second before getting back to work.
3. After finishing their high-speed snow boarding, Bryan Riley and Connor Tierney ('12), stay at the bottom of the hill for a moment before heading back indoors.
4. After a staged skiing incident, Kathleen Duemling ('10), lays jokingly on the ground, showing off her sense of humor.
5. Sophomore girls, and good friends, Erica Schweihofer, Abby Schweihofer, and Jalynn Foster, celebrate the New Year together at a party.





DRESSED TO IMPRESS

On their Carnival Cruise, Sunny ('13) and Sam Karnan ('10) get all dressed up to go to dinner with their family.

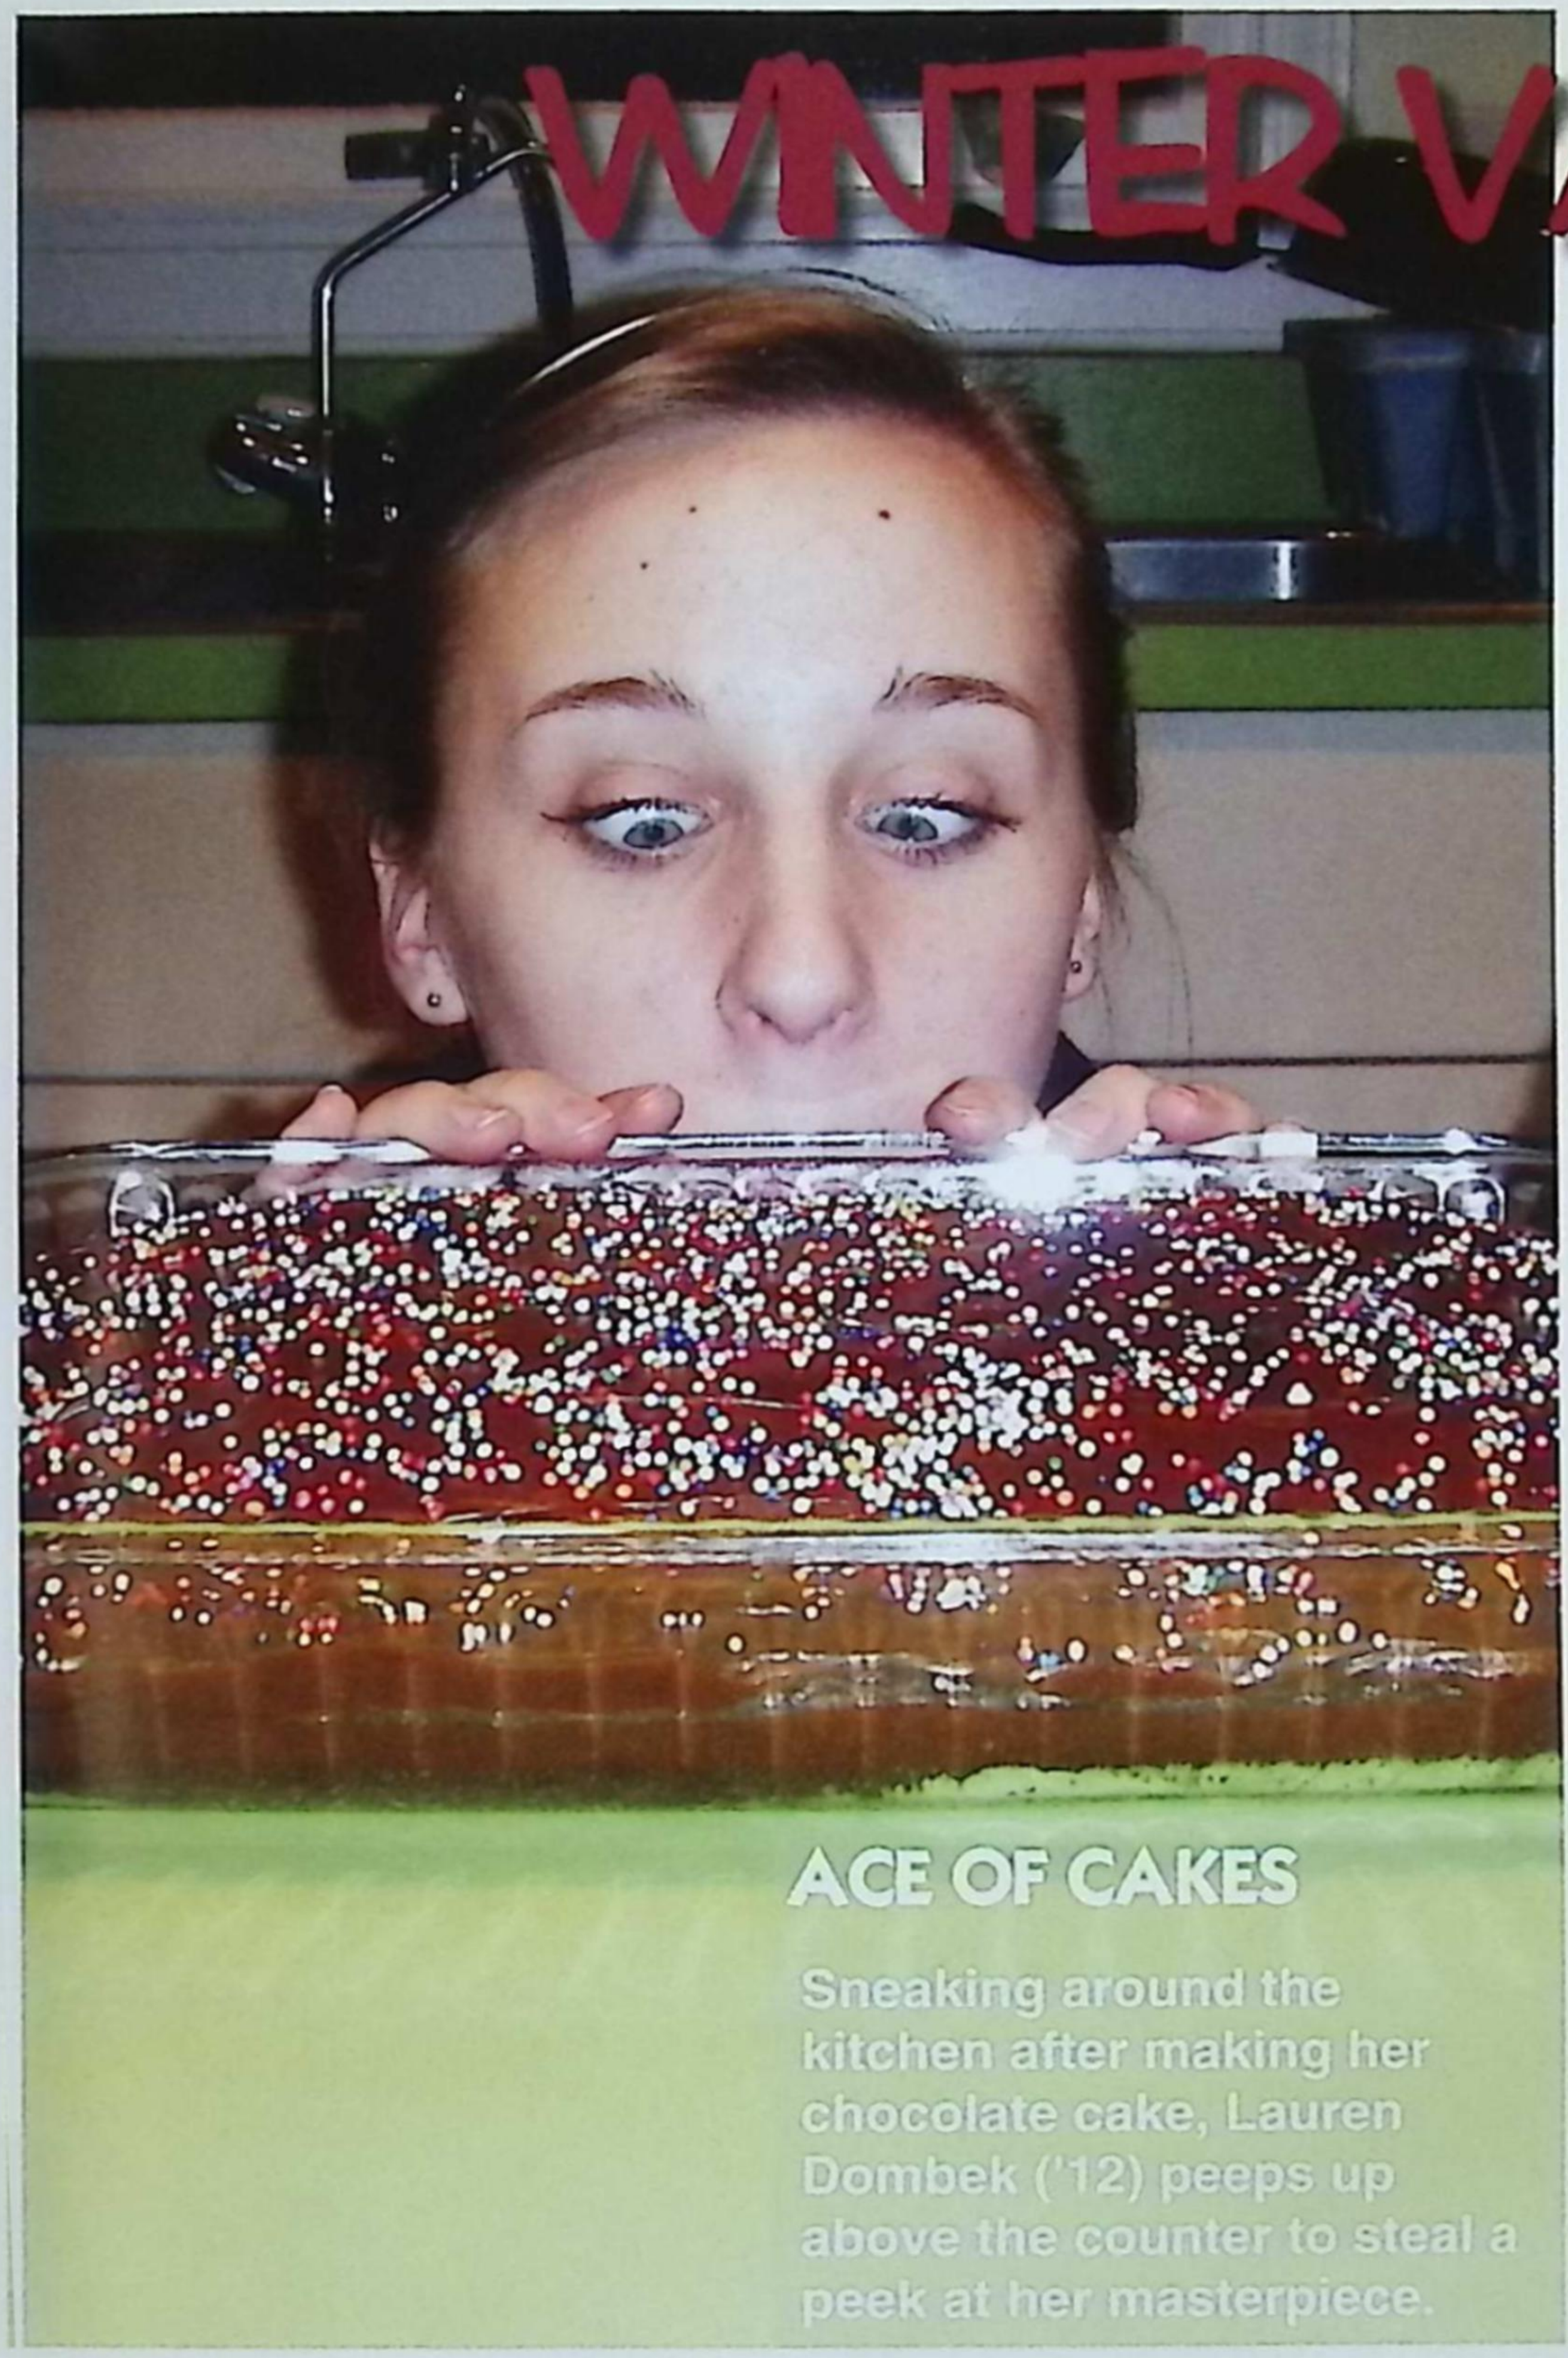
Junior girls, Bridget Dietlin, Erin Eberhard, Mallory Kammer, Kaitlyn Davis, Taylor Shrapnell, Kellie Heiden, and Loraine Carlsen pile onto the couch to countdown to the New Year.

WINTER VACATION



ACE OF CAKES

Sneaking around the kitchen after making her chocolate cake, Lauren Dombek ('12) peeps up above the counter to steal a peek at her masterpiece.

Winter Wonderland?

The typical activities over winter vacation are usually skiing, snowboarding, sledding, and even making snowmen. Do you notice a common theme between these four different activities? The common factor is simply... snow. Unfortunately though, almost the entire winter break was without any of the fluffy white stuff. Even waking up on Christmas morning was a disappointment when students looked out the window and there were absolutely no falling flakes.

"Sledding was one of the most amazing experiences in my life. I can't believe it took me 17 years to experience it. What really made it special was sledding down the first time with my twin James, and my triplet Connor. It was great!"

-M. Redmond ('10)

Some scientists believe that global warming could be the cause of this; we just think it's a curse. Either way, students were unable to enjoy all of the normal winter activities throughout break because of the theoretical excess of greenhouse gases. We can only hope that maybe next year's winter will be a winter wonderland, with inches and inches of snow, and endless opportunities to get outside and enjoy one of Michigan's best season..WINTER!

Libby Miller ('11)

MY MOMENT

"The story of the Nutcracker has absolutely no plot whatsoever, and I've performed in it so many times, I can practically do it in my sleep. Yet, even though it's been nearly thirteen years since it first inspired me to beg for ballet lessons, it still maintains the same magic. Ballet in general is really tough. It's a big commitment and it consumes pretty much all the time I have. I don't get to hang out with my school friends much and I can't be part of any other after school activities because I'm always dancing. It's also very hard to balance homework and other responsibilities, like getting a job or taking drivers training. It's also very competitive. Even within small local productions like Nutcracker, the audition process is an all out war for the spotlight.

Every year I always show up for school the following Monday exhausted, hair still stiff with leftover hairspray, and with tons of great stories about all the things that happen.

Contrary to what a lot of people believe, real ballerinas are far from pretty little snobs in pink. You have to be tough, and just a little bit crazy to really be serious about it. Like I've been trying to tell everyone since I was three, ballet is not just an after school activity; it's a life style, and (hopefully) a future career."

Bringin' The Heat

This past winter, SCHS has accomplished quite a bit. From overcoming false accusations to working through serious injuries, students involved in winter sports have learned a lot this past season.

The varsity cheer team had eight competitions, and although the team didn't come out on top, they always put their best effort forward. With mentalities like this, the cheer team for next year looks promising.

The varsity boys' basketball team was wrongly accused of racial slurs this past season. Instead of reacting negatively, this actually brought the team closer together. When they finally had their chance to prove the accusers incorrect, they did just that: they proved to the community that the team was full of respectful young men.

The JV and freshmen boys' basketball teams stood behind the varsity team in their time of need. In addition, the JV team finished with an impressive record of 10-2. The freshmen team finished the season with a record of 3-14. Through hard work and lots of willpower, the boys feel they are ready to move onto the next level of competition.

The boys' swim team also did well this past season. The team finished 5th at MAC, and had many key swimmers that helped them reach such success. With outstanding performances from Brett Hadwin (10), Jared Sheets (10), Hunter DuBay (10), and Marcus Cronce (11), who qualified for states, the team truly outdid themselves.

The girls' varsity basketball team may not have had a winning season this winter, but they did accumulate valuable knowledge. Through injuries and hard losses, the team became stronger and they are ready to take on the competition for years to come.

The freshmen and JV basketball teams also performed to the best of their abilities this past season. With hopes of moving onto the varsity level in the next couple years, the teams came together and put in countless hours perfecting their game. With such high hopes for the basketball future of SCHS, these girls were under a lot of pressure but just like true Saints, they never cracked.

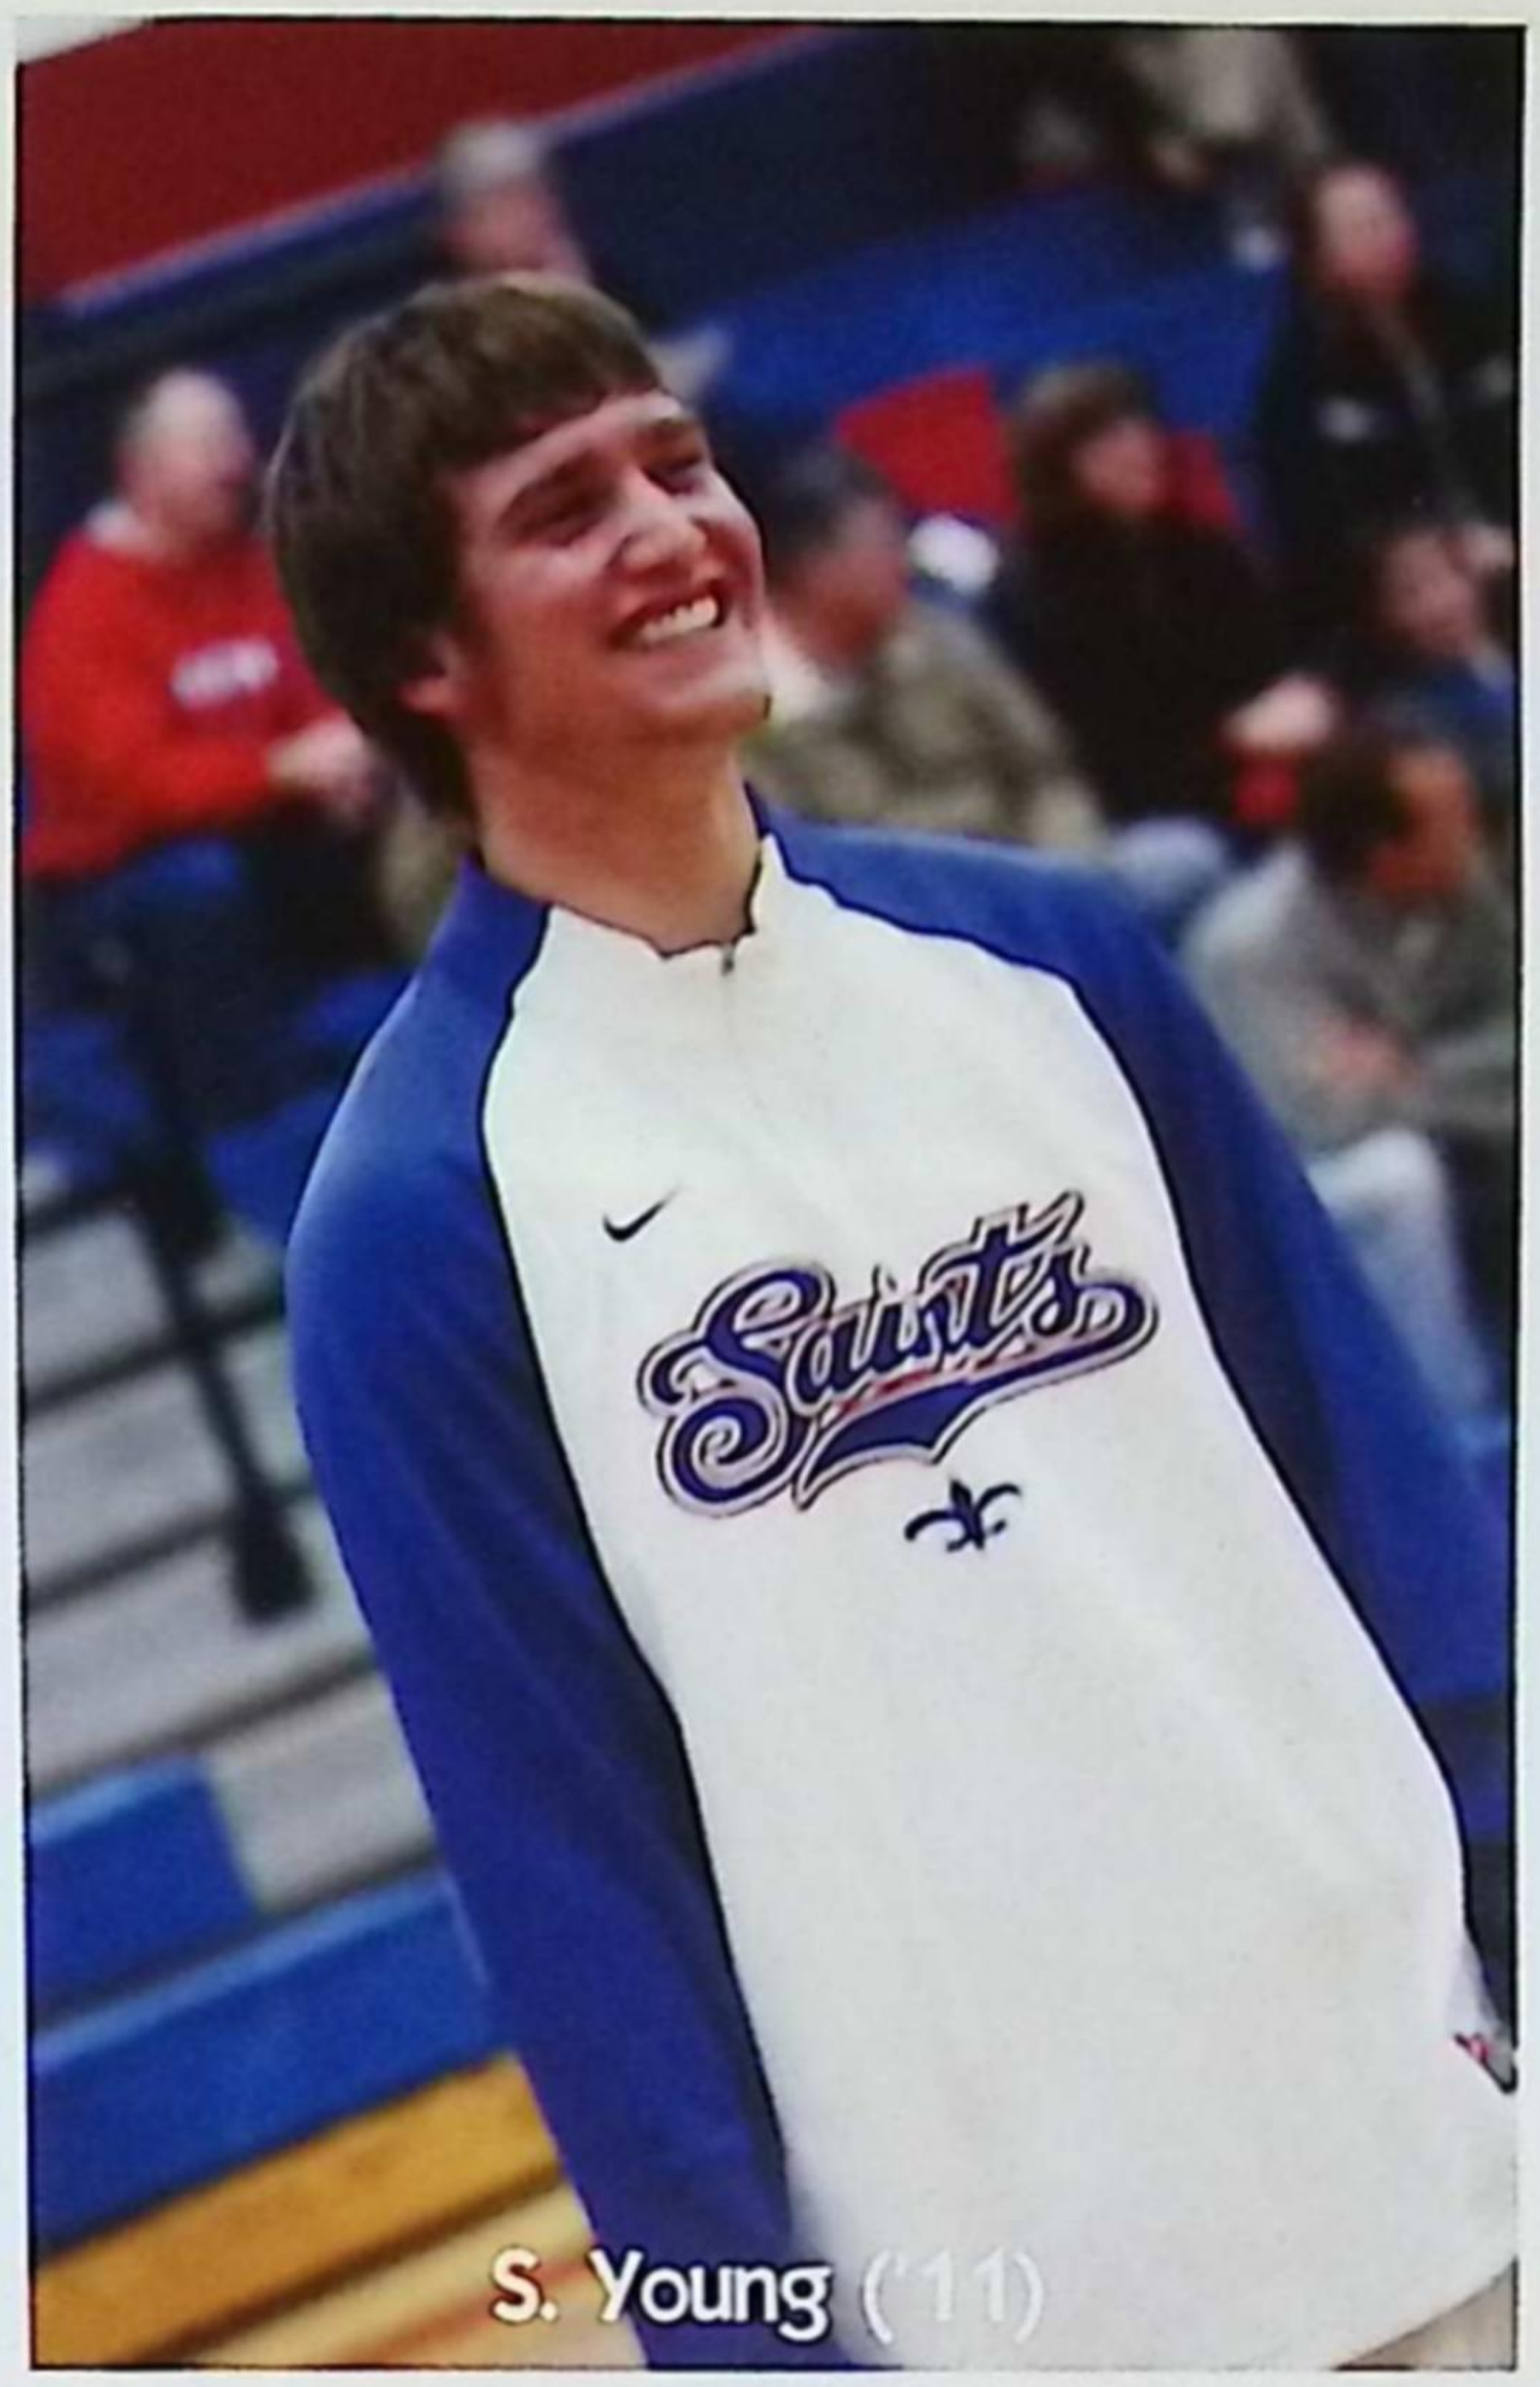
MY MOMENT

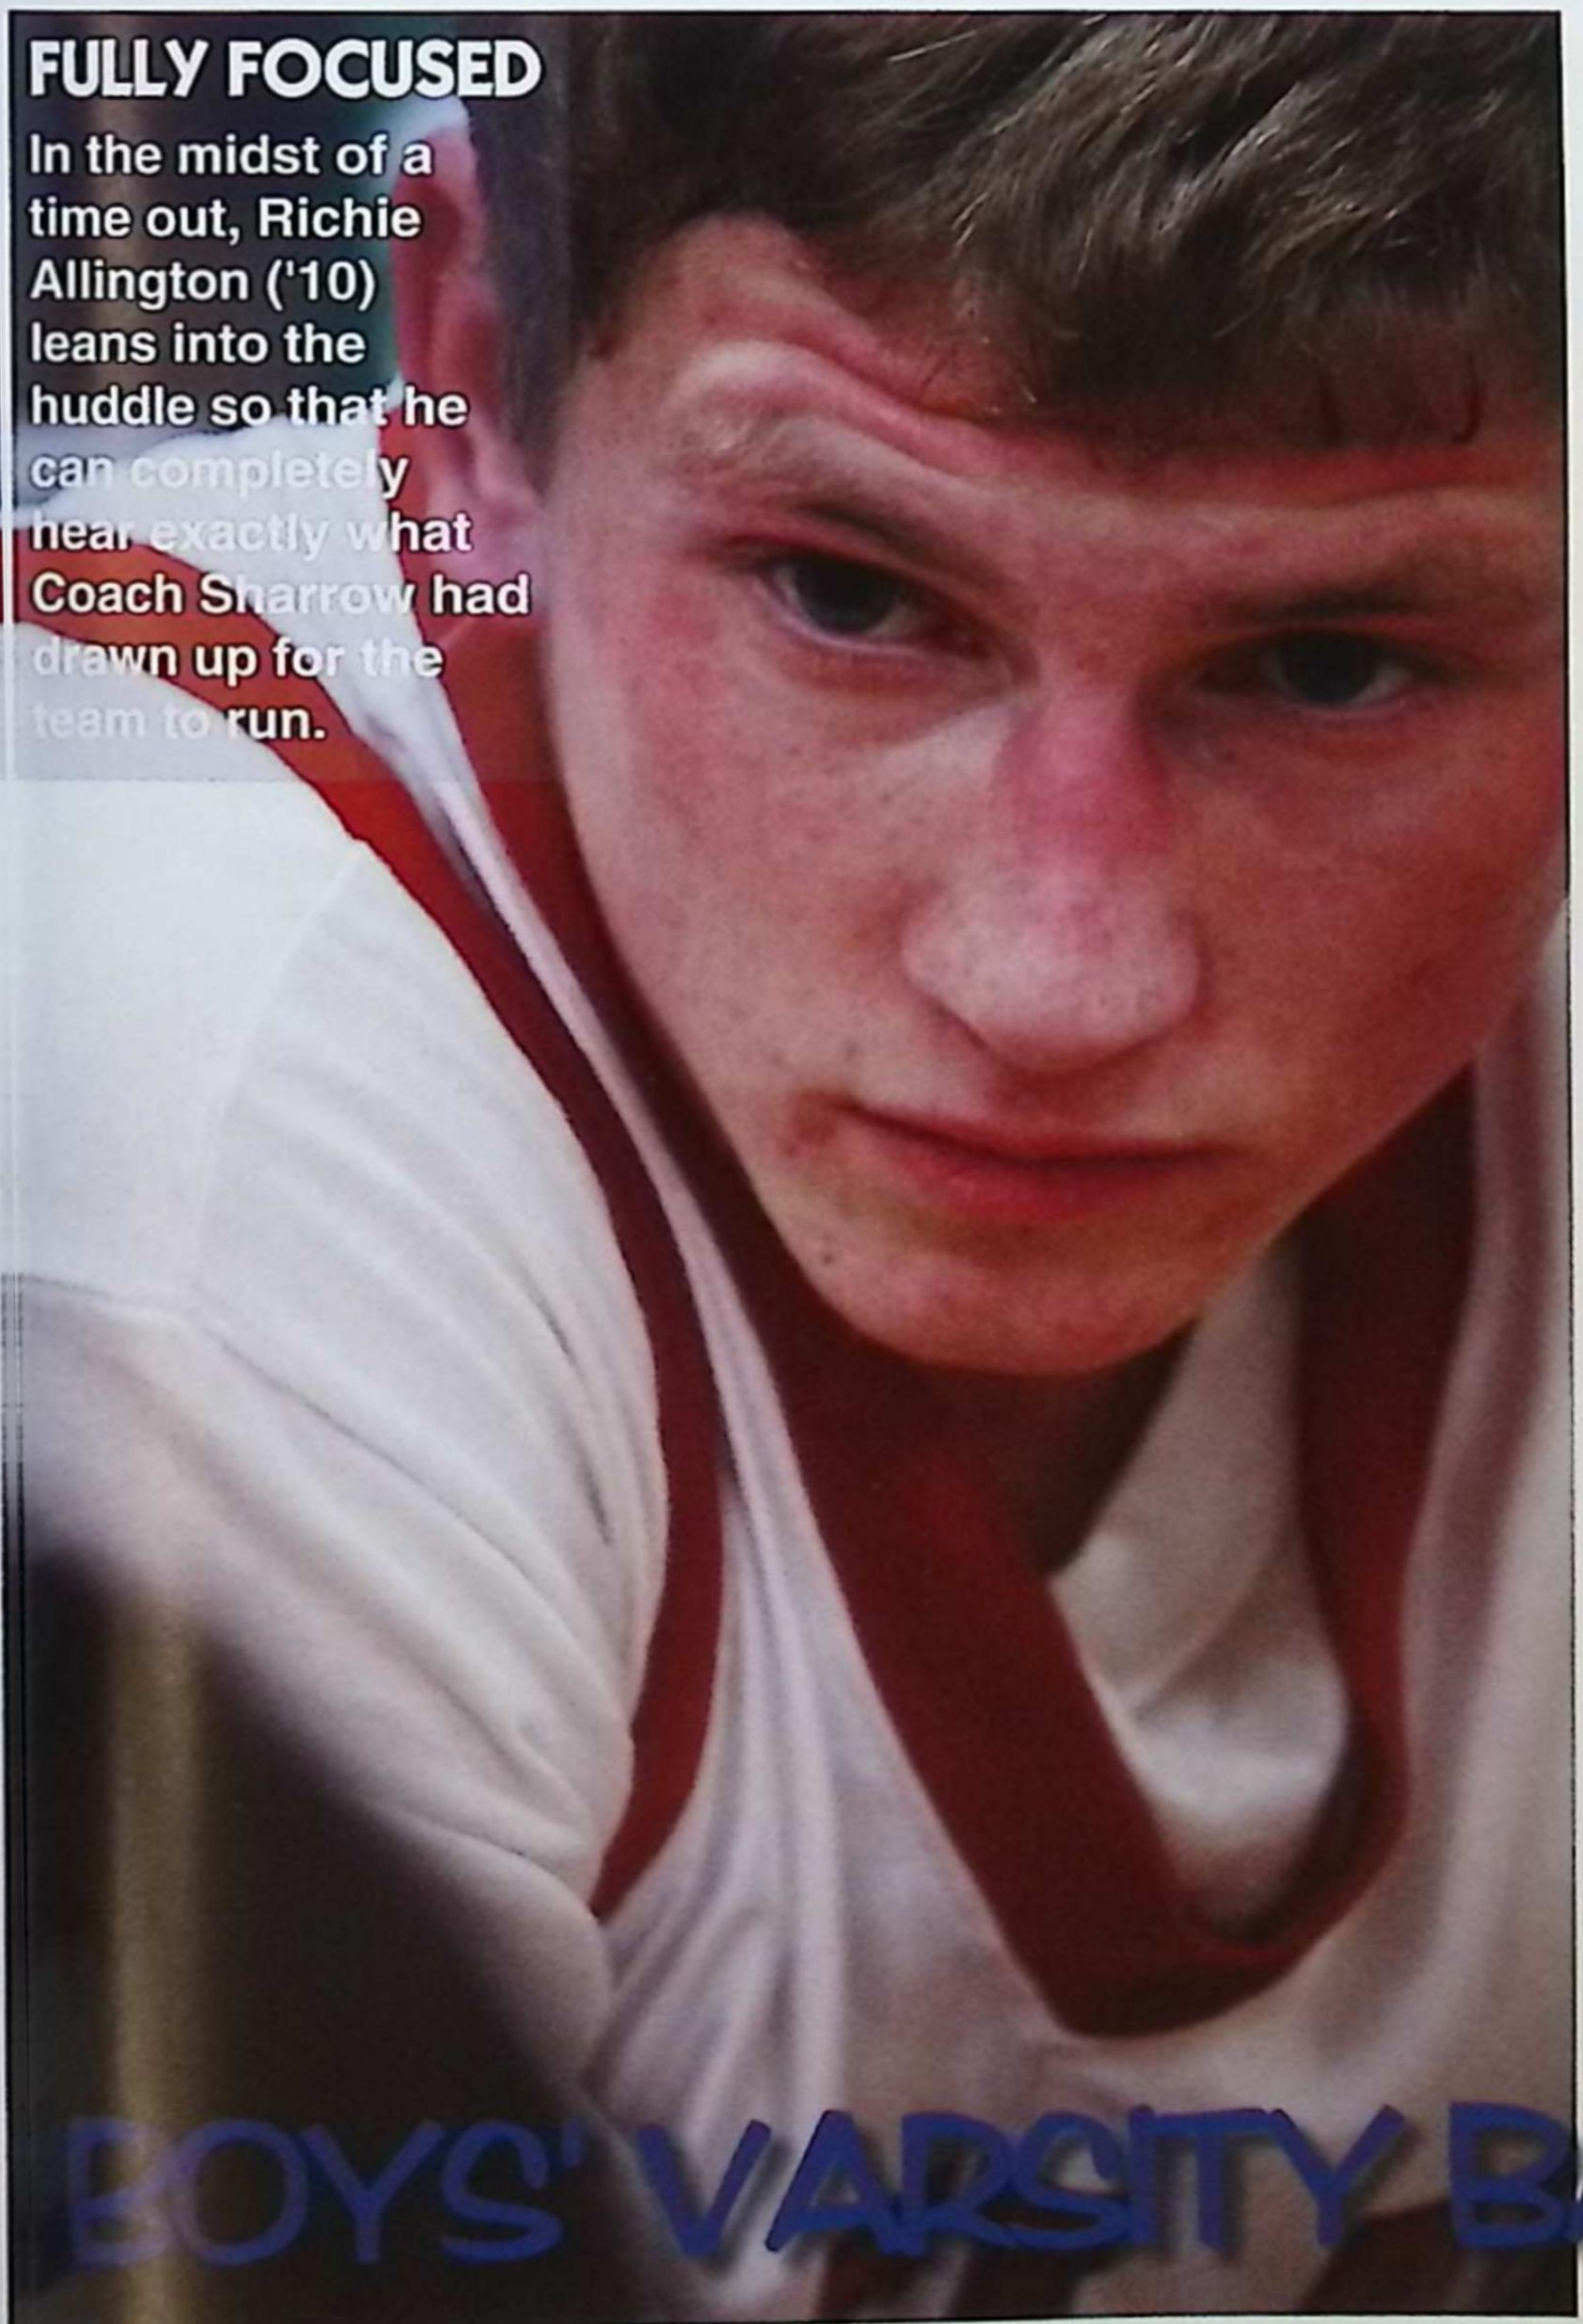
Z. Tanton ('10)

After a very eventful year, Zach Tanton ('10) explained just how much fun he really had. When asked a multitude of questions relating to highlights of the season, Zach kept referring back to the festive "Pink Halo" game. "My favorite game of this season was the Pink Halo game. It was for a good cause, and I had my Grandma's name on my jersey," "Also, it was an exciting game to play in because it went into double over-time." As well as being his favorite game of this year, Zach also felt that it was by far his finest. "My best game was the Pink Halo game. I had seventeen points. I also hit one three pointer and had a key tip to send the game into the second over-time." When asked who he enjoyed playing against the most, Zach needed no time to respond. "I am always eager to play against Marysville and Marine City because they are our rivals, and it's always interesting to play against them. I also like playing against Richmond because we always seem to have games that go into over-time." It didn't take very long for the uncontrollable memories to start rushing into Zach's mind as he was being interviewed. With one last thought to comment on, Zach had joyful tears in his eyes and said, "I know I'm going to miss how close we were as a team. Mostly all the jokes that we had at practice and everyone on the team in general… it was definitely a great year."

-Z. Tanton ('10)



S. Young ('11)



FULLY FOCUSED

In the midst of a time out, Richie Allington ('10) leans into the huddle so that he can completely hear exactly what Coach Sharrow had drawn up for the team to run.

"A Bogus Broadcast"

After making an appearance on a local news station, Coach Sharrow and his varsity boys had a lot to prove to the St. Clair community. This incredible group of boys were wrongfully accused of inappropriate behavior during a home basketball game one late January evening. Even though it seemed as if the damage was too much to recover from, the team knew they must come together, not just as a family, but as an unbreakable force.

"When I turned on the news and saw that a video of me was being shown I was just completely shocked and VERY confused" -S. Young (11)

Only 24 hours after the damaging news broadcast, the boys were back on the hardwood, working harder than ever before. "It was just a small step backwards for us this year. It was nothing that we couldn't pull through and handle as a team because we know we are not what they portray us to be," said senior, Connor Tierney. With the entire SCHS student body behind them, the varsity team held their heads high and proudly advanced onto districts.

One Step Left

One step away from the spotlight, the JV players are hard workers, always hoping for that day when at varsity try outs they'll be noticed and taken up to play at seven o'clock on Friday nights. Graduated from the freshmen team, they understand how to play good basketball, and are only reaching for their shot in the spotlight. Every practice and every game is a struggle towards recognition and improving in their craft, always reaching for perfection. After one season, they will try out for the varsity team and attempt to prove that they can play the game and play it well. Even so, these lofty dreams are only driving forces behind the boys as they do drill after drill, sweating in the gym, waiting for their chance for the spotlight.

FRESHMEN BOYS' BASKETBALL

Every Cloud Has a Silver Lining

Some would say that this year's freshmen basketball season was a failure, but others think it was almost a perfect season. As we have all heard before, it's not all about winning, and in this case, that saying proves to be true. Even though these boys didn't have the best all-around season, they have become closer as a team and are better prepared for a more successful season next year. No matter who you ask, all the boys agree that this season was a great learning experience and the boys improved a lot over the winter. Players like Josh Ranshaw and Jacob Ranshaw ('13) might not have enjoyed watching their team lose, but they both agree that they are much better players and have bonded with their team this year. So, just remember that you don't always have to win to gain something from your situation. "Life is only what you make it", definitely words that the freshmen lived by this season.

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

A Fresh Start

Starting the season off fresh was what the girls on the St. Clair varsity basketball team were looking forward to this year. They started the season off with a new coach, new teammates, and a new attitude. Both the athletes and the new coach, Anne Janssen, were excited about the season and a change in the program.

"When we work hard, we can achieve anything." -K. Liverance ('10)

The athletes worked as hard as ever to show the new coach what St. Clair basketball was made of. They put in long hours at practice, working on their game. Although they didn't have a winning season, all their hard work paid off when they beat their highest ranked competitors, Warren Woods Tower, in a hard fought game. Beating Warren Woods Tower boosted the moral of the whole team, putting a little "fuel in their fire." The athletes continued to work hard, dropping their game to Richmond in the first round of districts. Although the team didn't continue on, they had an awesome season, playing hard, working together, building as a team, building as a program, and growing as athletes and individuals.

HUDDLE UP

During a time out, the girls take a moment to listen to their coach's father, Mr. Shaw, on what he sees while they are on the floor. After a few pointers on how to improve, they re-group, make a game plan, and head back onto the court.

K. Liverance ('10) A. Bernardi ('10)

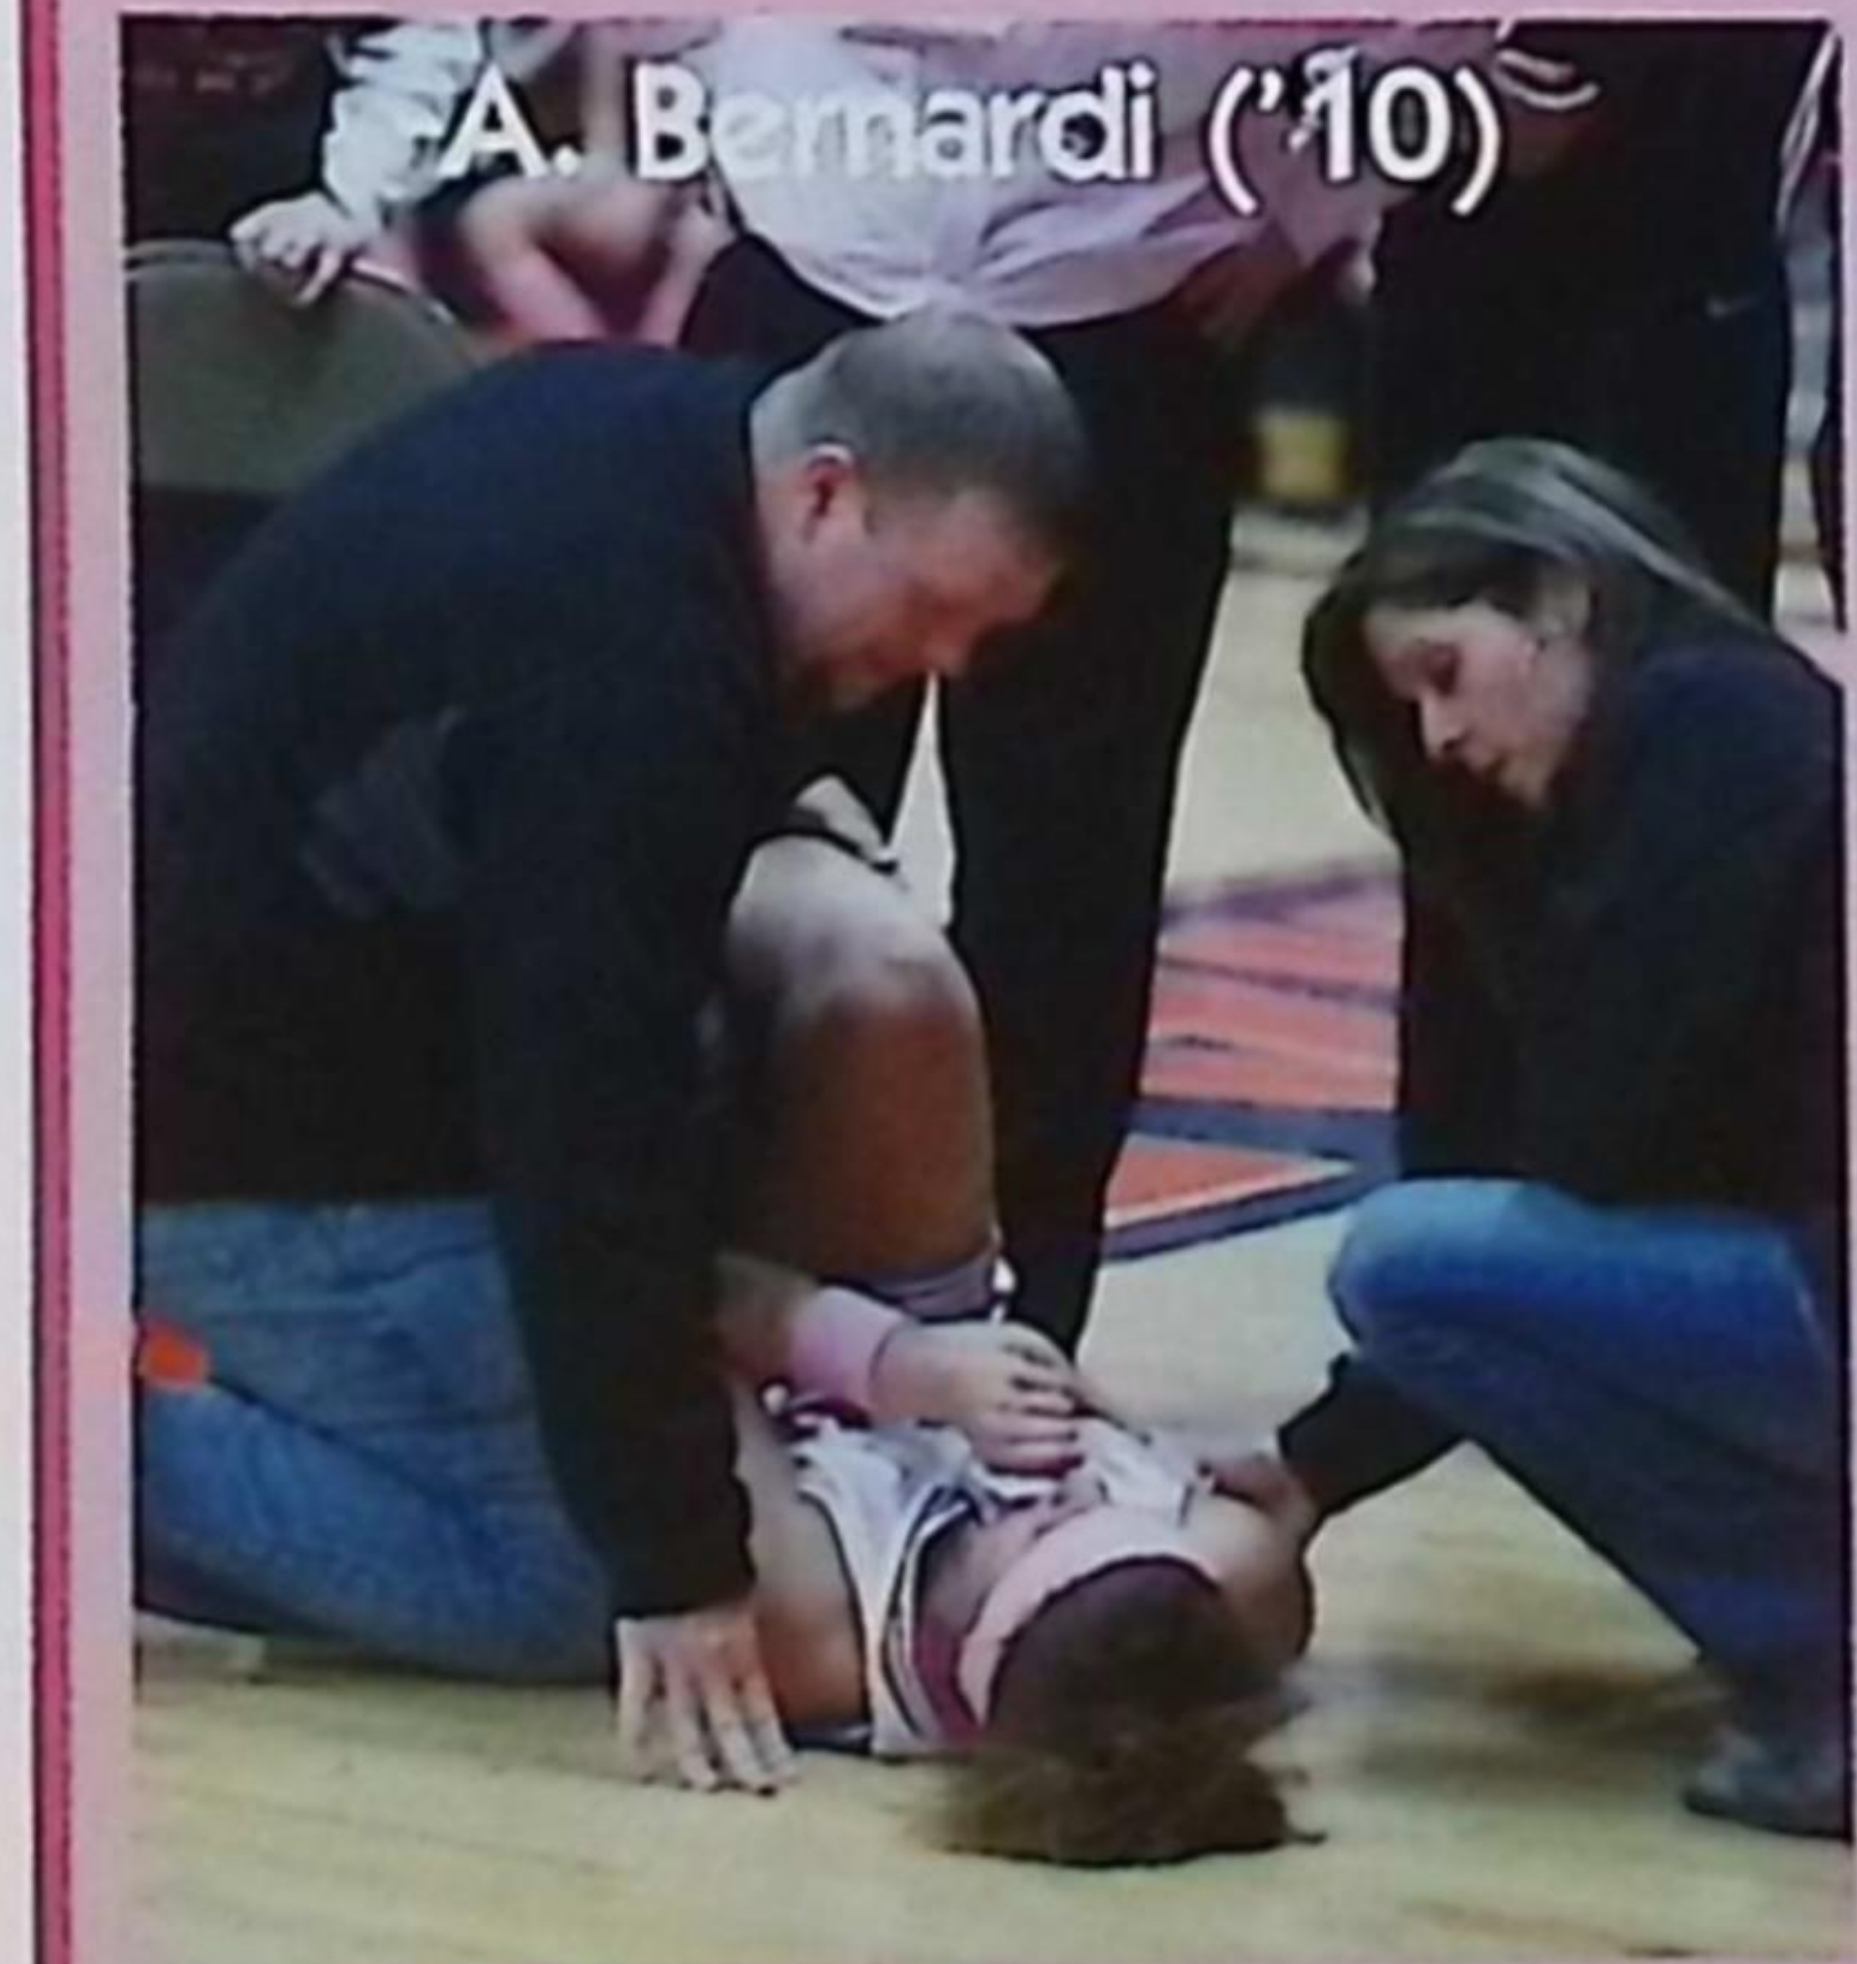
MY MOMENT



A. Bernardi ('10)

Every athlete's worst nightmare is getting hurt. During the "Pink Halo" fundraising event, this became a reality for Alex Bernardi ('10). While going up for a open lay-up, something happened in her knee: she heard a pop, and then her entire knee just gave out. After she had a moment to register what had happened, she became very scared because she knew she had hurt her knee badly. Knees are enemies for athletes everywhere, and unfortunately,

Alex was no exception. Although she knew she had hurt her knee, she wasn't in any pain, convincing herself that she was going to be okay. Unfortunately, this wasn't the case. She soon discovered she had torn her ACL, and was going to need surgery to repair it.

Despite her injury, Alex is going to play basketball at Washington and Jefferson College, just outside of Pittsburgh next year. Thankfully, her injury has not affected this plan. Although it doesn't affect her college plans, it was devastating to sit out the rest of her senior basketball and softball season. "At one point I felt there was nothing else in life for me to do. But, now I realize it was just a step back for me, and this was only going to make me stronger!"

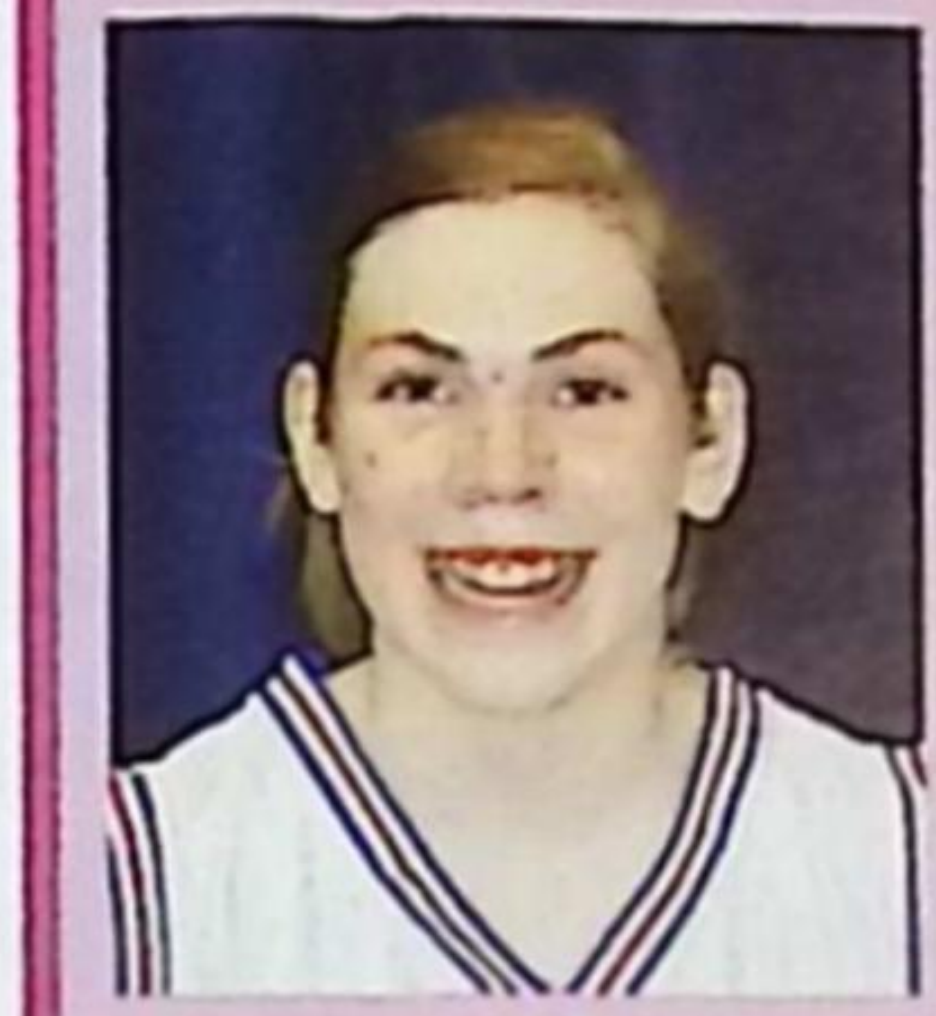
What motivates you during a tough game?

"The crowd cheering and every single player being fully into the game."
-B. Schmid ('10)



"Knowing that we get better every single day and that every tough game or practice is what makes us stronger as a team or even as an individual."
-R. Kehoe ('12)

"If you're on the bench, in those tight games, your mind is just waiting to make sure they do the right thing. It's really hard to sit still."
-A. Bondy ('11)

"I just think about how everyone has hard times and I just need to keep on trying and shooting until I'm in the game and scoring points."

Dream, Aspire, Achieve

When they stepped on the court for the first time, the junior varsity girls' basketbal team had no idea what was in store for them. Led by the legendary Coach Shaw, they shed sweat and tears, but that is what they had to do to secure their wins. They had a solid team, but the standout leaders were Becca Ingles and Kelsey Kerin ('12). This group of talented, female athletes poured their hearts into every game, no matter what the score. One of the season's highlights was the 48-38 victory over their tough competition, Cardinal Mooney Catholic. Overal the girls ended the season with room for improvement, but full of pride.

Getting Back

After an effortless three point shot, Brittany Schweiger ('12) hustles to the opposite end of the court to play defense against Davis Junior High School.

Dribble, Shoot, Rebound

Hours of running, dribbling, shooting, and rebounding put the numbers on the board for the freshmen basketball team. The near misses, blocked shots, and irksome steals made the slight difference in wins and losses for this devoted team. There were many times when the ball fell in their favor and the girls had attitudes that couldn't be brought down. This group of girls will return next year for a JV season that is sure to be successful. The 2009 season started with a positive attitude and a win against Davis Junior High and ended with a fantastic final game against Port Huron Northern. Overall the team ended the year 3-13, and with this strong group of girls moving up from the freshmen squad next year looks very promising.

Fluent Hockey

Have you ever been to a game where you felt like you were in a foreign country? Maybe a football game and didn't understand the calls? Or even basketball games, where they scream words you've never heard? It almost seems like they're speaking a different language. Hockey is no different. From off-sides calls, to ' ice it', or even terms like an empty net goal could be confusing. Luckily, hockey is an easy language to learn. There are four major positions; center, defense, wing, and goalie. Wings and centers can also be called forwards. Cross checking is hitting another player with your stick intentionally when the stick is not on the ice. Finally, a ' dead puck' is a puck that is no longer in play. This could be because it's been caught by a player or has been shot over the boards. Hockey can be a complex foreign language, but after learning some of the common terms, it gets a bit easier to cheer at a game without being completely embarrassed.

MISSING MOMENTS

Death is something we all have to go through in life, but something about the loss of a young life seems to affect people in a different way. This year, our community has lost five young boys, an unusually high amount for any small community. This loss has been seen in not only the families, but here at St. Clair High School. Andy Davis was one of the precious lives lost this year, and is very much missed. He was going to be a part of the varsity hockey team this season, and his jersey can be seen hanging over the bench, reminding the boys of Andy and how much he loved hockey. "He was always excited to go to practice and try," says Jacob Cronenworth ('12), "even when he wasn't playing he was cheering the loudest." "He was just really happy and outgoing," says fellow freshman, Blake Smith ('13). They were going to be the only two freshmen on the team this year. "Andy just had a way of making you feel better when you screwed up." Ryan Gilleran ('12) remembers fondly. Andrew Davis was not only a dedicated hockey player, but a happy kid wanting to encourage everyone to try as hard as he did. "He was the hardest worker on the team," says Jacob, "that's for sure."

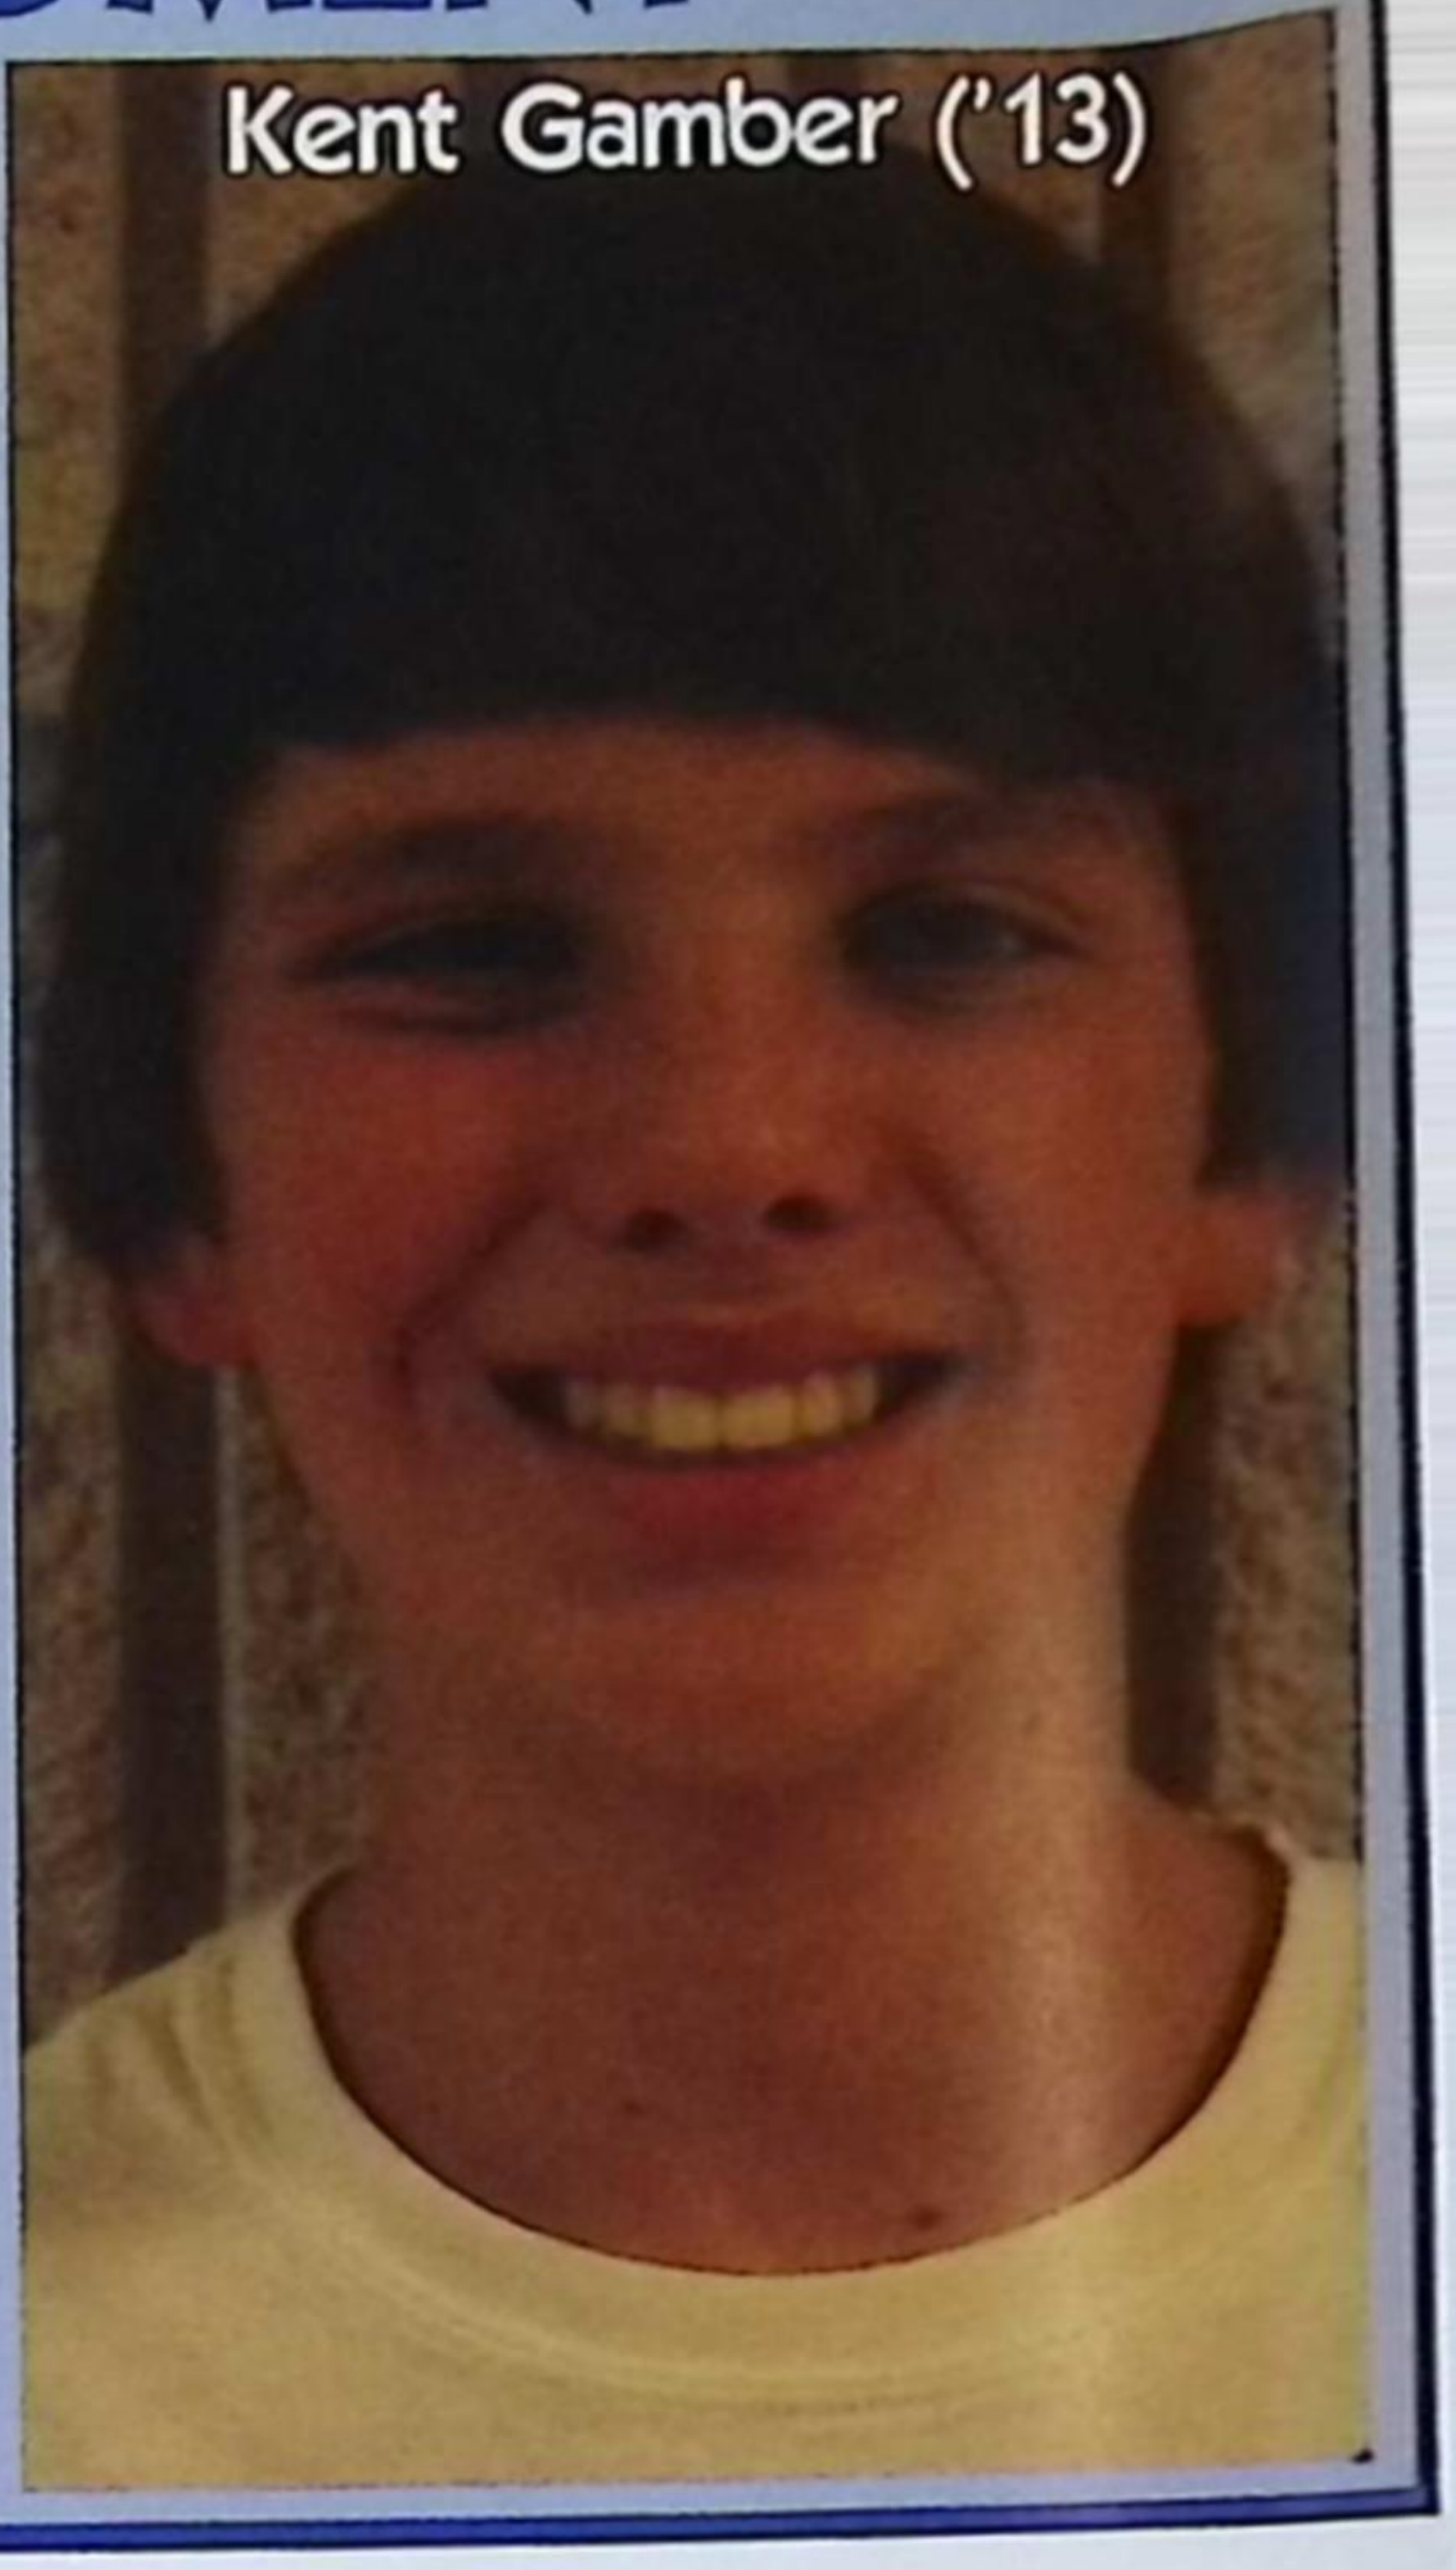
MY MOMENT

Kent Gamber was a freshman on the boy's varsity swim and dive team. Although he broke his wrist and only competed in exhibition events, he moved forward in his goals and stayed dedicated to his team.



Kent Gamber ('13)

"My greatest accomplishment would be a forward one and one half summersault in the tuck position. I chose this because it feels great when you can dive in straight after landing the dive."

-K. Gamber ('13)

Rock The Boat!

The boy's varsity swim team gave it their al this season, and their hard work showed. Even with a pipe breaking in the pool and long stressful practices, this team was outstanding. The boys placed fifth at MAC. They also had an overal team record of seven wins in the regular season. At the St. Clair Relays the boys came in second, and they also placed first at the ForSports Blue Water Classic.

> "The guys on the team realy pulled together with everything they had to come out with a great season."
>
> -J. Sheets ('10)

It takes more than an ordinary person to do what these macho men did almost every morning and afternoon. These devoted athletes swam with al their might and over the season accumulated hundreds of laps. With a thirty-five person team, not everyone swam in meets, but none the less, they kept a spunky attitude and rocked 'the boat' from November until the end of February.

Just One More Time

These swimmers are giving it their all one last time. After Mrs. Seaman's intense practice, they show their true dedication to their team by pushing through rigorous workouts and they strive for improvement.

The Calm Before The Storm

Trying her best to calm her nerves, Tayler Collins ('11) warms up with her stunt group mere minutes before the beginning of her first home competetion.

Fueling Up

Cheerleading takes an extreme amount of energy, so to ensure their bodies are as ready for the competition as possible, the varsity cheerleading team takes time to snack before round one.

I Got You Babe...

Practice makes perfect...but sometimes it takes everything we have just to make it through the day. Who's the one person you can always count on to have your back during a rigorous practice and why?

"Holli Stone. She always knows what to say when the team is getting frustrated. Also, she is really fun and knows how to lighten a tense mood."

-S. Stone ('13)

"Kaitlyn Ecarius. She is always encouraging her teammates and she keeps a positive attitude regardless of the atmosphere at practice."

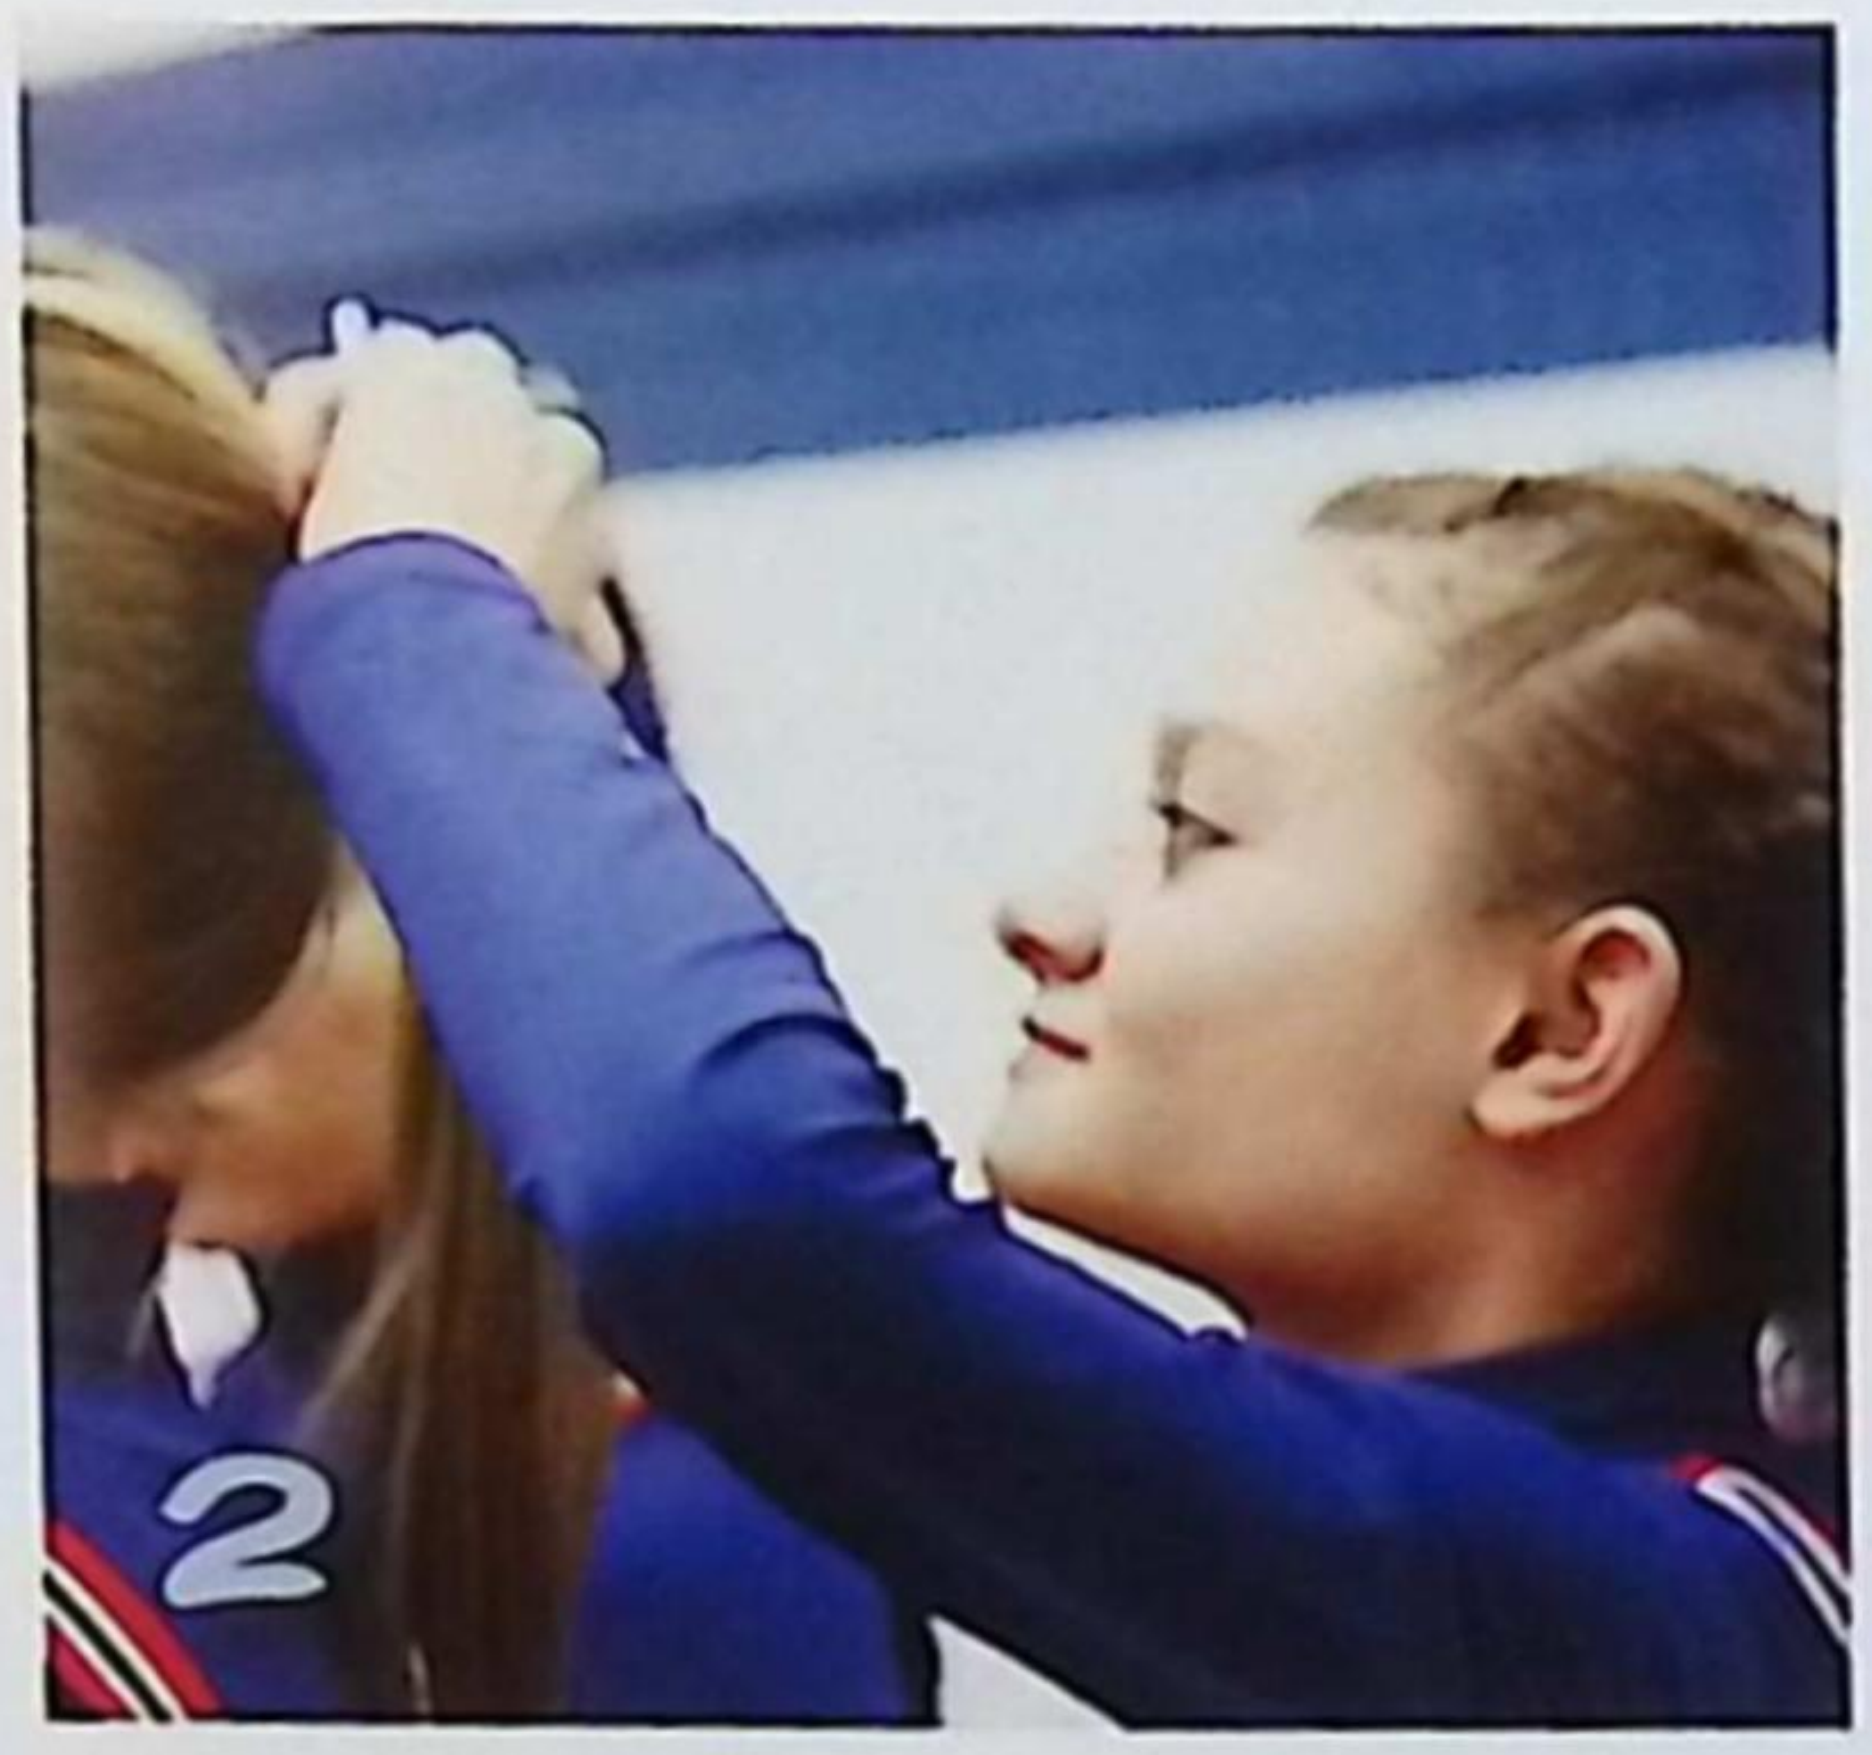
-A. Schulte ('12)

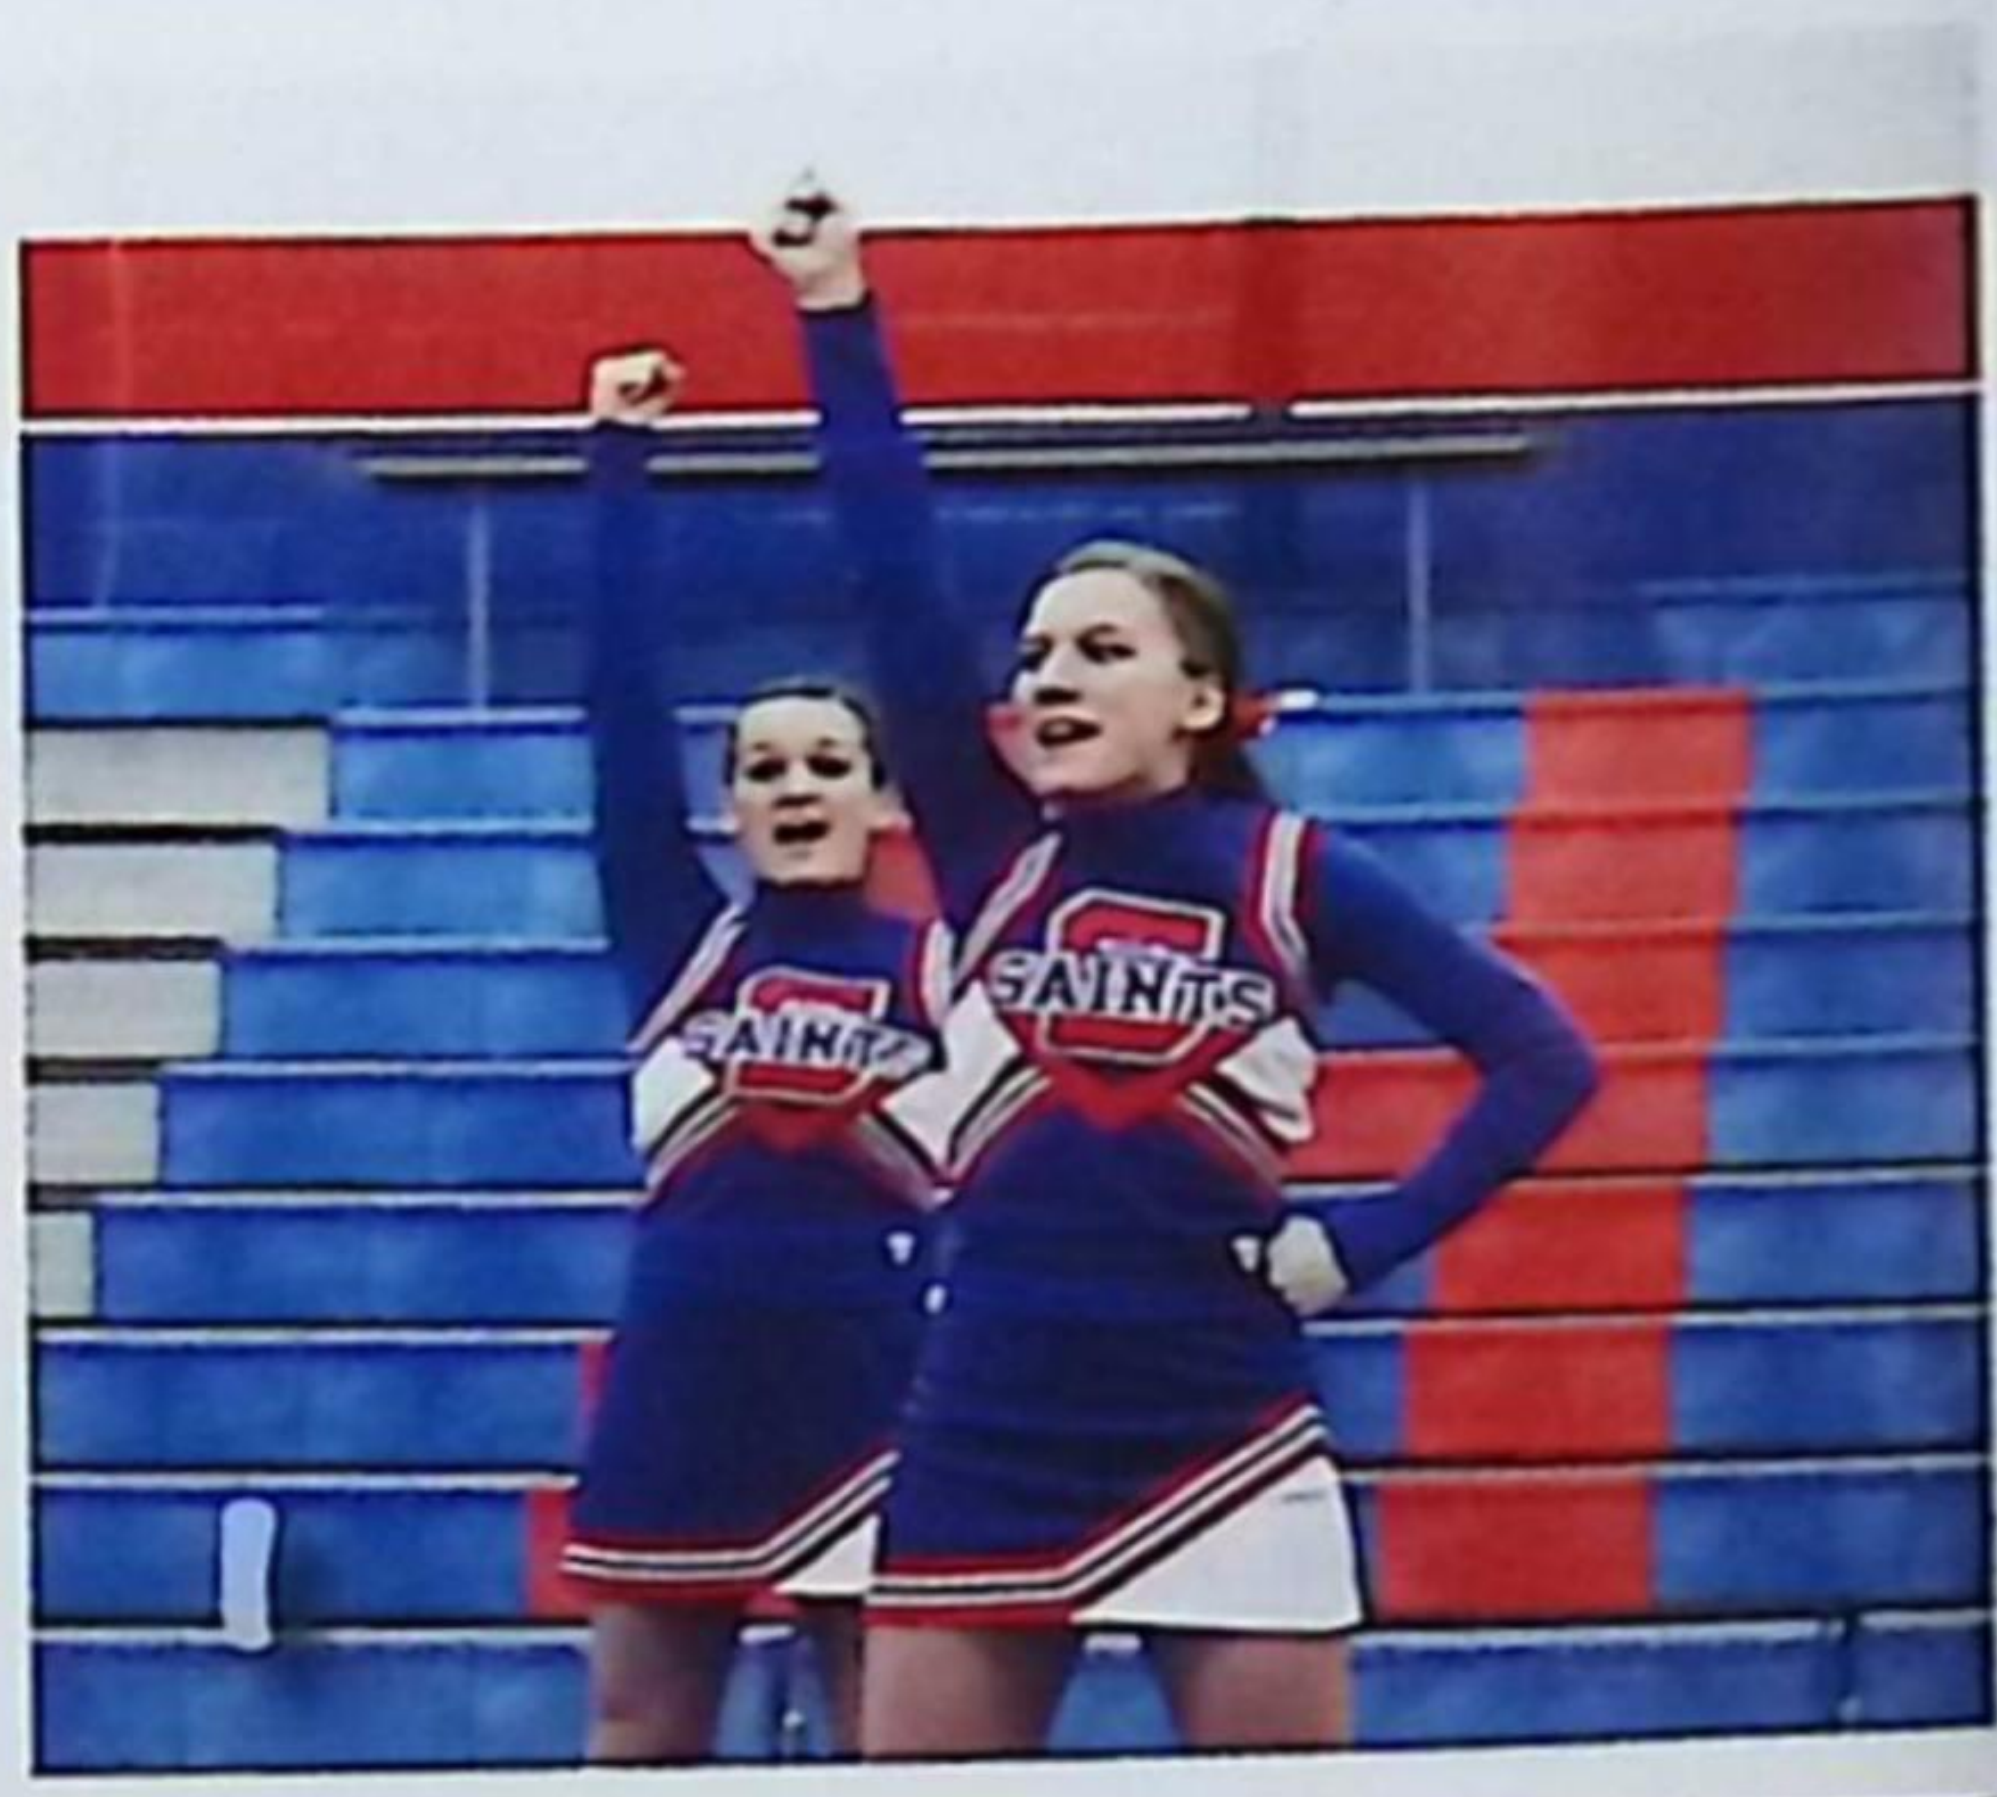
"I would say Holli Stone. You could ask her anything and she was always patient and helped out in anyway she could.'

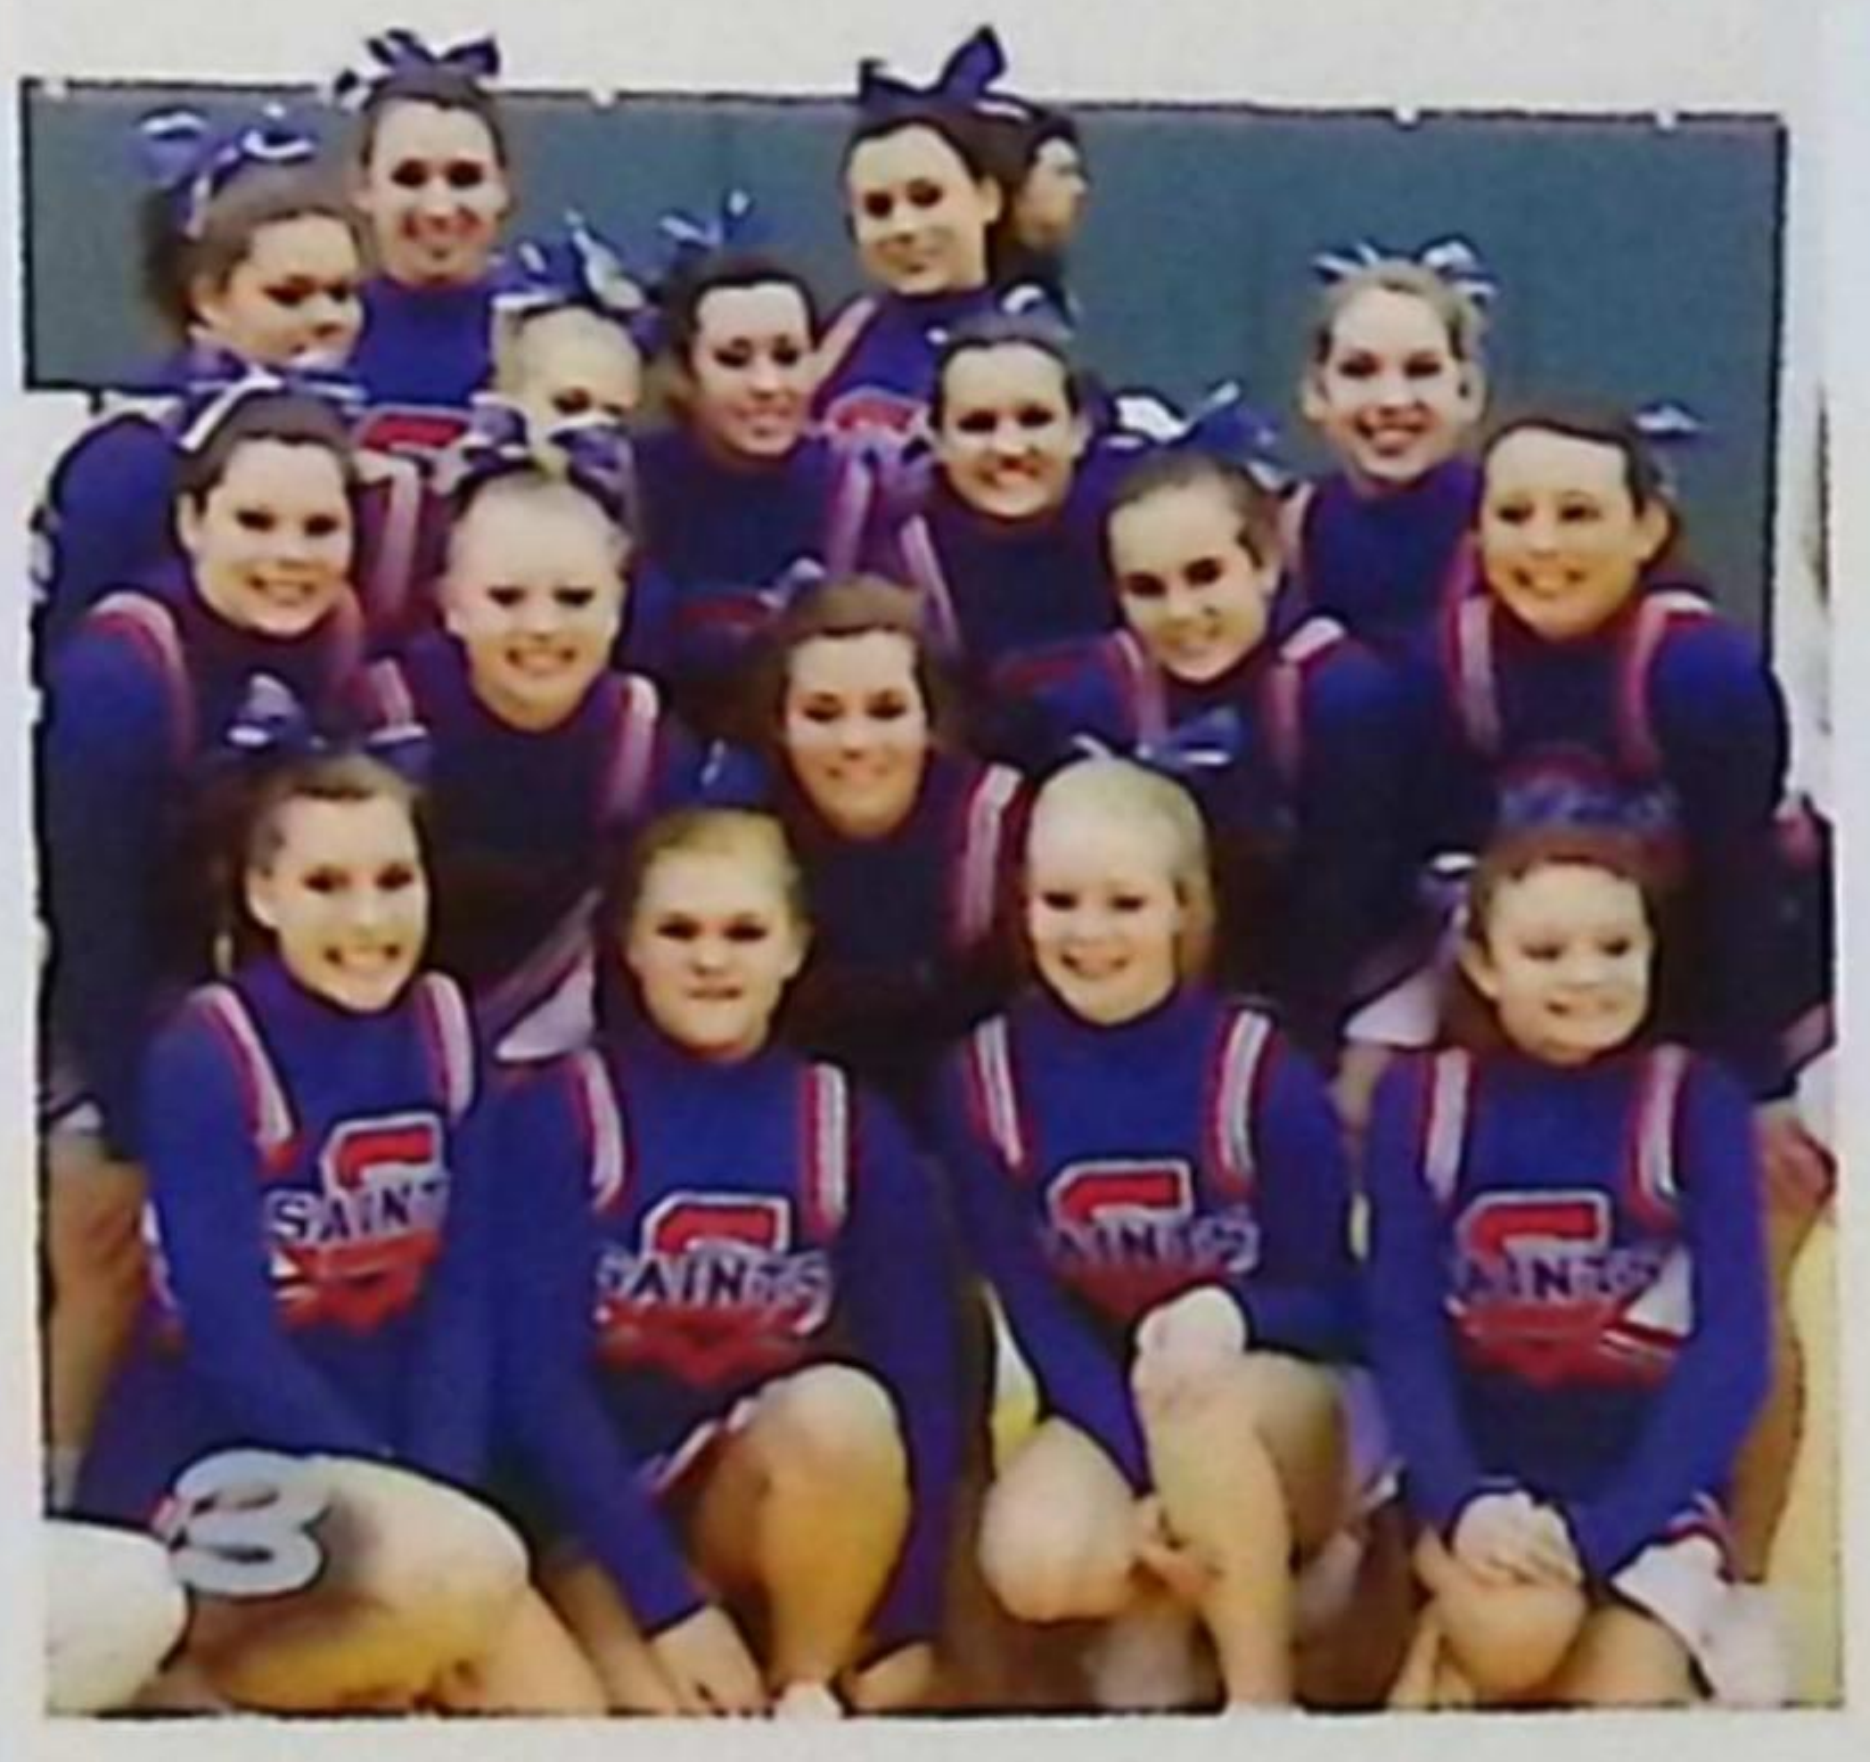
-S. Brow ('13)

"Without a doubt, Kaitlyn Ecarius. She always has an extremely positive attitude, and if anyone got discouraged, she always made sure to offer them a few words of advice. "

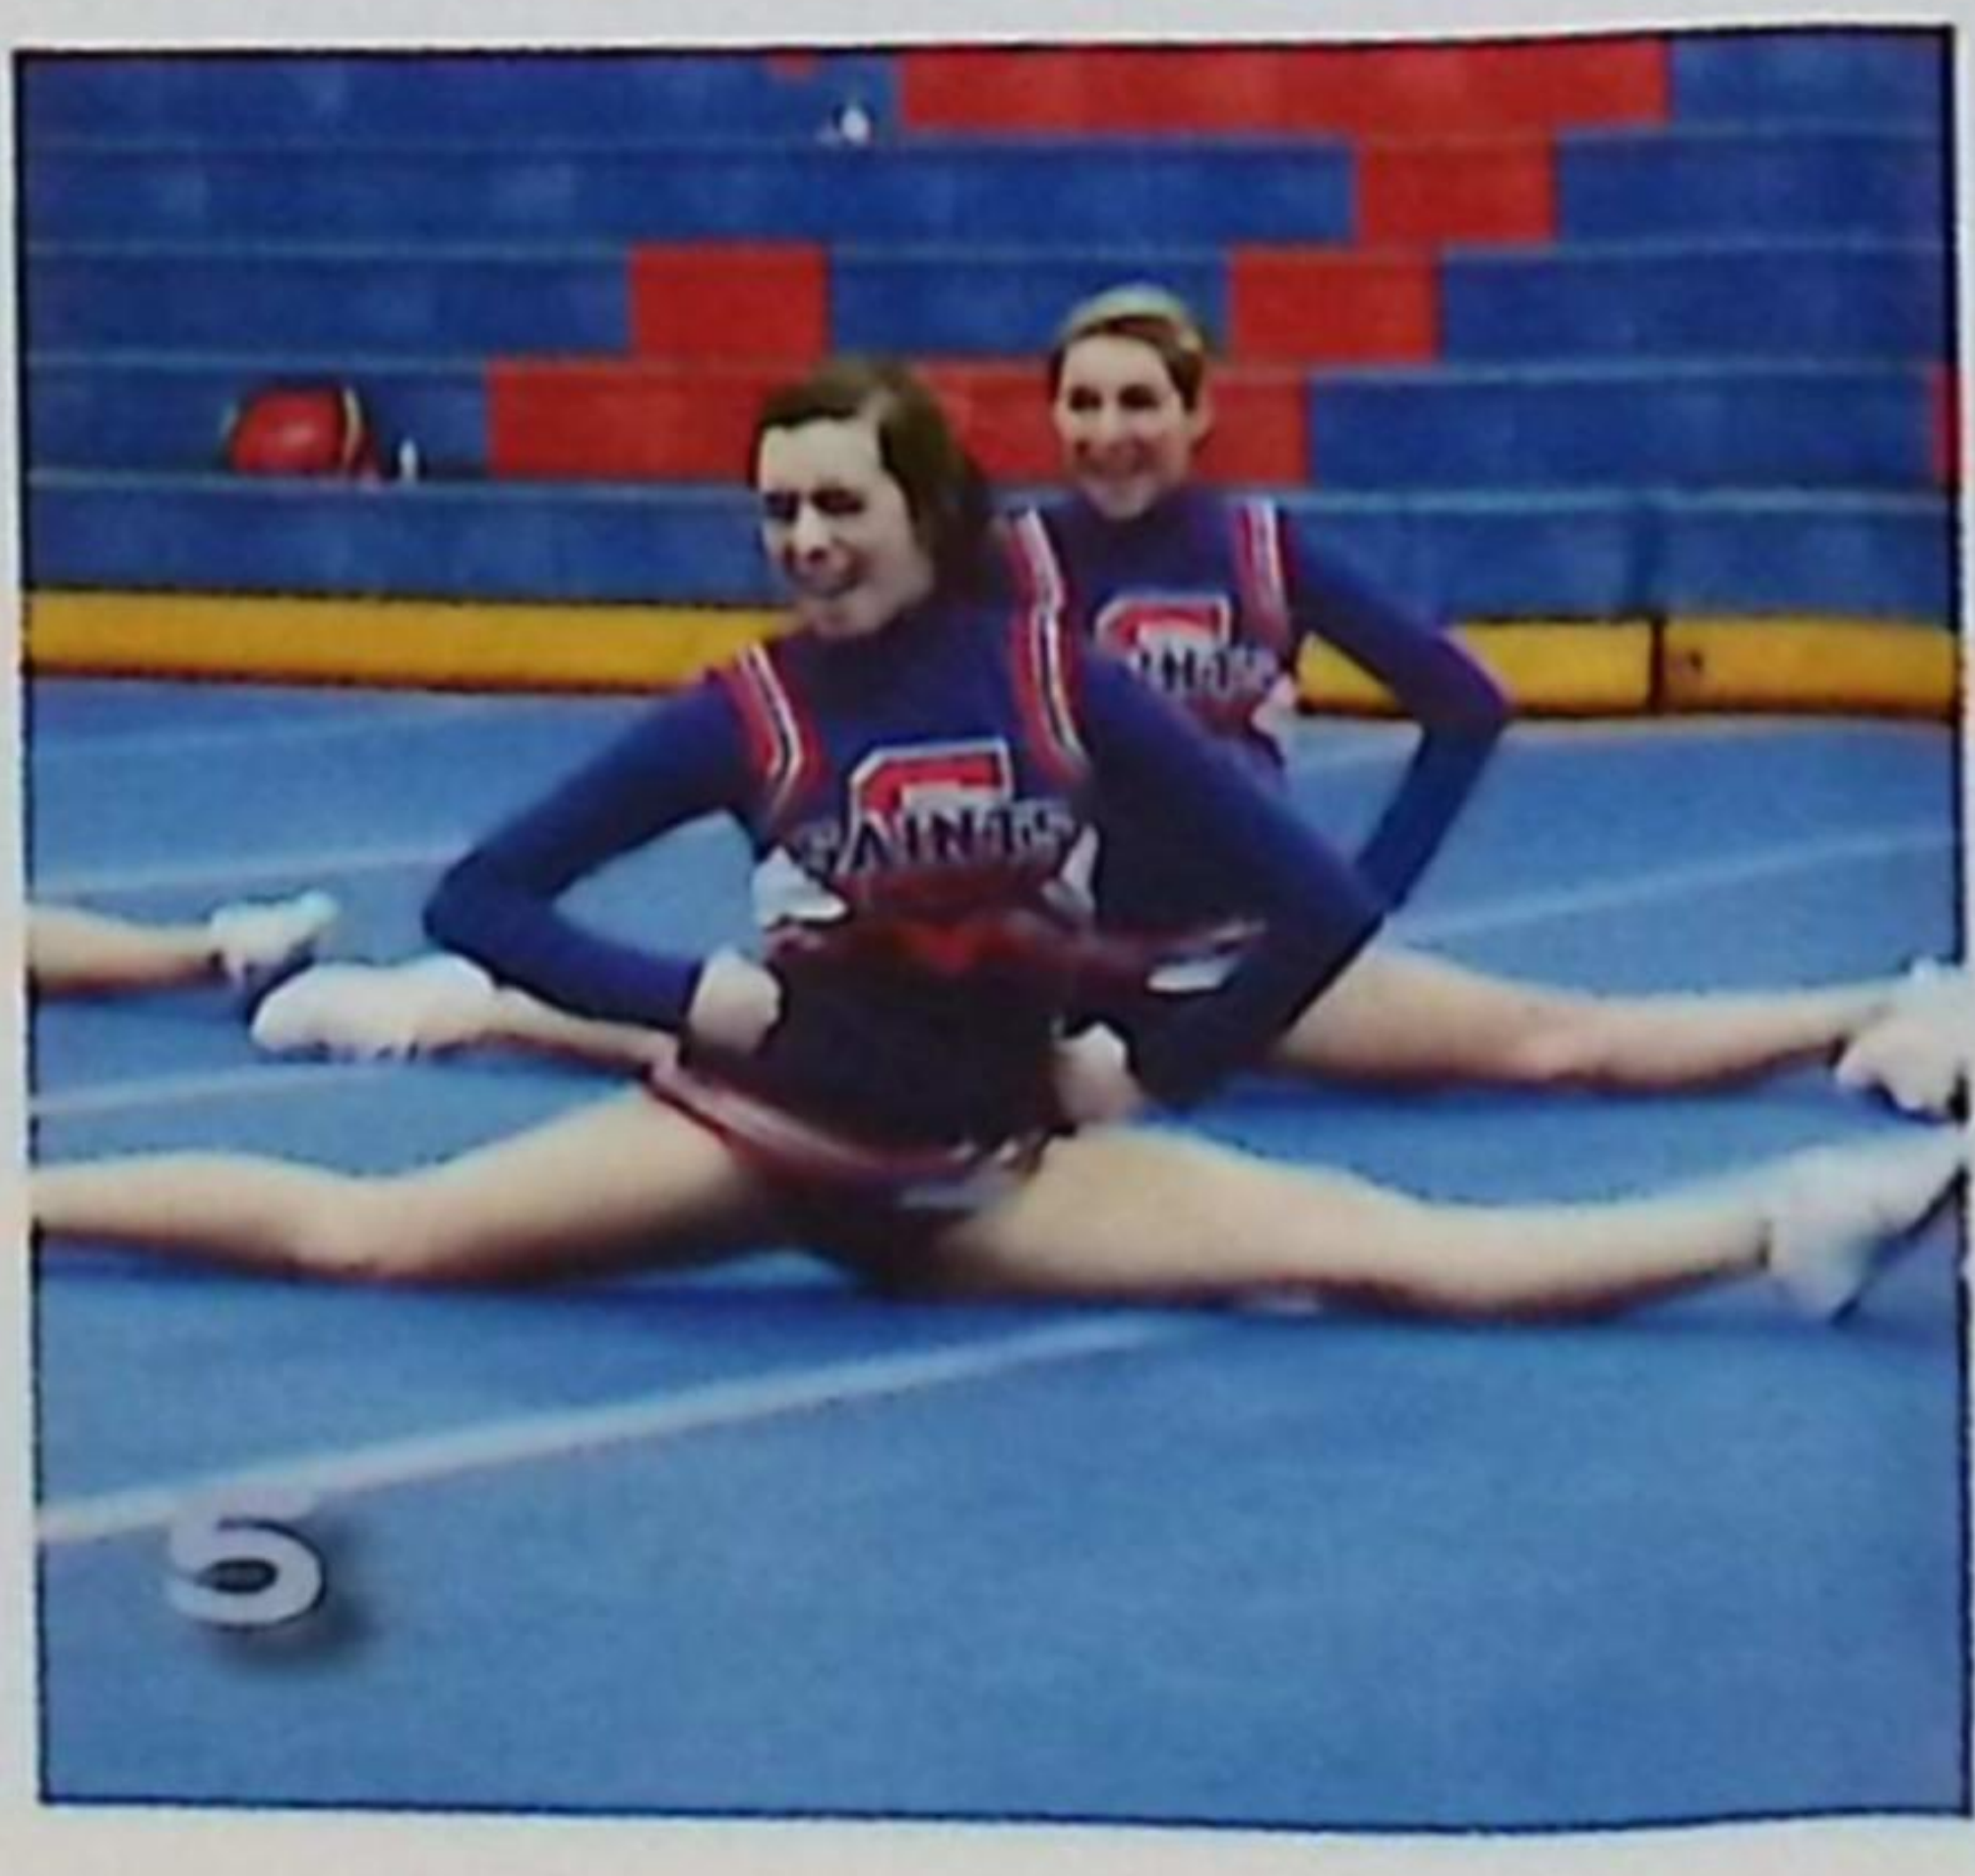
-C. Harju ('13)







1.Flaunting her muscles with perfect precision, Holli Stone ('11) throws up a sassy fight motion.
2.In cheerleading, presentation is just as important as practice, so before taking the floor, Shelby Brow ('13) takes time to tighten a teammate's pony tail.
3.Grouping together after a rigorous day, the SCHS varsity cheerleaders do their best to crank out one last smile.
4.Hoping to overcome her fear of the infamous back handspring, Kendra Causey ('12) asks teammate Tayler Collins ('11) for a quick spot.
5.Proving that mind can truly conquer matter, Taylor Shell ('12) pops into a split and is rewarded with a phenomenal score.



MY MOMENT

Kaylen Poppe ('13) was, without a doubt, one of the most devoted members of the 2009-2010 varsity competitive cheerleading team. She always put her best foot forward and, though this was her first year ever cheering, she showed incredible improvement and impeccable skill. "My shining moment was definitely when Holli and I finally got a lib at our very last practice. It was crazy to see how far I've come," she said, while proudly sporting her team-tee shirt.

Through all of the craziness the team experienced this year, Kaylen always managed to come out on top. "I feel like I really proved myself to the rest of my teammates. Even though I began as a newbie, I have learned a lot and have grown immensely, not only as a cheerleader, but as a person."

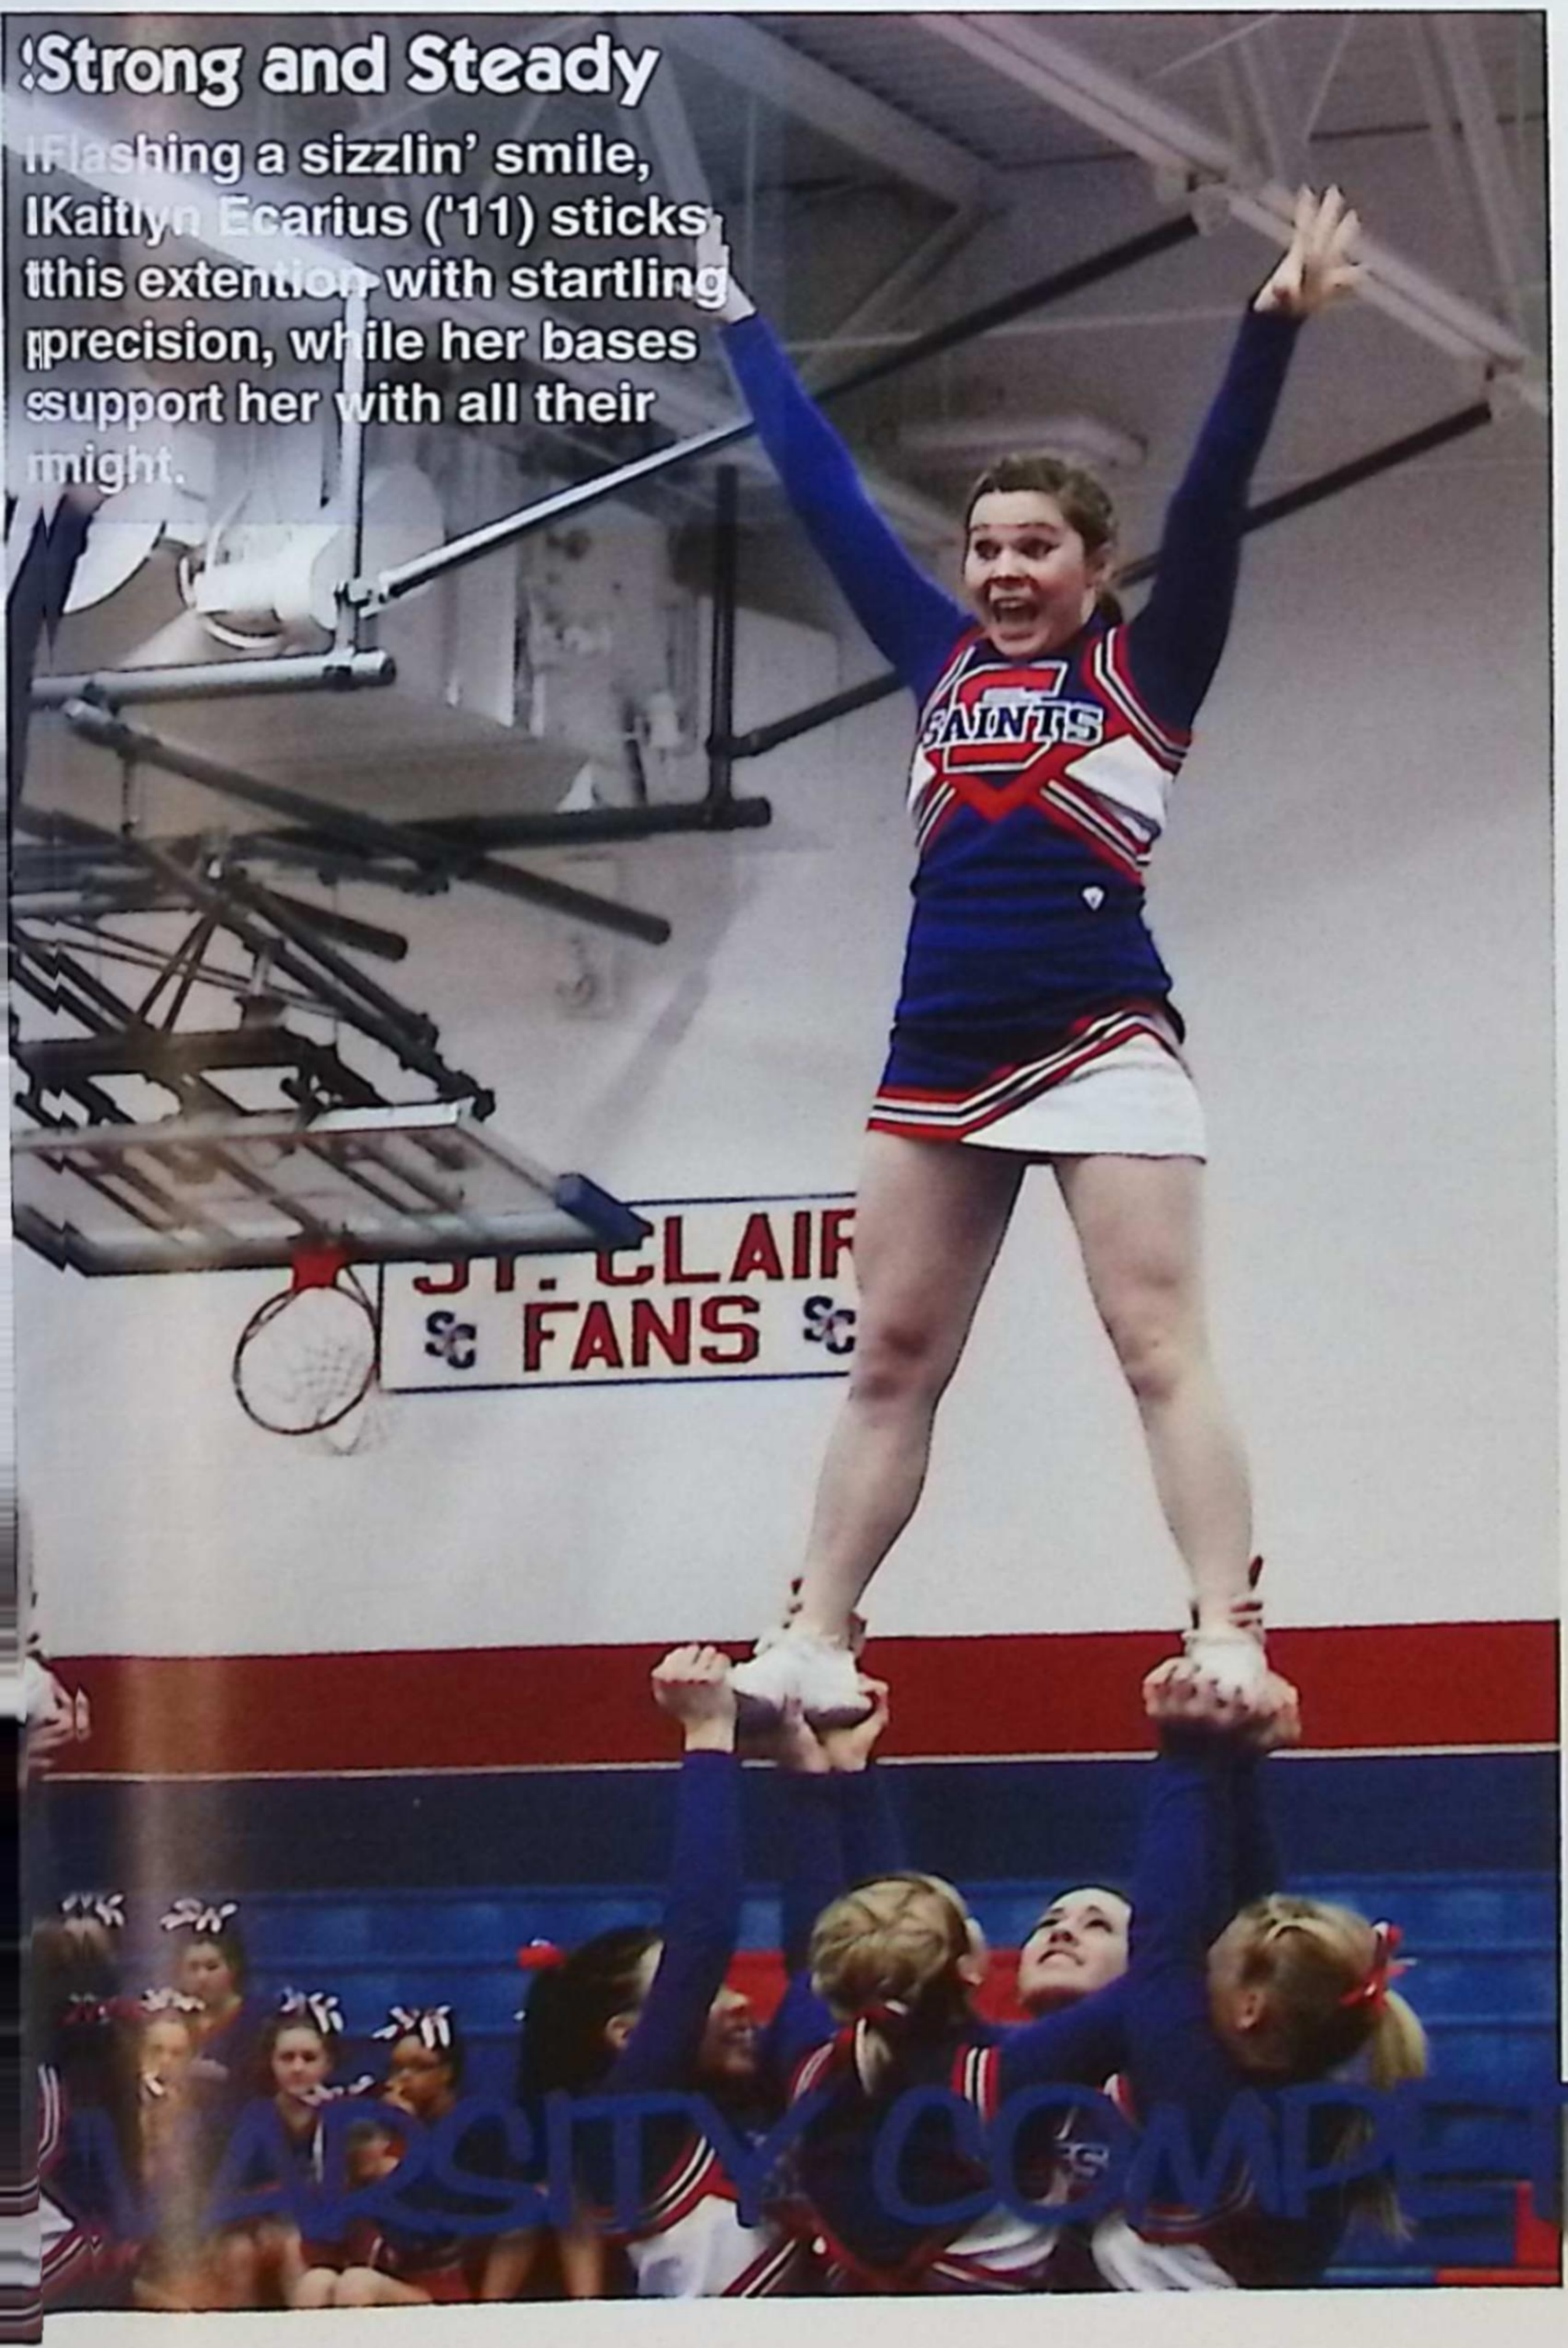
The Power of Perseverance

The 2009-2010 competitive cheerleading teams had their fair share of obstacles this season. From painful injuries to the loss of crucial team members, these girls had to fight their way through every competition. However, with positive attitudes and unparalleled determination, they made it through the season with astounding grace. No matter how tough things may have gotten, or how desperate the situation may have been, this phenomenal group of girls worked unbelievably hard to prove that cheerleading is more than what meets the eye.

"Beaten up, but never beaten down!"

- 2009-2010 Varsity Cheerleading Team

They participated in eight competitions this year alone, and they brought their absolute best in every one. Regardless of the score, or the criticism they received, the girls kept improving and made a lot of sacrifices to do so. The performance that these girls are most proud of, however, was not a competition. The Pink Halo project, they say, was an incredible experience not only for them, but for the entire community, and they felt honored to be apart of it.



Strong and Steady

Flashing a sizzlin' smile, Kaitlyn Ecarius ('11) sticks this extention with startling precision, while her bases support her with all their might.

Striking Up a Friendship

This year's unified bowling team was made up of some truly inspirational people. Everyone who participated found that they walked away from the experience with more than just a new skill; they also left with new friendships. The unified bowling league diligently practiced every Tuesday, and was lead by Mrs. Fitzmaurice and Mrs. Emerich.

> "I count myself in nothing else so happy As in a soul remembering my good friends." - William Shakespeare

Of course there were times of frustration, but more than anything, there was a sense of unity and outreach that words could not describe. Through this incredibly unique program, athletes and sponsors alike were rewarded with a sense of pride, and the notion that no matter how dark the 'aleys' of life may be, you can light up any room by simply 'striking' a smile.

4. Congratulating each other with a celebratory high five, Ben Westrick ('11) and Austin Nancarrow ('10) rejoice in the splendor of success.
5. Proving that boys aren't the only ones with skill, Rachel Cook ('13) sends the ball barreling toward the center pin with ease and precision.

SENIOR DIVISION

Making memories for every senior is arguably the easiest thing to do. Yet leaving one of the most memorable years of our lives behind is not such an effortless task. From our last Homecoming dance, to our final Friday night football game, these are the moments that stay with us forever. Drifting away from these chapters of our lives may not be simple, but there comes a point in all of our lives where we have to let go. Let go of our past, our friendships..our memories; and move onto accomplishing what we have been waiting to become. Today it may seem hard, but this isn't goodbye, no... not forever, it is farewell for now. The one thing we can hold on to are our memories, and they will never fade.

Learning Valuable Lessons

I think the one thing I've actually learned from high school is to always be yourself. It's really corny, but seriously you just can't be fake. Once you start trying to do something for someone else, you're not being yourself and it never works out in your favor. High school really didn't teach me anything about books or stuff, but that is one thing I did learn.

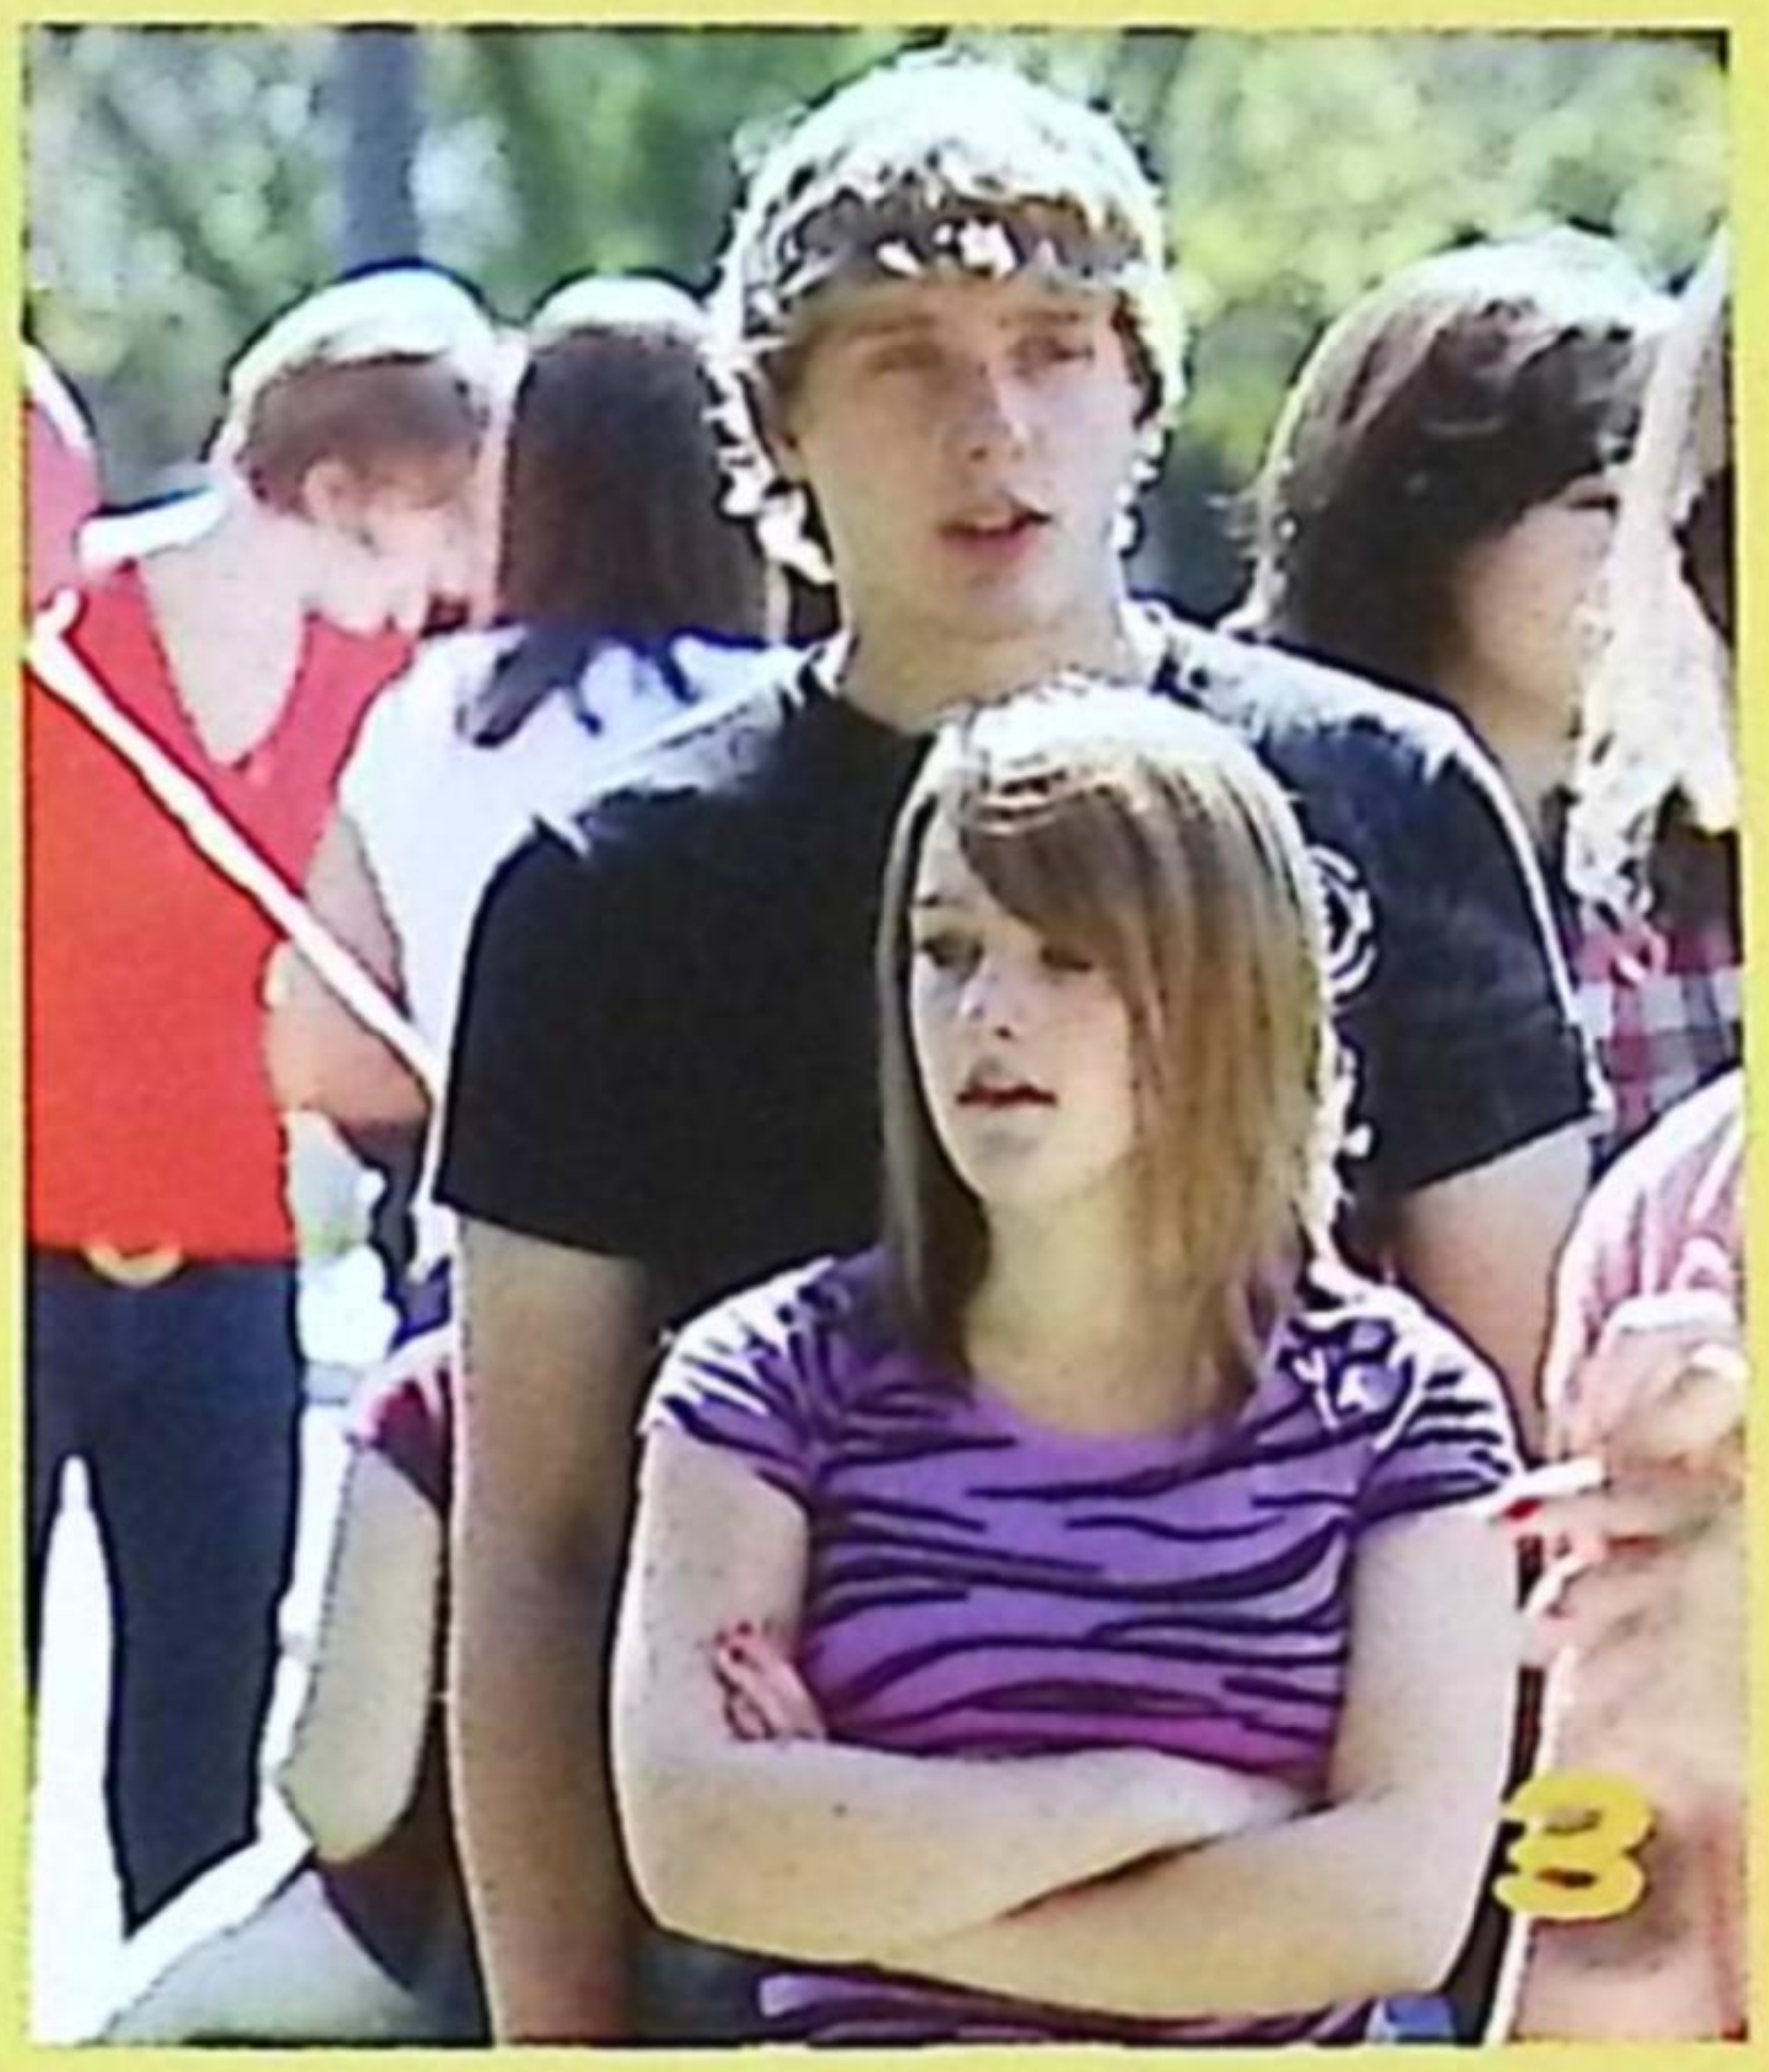
CLASS SONG: "Weightless" by All Time Low

CLASS MOTTO: "Live the life you love, love the life you live" -Bob Marley

CLASS COLOR: Tie dye

CLASS FLOWER: Lily

1. Sarah Drummond, Jamie McCormick, Andraya Jorgenson, Victoria Kern and Anita Chitwood gather together to create a memory at their final Homecoming dance. 2. Emily Selman leaves her mark behind, in the form of a hand print on the senior wall. 3. Sticking together, Brianna Price and Ben Sedrowski stand in line while waiting to return back to the building during Saints' Day. 4. Troy Stragier takes a moment to rest between his repitions during an intense workout. 5. While celebrating Mardi Gras, Kevin Kerin shows his excitement to eat the cake that Krystal Shindel Ludeman made for her class to enjoy.



What is your most memorable moment of high school?

Going to the Jaguars vs. Lions game.

"It was not only my first football game, but my first Jaguars' game. Jacksonville is my all time favorite team, and it was amazing to find out that I was going to watch them. I don't remember the exact score but it was approximately Jaguars: A LOT, Lions: a little. The one moment I will never forget of that game was when Jones Drew got a rushing touchdown. It was awesome. It was a really fun game with my Dad and my friend. It's one moment that I will never forget." -J. Krul

UNDERCLASSMEN DIVISION

The small, the weak, the feeble, the inept and ignorant; all of these terms could be, at one point, applied to underclassmen in high school. Even so, all of these words are applied to those who are growing. Growing is a big part of high school, especially for underclassmen building their life experiences towards the climax of their four year journey, senior year. By senior year, most people know what they like, don't like, and want to do or where they are going in life. These aren't things people just wake up knowing, but are learned over the four years of high school. Through the bad break-ups, the bad grades, the failed friendships and futile efforts to win people over, we learn about ourselves and what kind of people we want to be when we walk into the world. Some say that high school is the greatest part of our lives, while others say that they hardly remembered what had happened in those four years. In reality, high school contains four years in which we start our lives, and discover how the rest of our lives will go. These years, the underclassmen years, are years of self-discovery, self-awareness, and self-direction that could determine the course of everyone's senior year and possibly the course of our lives.

Tat It Up!

For most students at St. Clair High School, getting a tattoo may never happen, but for junior Libby Perian, it is already a reality. She has three! She got her first tattoo when she was just 14 years old and even though it doesn't really have a meaning, she just liked the look of it. She received her second tattoo when she was 15. She had her birthday (7/10) tattooed on her wrists. She got this one because her brother also got one on each of his wrists with his birth date which is the day after hers. Her most recent is the quote on the side of her rib cage. It is from the Incubus song "Warning". Incubus is her absolute favorite band and she hopes to one day get a full back tattoo dedicated to them.

MY MOMENT

"I work for One Source Talent Modeling and Acting Agency. Being a model and a student can be hard. Since I am a minor, all my gigs and appointments require my mom or dad to be present; it creates a conflict because I have to work modeling around mine and my parents' schedules. Modeling agencies are very demanding and when they need you, they need you! If I cannot make it, then I'm basically giving away a possible opportunity. Modeling is a fun thing to do, even though I have to deal with a lot of disappointments there are also lots of excitements too; it also teaches me to be patient, and learn how to deal with stress. School always comes first and my agency makes sure my grades are good, or I could possibly be put on a break. Modeling definitely has some perks, such as boosting my self-confidence, allowing me to go to new places, and meet amazing people. Being a teenager, it seems that sometimes they dress me to look a lot older than I am. Being a teen model makes it hard and stressful trying to manage everything and balancing priorities. I can walk away with from the experience knowing that in life nothing comes easily, no matter what job you have, or what age you are. As a student and model it has been a great experience yet challenging all at the same time."

Going To States!

"All fall, I had been practicing really hard. I ran between three and seven miles everyday after school. With Mr. Fouchey's help, seven girls from the Cross Country Team made it to states. I was one of those seven girls. Our states were held November 7, 2009, at the Michigan International Speedway (racetrack). I ran my best and I know the other girls did too. We took 19th place out of 27 teams. We were all really proud!" -K. Balfour

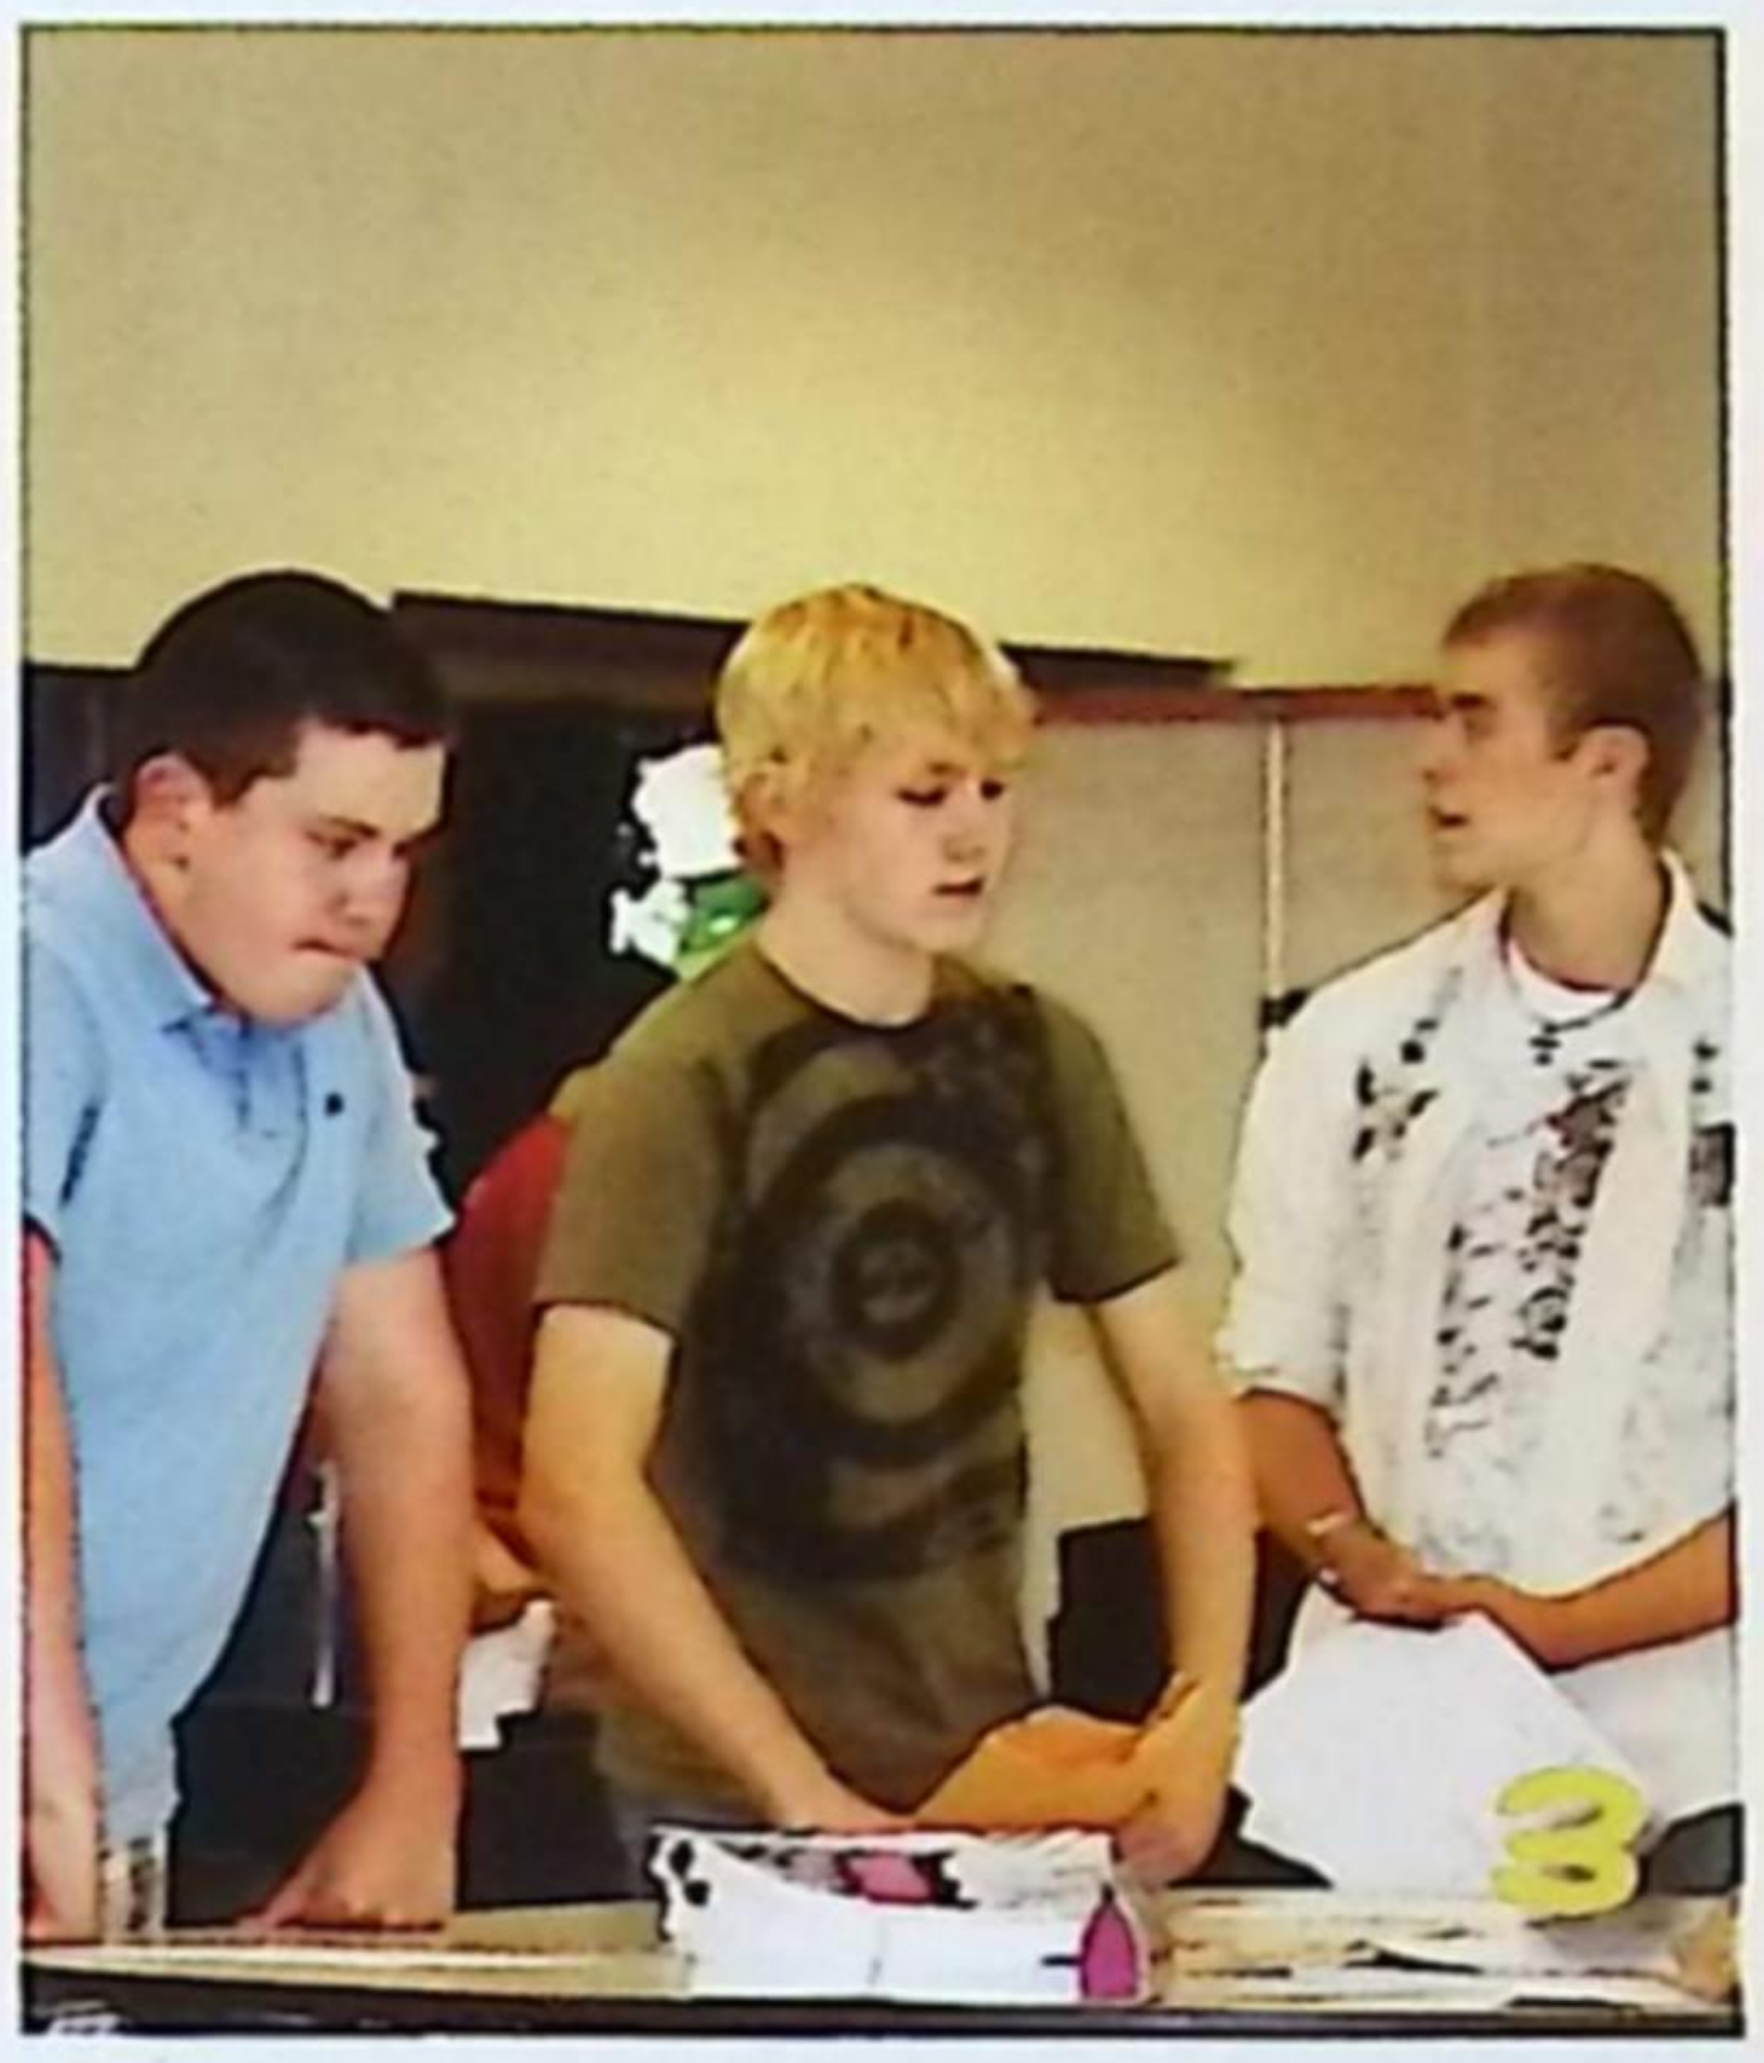
3. Turning in their yearbook forms, Aaron Zabek, Hayden Hustad, and Stephen Rhein get ready for the new year of school.
4. Becca Ingles dribbles the ball while Emily Schweihofer shoots a basket.
5. On Saints Day, Ryan Gilleran and Zach Kemp get their schedules before taking a seat with some friends.



MY MOMENT

Kate Jarrett

"When I did the Miss Lake Huron Shores Outstanding Teen Pageant, I was really nervous. All of the other girls already knew how to walk, talk, and were all experienced. It was scary to go against all of them. When I got there, I had no idea what to expect. Putting all of my nerves aside, I pulled myself together and tried my best. To my surprise, I actually won! Being crowned MLHS was a great, positive feeling. I am very excited to crown the next girl in 2011. All of the girls who participated were funny, nice, and were always offering to help. The MLHS pageant definitely changed my life forever!"

Raise Your Voice

Who is that girl singing all the way down the hallway? That girl is Estee Dale. She has been singing for as long as she can remember, and has been in choir since first grade. Her immaculate voice can be recognized from miles away, since she has sung twice at the annual Boat Races, and also performed at numerous hockey and basketball games, and sung the National Anthem at Little League's Opening Day! Her inspiration comes from three major singers, Alicia Keys, Sara McLaughlin, and Stevie Nicks. "All of these women are phenomenal singers/songwriters," Estee says. "Alicia has so much soul in her music that I adore. Sara McLaughlin – I can relate to her songs. Stevie – She has a voice all her own." Estee has made her passion into more than just a pastime. Her goals include creating her own unique and one of a kind voice, and bringing it to a future audition for American Idol. From what the people of Saint Clair High School have heard, Estee is well on her way to success.

"I love singing with an indescribable passion. I get nervous - ever oh so nervous when I sing in front of a crowd. It's a good kind of nervous - a rush, like when it's me and my mic and no one can touch me. Performing on stage with the choir is my absolute favorite thing in the world. They're my family."

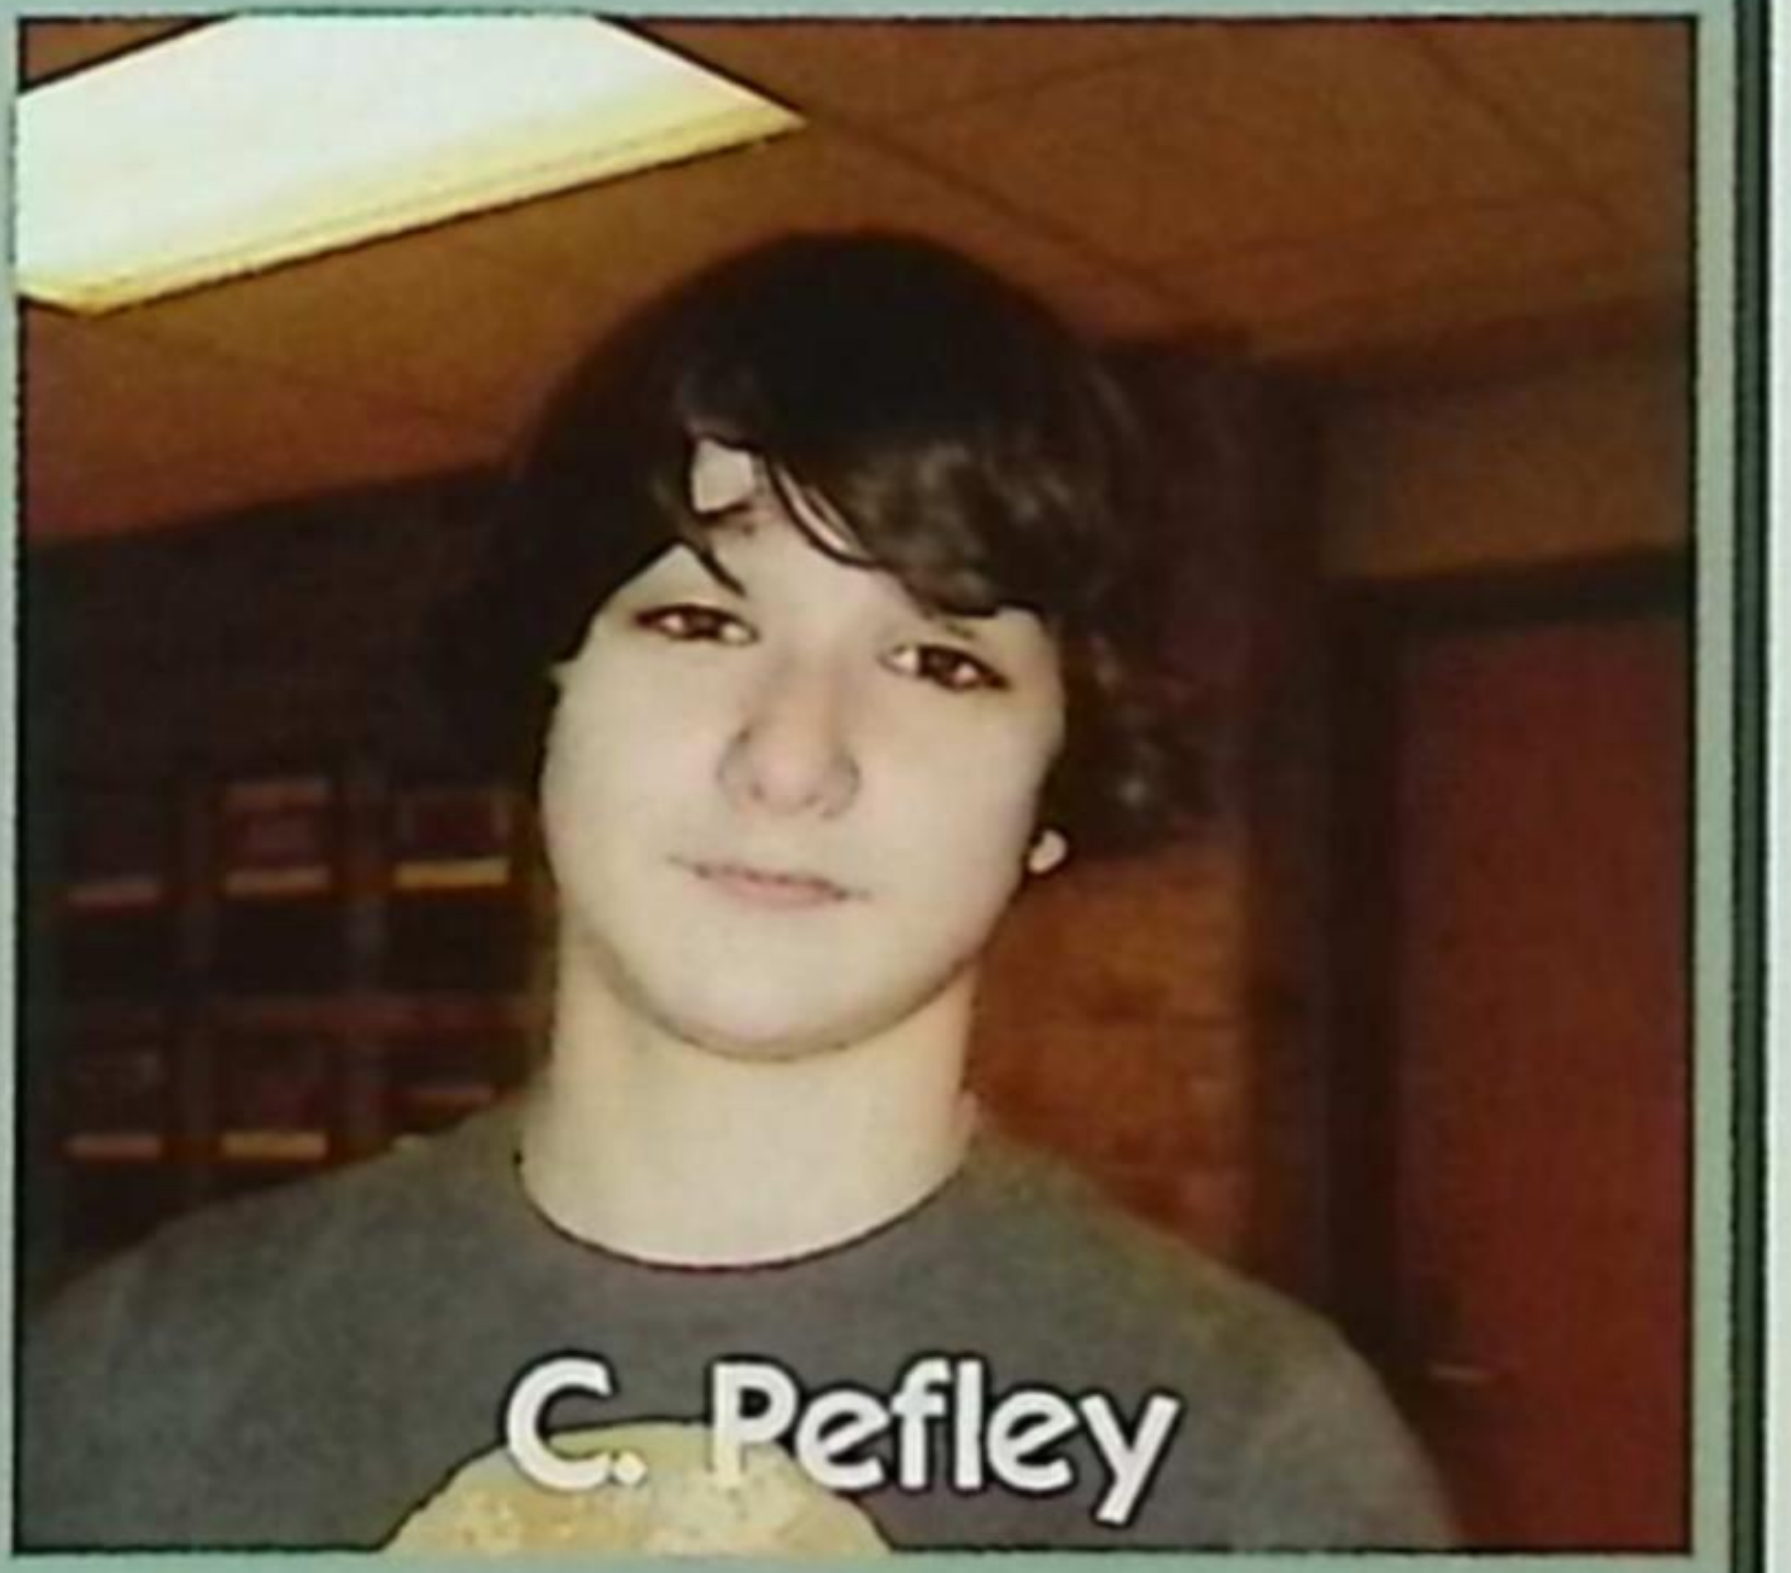
MY INTERNATIONAL MOMENT

This year, freshman, Craig Pefley got the honor to be invited to play on the United States National Hockey Team. Craig went with the team all the way across the ocean to the Netherlands. Team U.S.A. won the championship in overtime by one point against Russia. Craig said, "They were a really tough competition, but we managed to pull through with a win." He and his teammates also enjoyed going downtown in their free time and seeing all of the sights. "It was a good break from the hockey and just seeing all of the surroundings of a foreign country was cool." Said Craig. One day the boys went into town and saw a Russian Circus.



C. Pefley

"The best part of the thing was just being to sit and laugh with the guys and see a show in a different country. My favorite part was the elephants." Overall the trip was an all out blast for Craig and his teammates; it was a once in a lifetime experience.

The Spotlight is On!

Haley Wagner has a passion for acting and hopes one day to become a professional actress. To further her success, she even takes improvisation classes, here she keeps her skills fresh and up to date. She puts all her hard work to good use by acting in shows that benefit change, such as 'Toys for Tots'. She even plans to audition for a production in March. Eventually Haley hopes to fulfill her dreams and see herself in movie theaters and Broadway productions across the country. However, if she doesn't succeed in being in a movie or Broadway shows, she plans to work behind scenes; either way she would love to work in the entertainment industry.

With the Economy Doing Poorly, What is Your Greatest Fear?

"That the domino effect will continue. People lose their homes, then they leave the state. Then there are less people to buy goods-which would keep jobs and there are less people to pay their taxes- in come, sales, etc. Which could support public work jobs-roads, bridges, etc."

-Mr. Cedar

"That people will continue to lose their jobs and make less than they had in the past. Along with the cost of everyday things increasing. People will continue to end up in a hole."

-Mrs. Stillson

"The pain to individuals will continue for quite a while. The politicians we send to Lansing and Washington D.C. must do what is best for the country, instead of what is best for each of them and their re-election: raise taxes on business of large scale and on wealthy individuals!"

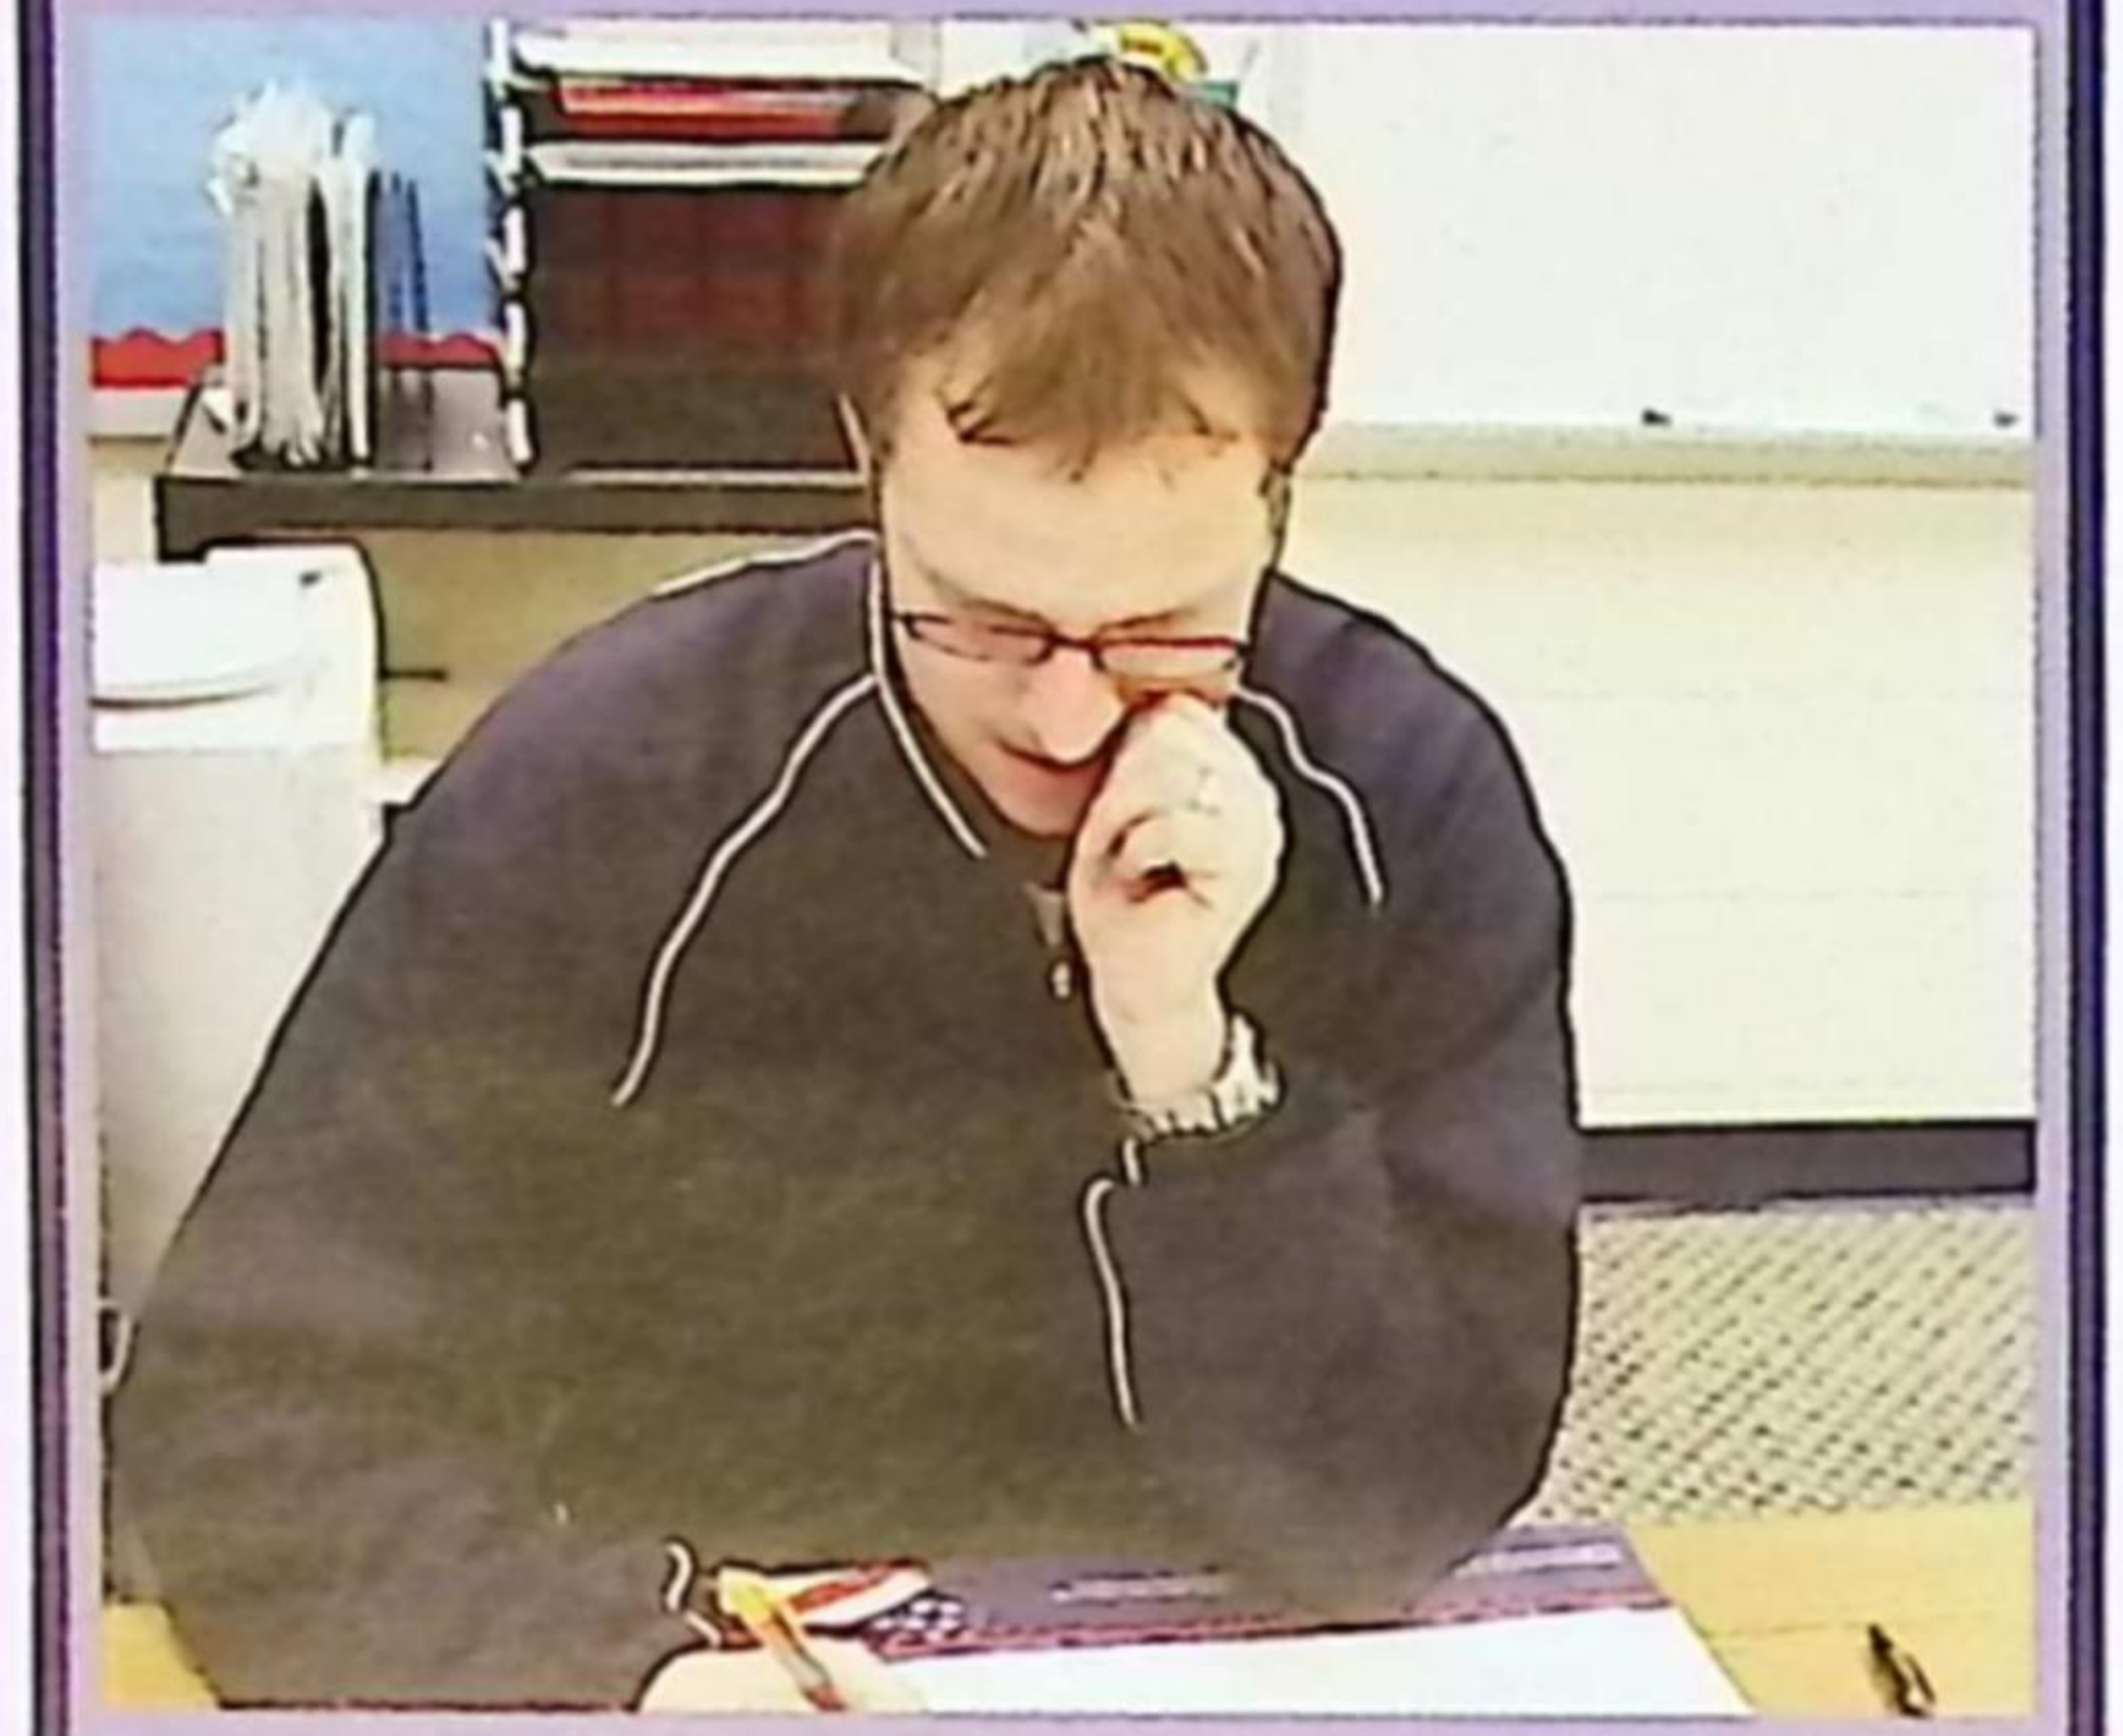
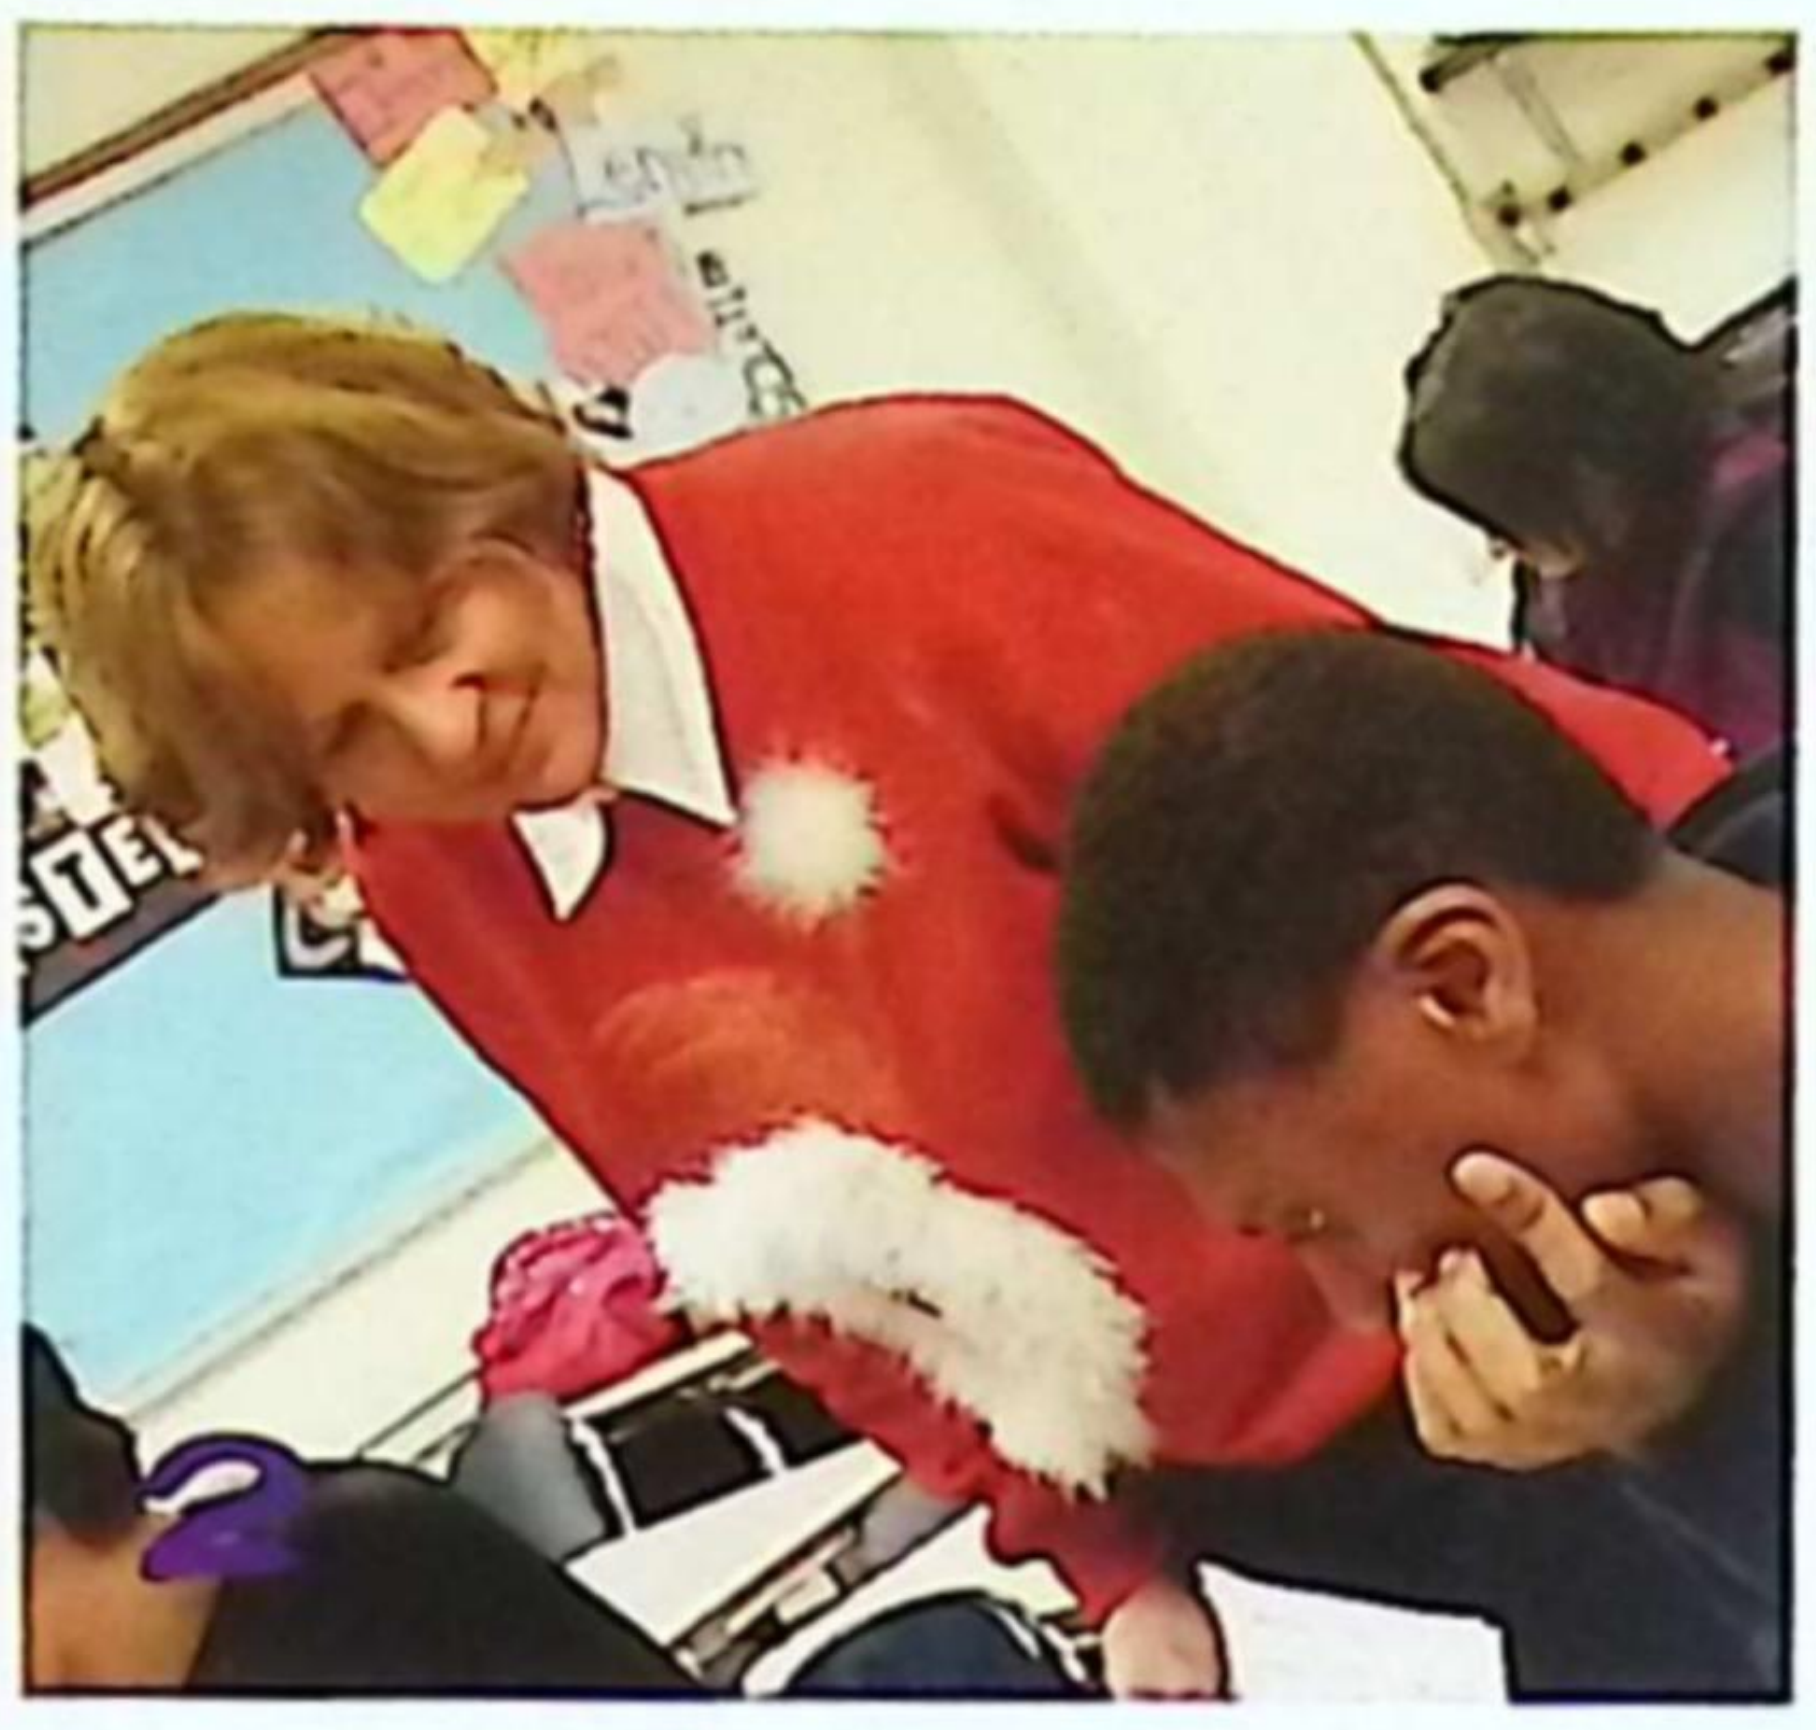
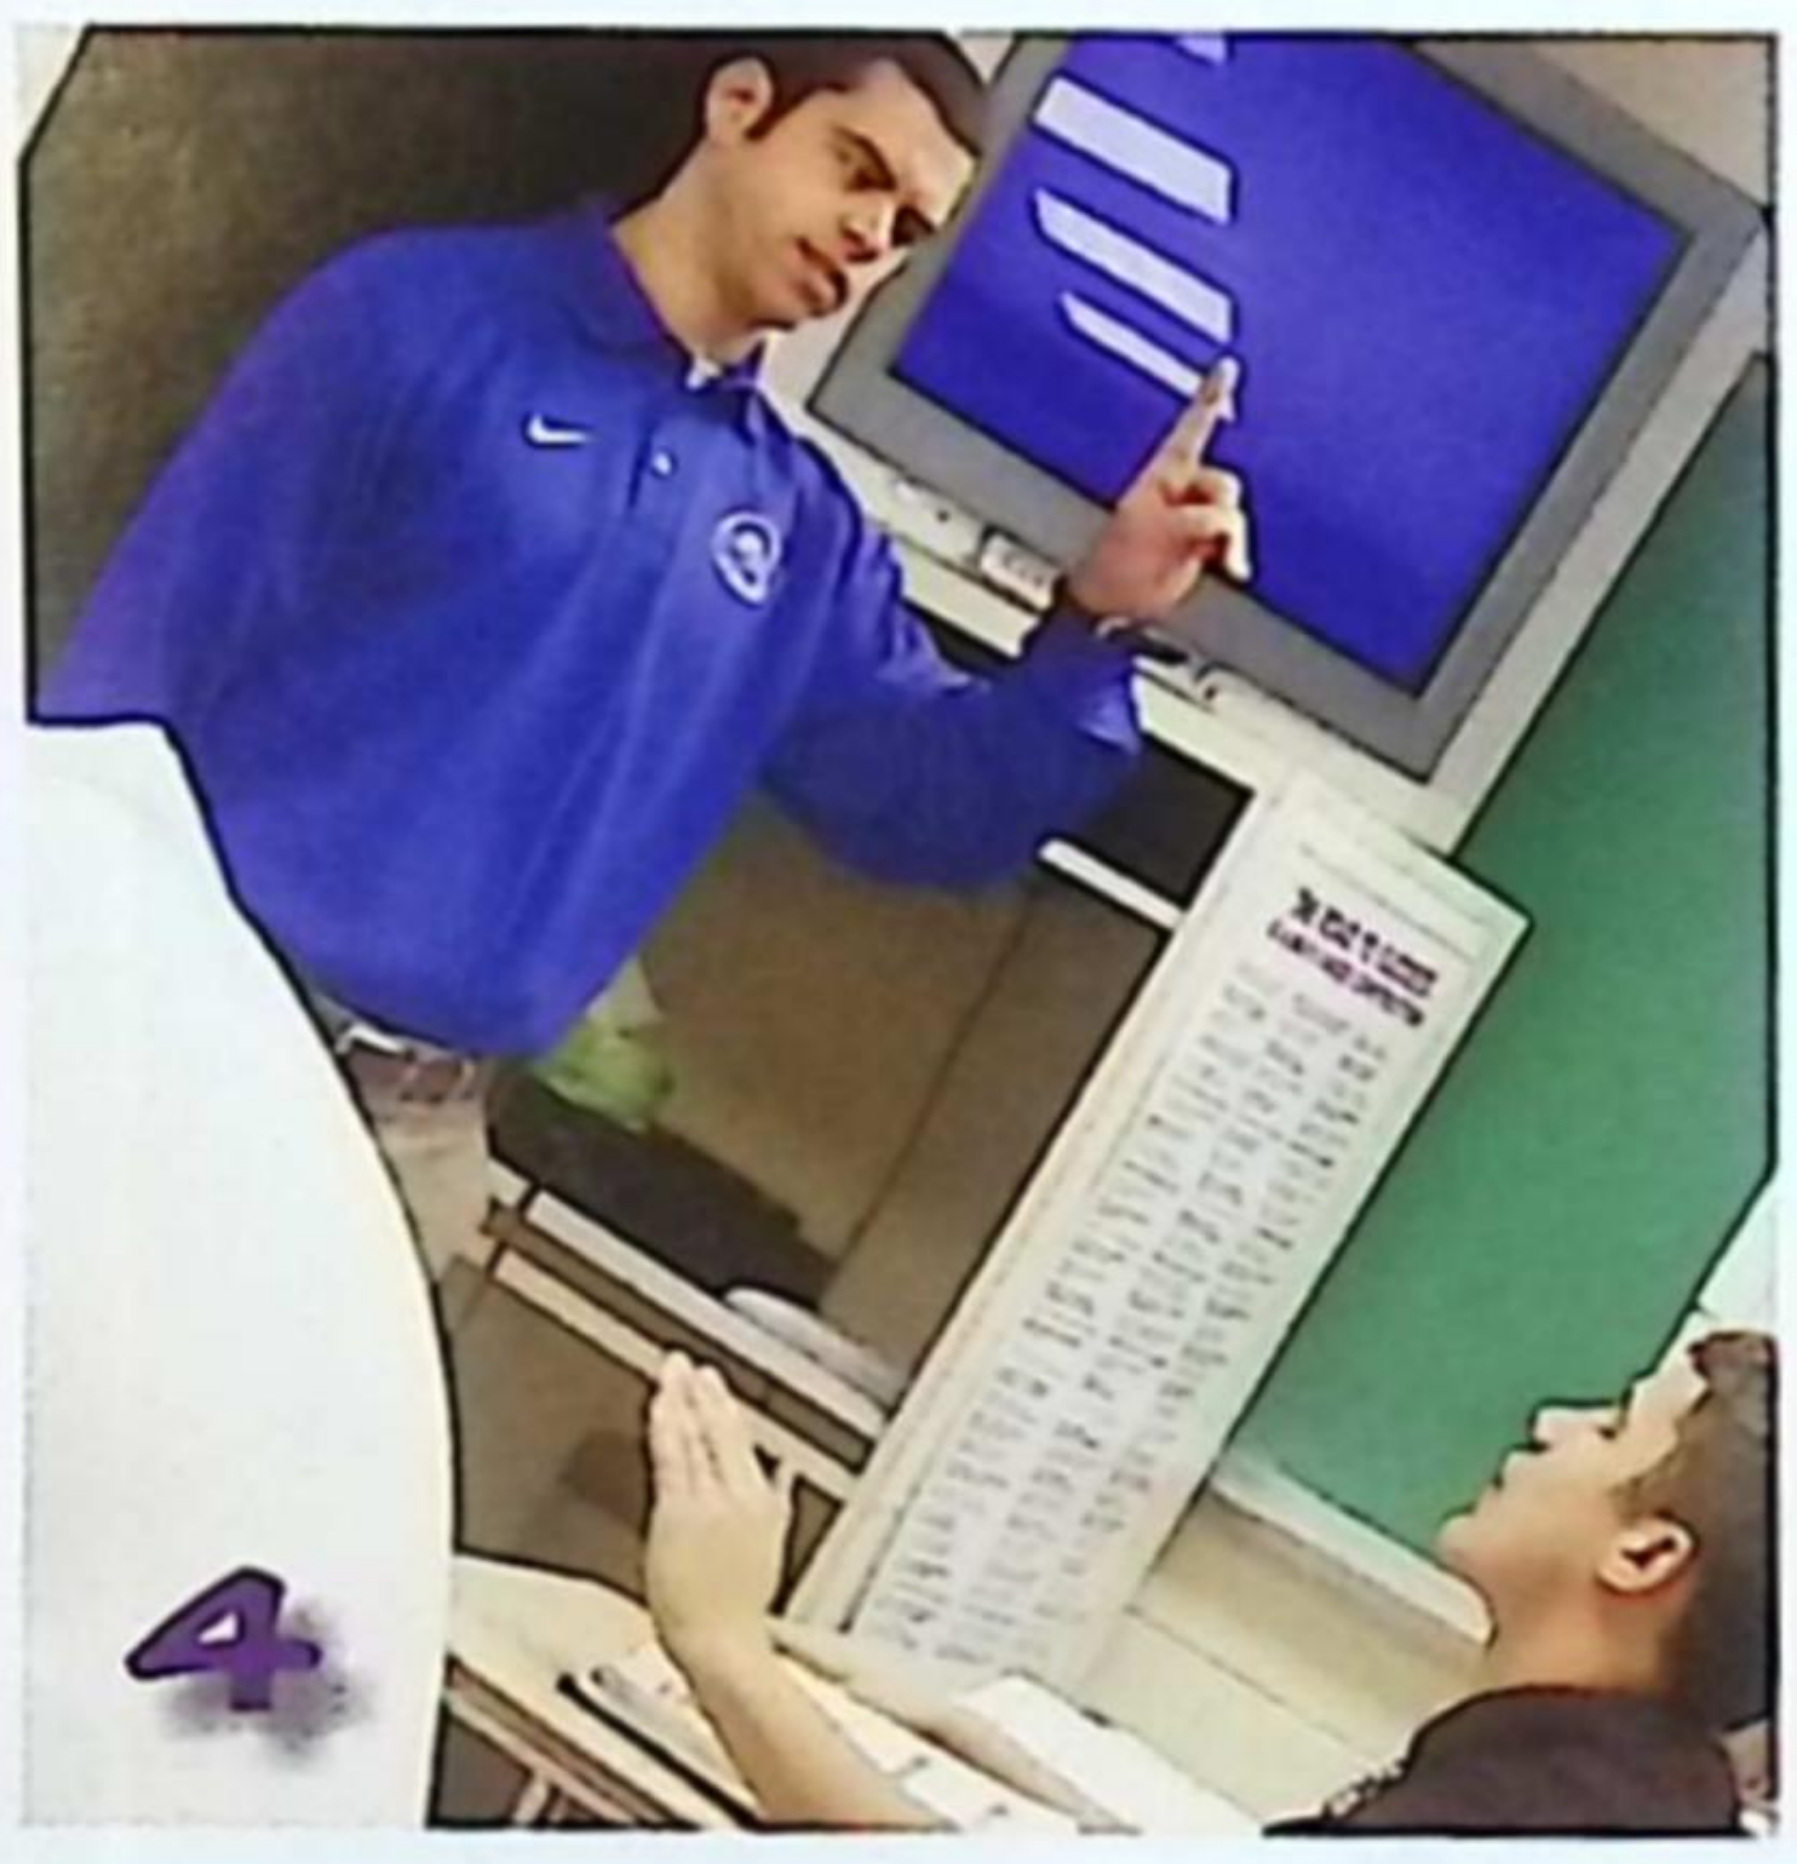
In watching your students grow and learn more each day, you must reflect on your own high school years often. What is your most cherished high school memory?



My favorite memories come from athletics: winning districts in baseball and basketball. For basketball, it was upsetting a favored Lapeer West team in regionals. Football had less highlights, although we were in the MAC Red. Another good day came when the cockiest kid in school set a record for the rope climb in gym class and then slid down fast, causing 3rd degree burns on his hands. That sounds pretty mean now, but most people thought he deserved it at the time!" -Mr. Rathje

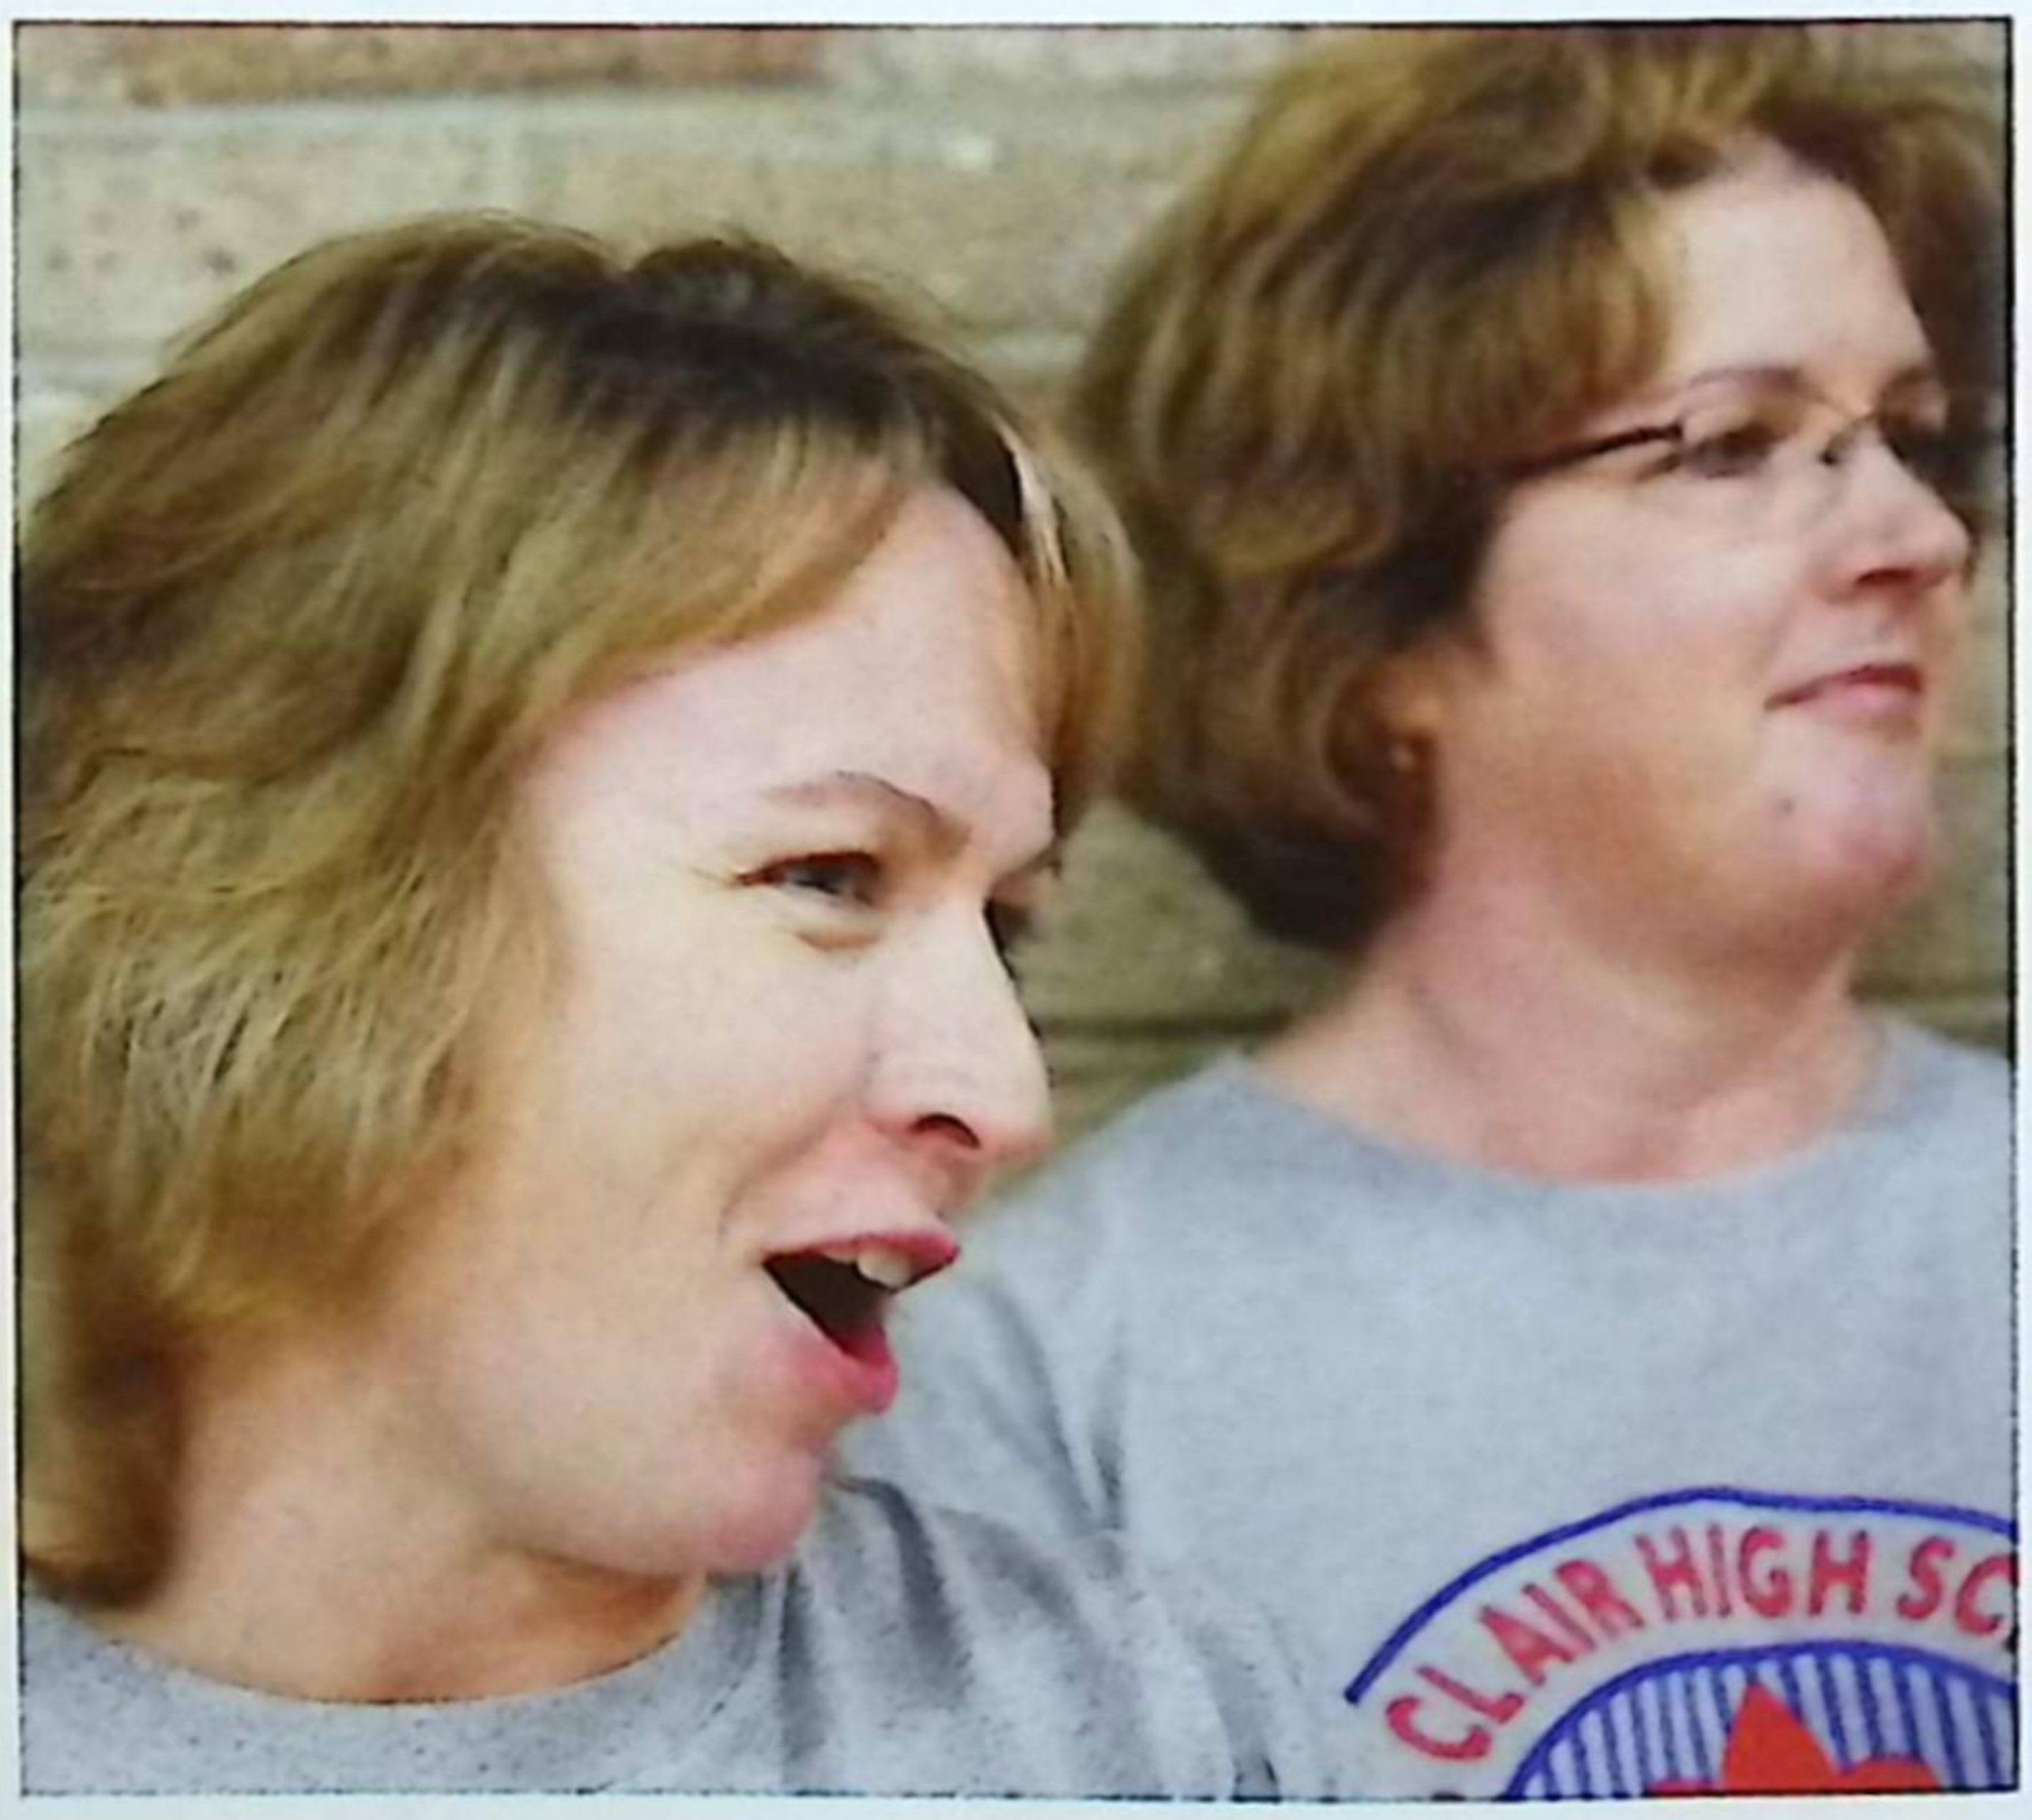


1. Mrs. Mead brightens the chaotic mood in the main office with a charming smile and a positive attitude. 2. Leaning over a diligent B Jae Trombley ('13) to assist him with a difficult biology assignment, Mrs. Emrich helps him better comprehend the concept. 3. Getting in touch with his barbaric side, Mr. M[illegible]ski shows off his rather intimidating chicken leg, a prop for his humorous Halloween costume. 4. Reminding a confused Joe Hartwig ('13) that only ONE chromosome from each parent is passed on to the child, Mr. Sha[illegible] uses his pointer finger to help Joe understand. 5. Mrs. Fitzmaurice humbly tutors Michael Car[illegible]on ('10) and aids him in preparation for his upcoming test.



A Mile Ahead of the Rest

With the trophy and honor itself at hand, Mr. Fouchey sits in the middle of the Girls' Cross Country team, who together received 19th place at the State Championship Meet. The sweat, tears, and miles of hard work led to an outstanding and well earned reward.



Let's Go SCHS!

Observing the rowdy challenges taking place at the Homecoming Pep Assembly, the anticipation builds up inside Mrs. Stillson and Ms. Deluge, who are watching safely from the sidelines. They cannot help but cheer for their eccentric, fun loving students.

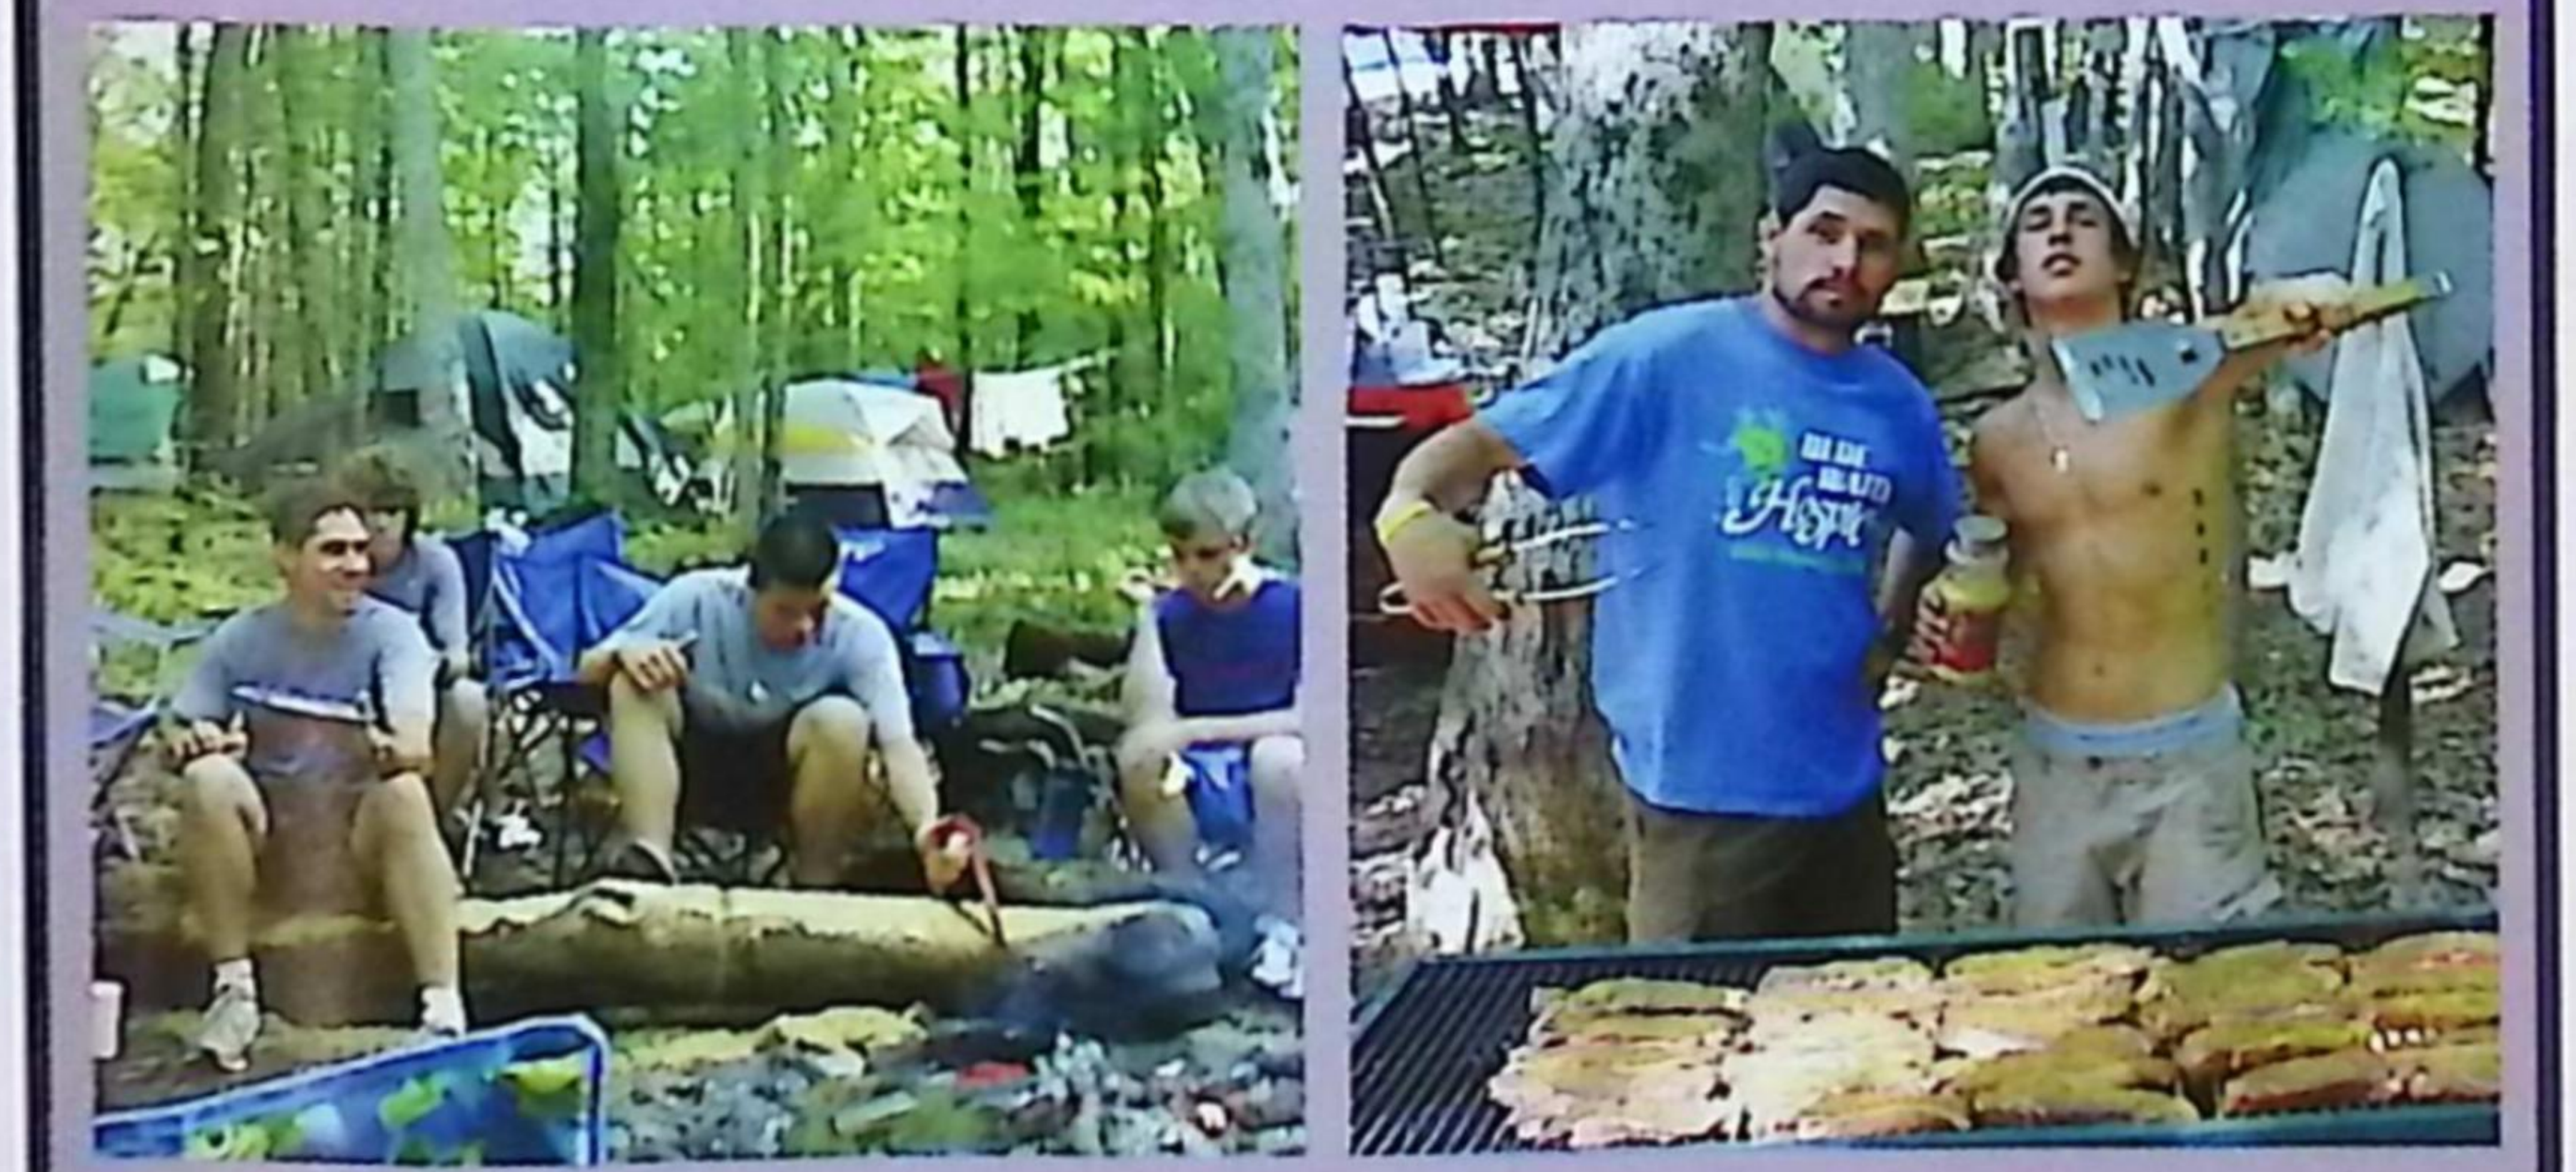
MY COACHING MOMENT



"Cross Country camp is a tradition that has been in existence since 1998. Each year we camp in the woods for seven fun filled days. We work on team building, goal setting, and just plain having fun. Camp always creates a great deal of memories and stories that pass on from year to year. The entire experience provides a team atmosphere that has led to many great success for both the boys' and the girls' programs. For most of the runners it is the best week of the entire summer."

MY MOMENT

"Well, the funniest thing a student said in my class is when we were talking about traveling. We were talking about visas and I explained that you needed one in order to travel out of the country. Crazy Classes!

"Alright, so this girl looked kind of sick one day, and looked like she was going to pass out, right? So I told one of her friends to take her to the office before something bad happened. Unfortunately, she didn't even make it that far. As she was mid-stride across the front of the room, she fell straight back, like a tree, right into the garbage can! It was pretty crazy, not going to lie!" Wow Mr. Rathje! Guess you had better watch out for those falling trees, because that sure sounds like one of the craziest things that happened in your classroom!

"Man, the craziest thing that ever happened in my class would have to be the time a girl's sweatshirt started smoking from a hot plate. She didn't even realize it until the whole class was pointing and laughing. I kind of felt bad, but hey what do you do?" Sounds like Mr. Perrin will monitor his student's clothing a little more carefully next time a lab is going on.

"A student of mine was holding the Van de Graff Generator when he felt an unusual shock going through his arm. After several minutes, he realized it was due to the metal pins in his arm!" Now that's one wacky thing Ms. Schuknecht! Who would have ever thought that something like that would happen in your class.

After four years of lessons learned the hard way…from bad grades, to even worse report cards, being grounded from TV, phone, and the Internet, to finally raising our grades, doing our homework, being involved in sports, academics, and electives; the class of 2010 has finally reached an end. We have grown up, in some ways, and are now going out into the world. Before we leave the nest and search for our purpose in life, we take a little time to recognize the journey that got us here, and the strength it took. In this section of the book, our parents looked through and picked out our baby pictures, and have recounted the stories of when we were in diapers; remembering our journey through these past 12 years. They begin to cry, but not out of sadness for what is gone, but out of pride and the hope for what is to come. They are so proud of our accomplishments, big and small; we can't help but appreciate the immense support they've given to us over the years. With all of the encouragement from our cheerleading teams back home, there is no way the class of 2010 could have done it without their help.

ERICA SCHUH

Dear Erica,

I remember that early morning, just before Christmas so vividly, as if it just happened yesterday. When the doctor placed you in my arms for the first time, I know I had never laid eyes on anything so beautiful before. You were perfect in every way, and the best Christmas gift I have ever received. It has been such a pleasure for your dad and I to watch you grow into the intelligent, self-assured, young lady that you have become. We love your confidence and your funny sense of humor, we could not have asked for a better daughter. It will be hard to let you go, but we know that you will succeed in the future, always remember to have fun and live life to the fullest. You make us proud!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Ryan, and Kylie

HUNTER DUBAY

Hunter,

As this chapter in you life ends, another exciting one begins. Wherever your next chapter takes you, follow your dreams and enjoy the journey. Be proud of yourself, as we are very proud of the young man you have become.

Live your dreams and work hard toward your goals. Keep that silly sense of humor, it may help you along the way. You didn't earn the nickname "Smiley" for nothing. Remember that our love will follow you wherever you go. The rest of your book of life is full of blank pages for you to fill, we're excited to see how your future unfolds. Treasure every minute of it and enjoy yourself along the way!

CONNOR TIERNEY

Connor, you make us proud everyday but there is one thing we cherish in you: your "CHARACTER". Your moral and ethical qualities stand out among your peers. You have always been a man of honor, honesty, courage, and integrity. You are a defender of the meek and you have always given the benefit of the doubt to those that are labeled. This alone will carry you through the "real world". We are happy for you and cannot wait to see your mind in action as you change the world. You are and always will be our boy.

Love,
Mom and Dad

TODD A. FRANTZ

In Loving Memory of Our Son...

First of all we would all like to thank Todd's friends for being so great to Todd. For building memories of riding dirt bikes, overnight bonfires, the laughters, the tricks played, and the caring for our family. Everyone knows Todd loved his dirt bikes and the memories of his friends going to see him race and race with him. For the numerous times Tom and I were sick, and you all came with Todd to express your care, we are eternally grateful. Todd's dream in life was for our family to be on Extreme Makeover Home Edition. After Todd passed, we were nominated, which Todd would have been so proud of. If we get it, we will dedicate a room of memories so all his friends can come and enjoy.

Most of us can remember Todd with a smile on his face. He had a passion for life and the people around him. From snowmobiling with friends, to hanging out in his man cave, Todd was a caring person that would help anyone in need. He helped everyone - from us at home, his friends and family, to complete strangers that were stuck or broke down.Todd helped get wood for his Uncle Joe and Aunt Pam when the Belle River flooded their house. Todd and his cousin Jeff boated wood back and forth all day. He was there for his nephew Kevin on good days and bad. He had a way about him that brought people together, young or old. Todd always made our family laugh. From running our dog, Sassy, as she hung from the back of his pants, to making funny faces to make Tommy and Matt laugh, he was always smiling. He even took Bri's (Tommy's Girlfriend) boxers and placed them over his clothes and chased her around singing just to make her smile. Todd loved children, from his nephew Kevin, to the lil girl, Olivia, across the street that he babysat, or his cousin's son, Blake. They meant everything to Todd, and they always made him show that big smile. He made Matt laugh after he got over being mad, because Todd took and switched Matt's mattress for his. Tommy got to enjoy countless overnight stays of gaming and laughter with Todd. Todd just brought joy to many lives.

All his friends and teachers have told us fond memories, and told us how great our child was. Our parenting skills and family have not been the only influence on Todd being the wonderful person he was. You, his friends, and teachers have also made Todd the gentleman he was.

So the one thing our family wants is for everyone to make sure you let the ones you love know that you love them everyday. Life is too short, so show all the care you can to your family and friends. A special thanks from our family to Carissa, Connie and Dustin. Todd had many memories with all of his friends.

Love always,
Mom, Dad, Matt, Kevin, Tommy, and Brianna
Also, your little friend that misses you too! Sassy

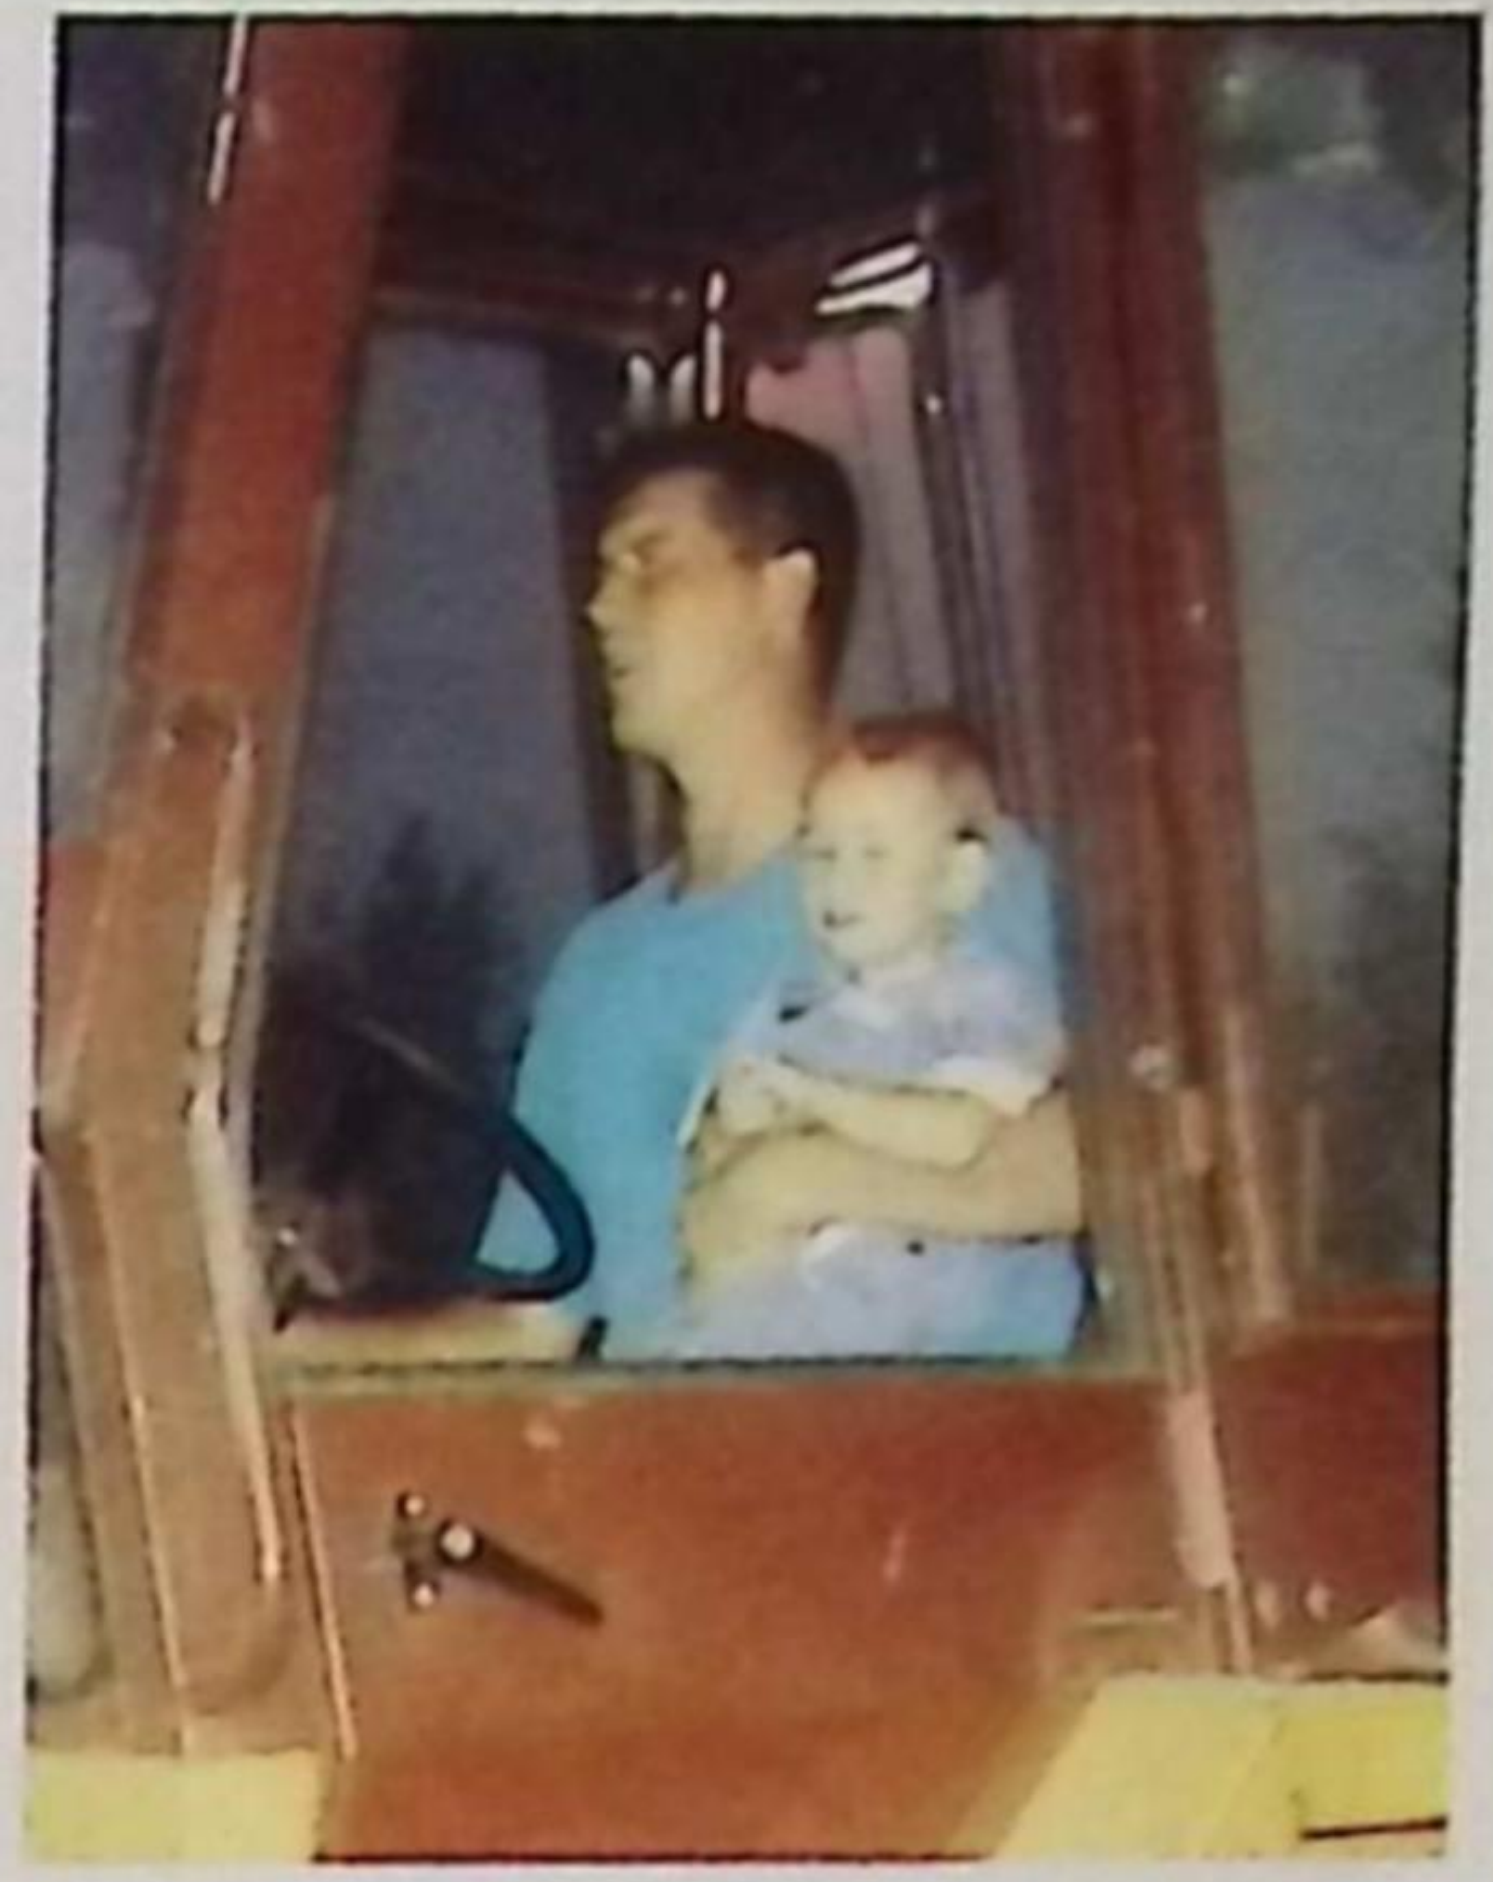
We love you and miss you forever!

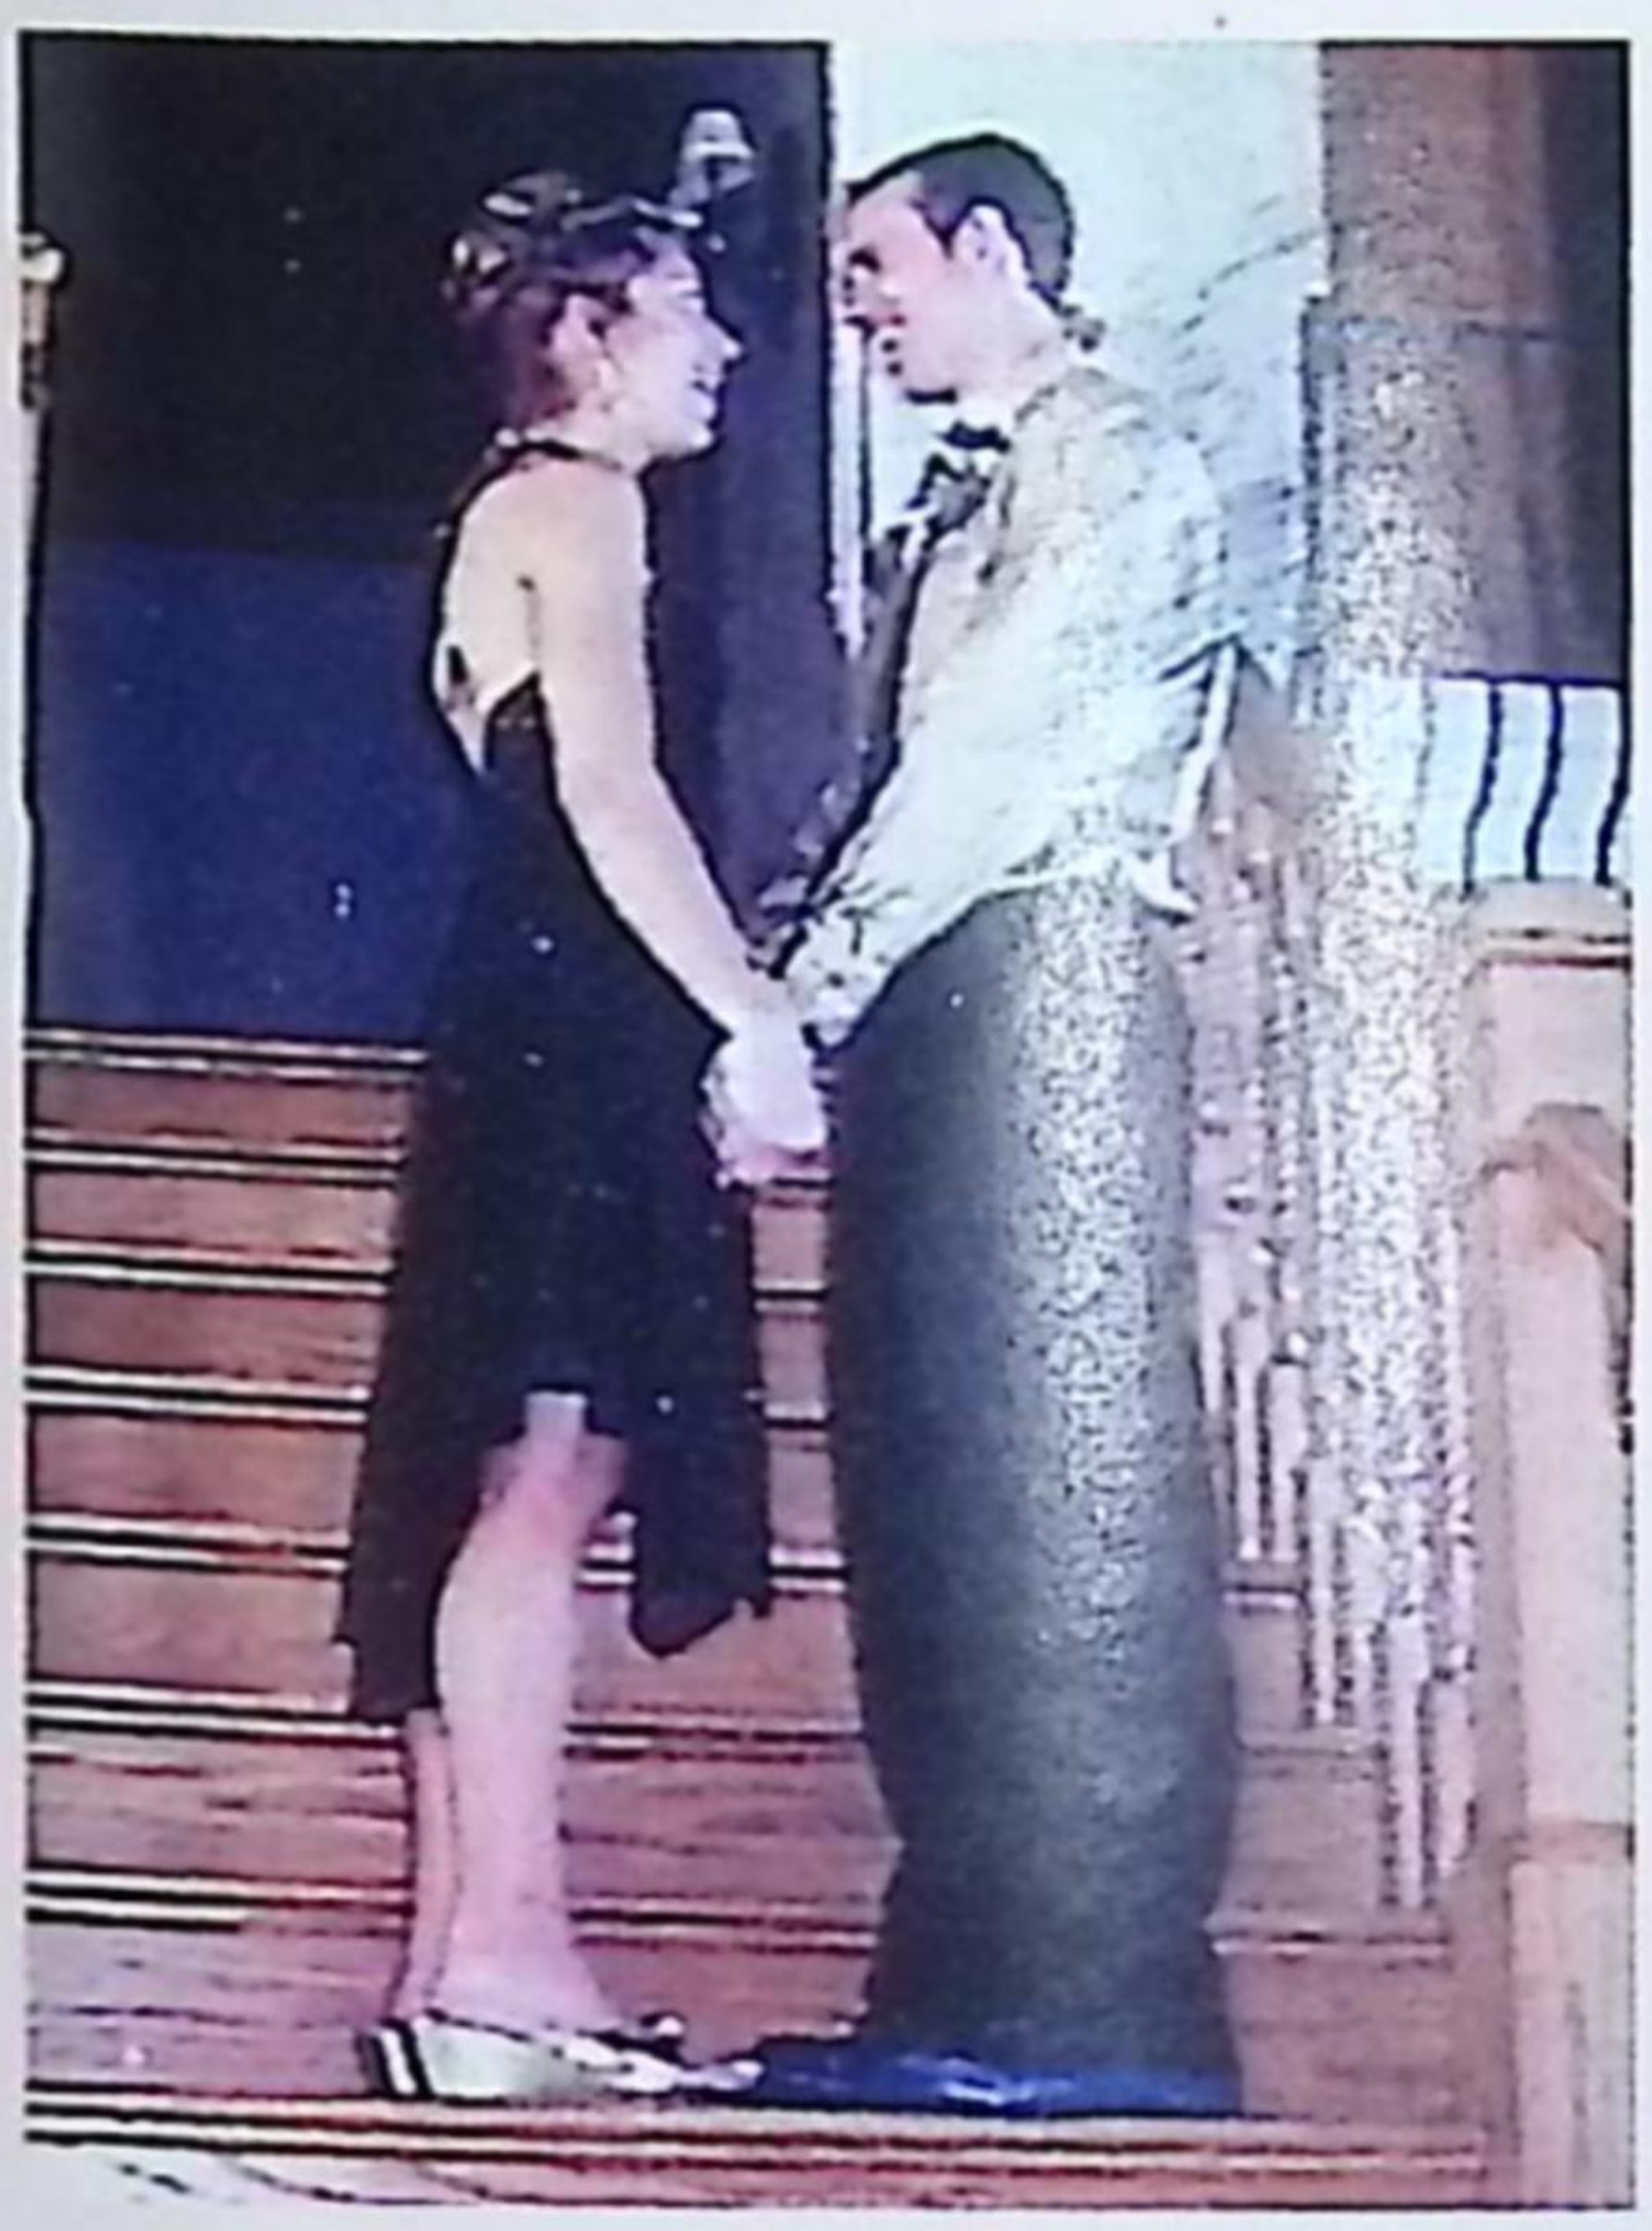
"We all feel your loss and still feel your presence. We love you and miss you."

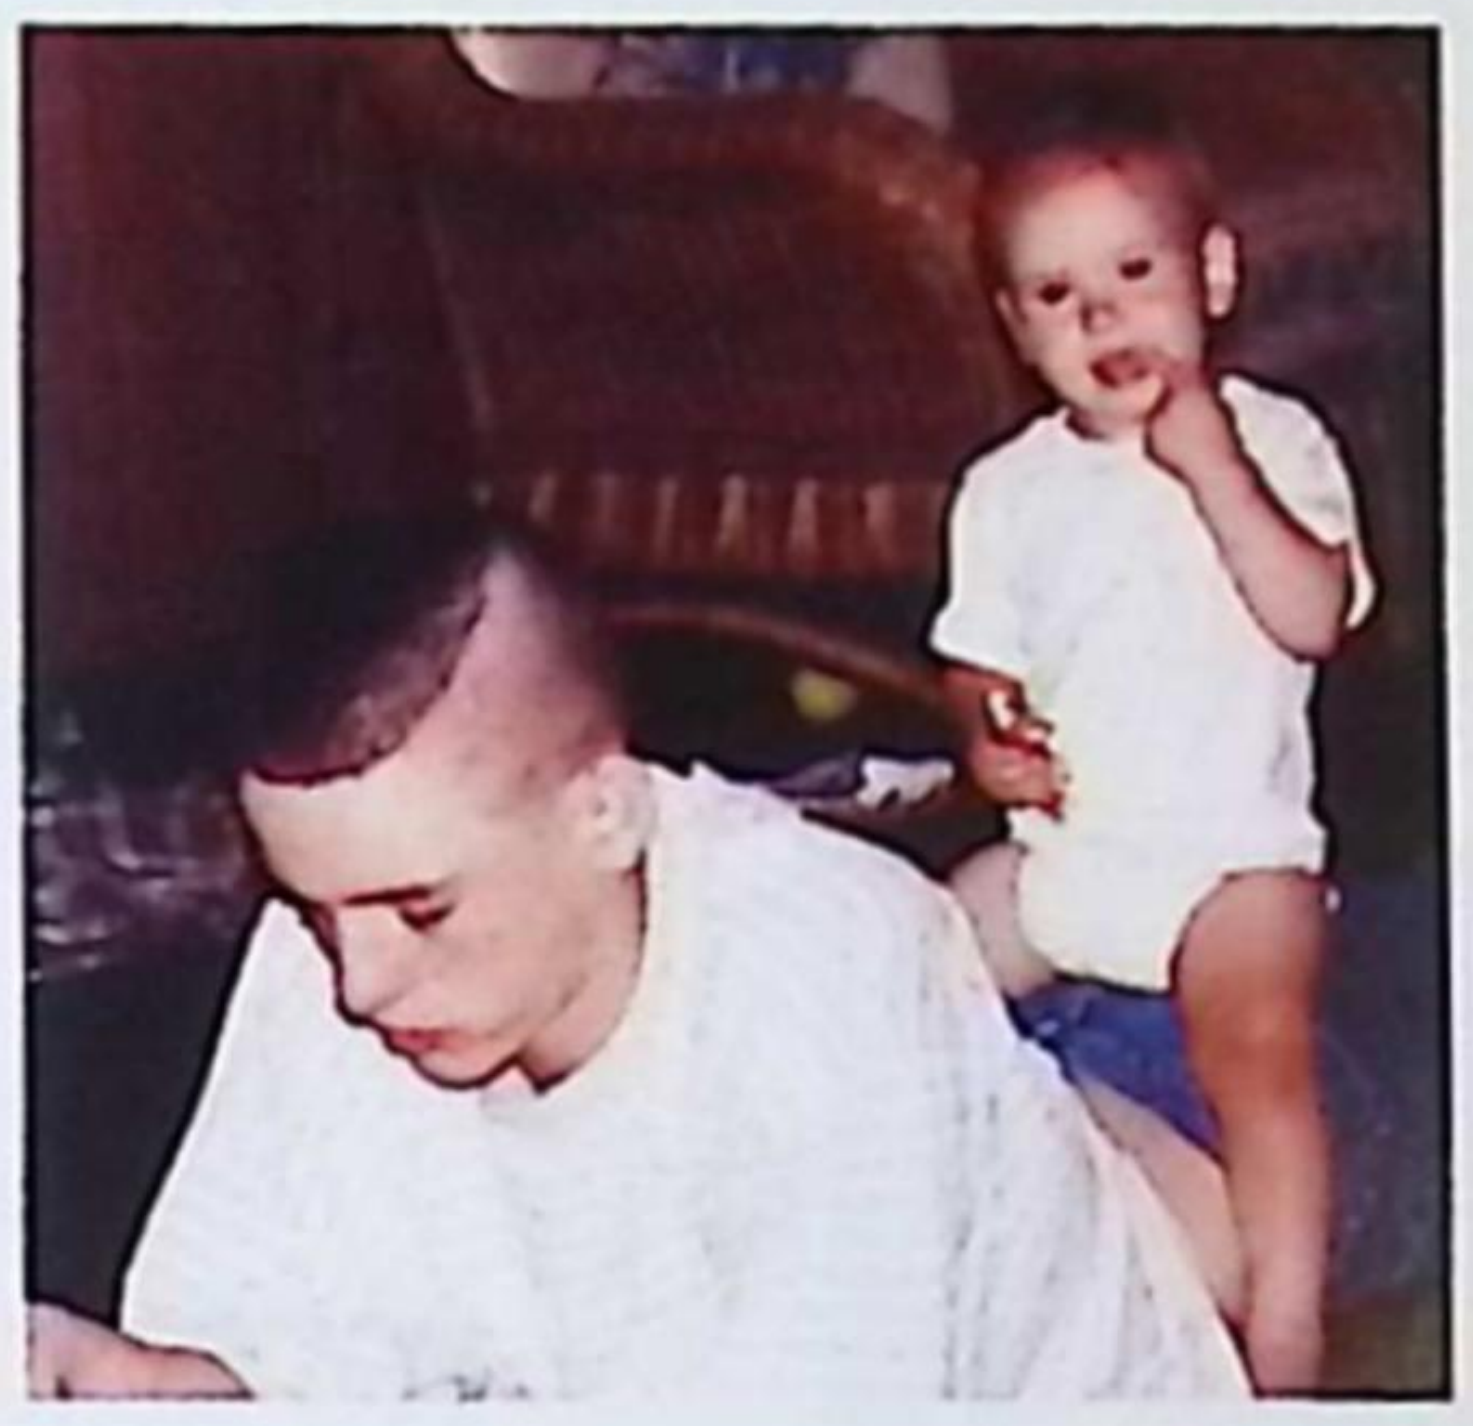
-Uncle David and Aunt Niece

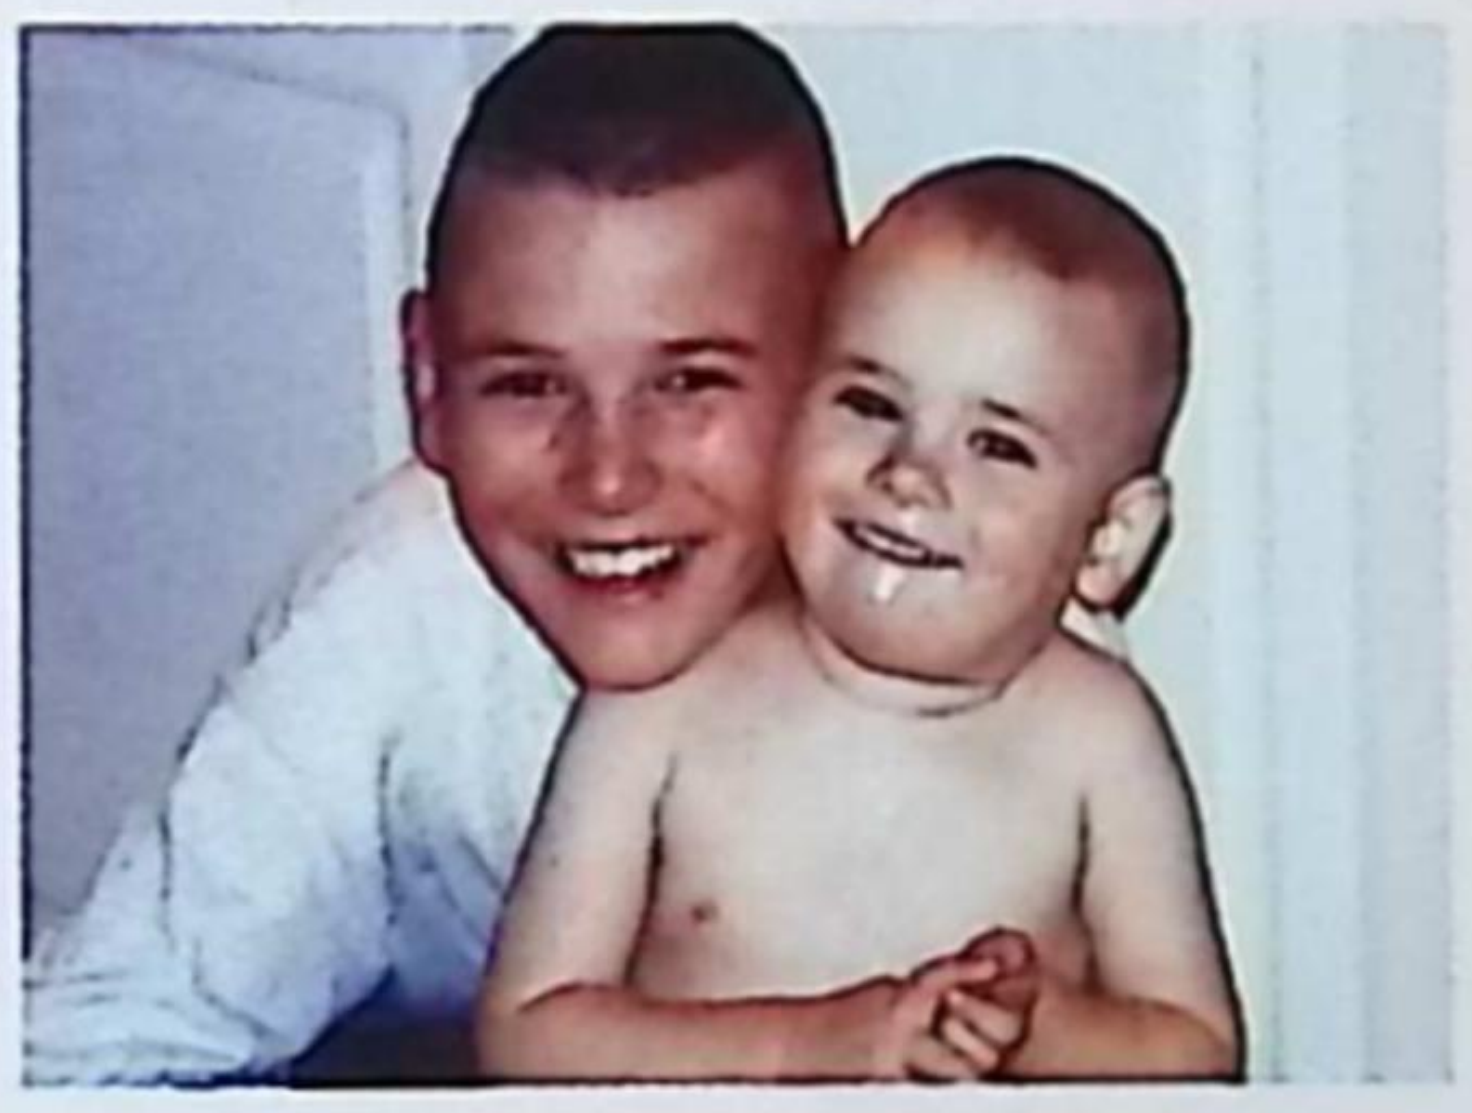
"If you have visited Todd's grave, you would have seen a bird there. The reason for the bird is that Todd was my baby bird."

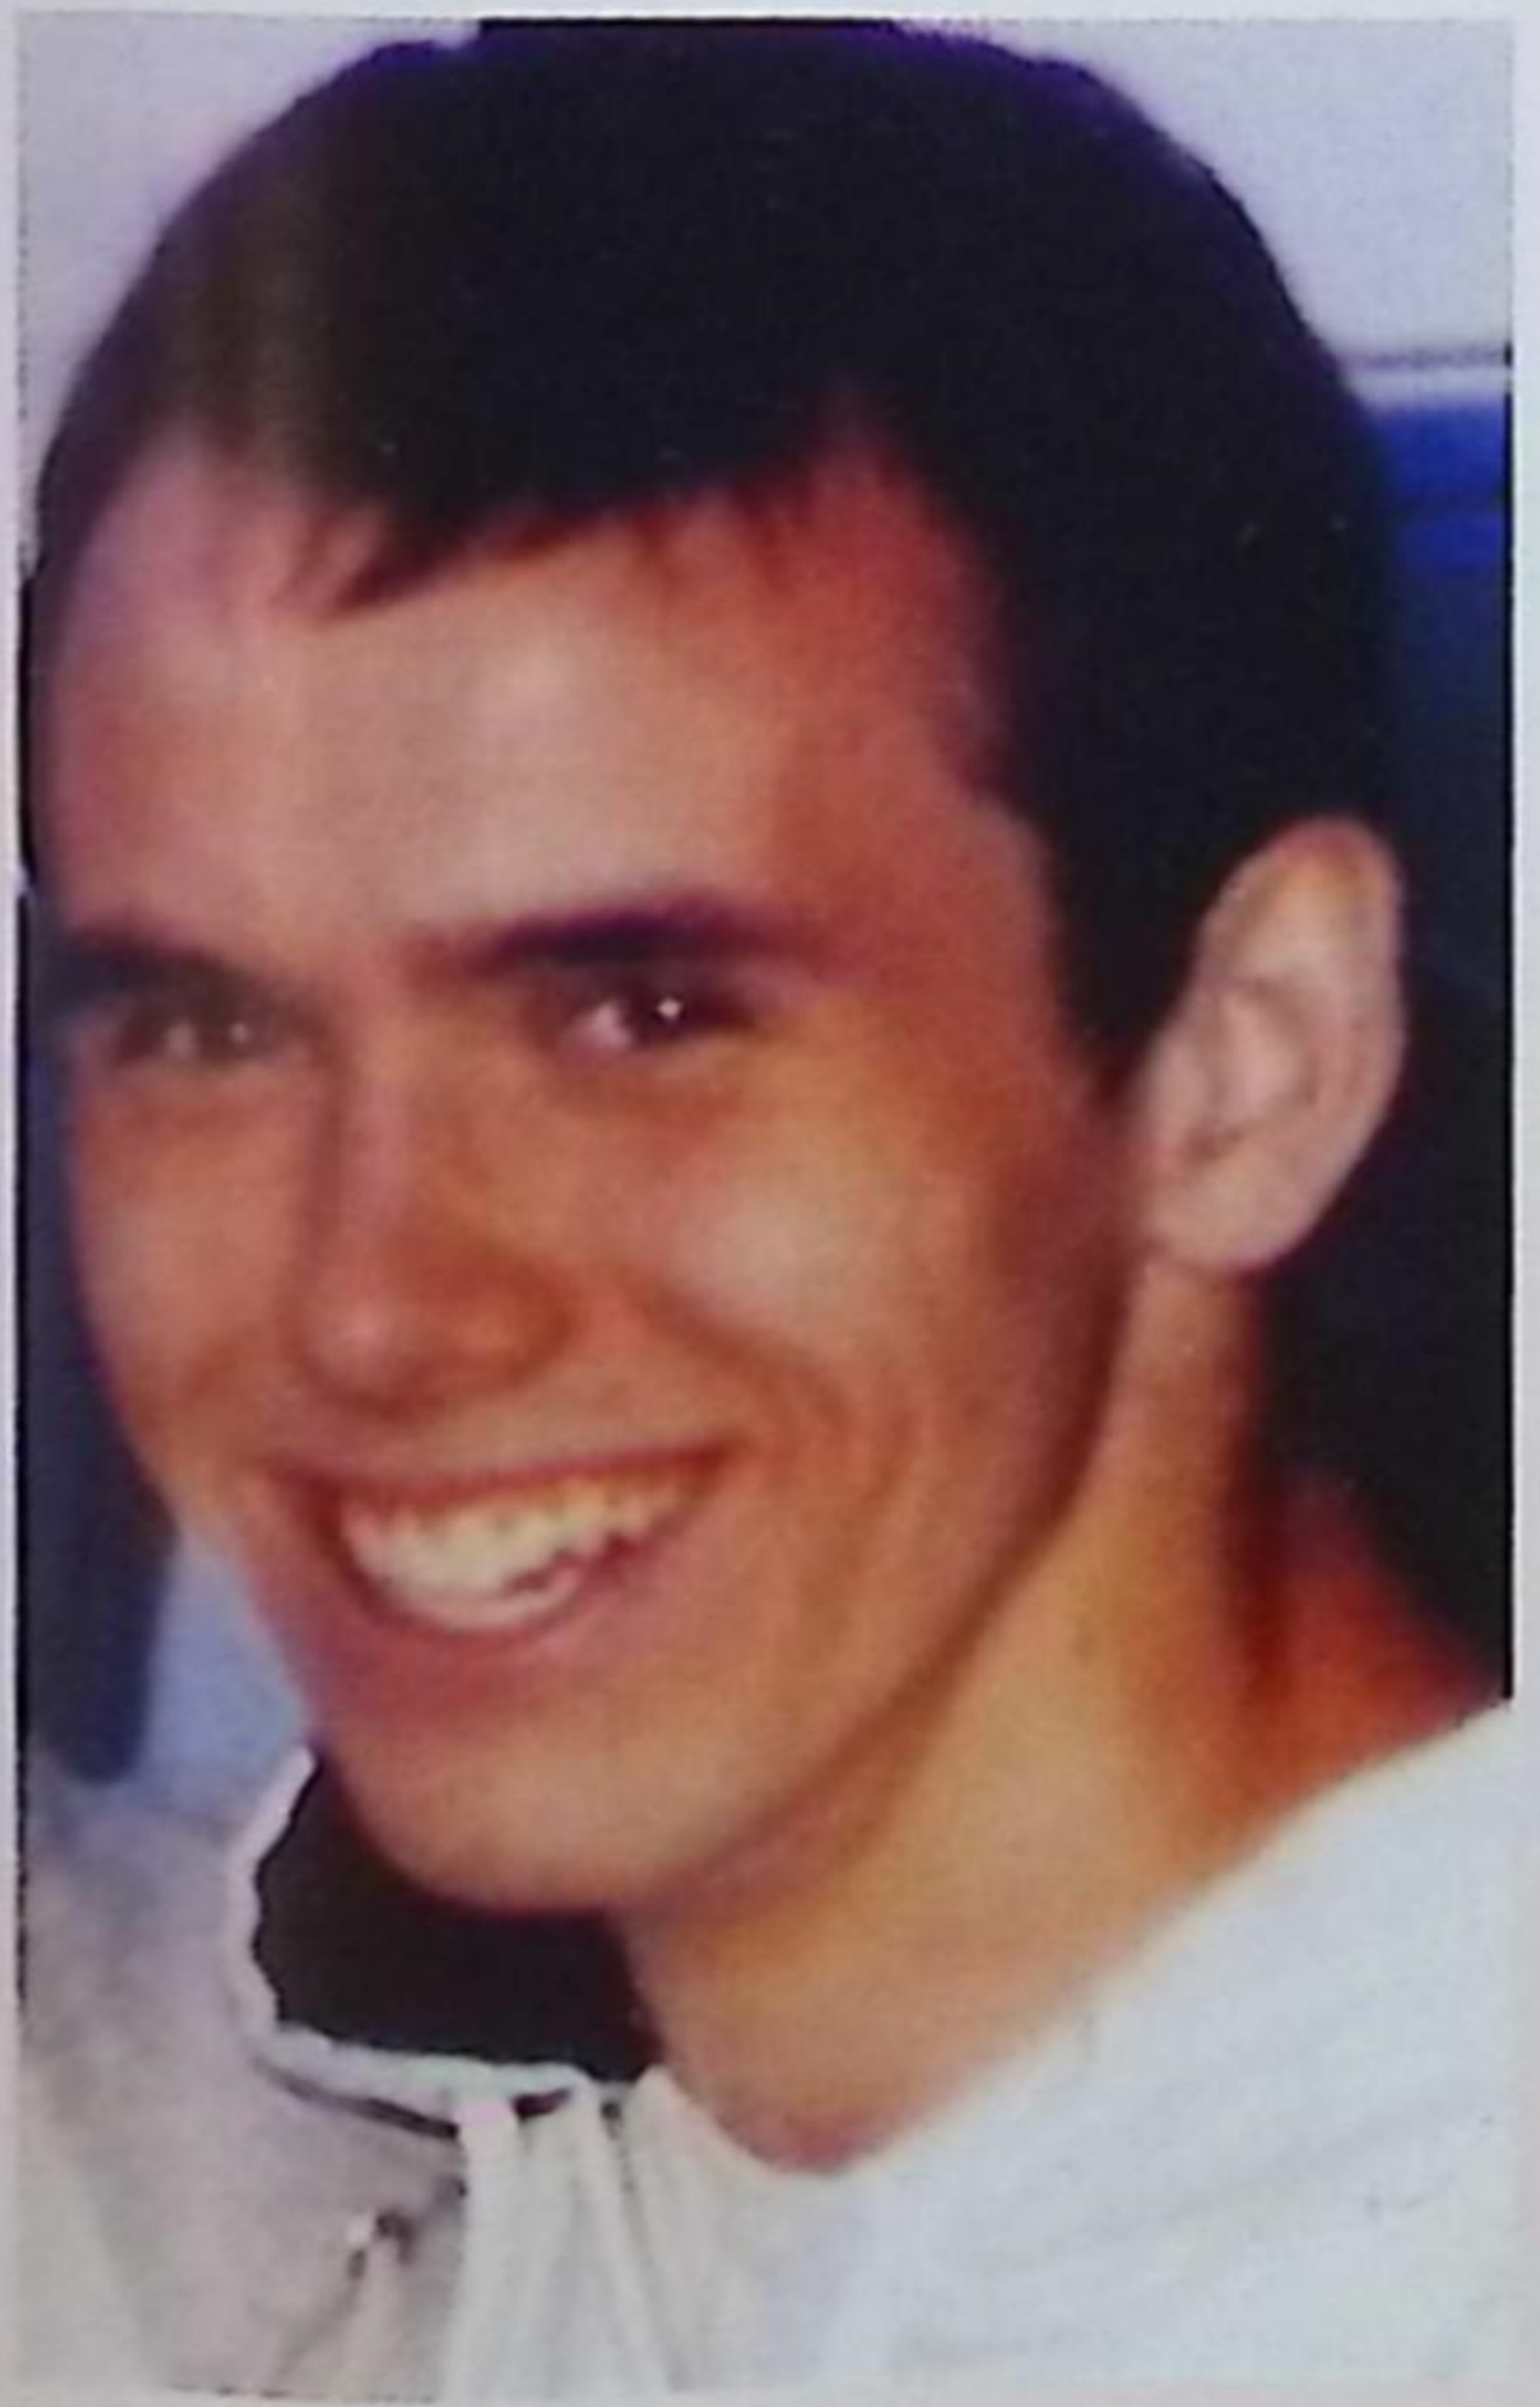
-Josephine Theut and Blake Shangena











HONDA
FACTORY RACING

Todd Anthony Frantz died June 23, 2009 in a car accident. For those who had the great pleasure of knowing or even just meeting him, I will tell you what a tragedy it is to lose such a great person. If you look at pictures of Todd through his past, they will show you what a happy person he was with the ability to smile and make others smile, even when nothing else could.Todd loved to be outdoors and loved his dirtbike. Despite the muscle disease Todd had and the doctors telling him he couldn't ride, he did. He rode and rode hard. He was always out on his bike and racing. He was in his own world and nothing mattered but riding. Todd was always helping out and caring for anyone he came in contact with. Todd, at only 18 years old, touched more people than people who live 495 times that. So if you had the chance to meet him, you were one of the lucky ones. Todd was a great friend, son, cousin, nephew, uncle, and to me, a brother.... he will be missed.

Love you,
Tommy Frantz

YEARBOOK SENIORS

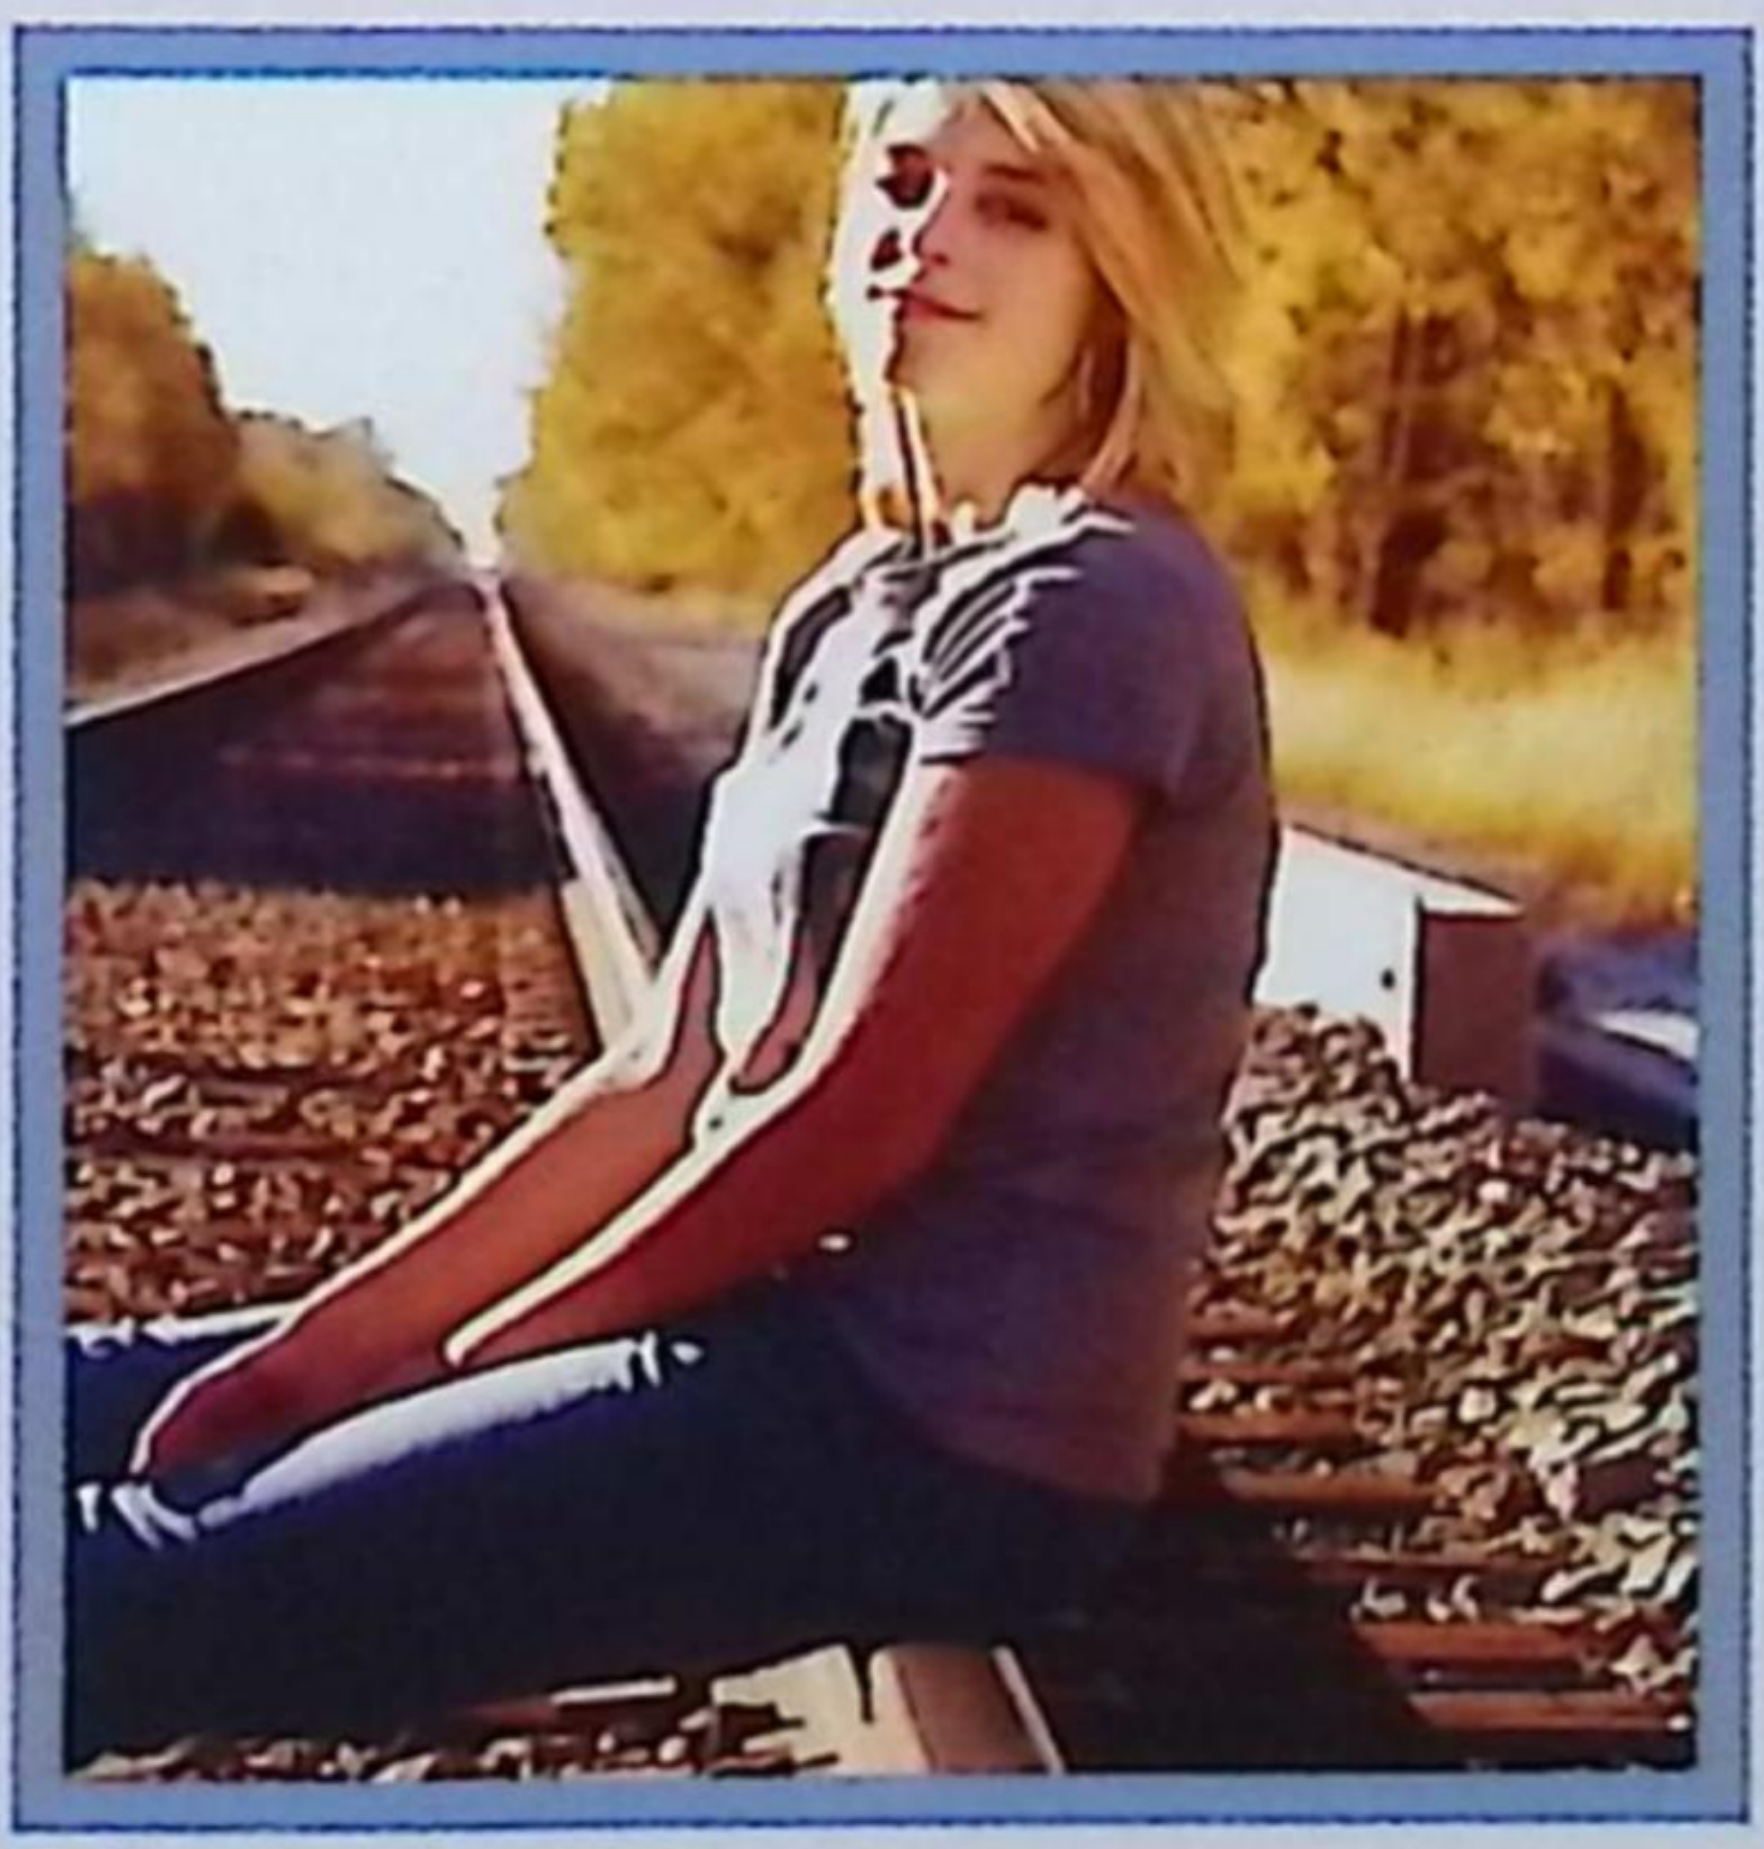
To our seniors:

We have learned from your examples and we have cherished the times we've spent together...we love you and wish you well...you will be missed!!

The 2010 Y-Book Staff

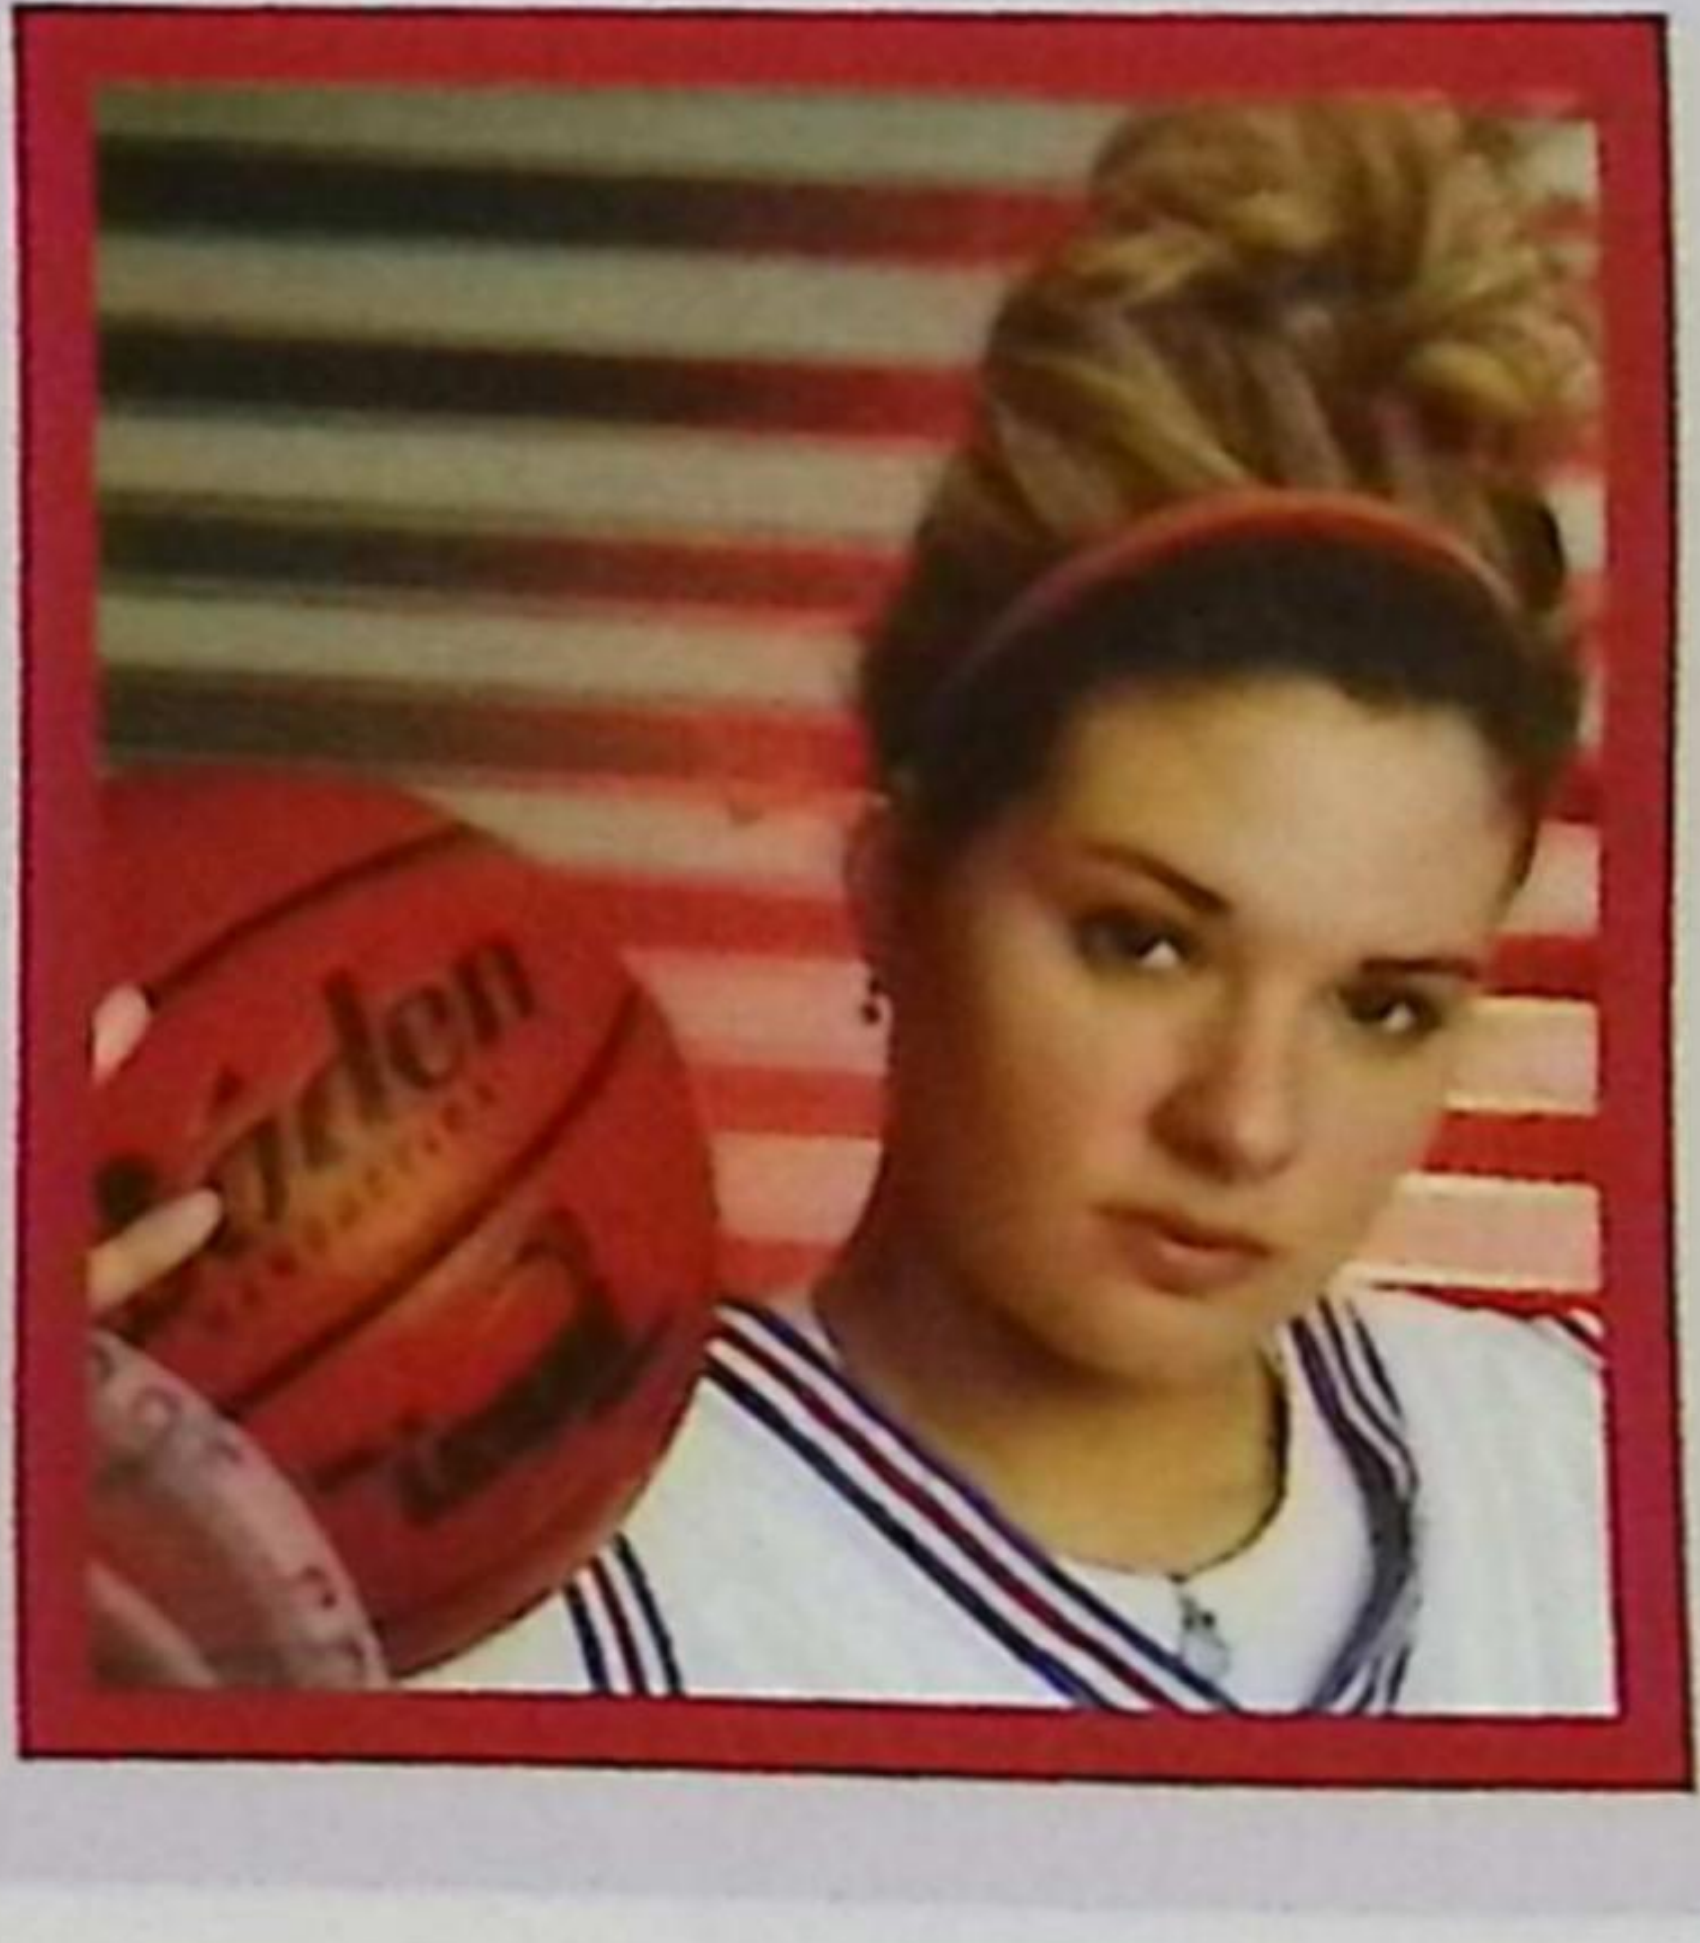
Mel-
Thank you for all of your hard work and dedication. Being the editor is not always glamorous, but you have done a fantastic job and you should be very proud of all of your work!

Lauren-
When you left us last year we were so sad! What a wonderful surprise it was to have you back for your senior year. You were always there when we needed you!



Sarah-
Most Y-Book members take an entire year just to learn the system...but you jumped right in and became such an unbelievable asset to our staff. Your writing abilities were amazing!

Alex-
What can we say...thank you for all of your work over the summer getting our picture folders ready for the year; it was such a big help! You've been awesome with all of the photography aspects of the book!



STUDENT COUNCIL

Congratulations, Seniors! You have all been a huge asset to Student Council, and I know you will all make great leaders. Good luck to all of you!

THEME:

In order to create a yearbook, you must first decide on the theme of the book, and then, the appearance and design of the yearbook can be created During the winter months in 2009, I began looking over theme ideas, and the idea of memories caught my eye. A yearbook is a collection of memories we create throughout high school, and for each individual, each memory is distinct, different, and stands out. Each student in high school has their own personal moments that they will remember for the rest of their lives. Thus, "It's the Moments That Stand Out" was created, with a cover that stands out from the previous yearbooks as well. This year in yearbook class also stood out, with the addition of 9 brand new yearbook staffers, who did an amazing job working with the very different design of this year's yearbook, and an exceptional job with coping with the work load this yearbook brought. Not only did the 9 brand new staffers do a great job, but the returning 6 staffers still exceeded expectations.

Editor-in-chief

TECHNICALITIES:

This year's yearbook was published by Jostens Printing and Publishing in Topeka, Kansas. This 260 page book was published in color for the fifth year in a row here at St. Clair High School. The design of the 2009-2010 yearbook cover was developed by the help of a multitude of staffers and their creative inputs. Our advisor, Mrs. Westrick, and myself came up with the idea of a scrapbook cover, with many different images that represented our school, as well as our community here in St. Clair. Also, this cover came alive with the artistic abilities of Breezer Britz, who drew the title of this yearbook, which appears on the front cover. Our Jostens Sales Representative was Mike Page, who helped out our staff tremendously throughout the production of this yearbook. Our in-plant consultant was Cathy Goodman. This yearbook used a total of 5 different fonts: Helvetica, Clarence, Elegance, Cheers Type, and Chantilly Light. The yearbook staff worked on the production of this book in our computer lab, which consisted of 15 computers, all equipped with Windows XP Professional. To create this yearbook, our staff used Jostens Yearbook Avenue, for the third year in a row, to design, edit, and build this book. To edit and scan photos, our staff used Adobe Photoshop.

Once again, this yearbook reserved the last page of the book for a talented photographer. This year, Alex Bernardi ended our yearbook with a creative, and beautiful photograph she personally took. Giving Alex the final page of the yearbook for her photo not only allowed us to thank her for being such a great photographer, but to also wish her luck in her future in hopes of studying photography.

MRS. BADLEY, MRS. BUTLIN, MRS. MEAD, MRS. RINEHART, MRS. ROBBINS, MRS. STEENLAND AND MRS. ZOEPLITZ:

Thank you for all your help; you have allowed us to produce this yearbook. All of your hard work, help, and patience with our staff has allowed us to finish our yearbook. Your kindness is greatly appreciated, and we thank you for all that you have done for us.

IT'S THE MOMENTS THAT STAND OUT

MRS. WESTRICK:

I truly thank you for believing in my abilities. When deciding on a new editor, you found dedication, creativity and passion within my character, and for that I thank you. You allowed me to express myself in new ways, to take up a position of leadership and thus improve my persona. You have always been extremely dedicated to our staff, and our yearbook, making decisions that truly benefit us; your passion is greatly appreciated. Without you as an advisor, our yearbook, and yearbook class, would cease to be as amazing as it is, and I thank you for all you have done for us for the past three years. You believed in me even though sometimes I didn't., and your encouragement in me as an editor has allowed me to excel in creating this year's yearbook.

STAFF:

Thank you all for all your hard work and effort put into this yearbook. You all did an amazing job, and I am proud of each and every one of my staffers!

Alex- You have put such a strong effort and dedication into all of your pages. Your are strong willed and talented in everything that you do. I am so happy I have gotten to know you better as a person, and I am going to truly miss you

Lauren- I am glad to have you back on our staff this year. You lighten the mood in yearbook everyday, making it fun and I'm going to miss you

Hannah- My little assistant editor. I have no doubt in my mind that next year you will do an amazing job. You are a very talented writer, and you set your goals high. Good luck next year and always continue being cute little Hannah.

Sam- You have done so much for this yearbook, from businesses, pages and even to proud parent ads, your hard work is noticed. You have such a great personality and sense of humor, and I know you will continue to be a great business manager next year.

Annie- Oh Anne, you have a hilarious sense of humor, and you always manage to make everyone laugh in class. I am going to miss your fun personality.

Sarah- You always managed to get your pages done on time, no matter how much stress you were under. You are an amazing writer, and I enjoyed getting to know you better. P.S. enjoy your candy.

Bondy- You are such a hard worker. Thanks for all the effort you put into your pages and good luck on being an assistant editor next year!

Becca- I am so happy we had you on our staff this year. You are creative and diligent and an all around good person. I'll miss you Bec.

Maddie- You are so hardworking, and I wish you the best of luck next year in being an assistant business editor. Your writing is so creative and I am glad we had you on our staff this year, you truly benefited us.

Tina- Thanks for all the great pictures that your have taken for us this year, and all that you have helped me with this year. You are a great photographer_keep it up!

Chelsea- I really enjoyed you being in yearbook this year, and I appreciate all of the work you put into this book.

Breezer- Even though we lost you half way through the year, you were still an asset to our staff, your artistic abilities were really appreciated.

Holli- As a yearbook newcomer, you did an exceptional job coping with the crazy deadlines and intense workload. Thank you for taking on an immense amount of pages, on top of the ones already assigned to you. You helped me out tremendously.

Paige- You are such a sweet girl, and your fun attitude always made our staff smile day to day. Thanks for being a art of our staff this year.

Karly- As the newest member of our staff, you have done a great job adjusting to the stress yearbook can bring. You work extremely hard on all of your pages, and the detail you bring impresses us all.

I'll miss you all!

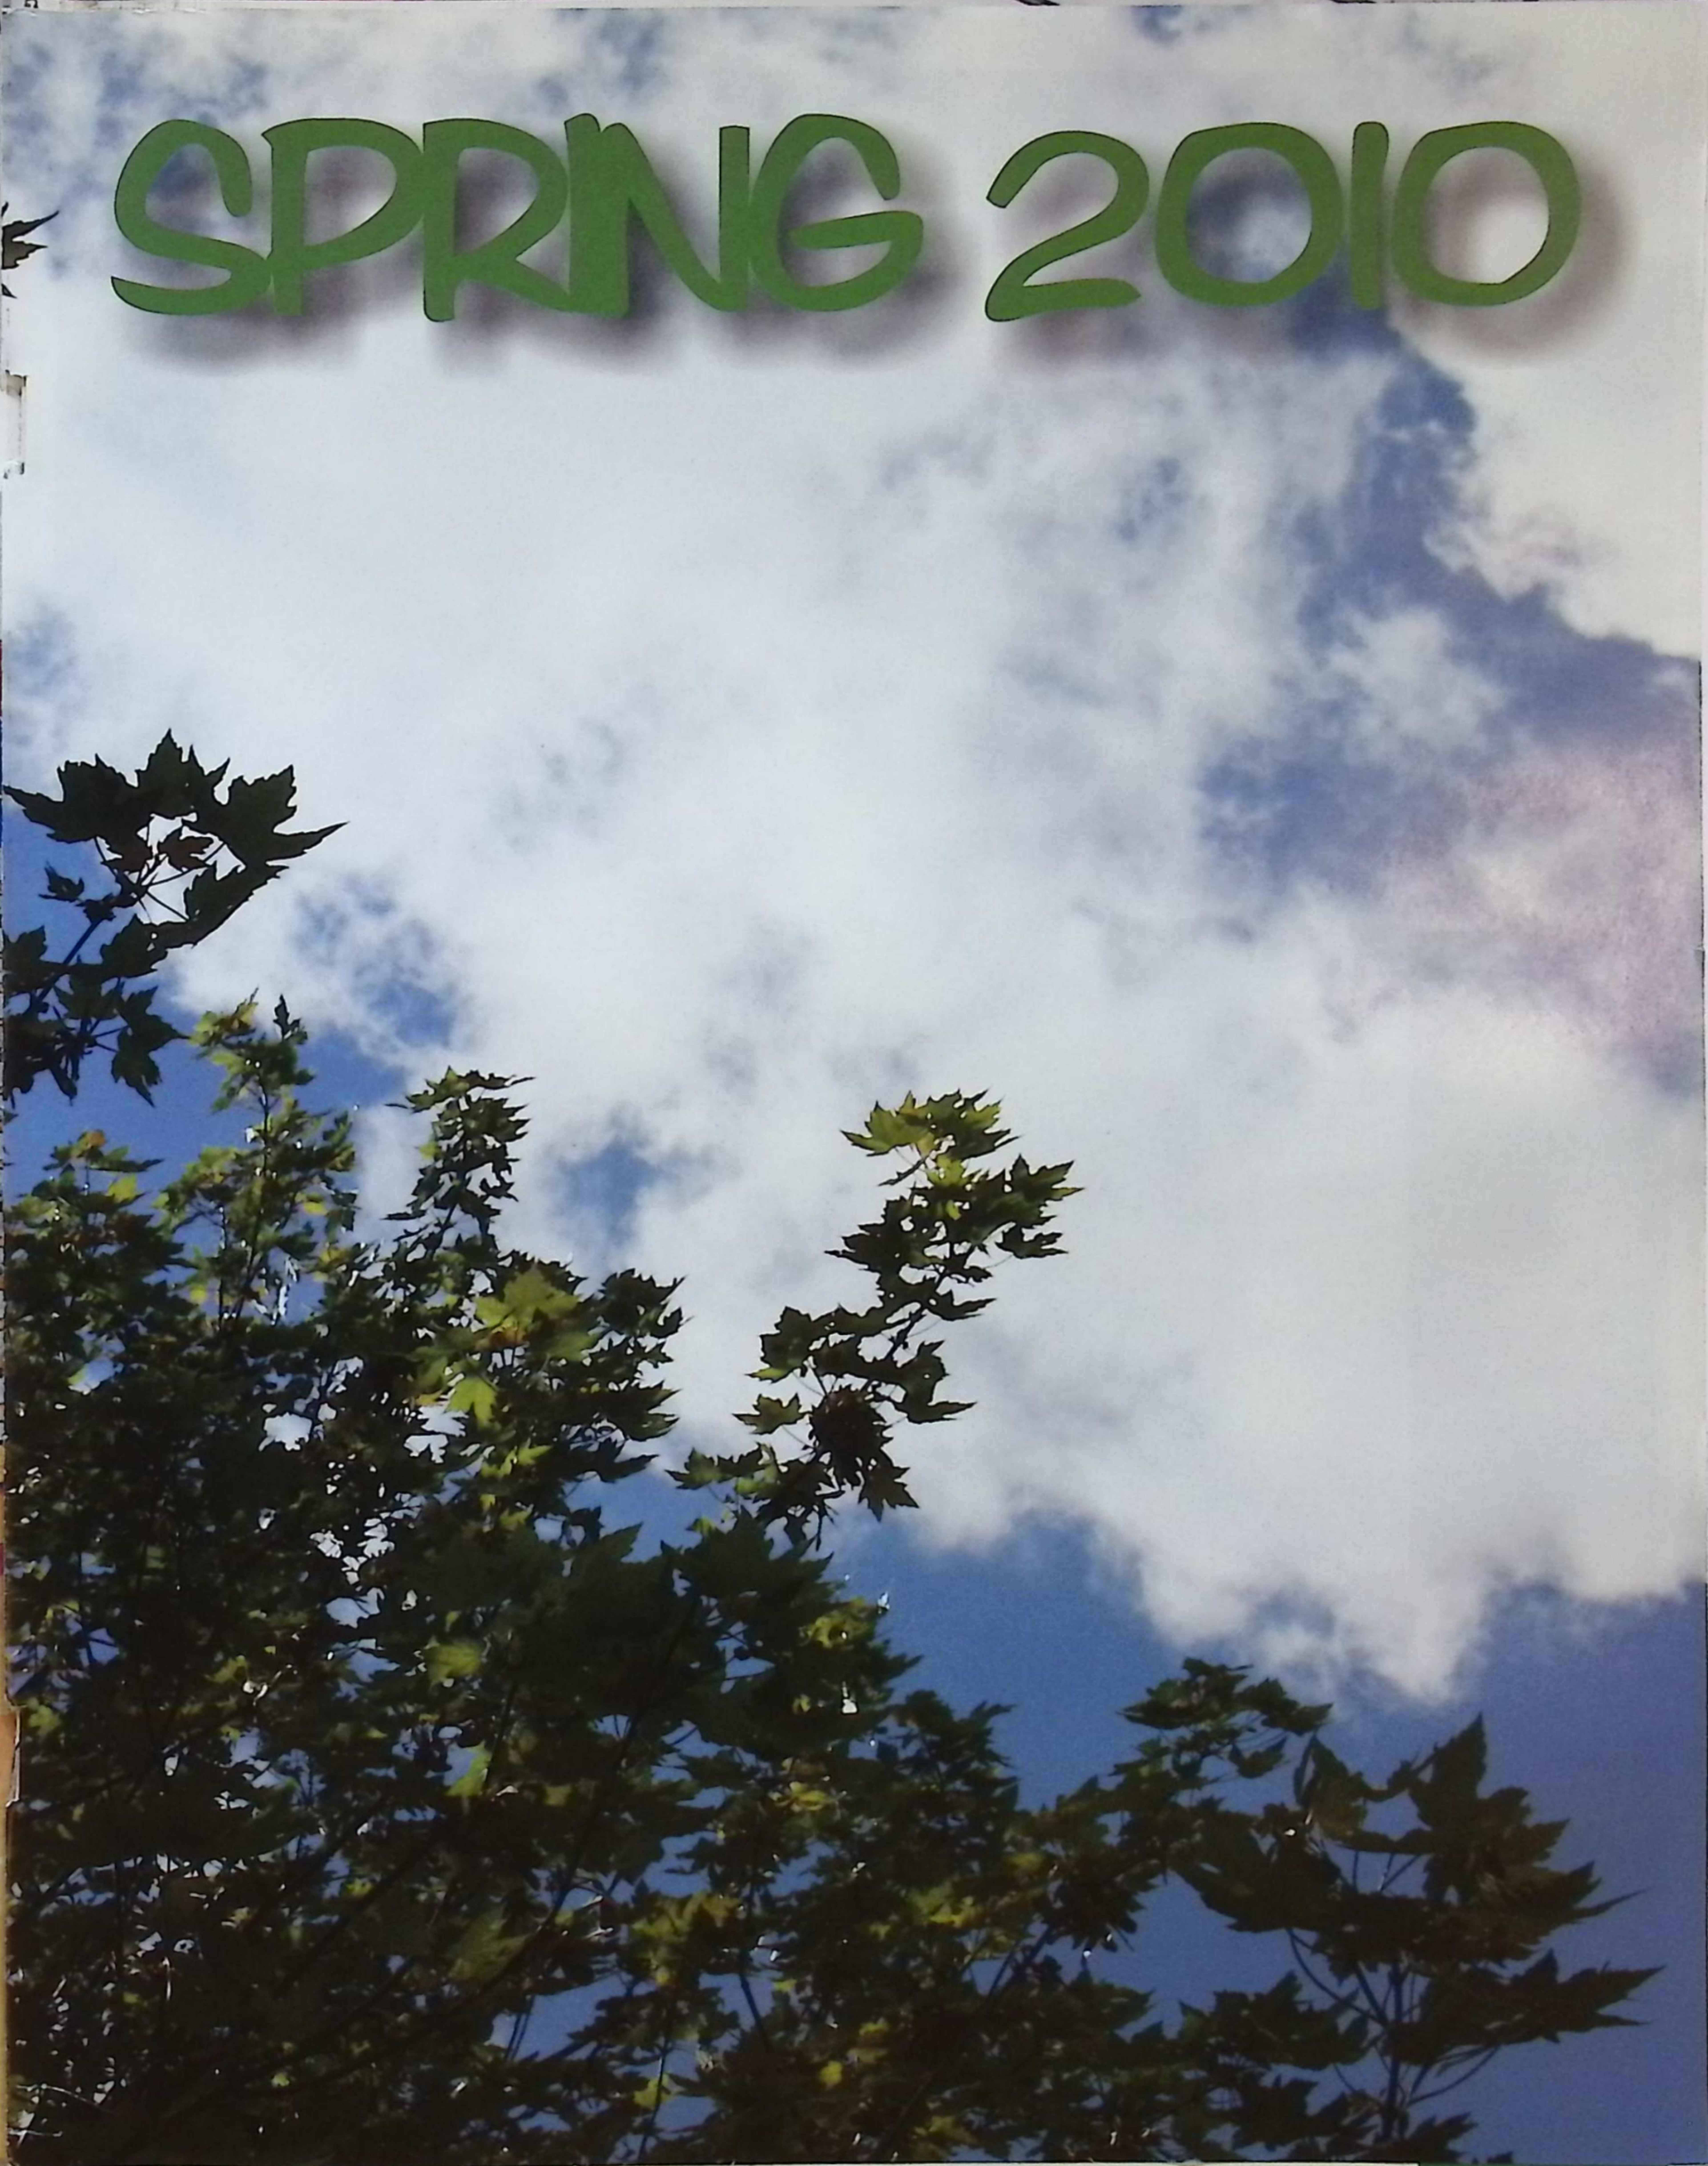
SENIORS

SPRING 2010



SPRING DIVISION

When the climate begins to change, students shed their layers of thick coats and wool sweaters, in exchange for t-shirts and capris. When the sun comes out and the temperature is perfect, one can find students out and about, rollerblading, bike riding or walking around town. Spring fever kicks in, and the countdown until the last day of school begins. For seniors, senioritis rises to an all time high, because their time at SCHS is coming to an end. Underclassmen get restless and avoid homework on sunny days. Students take their spring break trips before summer begins. Mrs. Woolman is on the prowl for dress code issues, and Mr. Cook is cracking down on parking violations. Spring athletes push their limits by training outside, rain or shine. We say goodbye to our seniors, and prepare to say hello to the new freshmen. Spring fever has a way of being contagious, especially when the weather heats up.

Soaring Spring Spirits

And Spring arose on the garden fair,
Like the Spirit of Love felt everywhere;
And each flower and herb on Earth's dark breast
Rose from the dreams of its wintry rest.
—Percy Bysshe Shelley

Bountiful, minuscule dandelions pop up from the frozen ground like miracles. The lingering scent of last night's rain trails behind students as they journey through their springtime activities. Students are by no means hesitant to spring their way into spring! Puffy winter jackets and Uggs are being replaced with SC tees and flip-flops, as the students SHOUT OUT their ecstatic joy for longer, sunnier days. They blow kisses goodbye to the dul, gray days of 2009 and finaly begin to feel the new year, 2010, right under their umbrella. The students are overwhelmed with the fresh feeling of a bright beginning soaring through the hallways. Nothing compares to the natural simplicity and beauty of spring; a time for renewal, revival, and rebirth.

Don't Rain On My Parade

Clutching an antsy Theodore, and managing to keep hold of her umbrella, Liz Nowak ('11) lets out her signature chuckle while drenched in happiness – not rain.

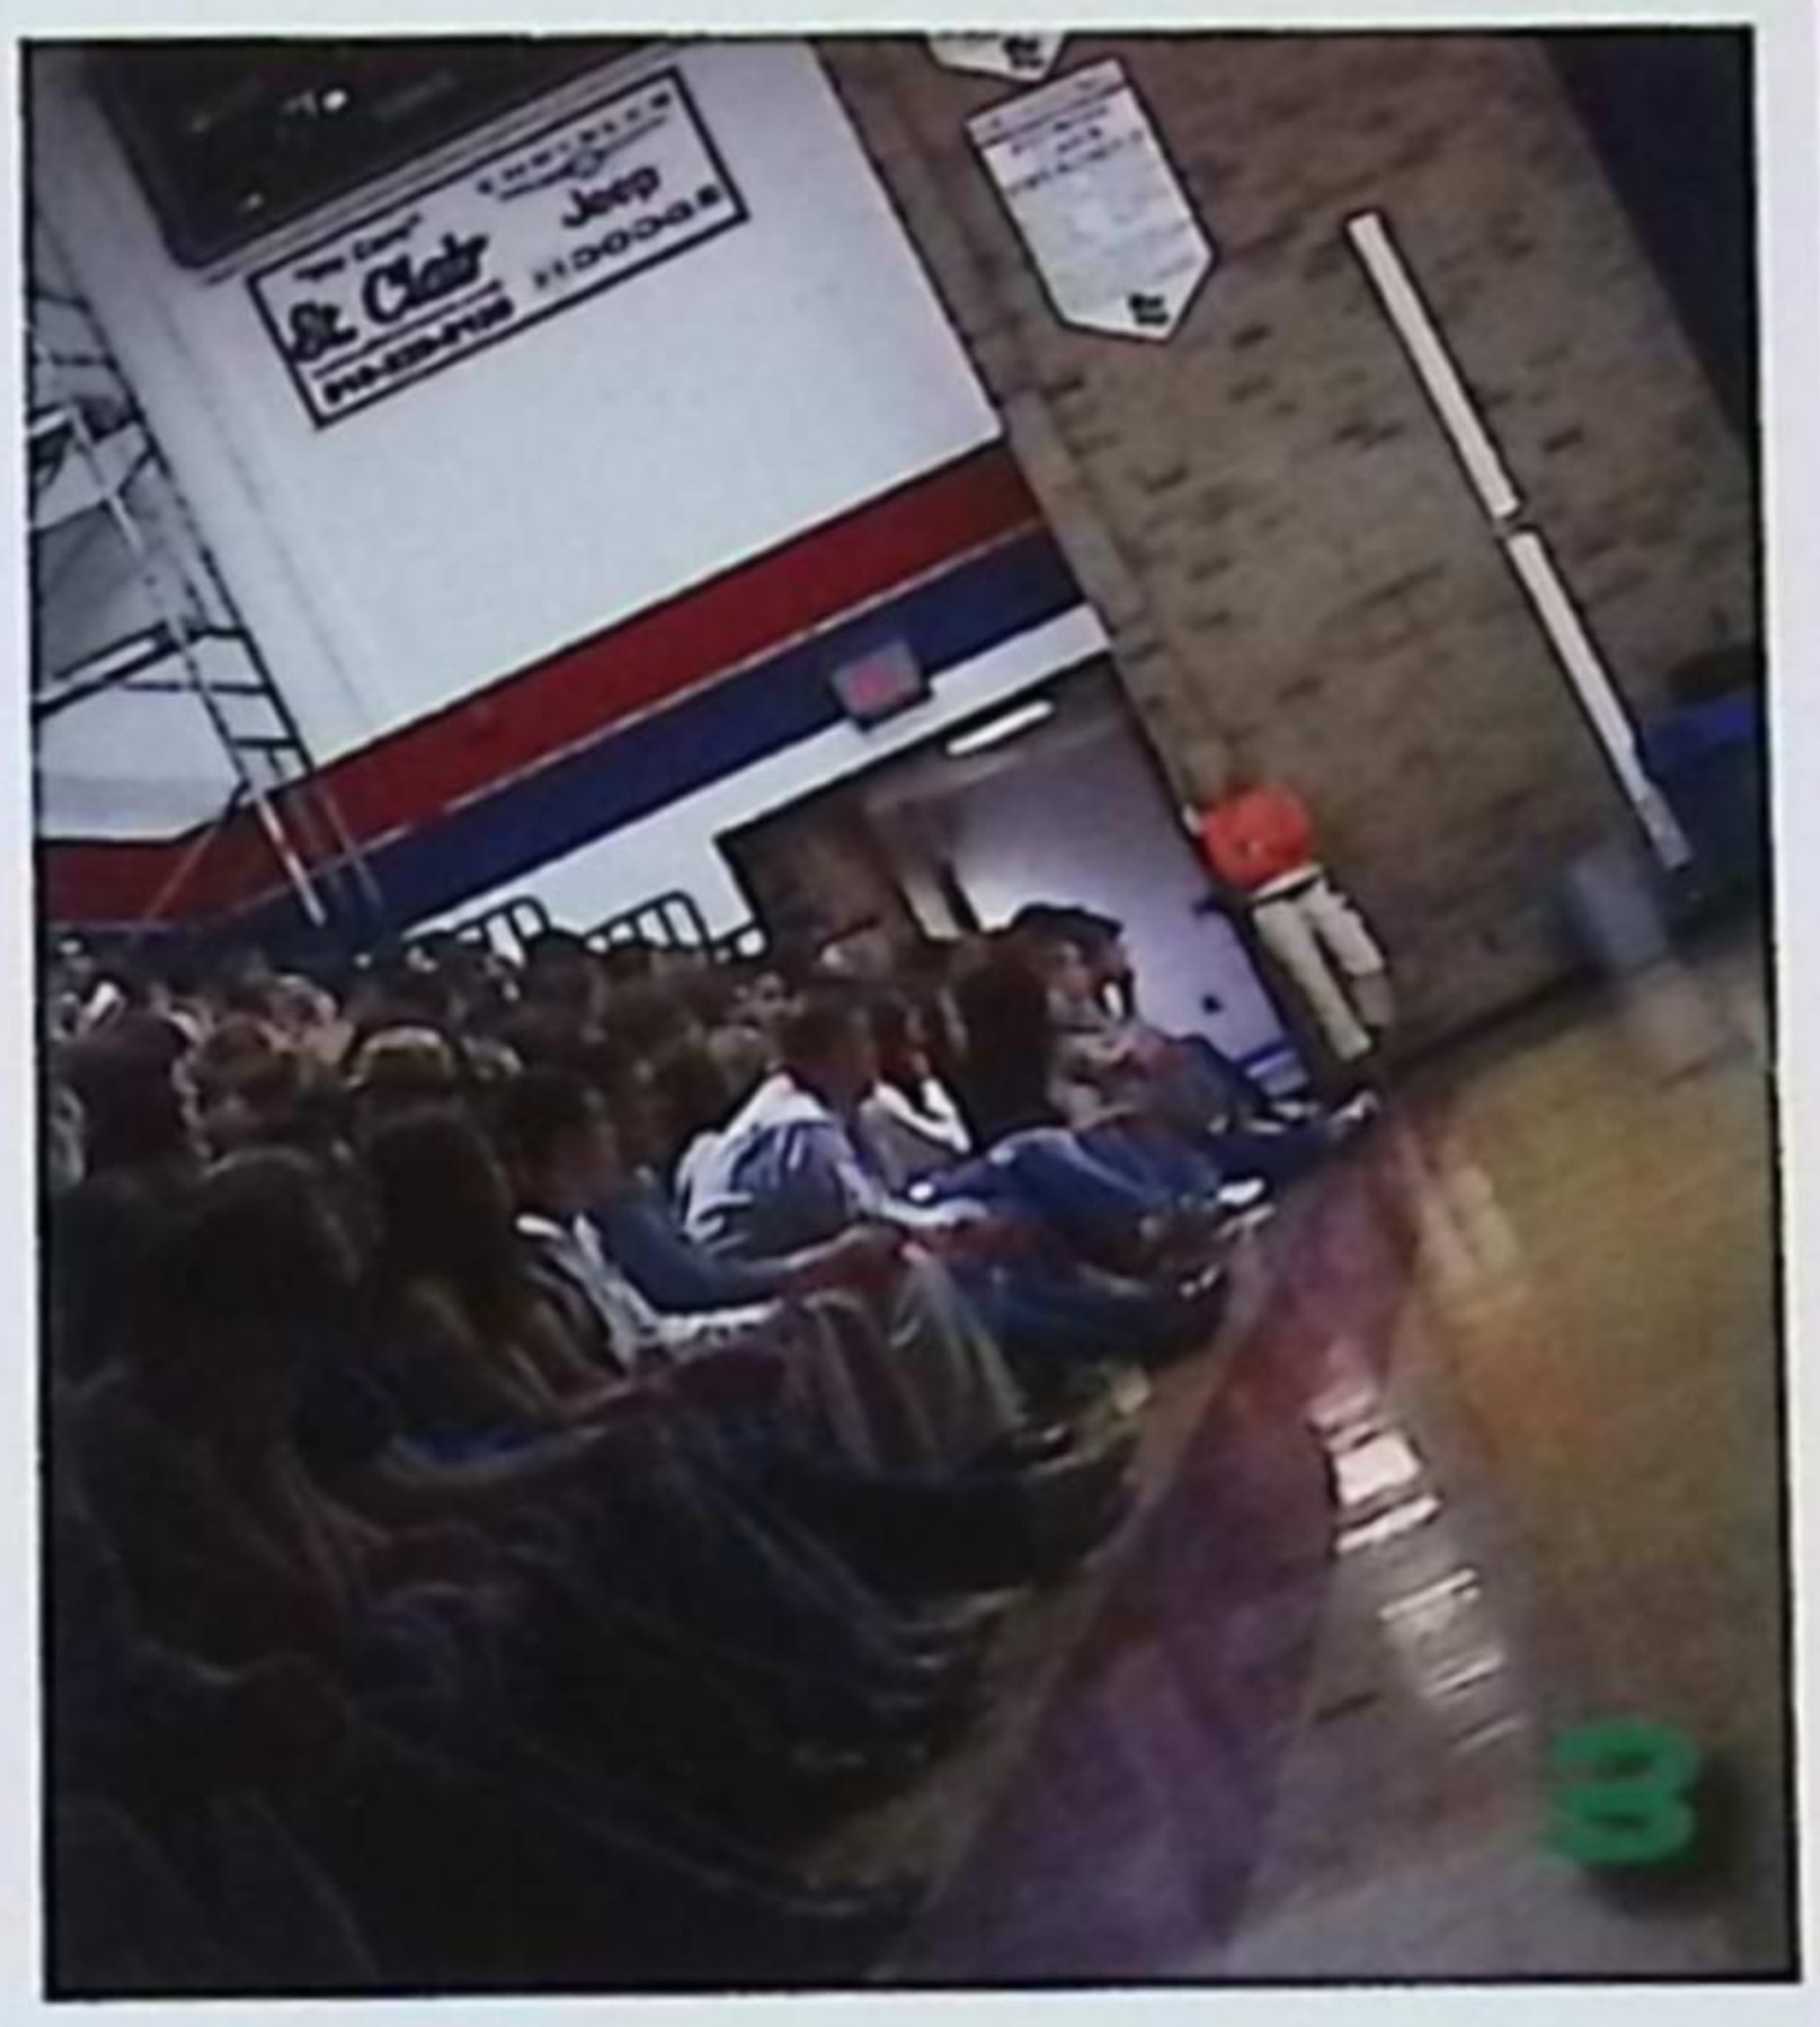
MY RAINY DAY

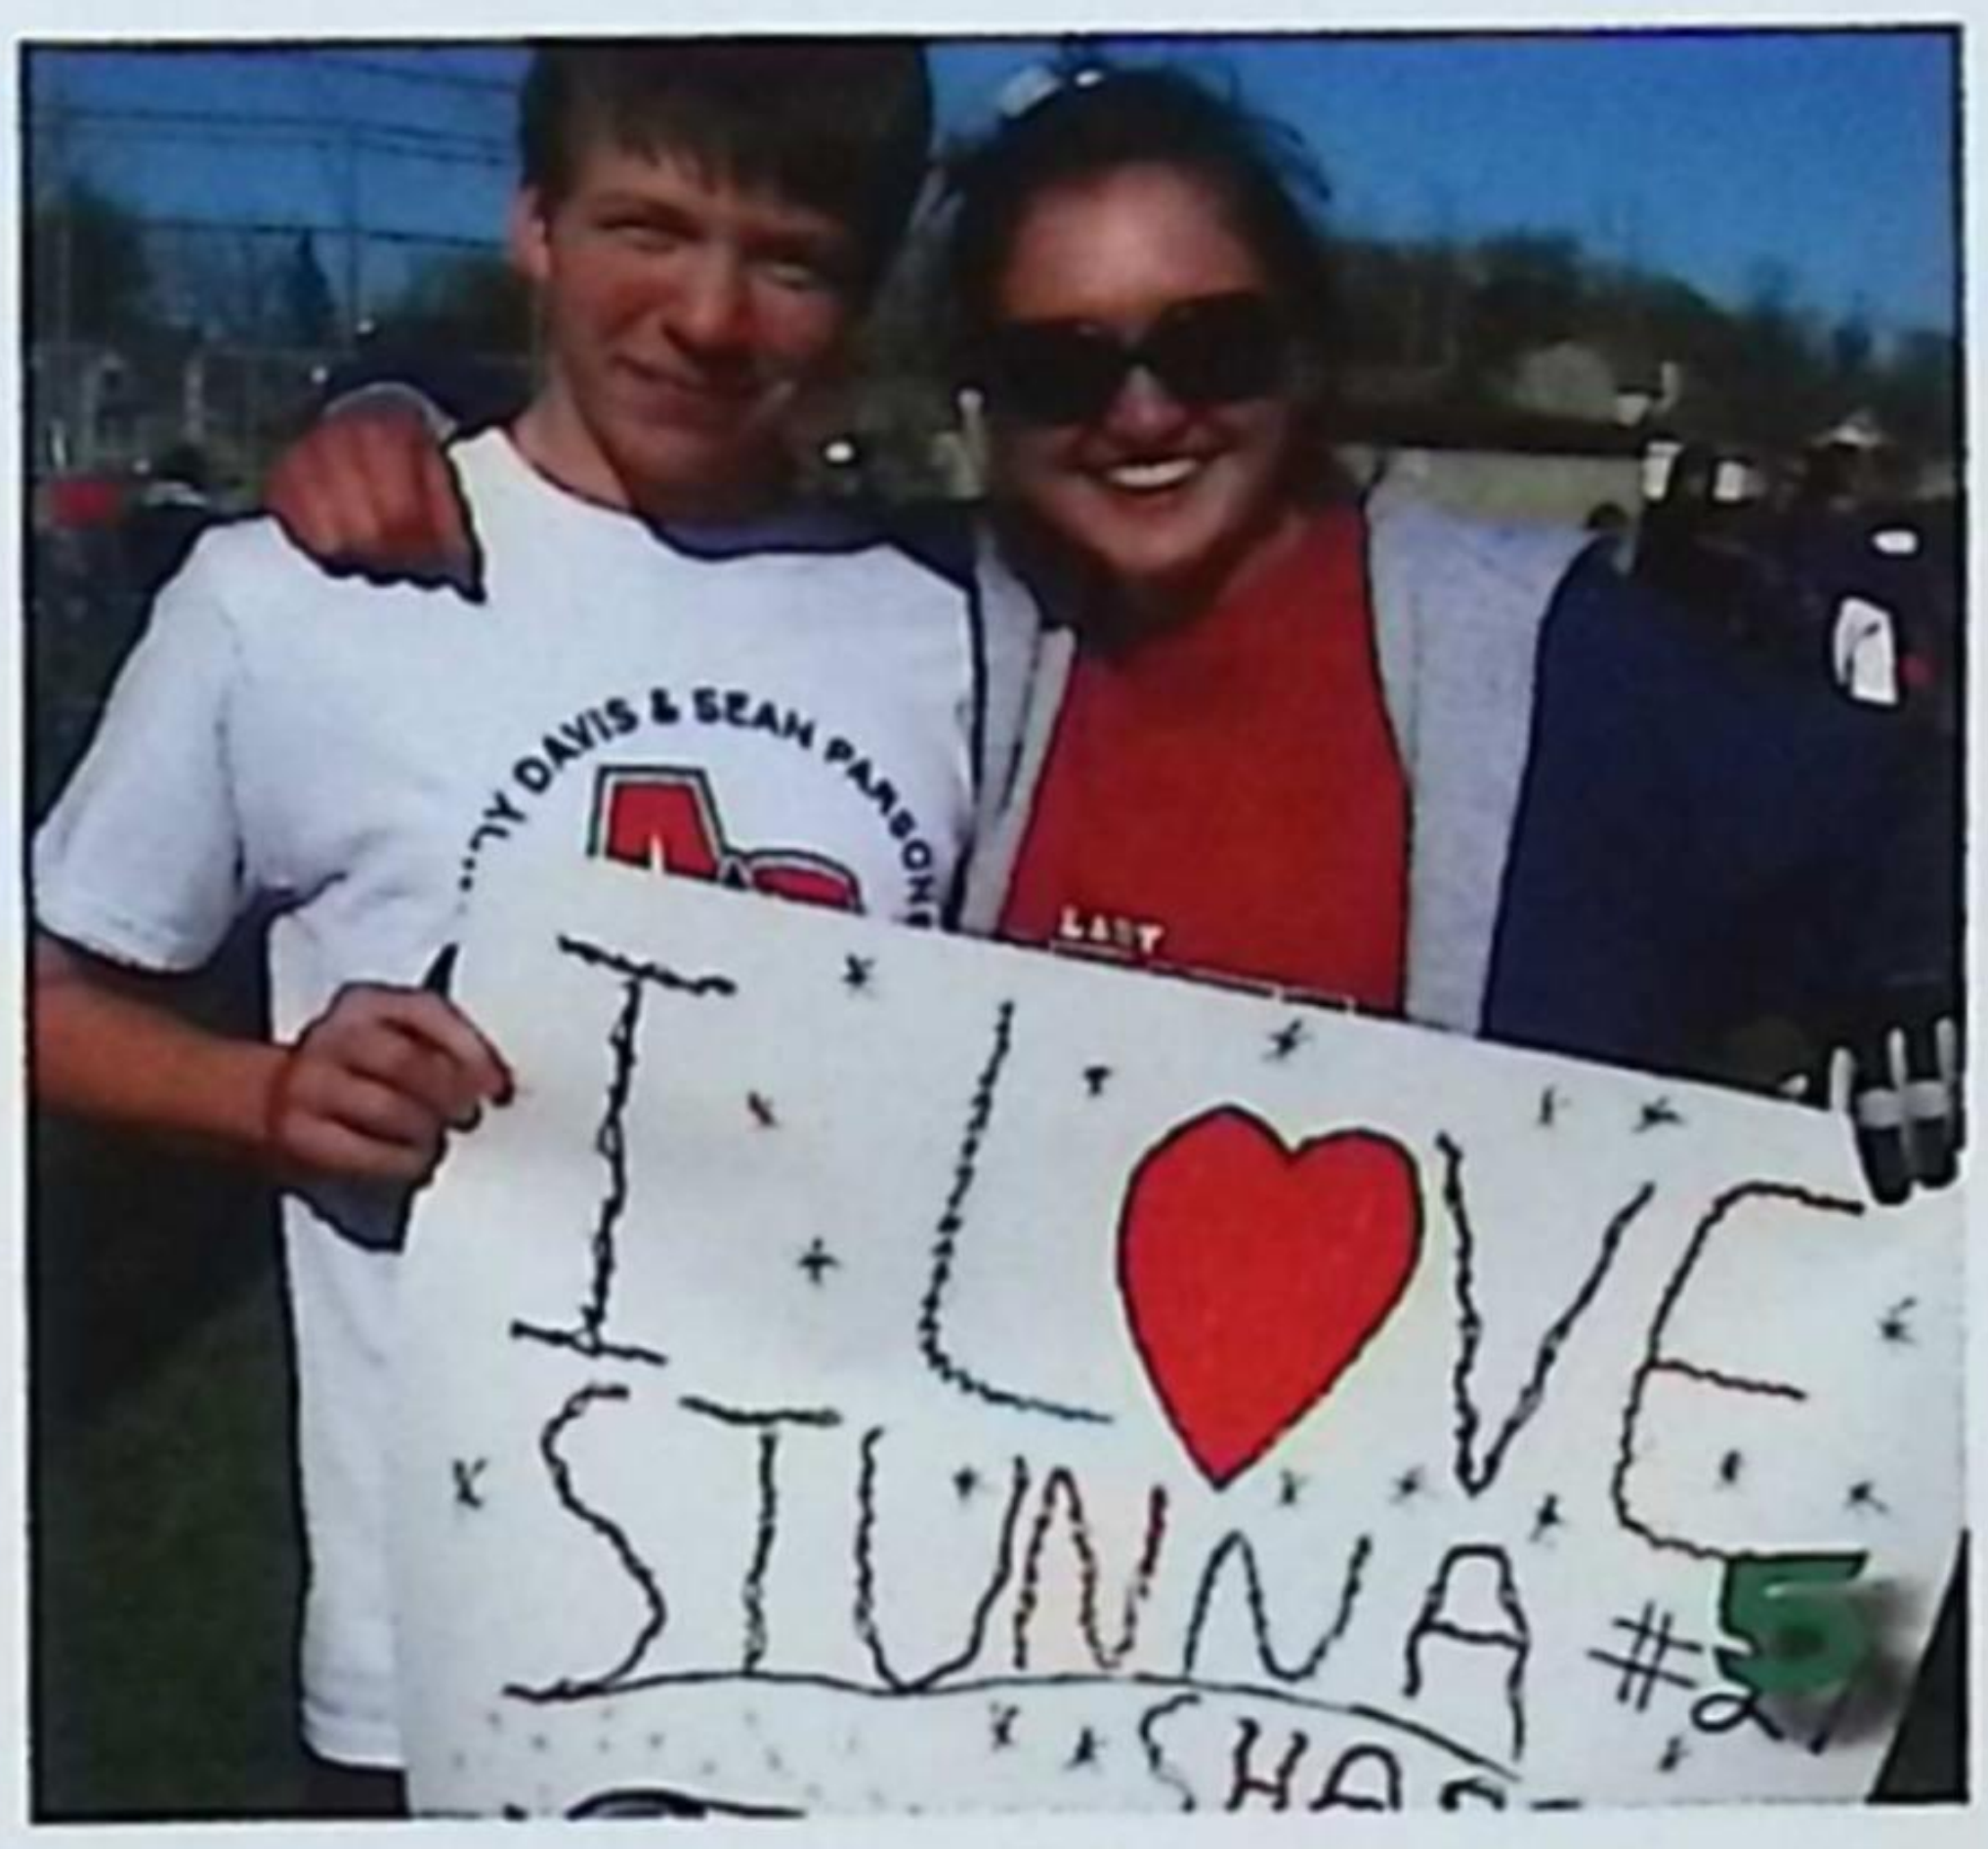
"Every rainy day, I challenge my friend, Joe Hartwig to a game of ping pong. I don't like rainy days because it usually means that I get hit in places that hurt by speeding ping pong balls. But like I always say,

If you can't take the pain, don't play the game."

- C. Mahaffy ('13)

1. Tracking down the source of the stink in yearbook staff's back room, Sam Schmitz ('11) kneels down for a bunny's eye view. 2. With a star struck twinkle in their eyes, Chrissy Gauss ('13), Taylor Stirling ('13), and Cam Ciaciuch ('11) get a backstage hug and picture from their favorite singer, Taylor Swift. 3. Supporting their fellow students' artistic talents during Festival of the Arts, a group of Saints gazes down with eager eyes to the magic happening below. 4. In the middle of a night full of laughter at Kelsey Kerin's ('12) sixteenth birthday party, the girls manage to clump together for a picture posed just right. 5. Spreading the support he has for the team, Joehl Pizzo ('13) stands with his friend, Karly Humes ('13) after a victory.





Spring jokes and riddles can help everybody laugh their winter woes away. These witty springtime snippets can cure any winter blues!

Teacher, don't think I'm an underachiever. I'm just a firm believer in this crazy spring fever!

Each year Powder Puff comes for the girls, and they are pumped to show the boys that girls know a thing or two about football. Then, Powder Buff rolls around and the boys are psyched to show off their talents too. This is their chance to have some fun, and show the other guys what's up! They are ready to get up in the net and spike it right into a "friend's" face...well we get the picture. During the ten minutes of each game, they play with the same intensity they would in the last minutes of a nail-biting basketball game or the home stretch of a cross-country meet.

This year, fourteen teams competed to see if they could capture the bragging rights of the most "buff" guys at Saint Clair High School. From spandex and sports bras to jeans, dress shirts, and ties; these boys were ready for action. In the end only one team could be victorious. The last game came down to "Team Alpha Wolf Squadron" and "Team Just Like Dodge Ball." The whole championship came down to this one game and both teams were serious about winning. Each minute was a hard fought battle, but in the end, "Team Alpha Wolf Squadron" overcame. So maybe every once in a while, it's not such a bad thing to "hit like a girl."

We'll Be Back

"Oh my gosh, dude, it is so sweet to spike the ball into some other guy's face, especially those really tall guys that already tower over the net." That was definitely Joe Hawkin's favorite part of participating in the Powder Buff tournament this year besides the fact, of course, that his team won the whole tournament. "My highlight of the tournament would be beating Team Just Like Dodge Ball, twice. They had a really solid team, and especially the last game; we were pretty evenly matched. Even though it was an intense game; I knew that we could pull it off." When asked what his plans were for next year's tournament, Joe already had an answer without any hesitation. "Next year everybody better watch out, because Team Back for Seconds is going to rock the competition again!"

SPRING BREAK

A Much Needed Break

"Where are you going? When are you leaving? You're kidding, that is so awesome! You are going to have so much fun!" Doesn't that conversation sound familiar? This phrase could be used in lots of different ways, but there is one time during the school year when that's all you hear. That time, of course, is the weeks leading up to Spring Break. Wherever you go, and no matter who you tak to, the questions always seem to come up...

When the week finaly comes, everyone is dying to get out of school. The final minutes of the school day are filed with an ecstatic energy that resembles the last day of school. As the final bel of the school day rings, students poor into the halways shouting in anticipation for the trips they are about to embark on.

From Mexico to Hawaii, to Myrtle Beach, or even staying in Michigan, Saint Clair High School students flew out, drove out, and sailed out to different destinations across the globe. No matter where you went, or didn't go, it was a much needed vacation from the long school year. Unfortunately, the bliss had to come to an end, but there was an excitement in the air as everyone returned. "Oh my gosh, you're so tan! Did you have fun? Did you meet any new people?" The same events repeat themselves that started spring break off. And as the weeks go on, things start to calm down..that is until next year.

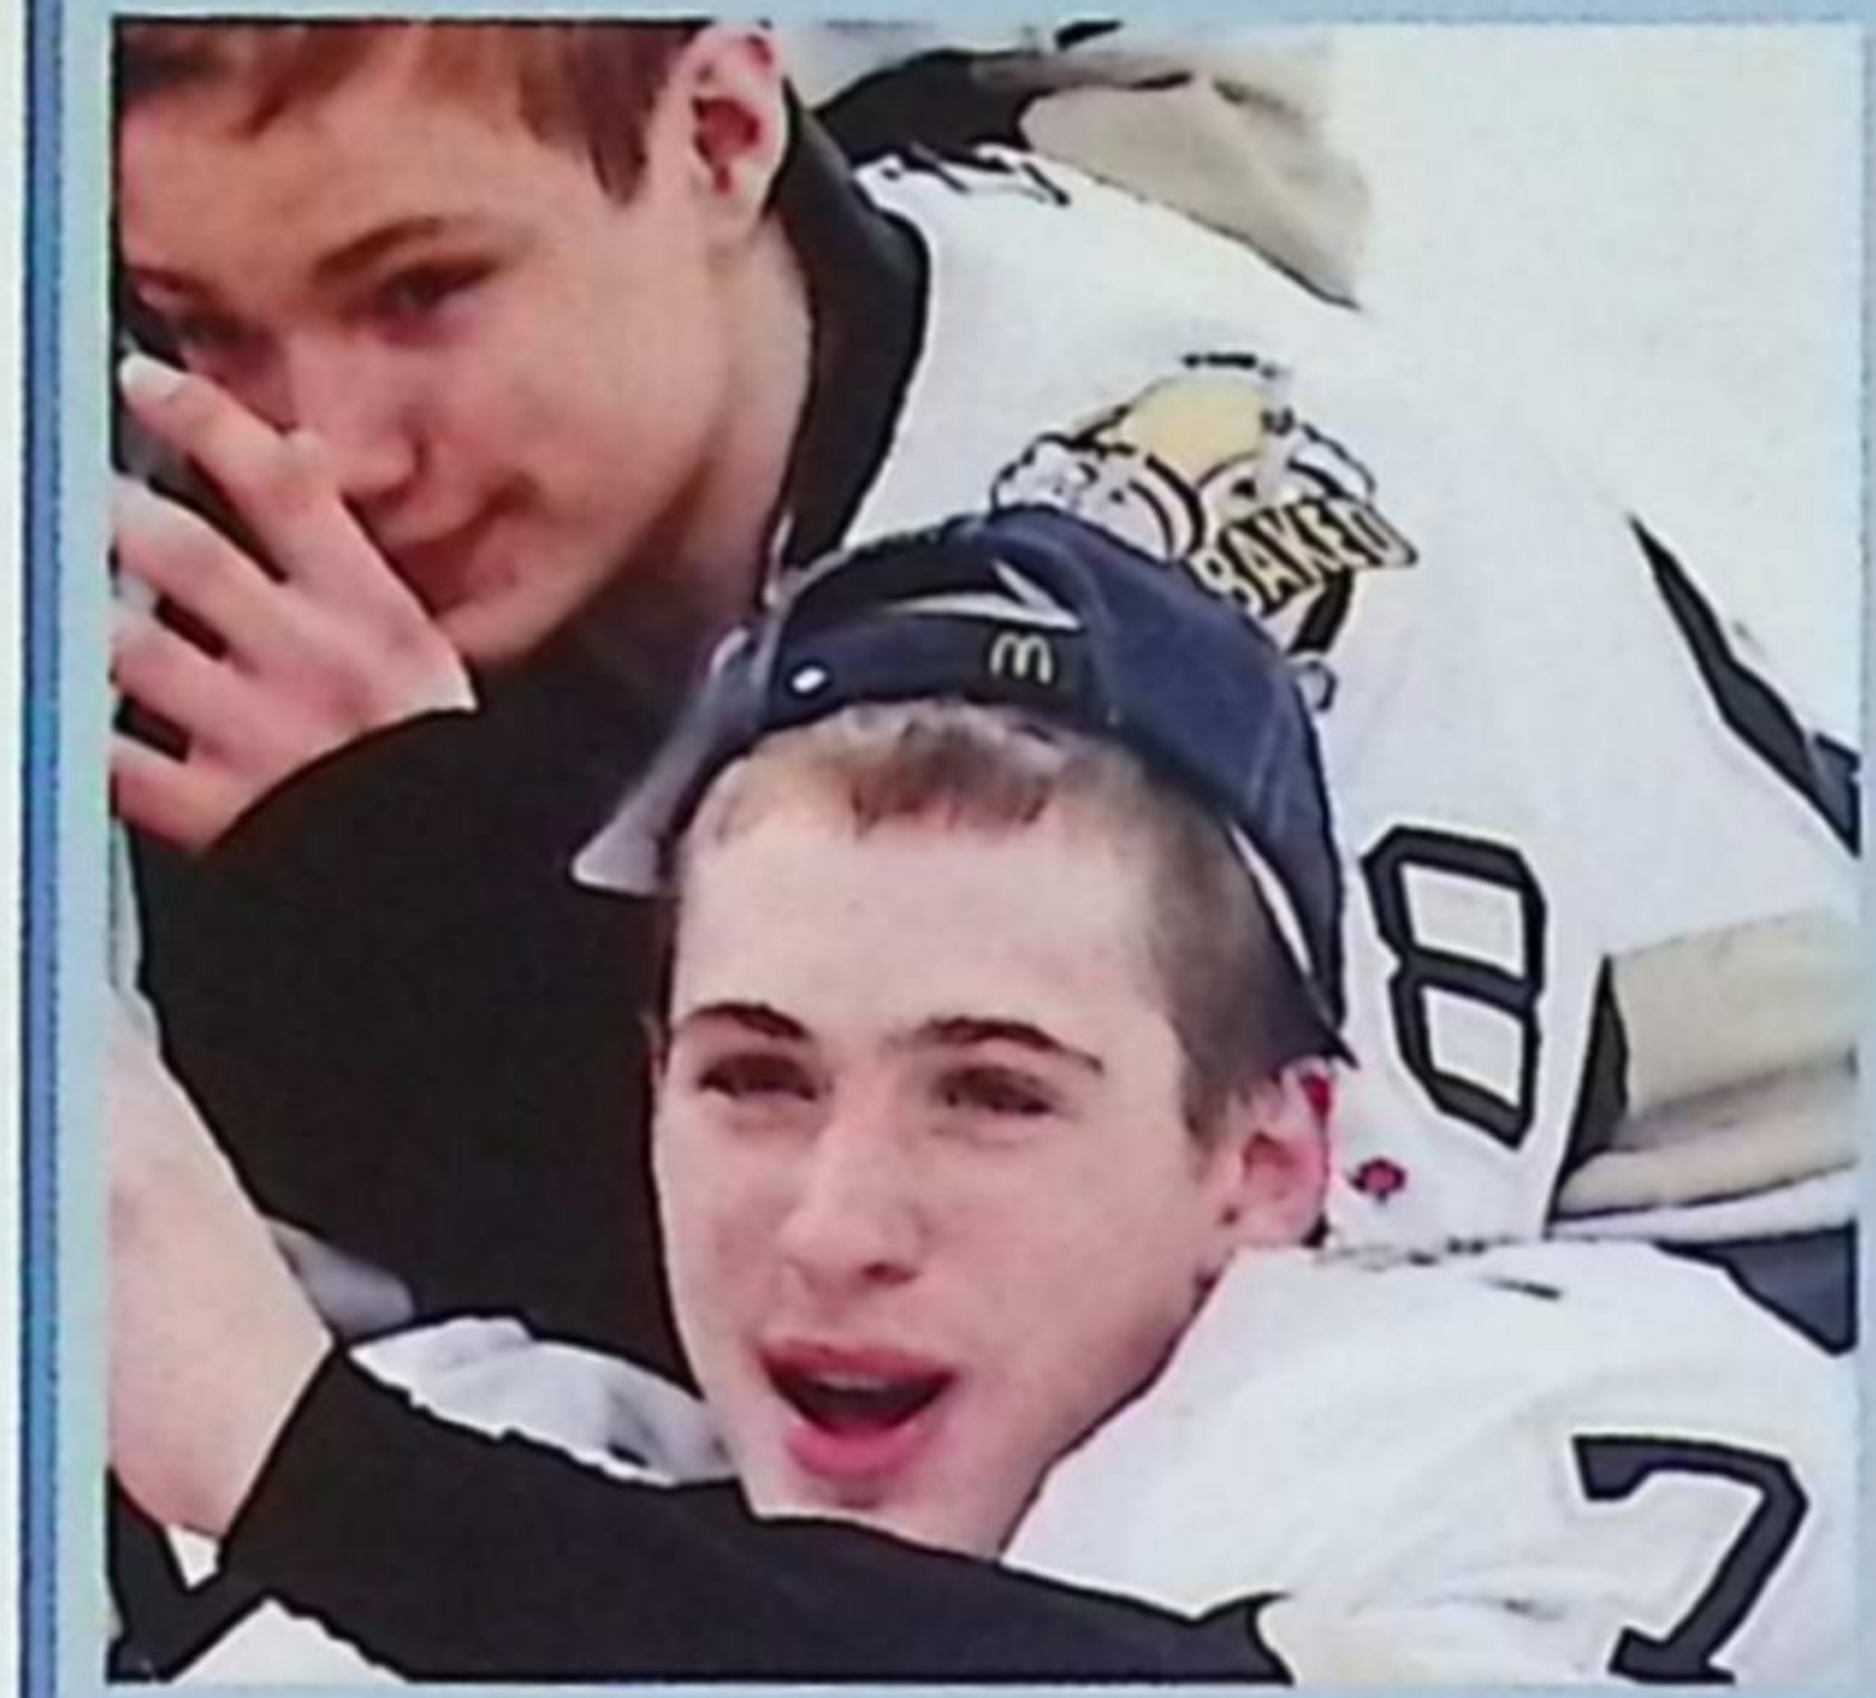
MY MOMENT

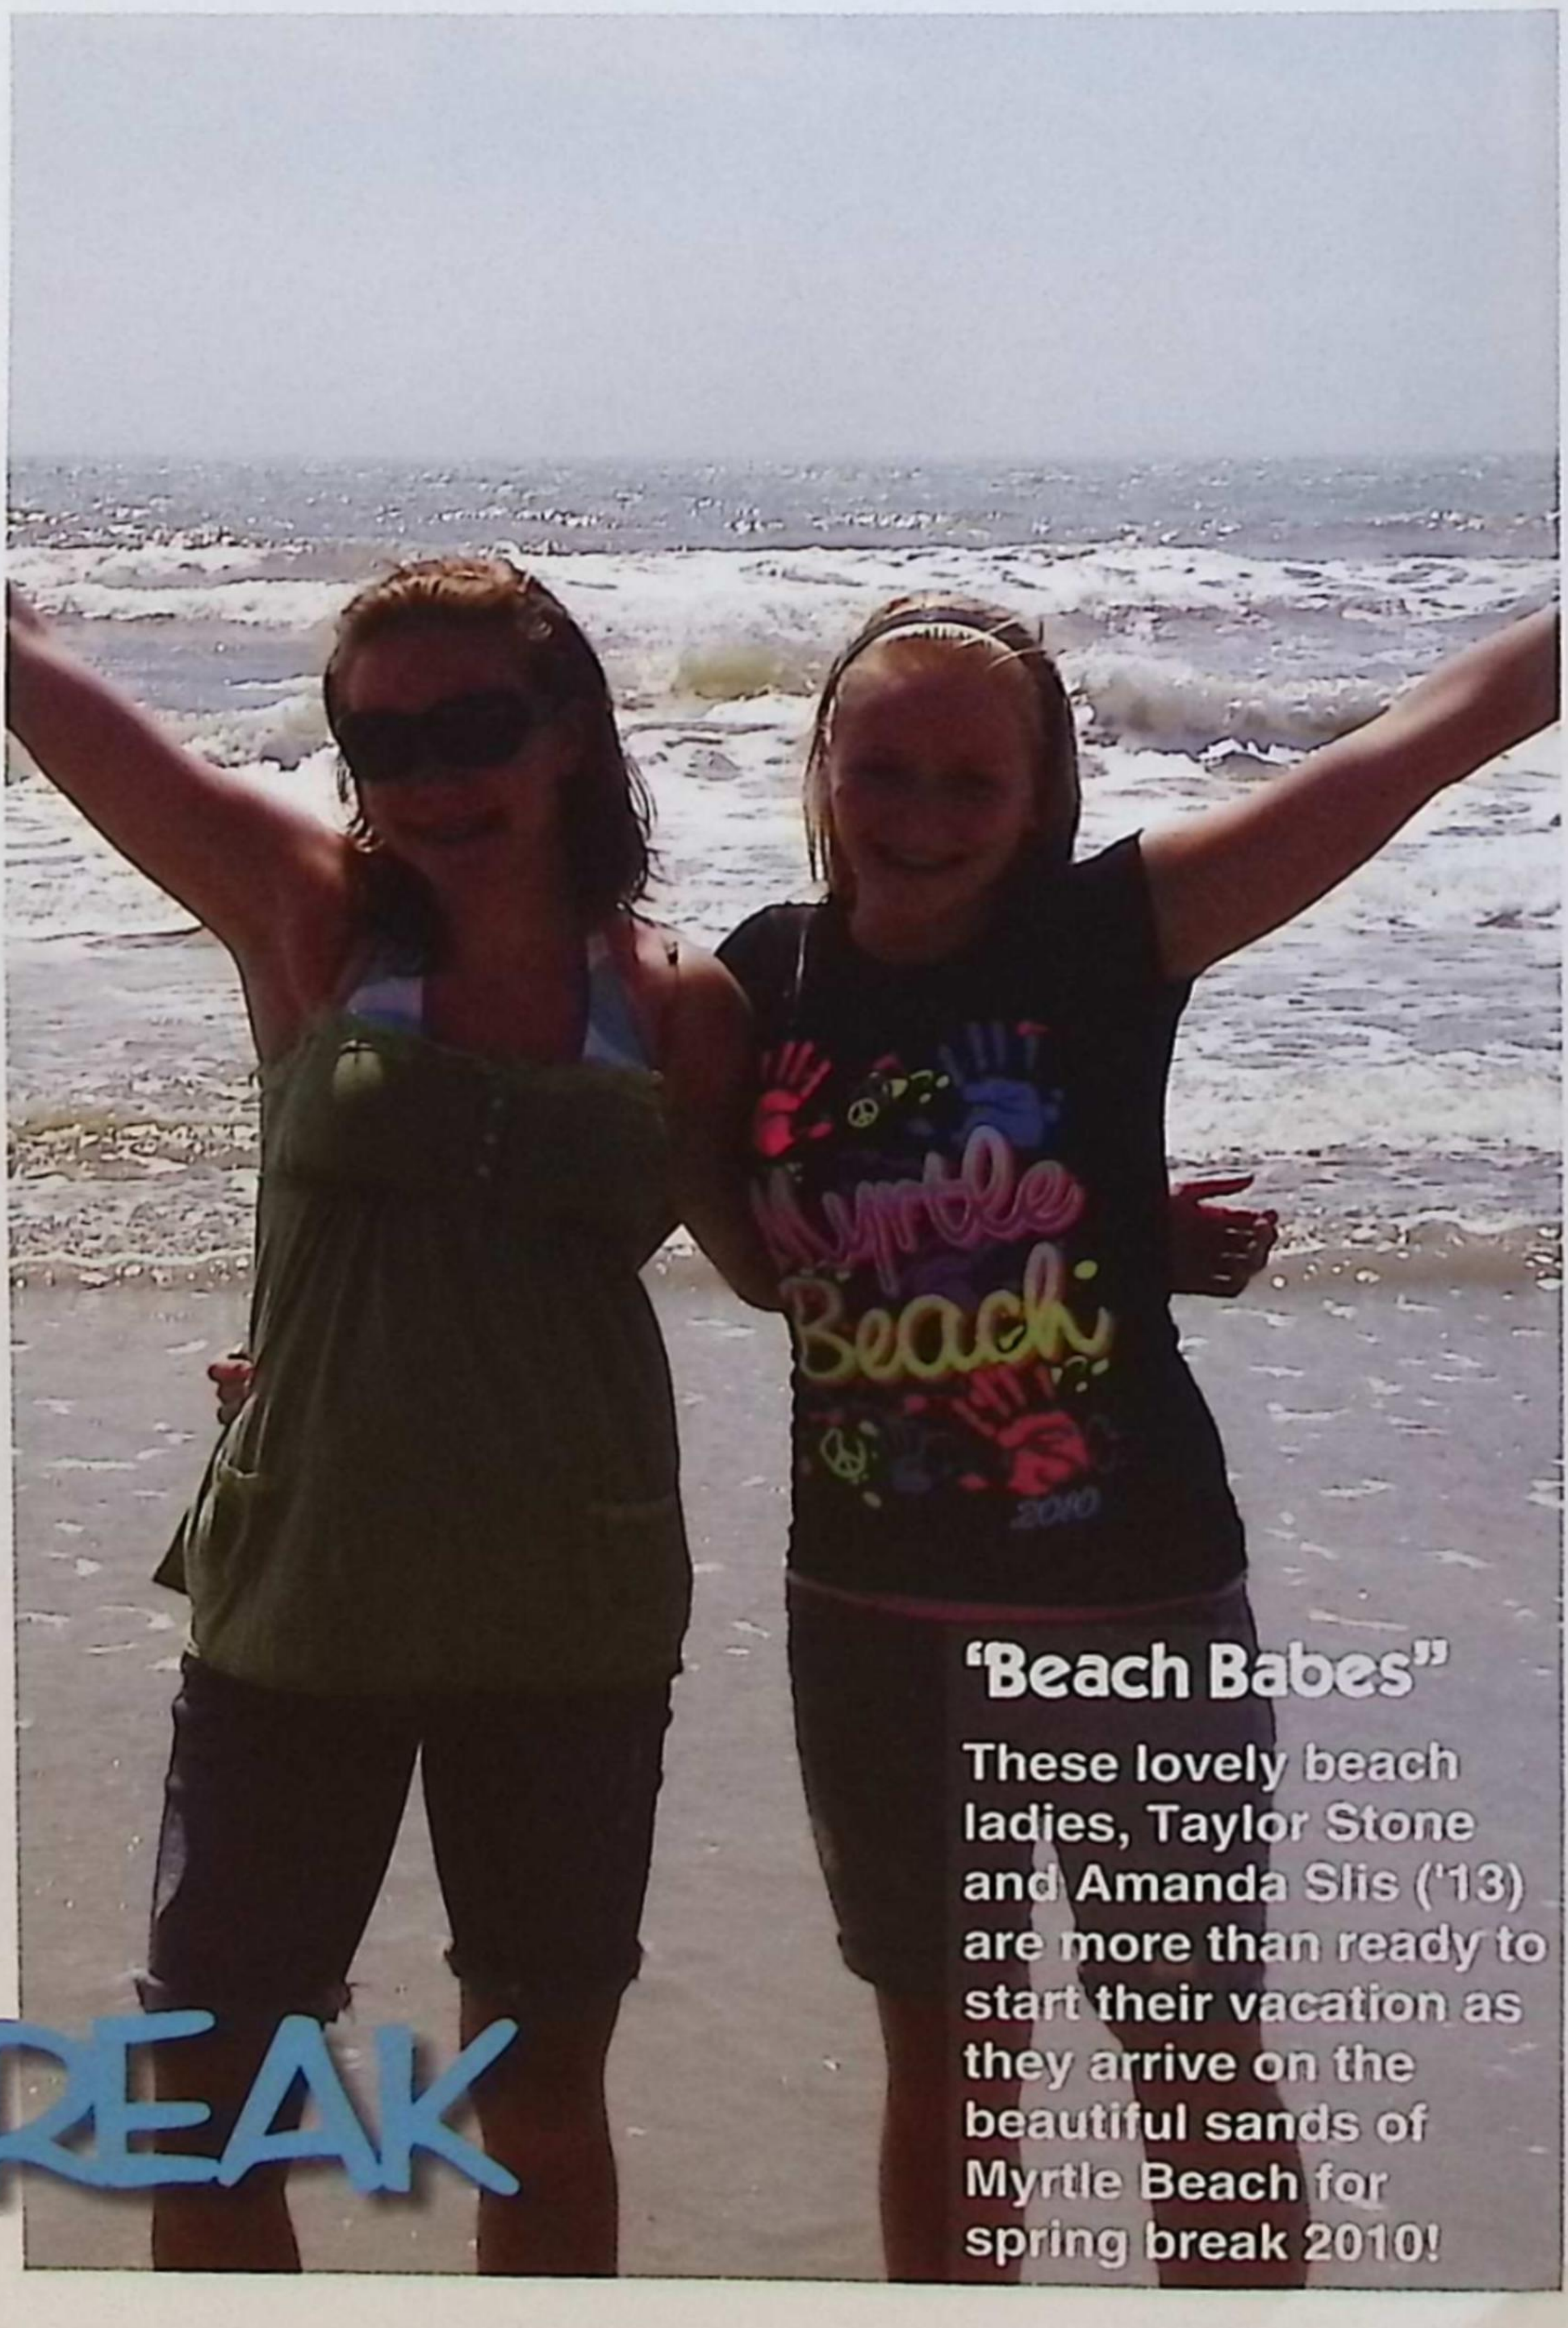


Honeybaked
HOCKEY

Eight months to prepare. 225.5 miles to reach the final destination. Six games to win it all. 80 minutes of a hard fought battle on the ice.Two teams. One goal: be the number one hockey team in the nation.

On April 6, Tyler Motte headed to Buffalo, New York to spend his spring break playing in the national hockey playoffs. The tournament consisted of teams from across the nation who had qualified by winning their regions. After a long car ride, Tyler was ready to get down to business. His team, Honeybaked, worked their way to the final game by defeating teams from Los Angeles, Massachusetts, New York, and Illinois.

Honeybaked made it to the final game, the one game that counted. The championship game was an intense, nerve-wracking game, but Tyler knew his team could pull it off. Their one goal was to shut down the other team's first line, and that they did. 60 minutes of time on the ice wasn't quite enough to end the game between the two determined teams. The championship game continued into overtime where, Tyler and his team pulled it off. "Oh my gosh, all those countless hours of practice, and look at what happens...hard work really pays off," was the first thing Tyler could think of as he rushed to his team in the center of the ice to celebrate their victory. "I couldn't think of a better way to spend my spring break...I'm part of the number one team in the nation, who wouldn't want to be a part of that?" T. Motte ('13)



'Beach Babes"

These lovely beach ladies, Taylor Stone and Amanda Slis ('13) are more than ready to start their vacation as they arrive on the beautiful sands of Myrtle Beach for spring break 2010!

'Punta Cana Baby!"

"We have finally arrived in paradise!" After a whole year of planning, on April 3, 2010, these lucky seniors finally touched down in Punta Cana. These Saints enjoyed their last spring break as high school students with the sun, sand, family, and most importantly, their closest friends.

1. These senior spring breakers took their trip to Myrtle Beach and could not wait to be done with all the pictures so they could get on with the rest of their plans like parasailing, banana boating, and swimming in the ocean.
2. This mixed group of Saint Clair High School students cannot help to be anything but pumped for their spring break as they round up for group pictures on the sandy beaches of Punta Cana, Mexico.
3. Maddie Soave ('12) and Alex Schantz ('11) take a quick break to capture the moment after their long day of lying out in the sun and swimming in the Atlantic Ocean.
4. Ginny Fielhauer ('13) rides away from her cruise ship and on to the mainland to discover beautiful and exotic islands in the Carribean.
5. These "beach gods" are loving all the sun and sand as they decide to stop all the fun to provide evidence to all their friends at home that they really did meet a girl or two over spring break.

Road Trippin' Down Memory Lane

The first level choir class did a three piece arrangement of "Route 66", bringing some of the older staff down memory lane with the catchy jazz chords and syncopated rhythms.

Jessie's Boys

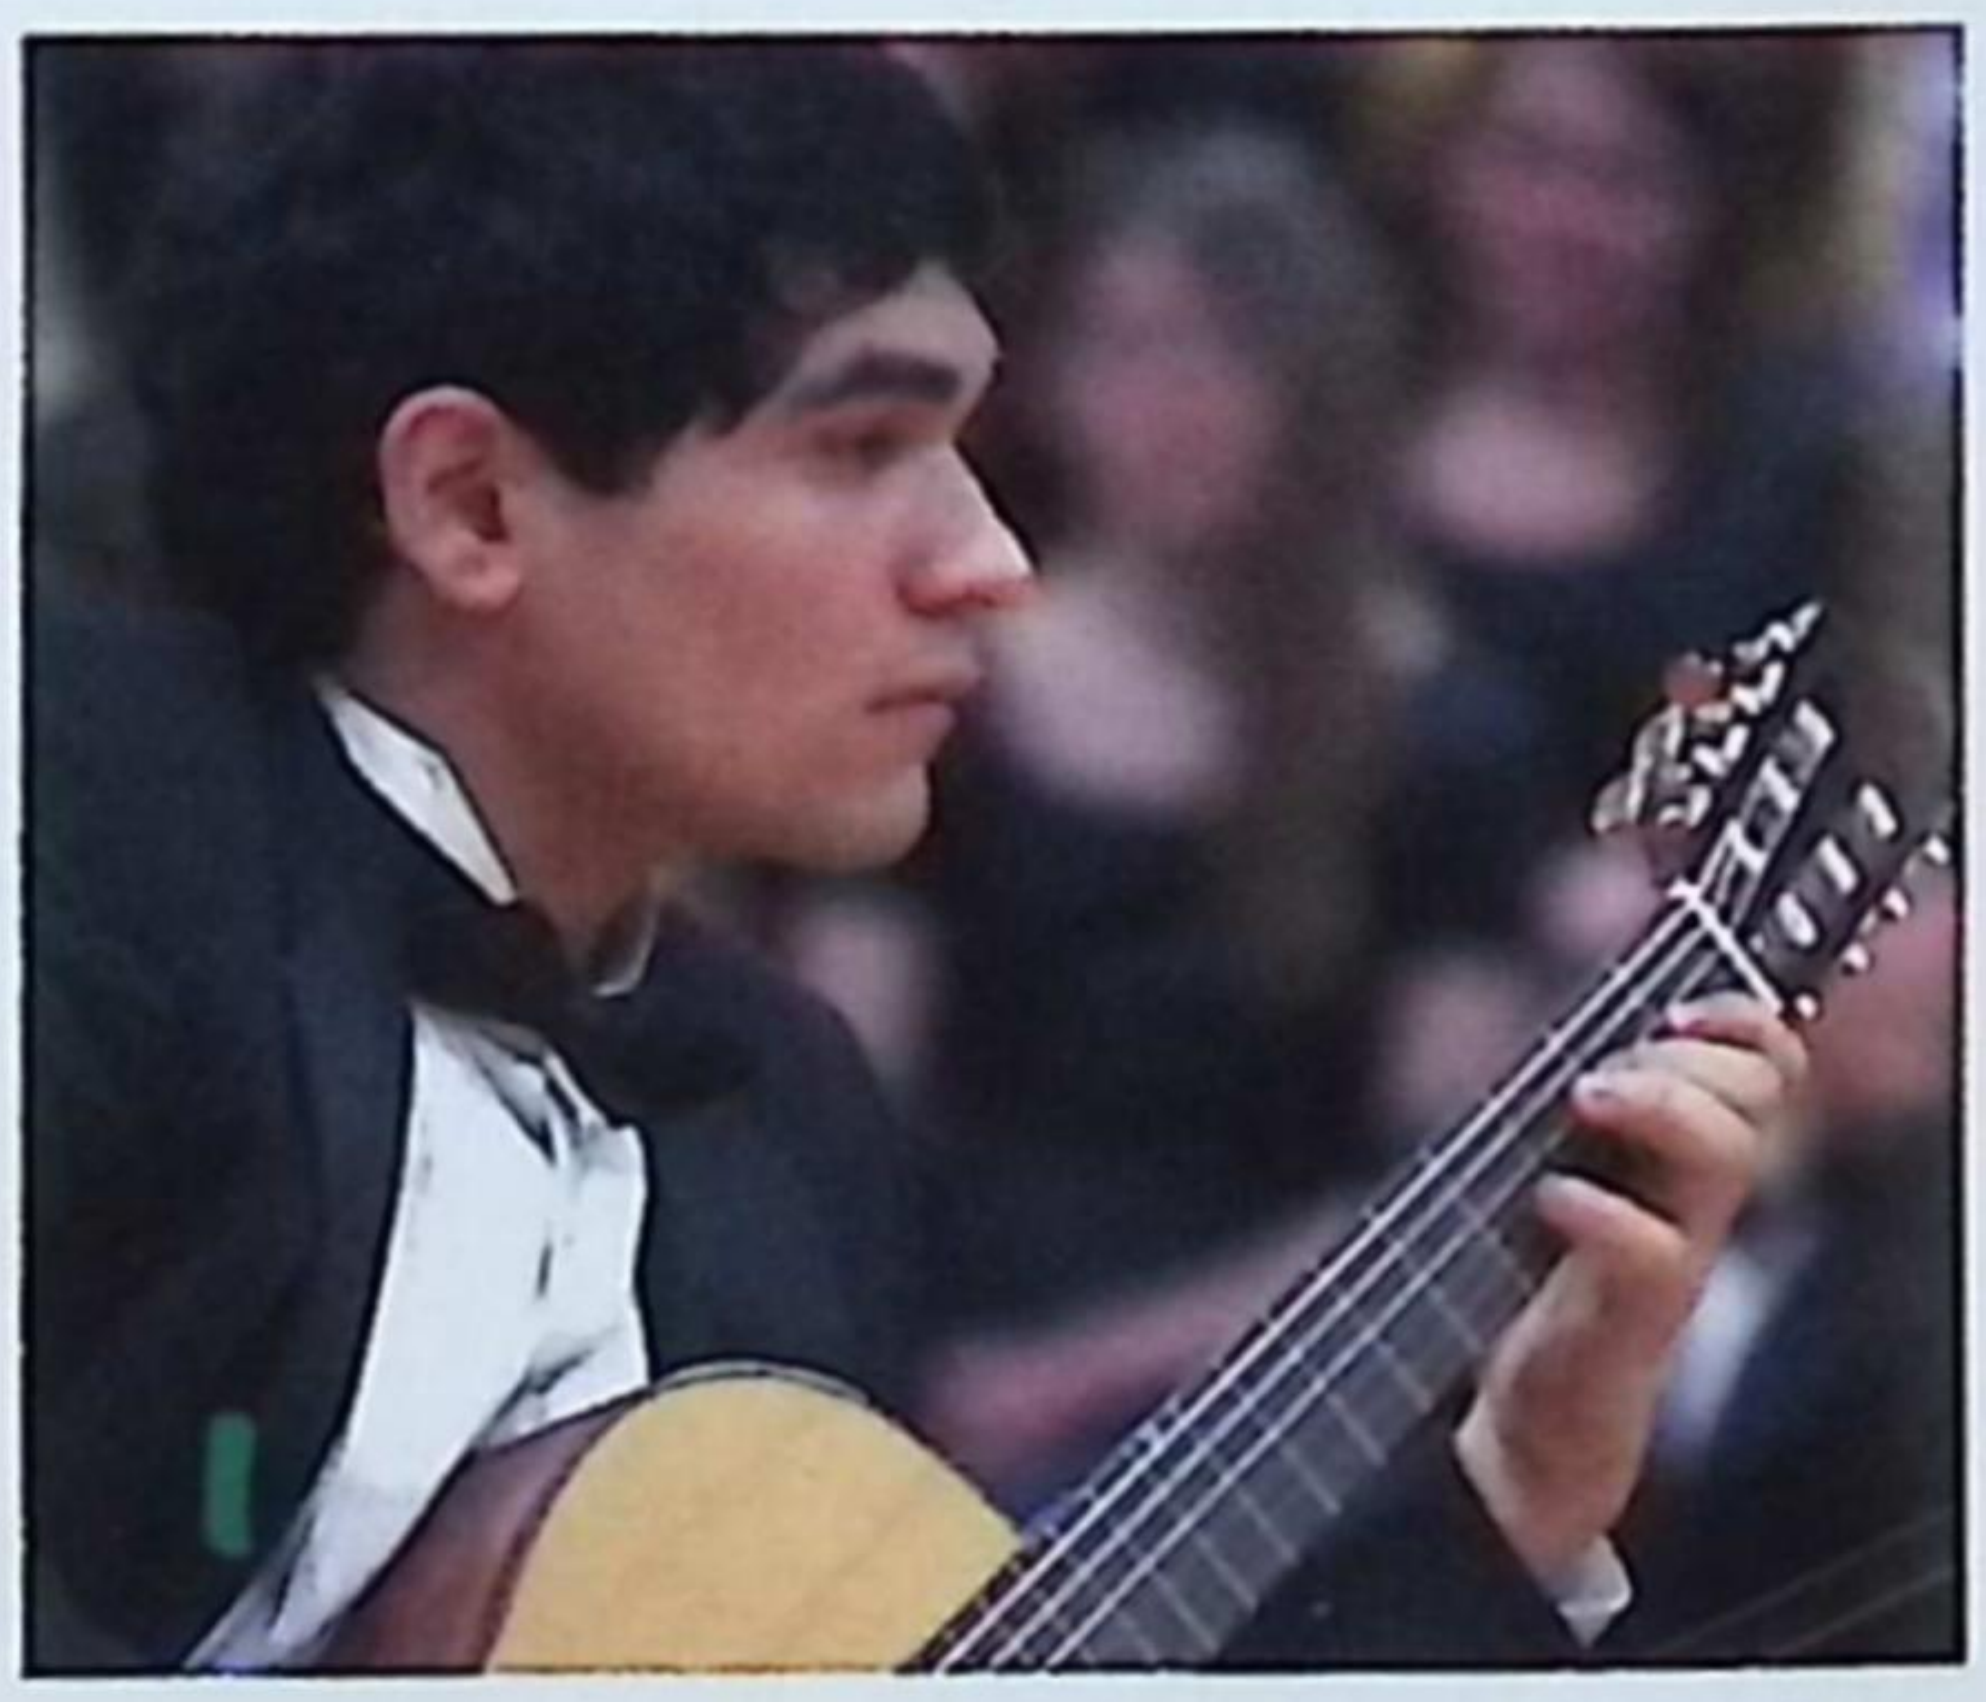
The all male group "Check Please" sang a seven part rendition of the song "Jessie's Girl" by Bruce Springstien. This talented group was helped out by friend and alumni Andrew Wummel, who accompanied the base/percussion line.

Which performance was your favorite during the Festival of the Arts Assembly?

"I thought that Erika Staiger's ballet was inspiring because I used to do ballet as well and it put a smile on my face."
-G. Fuga ('12)

"I really liked seeing all the artwork that my friends worked on."
-K. Jarrett ('12)

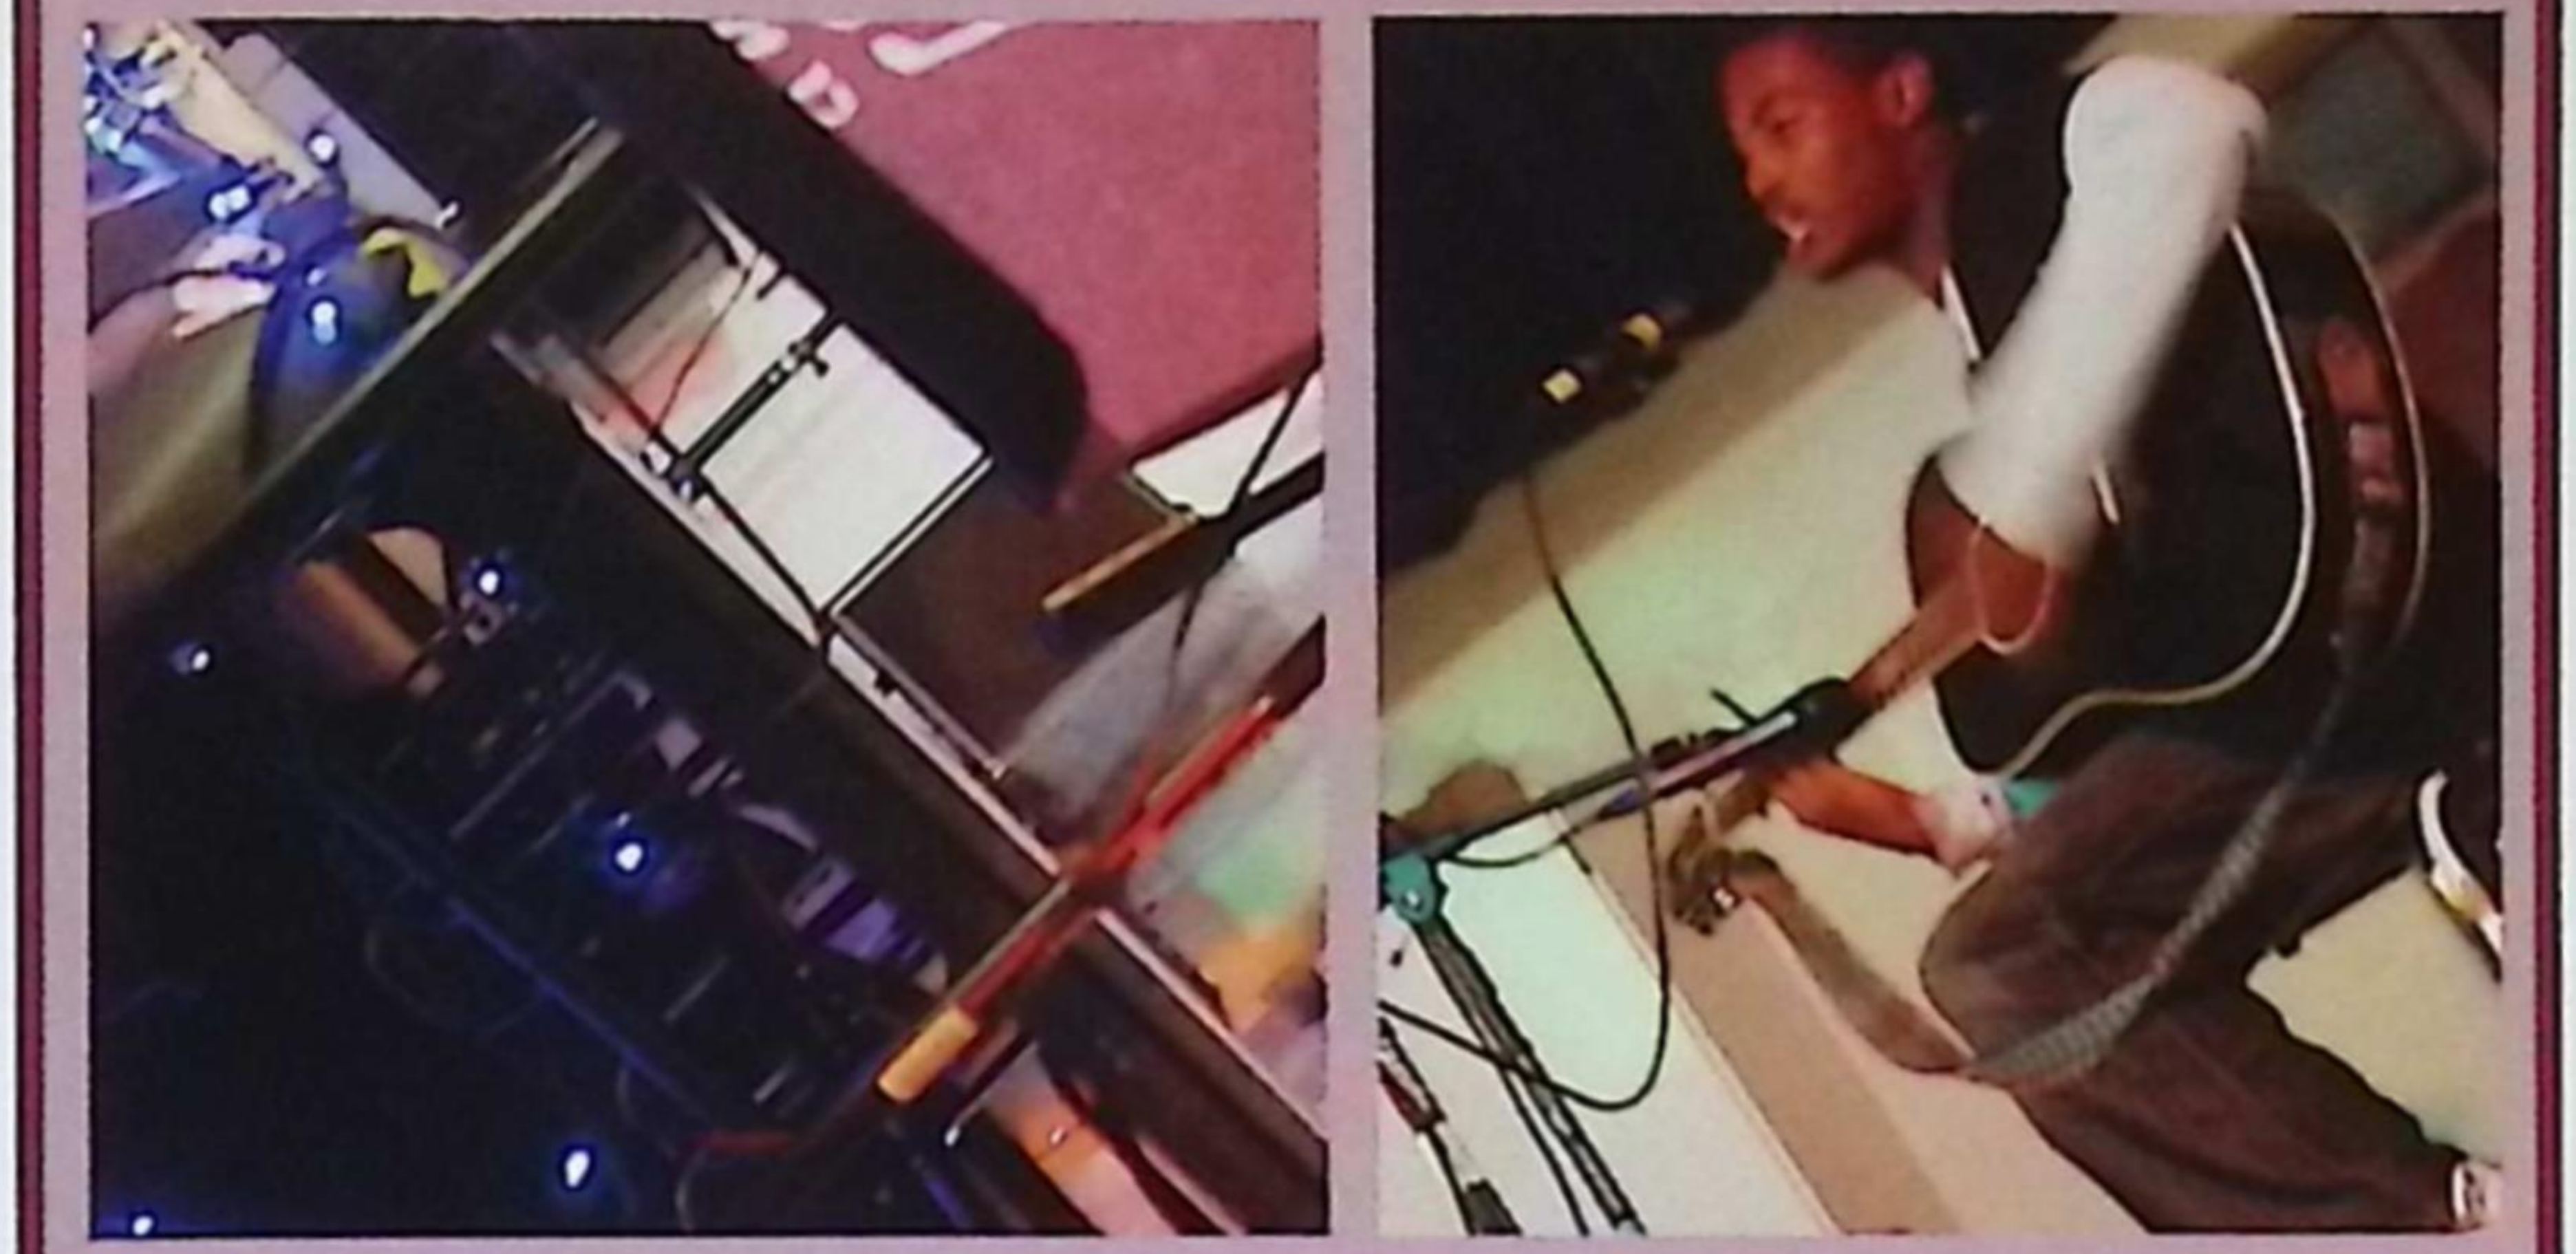
"All I can say is, 'Jessie is a friend. Yes, I know he's been a good friend of mine. But lately something's changed'. . ."
-J. Eisele ('10)



1. Showing his unique and artistic side to the listeners at the assembly, Bryan Whitaker ('11) creates a harmonic lullaby that puts everyone at peace. 2. Creeping outside to better their pitch, the boy band "Check Please" forms a half circle and practices their performance song, "Jessie's Girl". 3. Chad Zisler ('11) proves to the students at Saint Clair High School that beauty comes in all forms, as he sings a cover by the Beastie Boys with his band. 4. A group of talented girls gain the courage to show what they're made of when they step on stage and share their sound at the Coffee House. 5. Strumming some soothing chords on his most prized possession, his guitar, Heyden LaBelle ('10) leaves his audience at the Coffee House entranced.

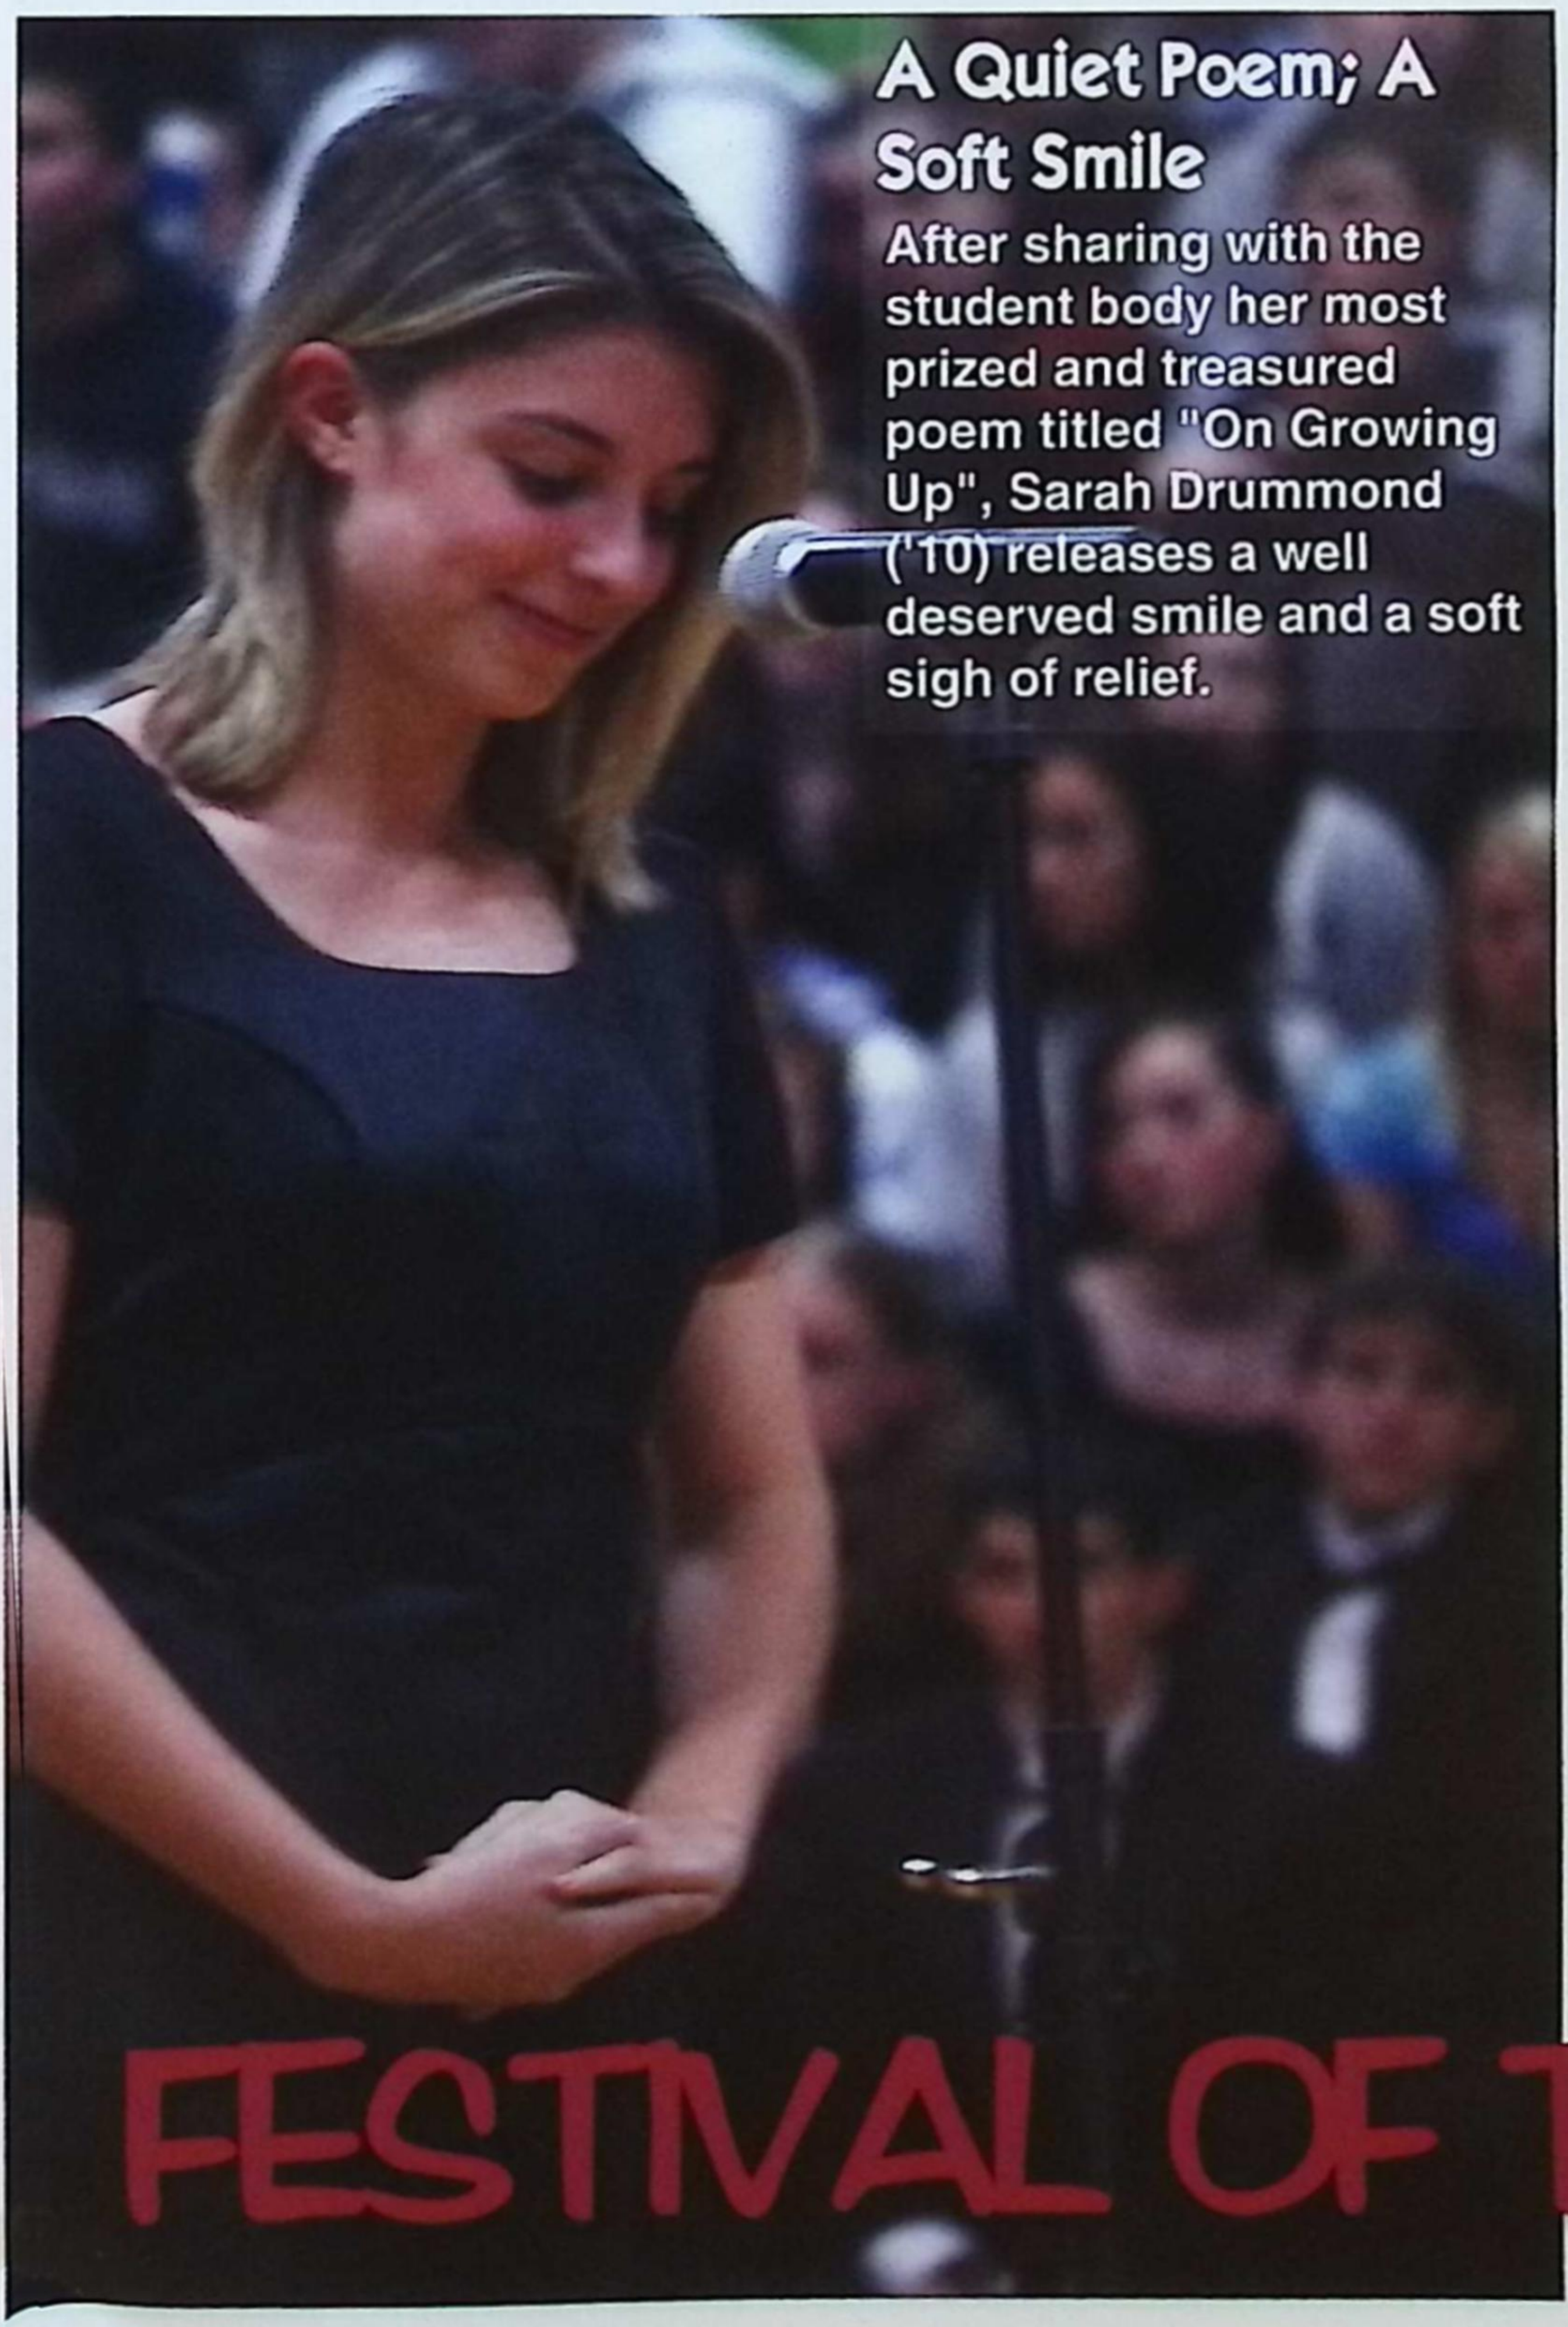
FESTIVAL OF THE ARTS

MY MOMENT



"I have had the lead role in the past three musicals here at Saint Clair High School. I have also learned how to use my voice in a way that will have the biggest emotional effect on people. Most of all, I have made some life long friends in the arts program here, and I really appreciate all that it has helped me accomplish."

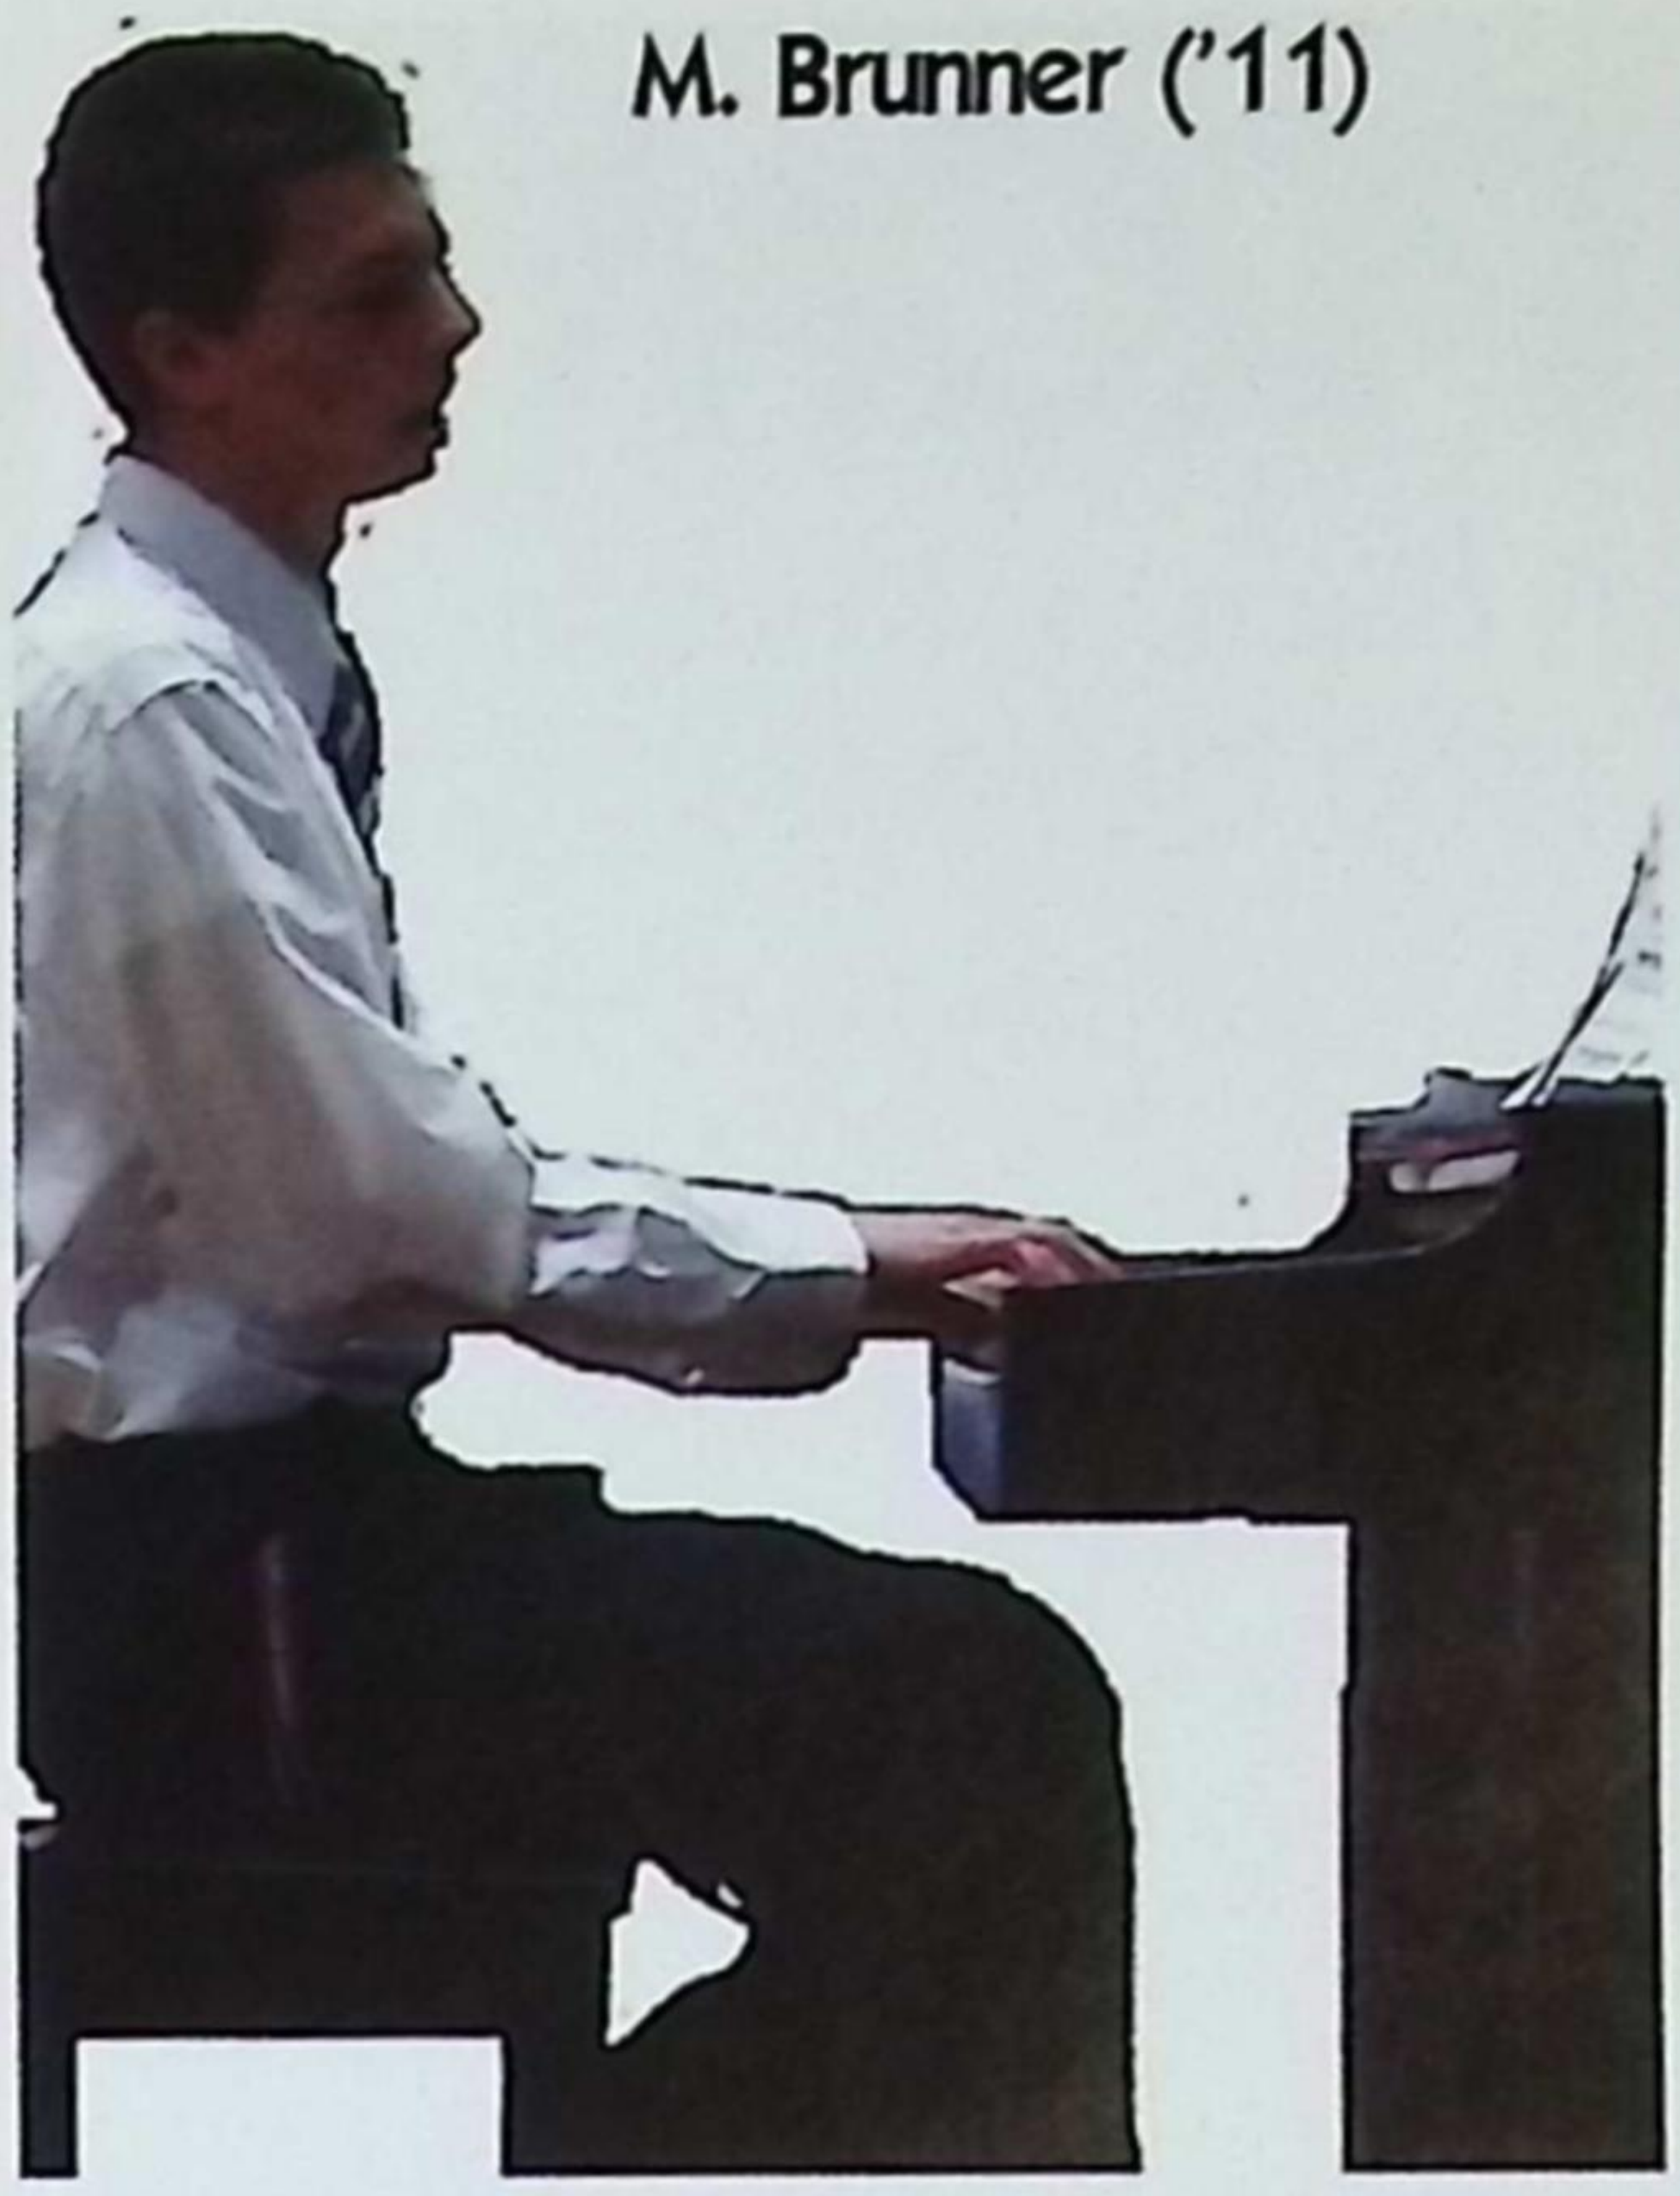
-M. Redmond ('10)



A Quiet Poem; A Soft Smile

After sharing with the student body her most prized and treasured poem titled "On Growing Up", Sarah Drummond ('10) releases a well deserved smile and a soft sigh of relief.

M. Brunner ('11)



Standing Out in the Crowd

Each year at Saint Clair, we appreciate the kids who have a skil and talent, and then the guts to show the school how talented they realy are. The choir, band, art, and theater programs always have a spot on the stage. Even so, every few years there are individuals that try out and get a chance to perform their skils solo.

> "Art is an adventure that never seems to end."
>
> - Unknown

This year there were more solo acts than group acts. There was a traditional balet performance, a recitation of an original poem, a traditional celo solo performed on a classic guitar, and an a cappela performance of "Jessie's Girl". Each performance was completely original in its own way and contributed to the rich culture here at St. Clair High School.

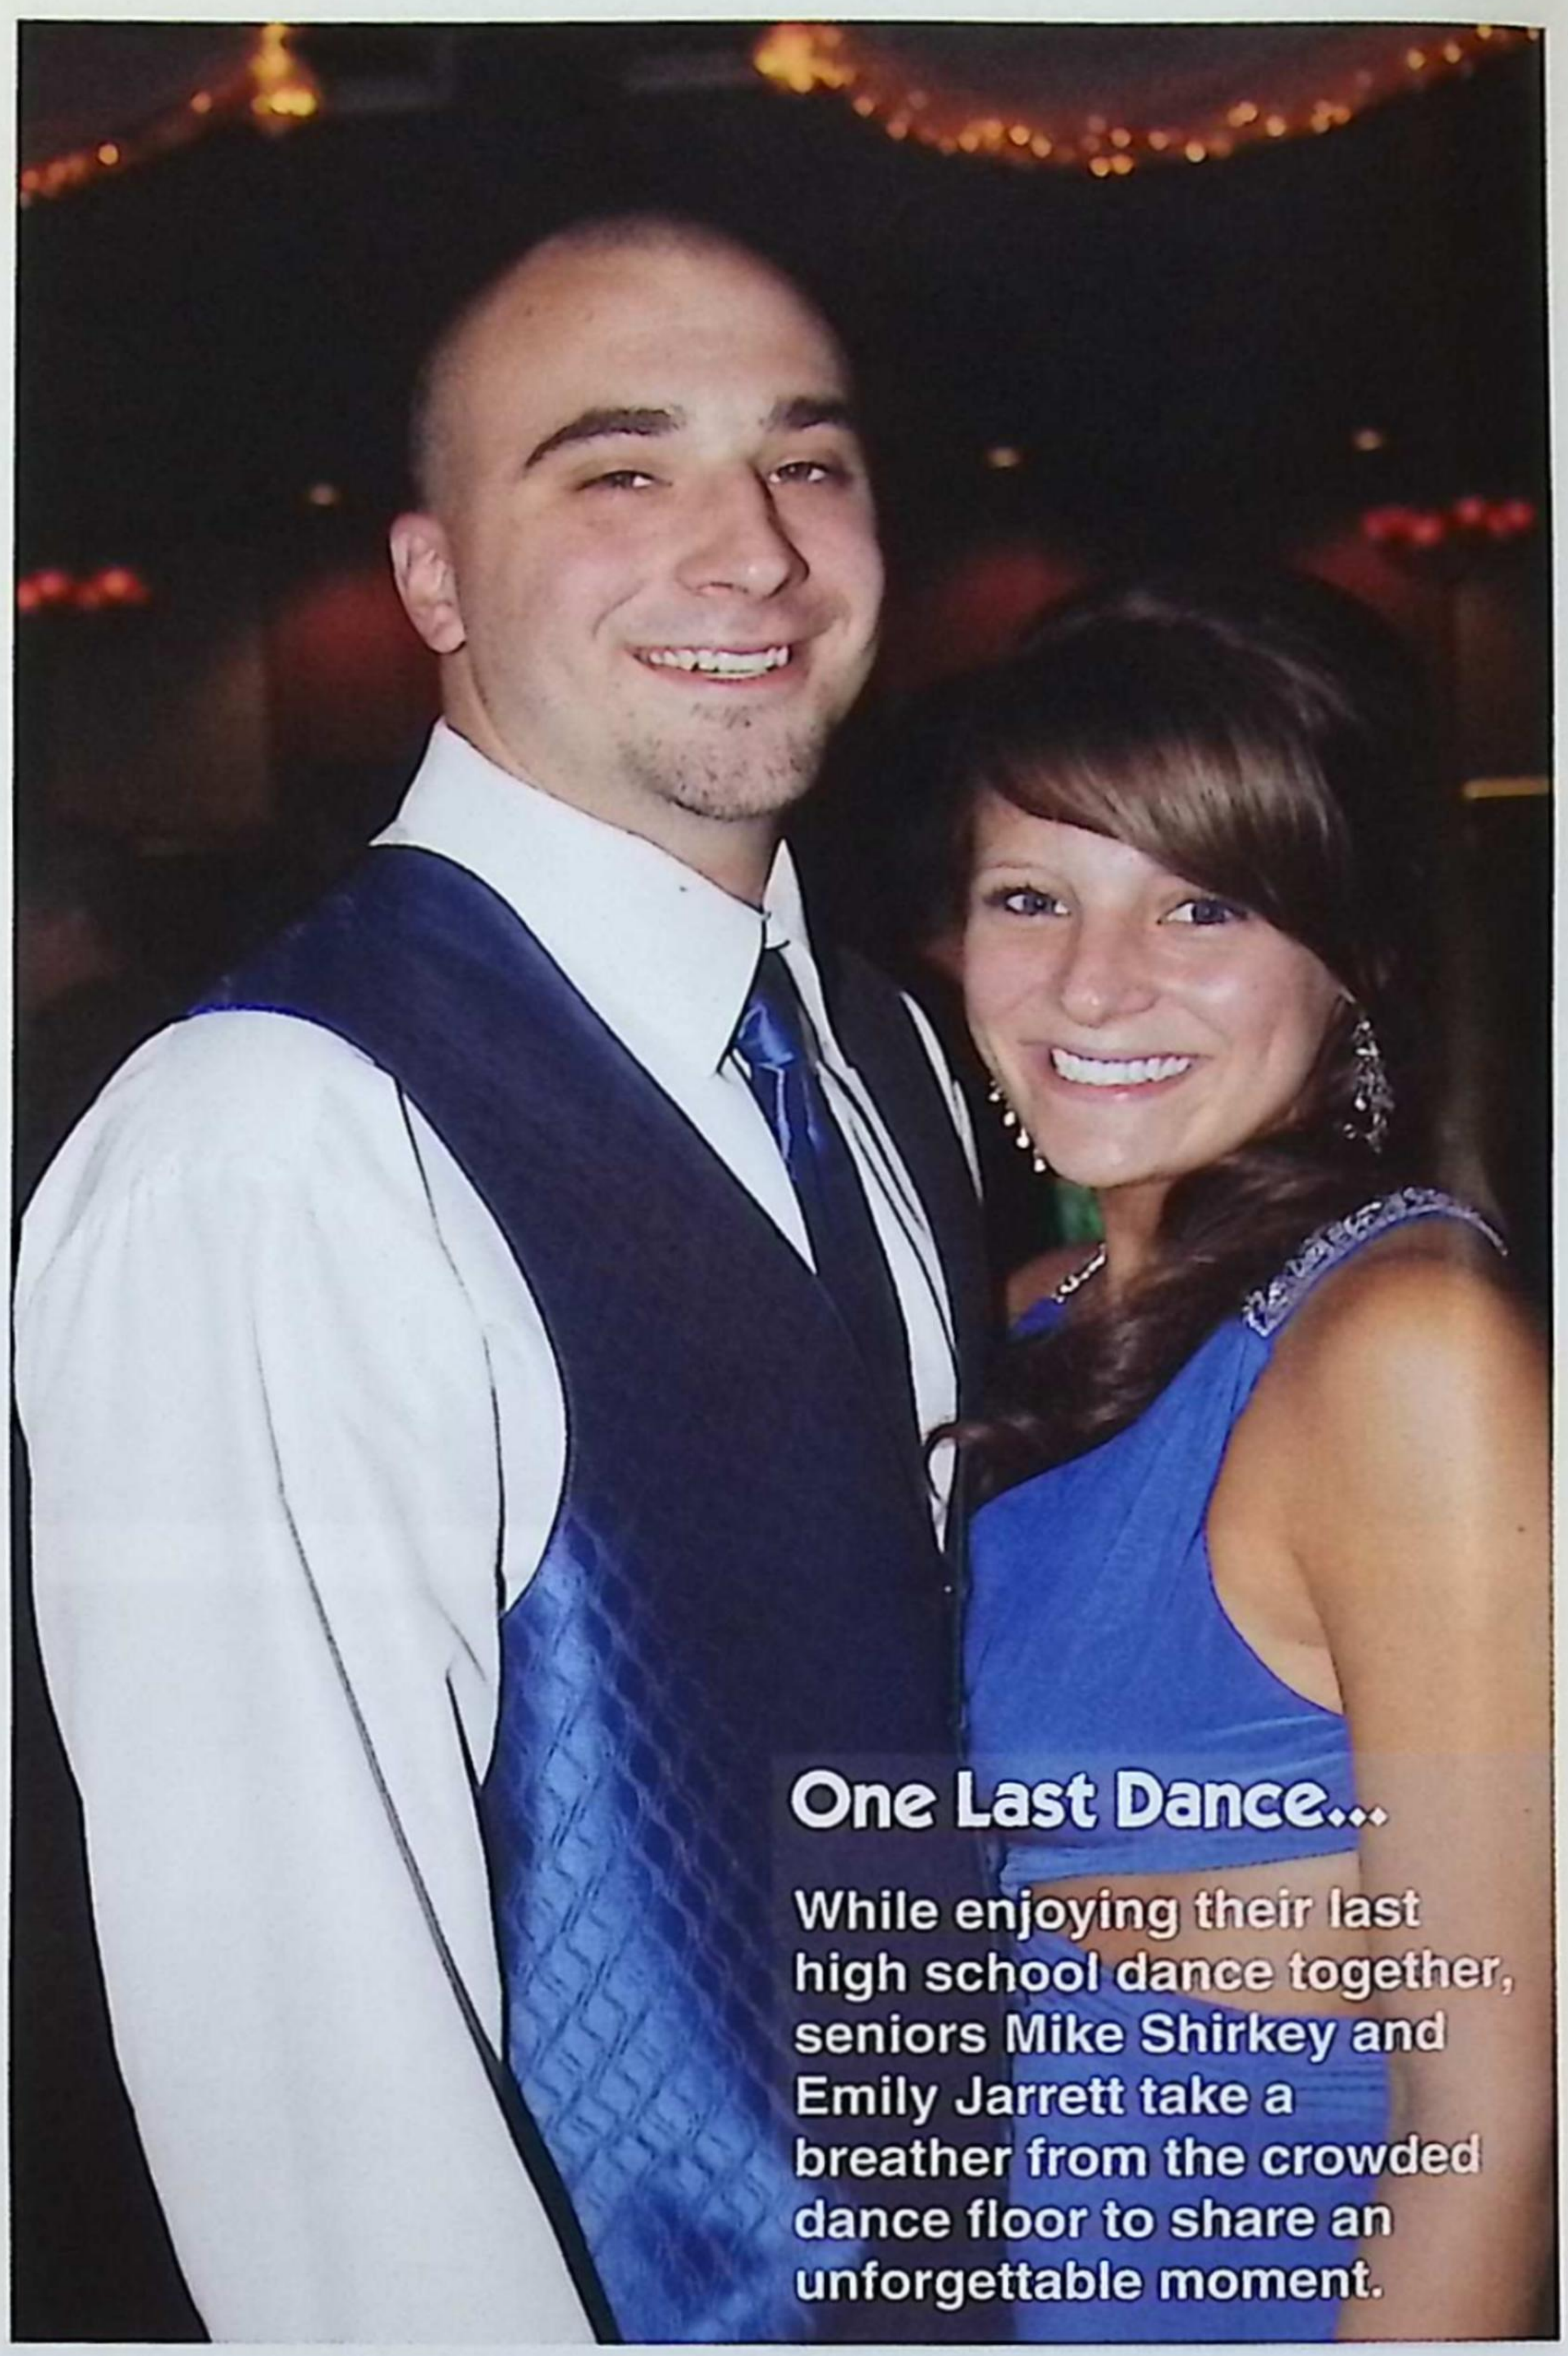
PROM

A Night is Worth a 1000 Memories

It only takes one night to make memories for a lifetime. Prom was the prime example of this, with gorgeous dresses and snazzy tuxes flowing across the dance floor. Smiles were plastered on everyone's faces as a colorful illustration that nobody will ever forget their night. Some chose to brighten the dance floor with colorful ensembles while others chose to keep it simple. No matter what color pallet people chose, the sights at Prom this year were breathtaking.

From the boardwalk to the dance floor, everybody had their own signature strut. School isn't over just yet, but by the looks of the students' moves and grooves, studying was the last thing on their minds. Their expectations were high, and they were fulfiled as they waked into the dance of their dreams. It was a night of laughs, a night of imagination, and a night of forever cherished memories. There is nothing like the warmth of being surrounded by the people that you love. Saint Clair High School's 2010 Prom left footprints on the hearts of each and every student that attended, without a doubt.

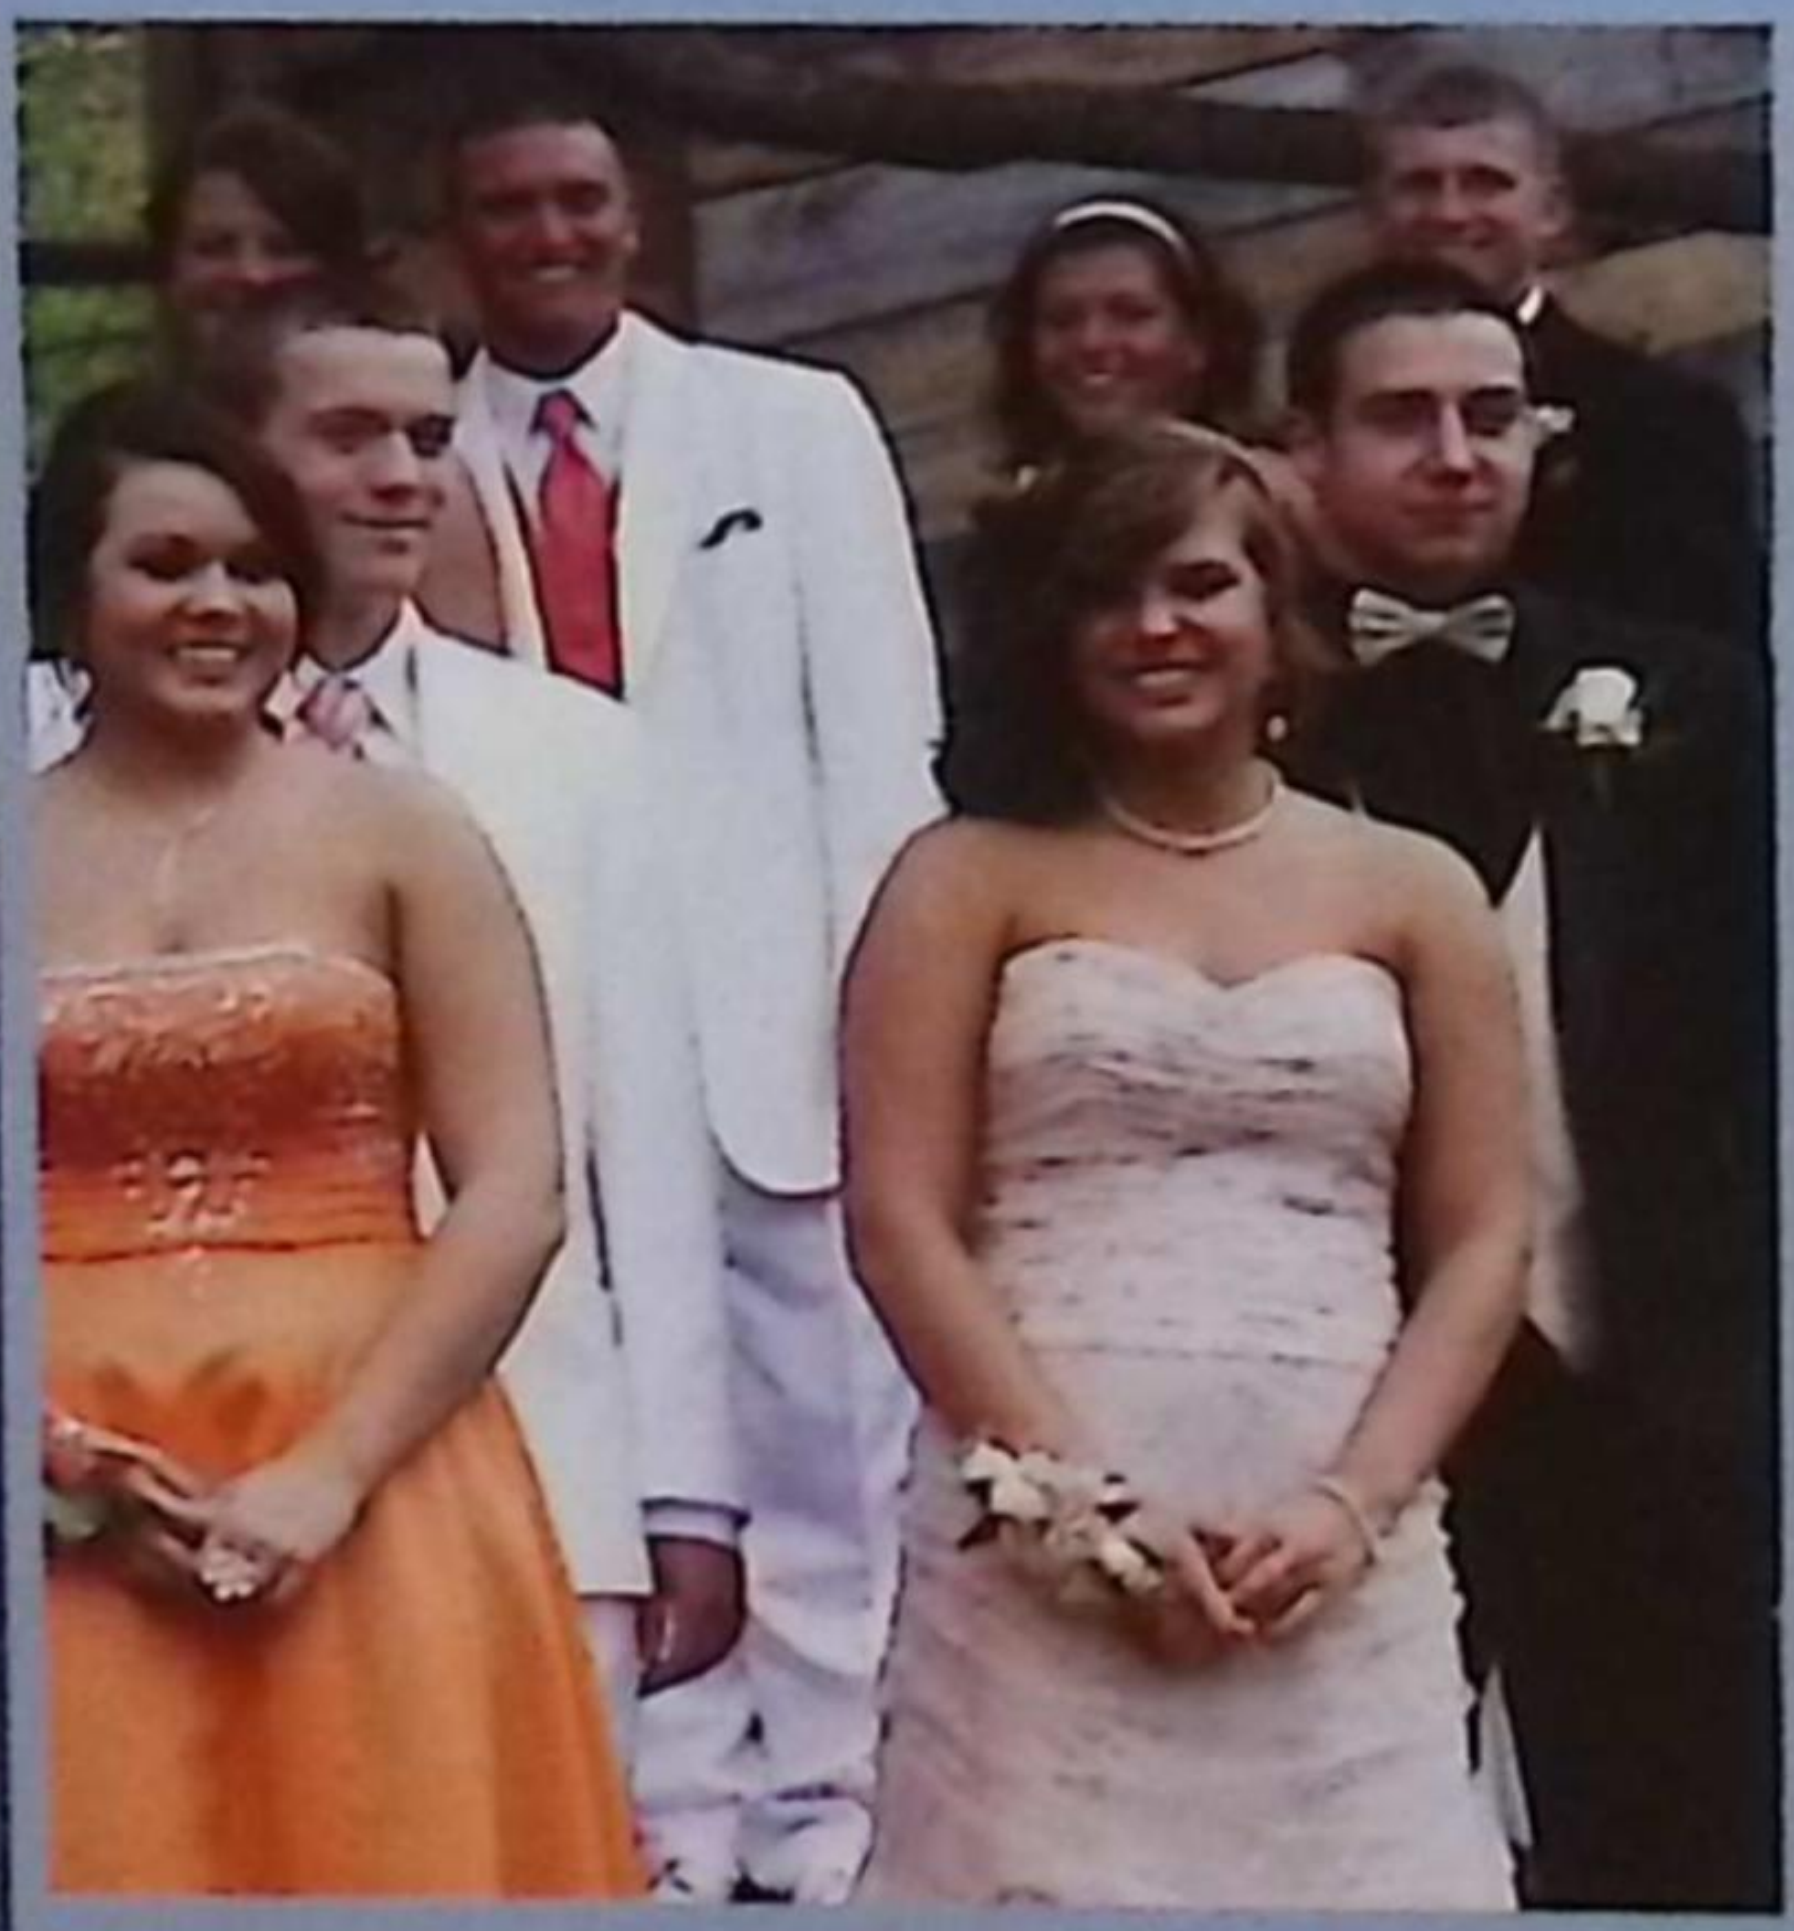


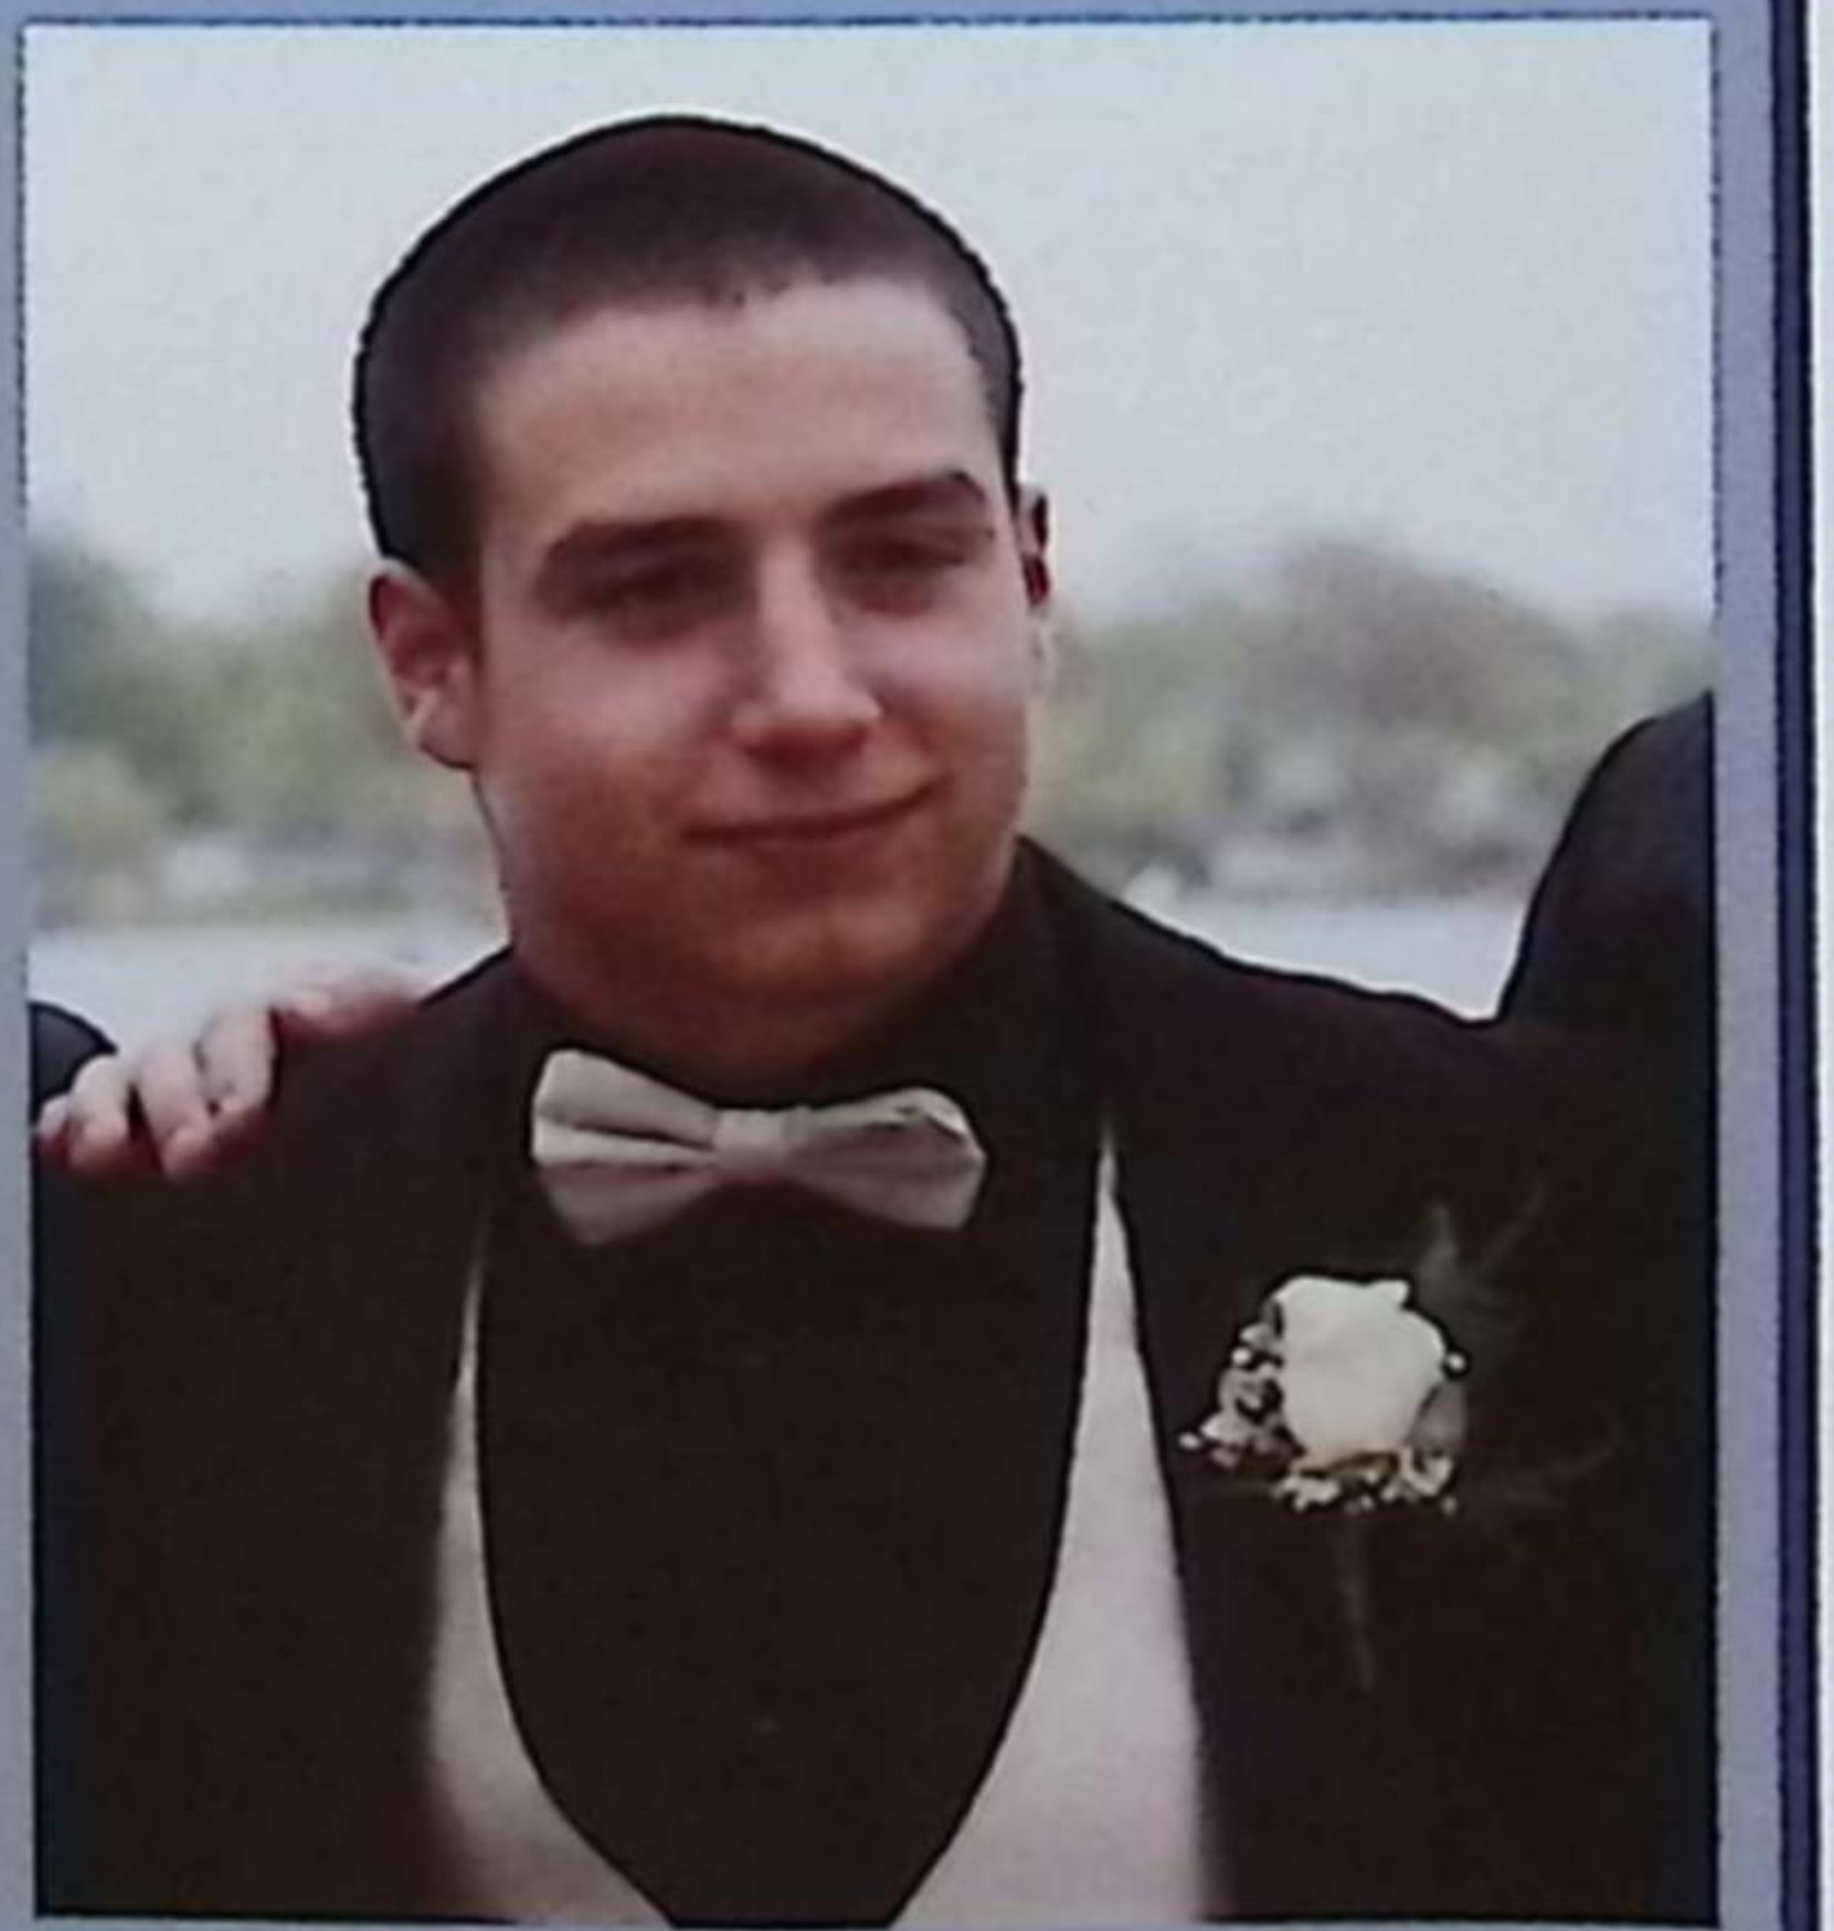
One Last Dance...

While enjoying their last high school dance together, seniors Mike Shirkey and Emily Jarrett take a breather from the crowded dance floor to share an unforgettable moment.

M. Metzner and H. Marinella ('10)

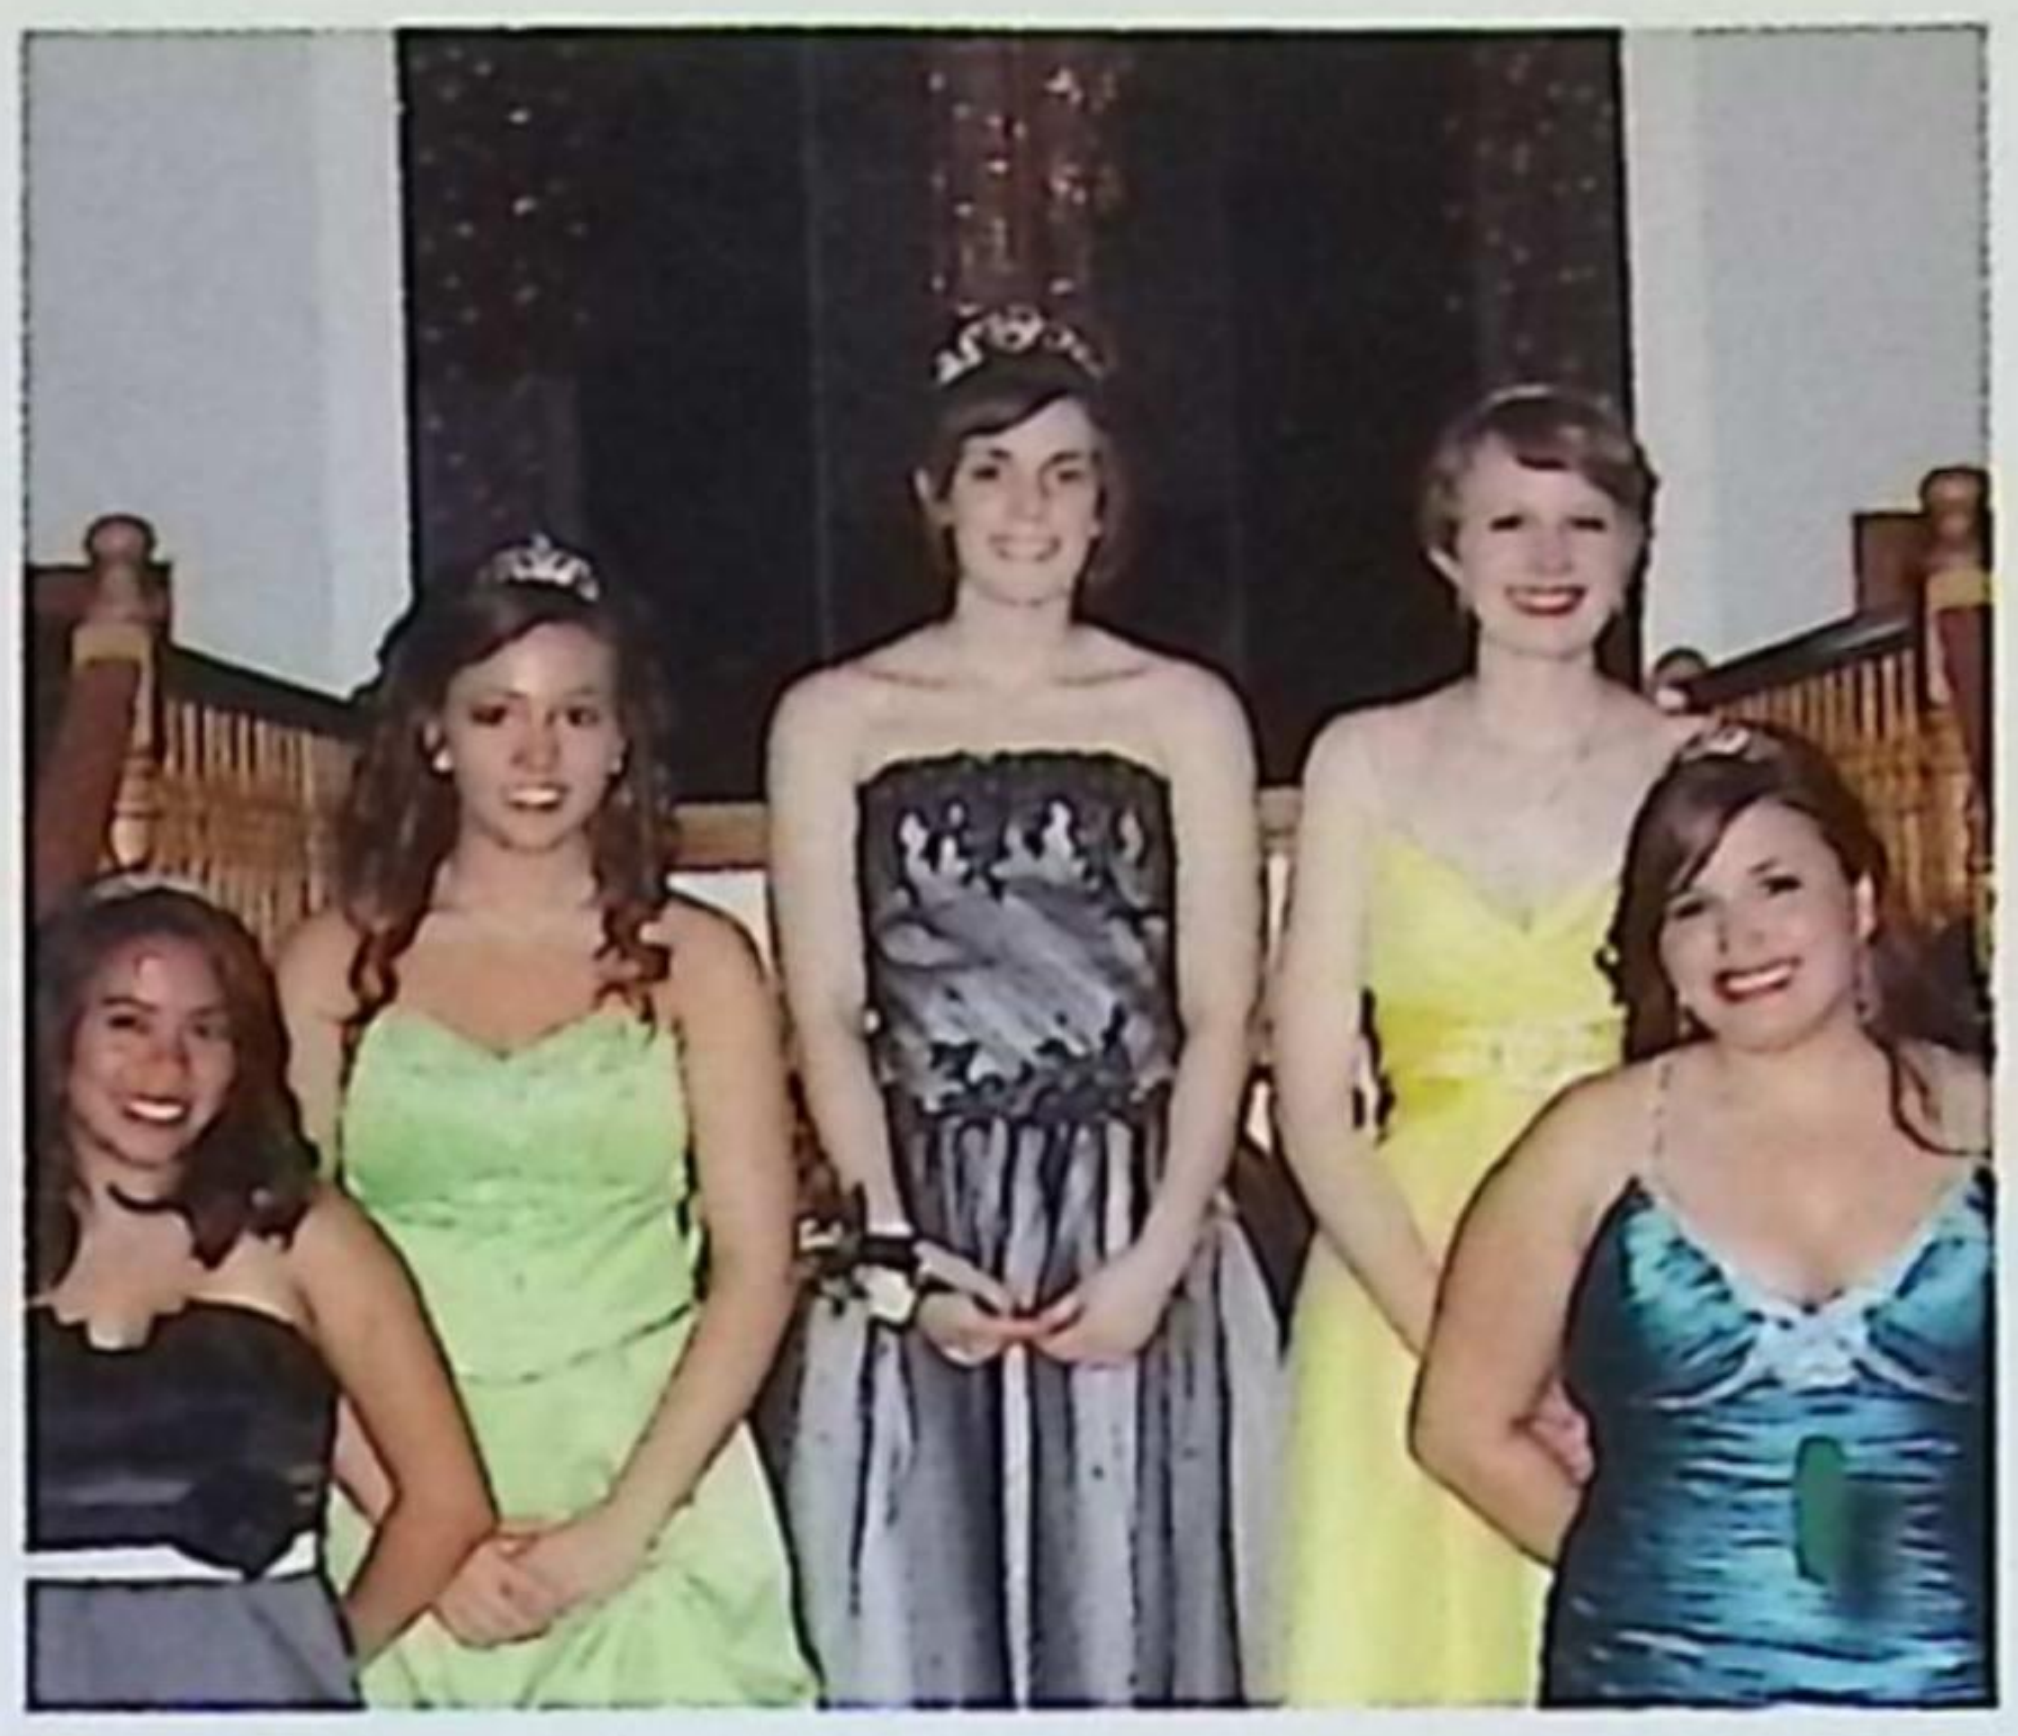
MY MOMENT



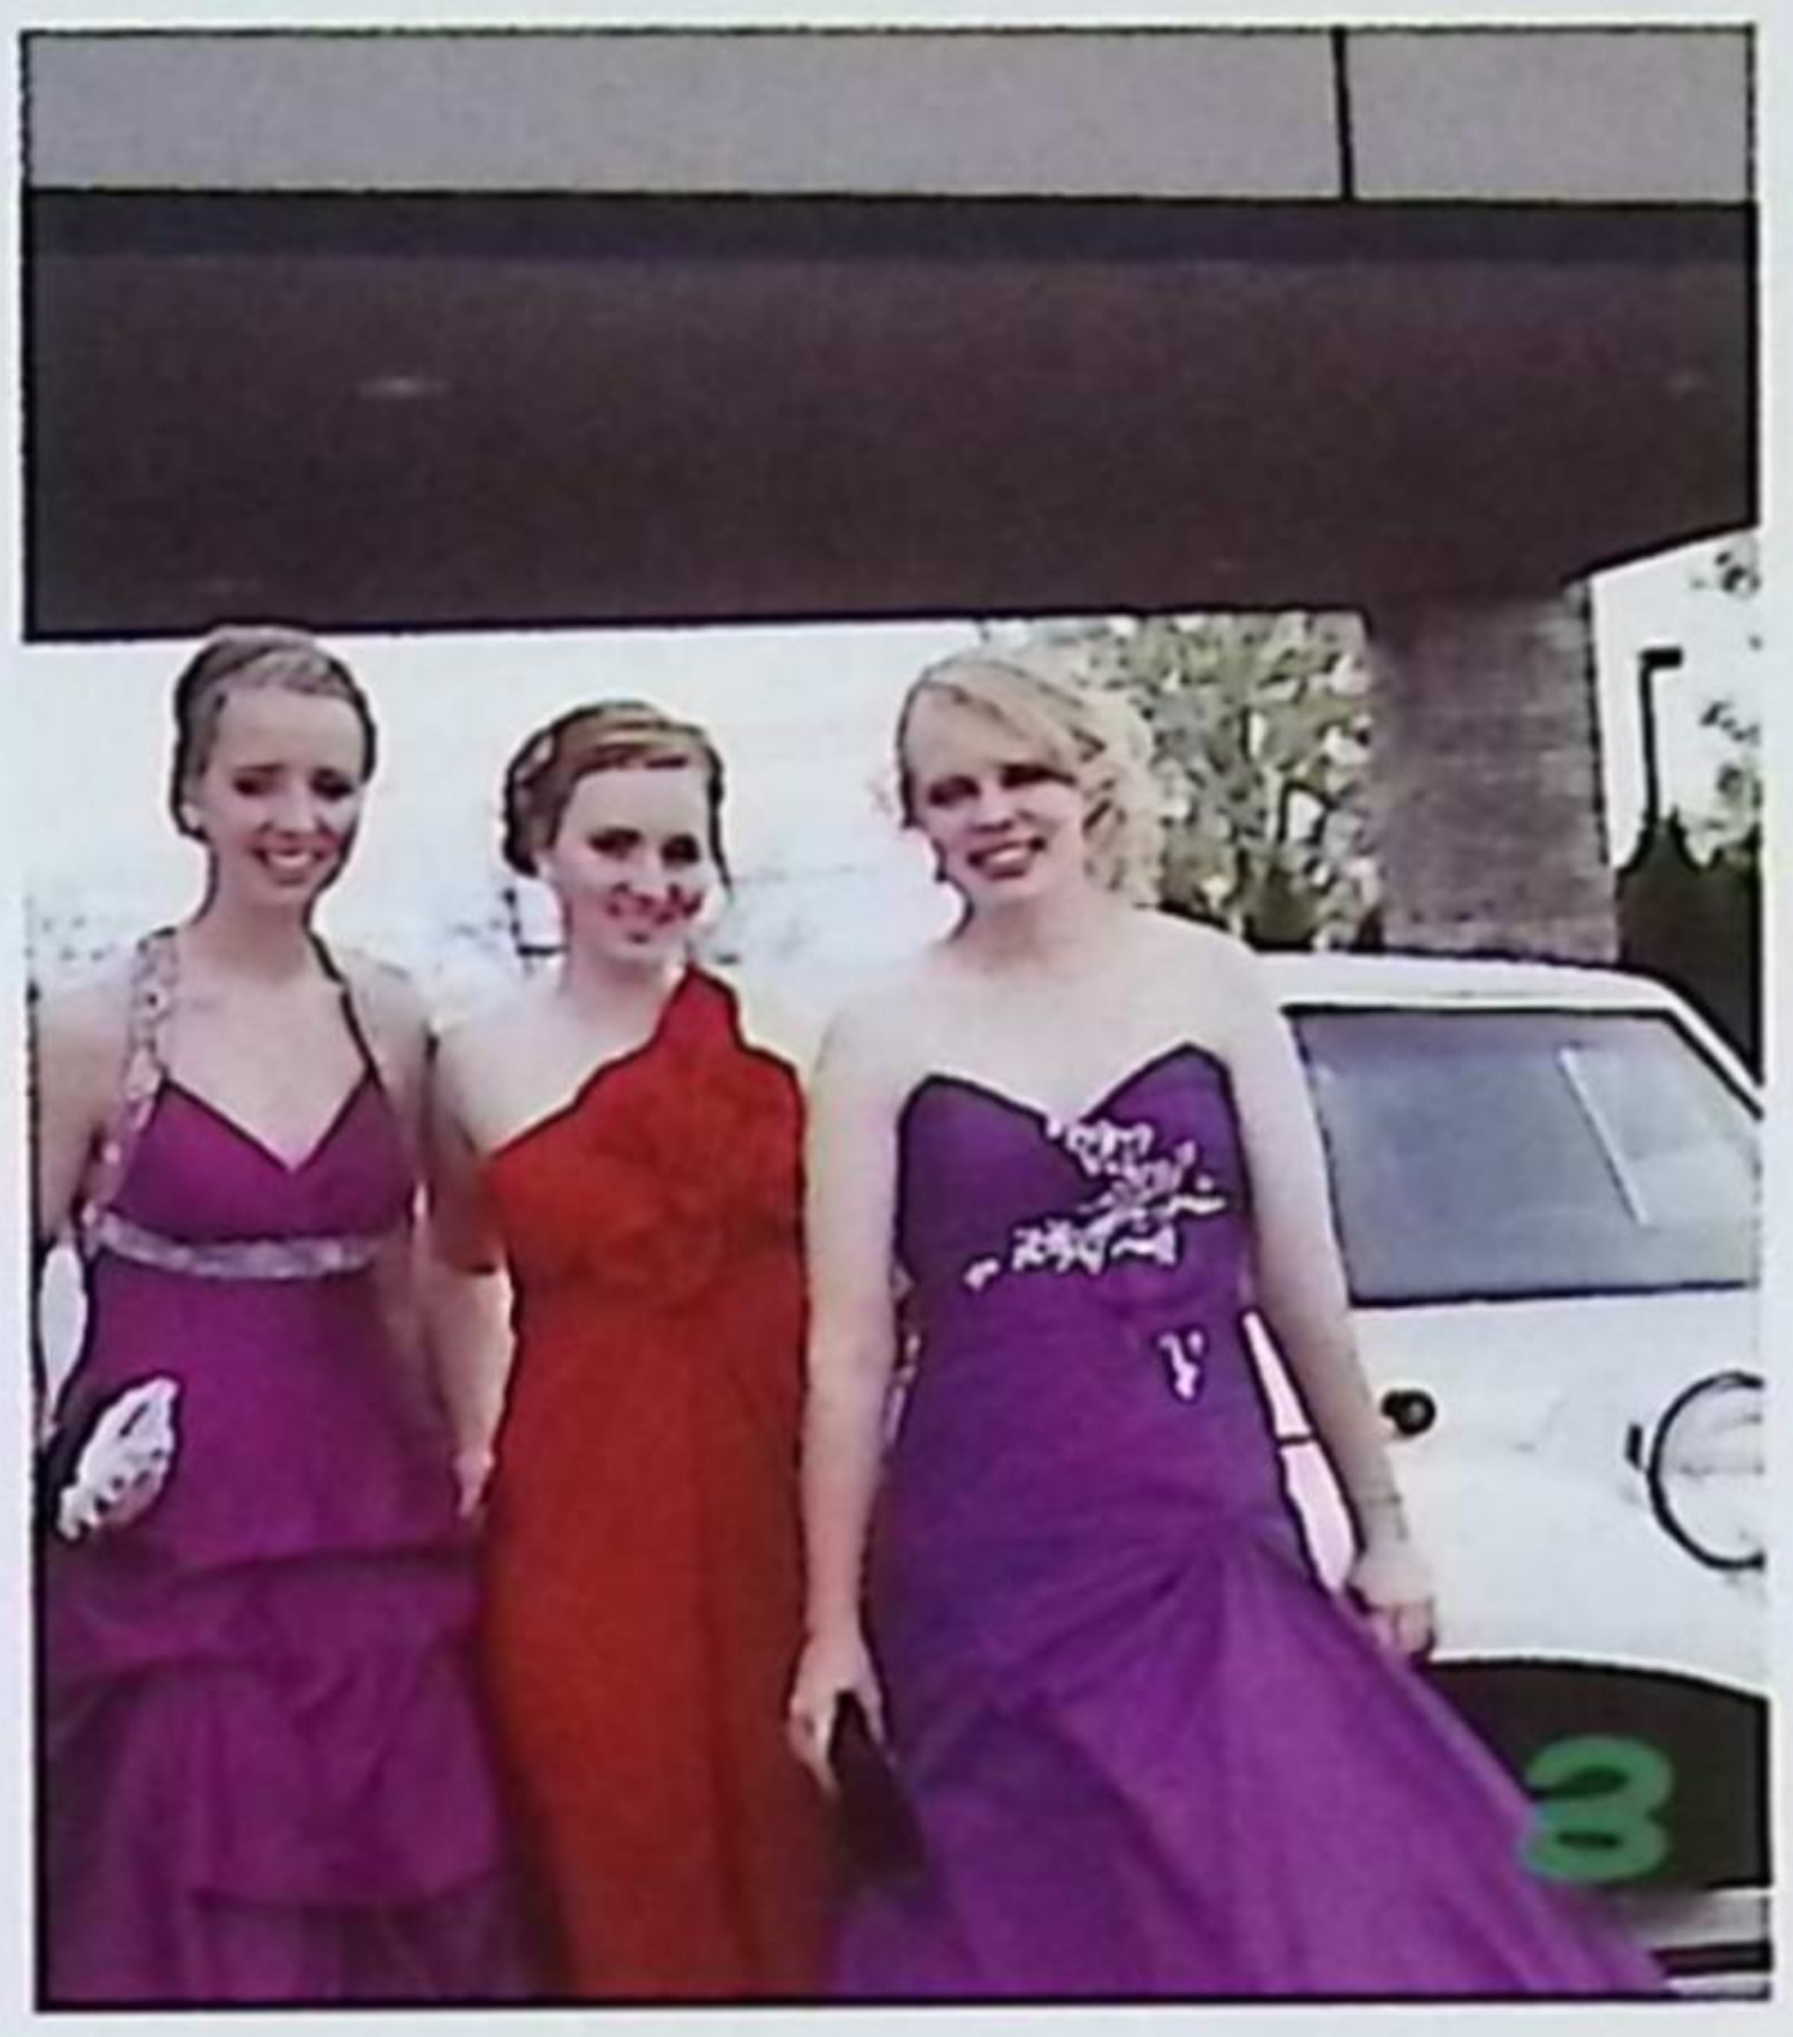


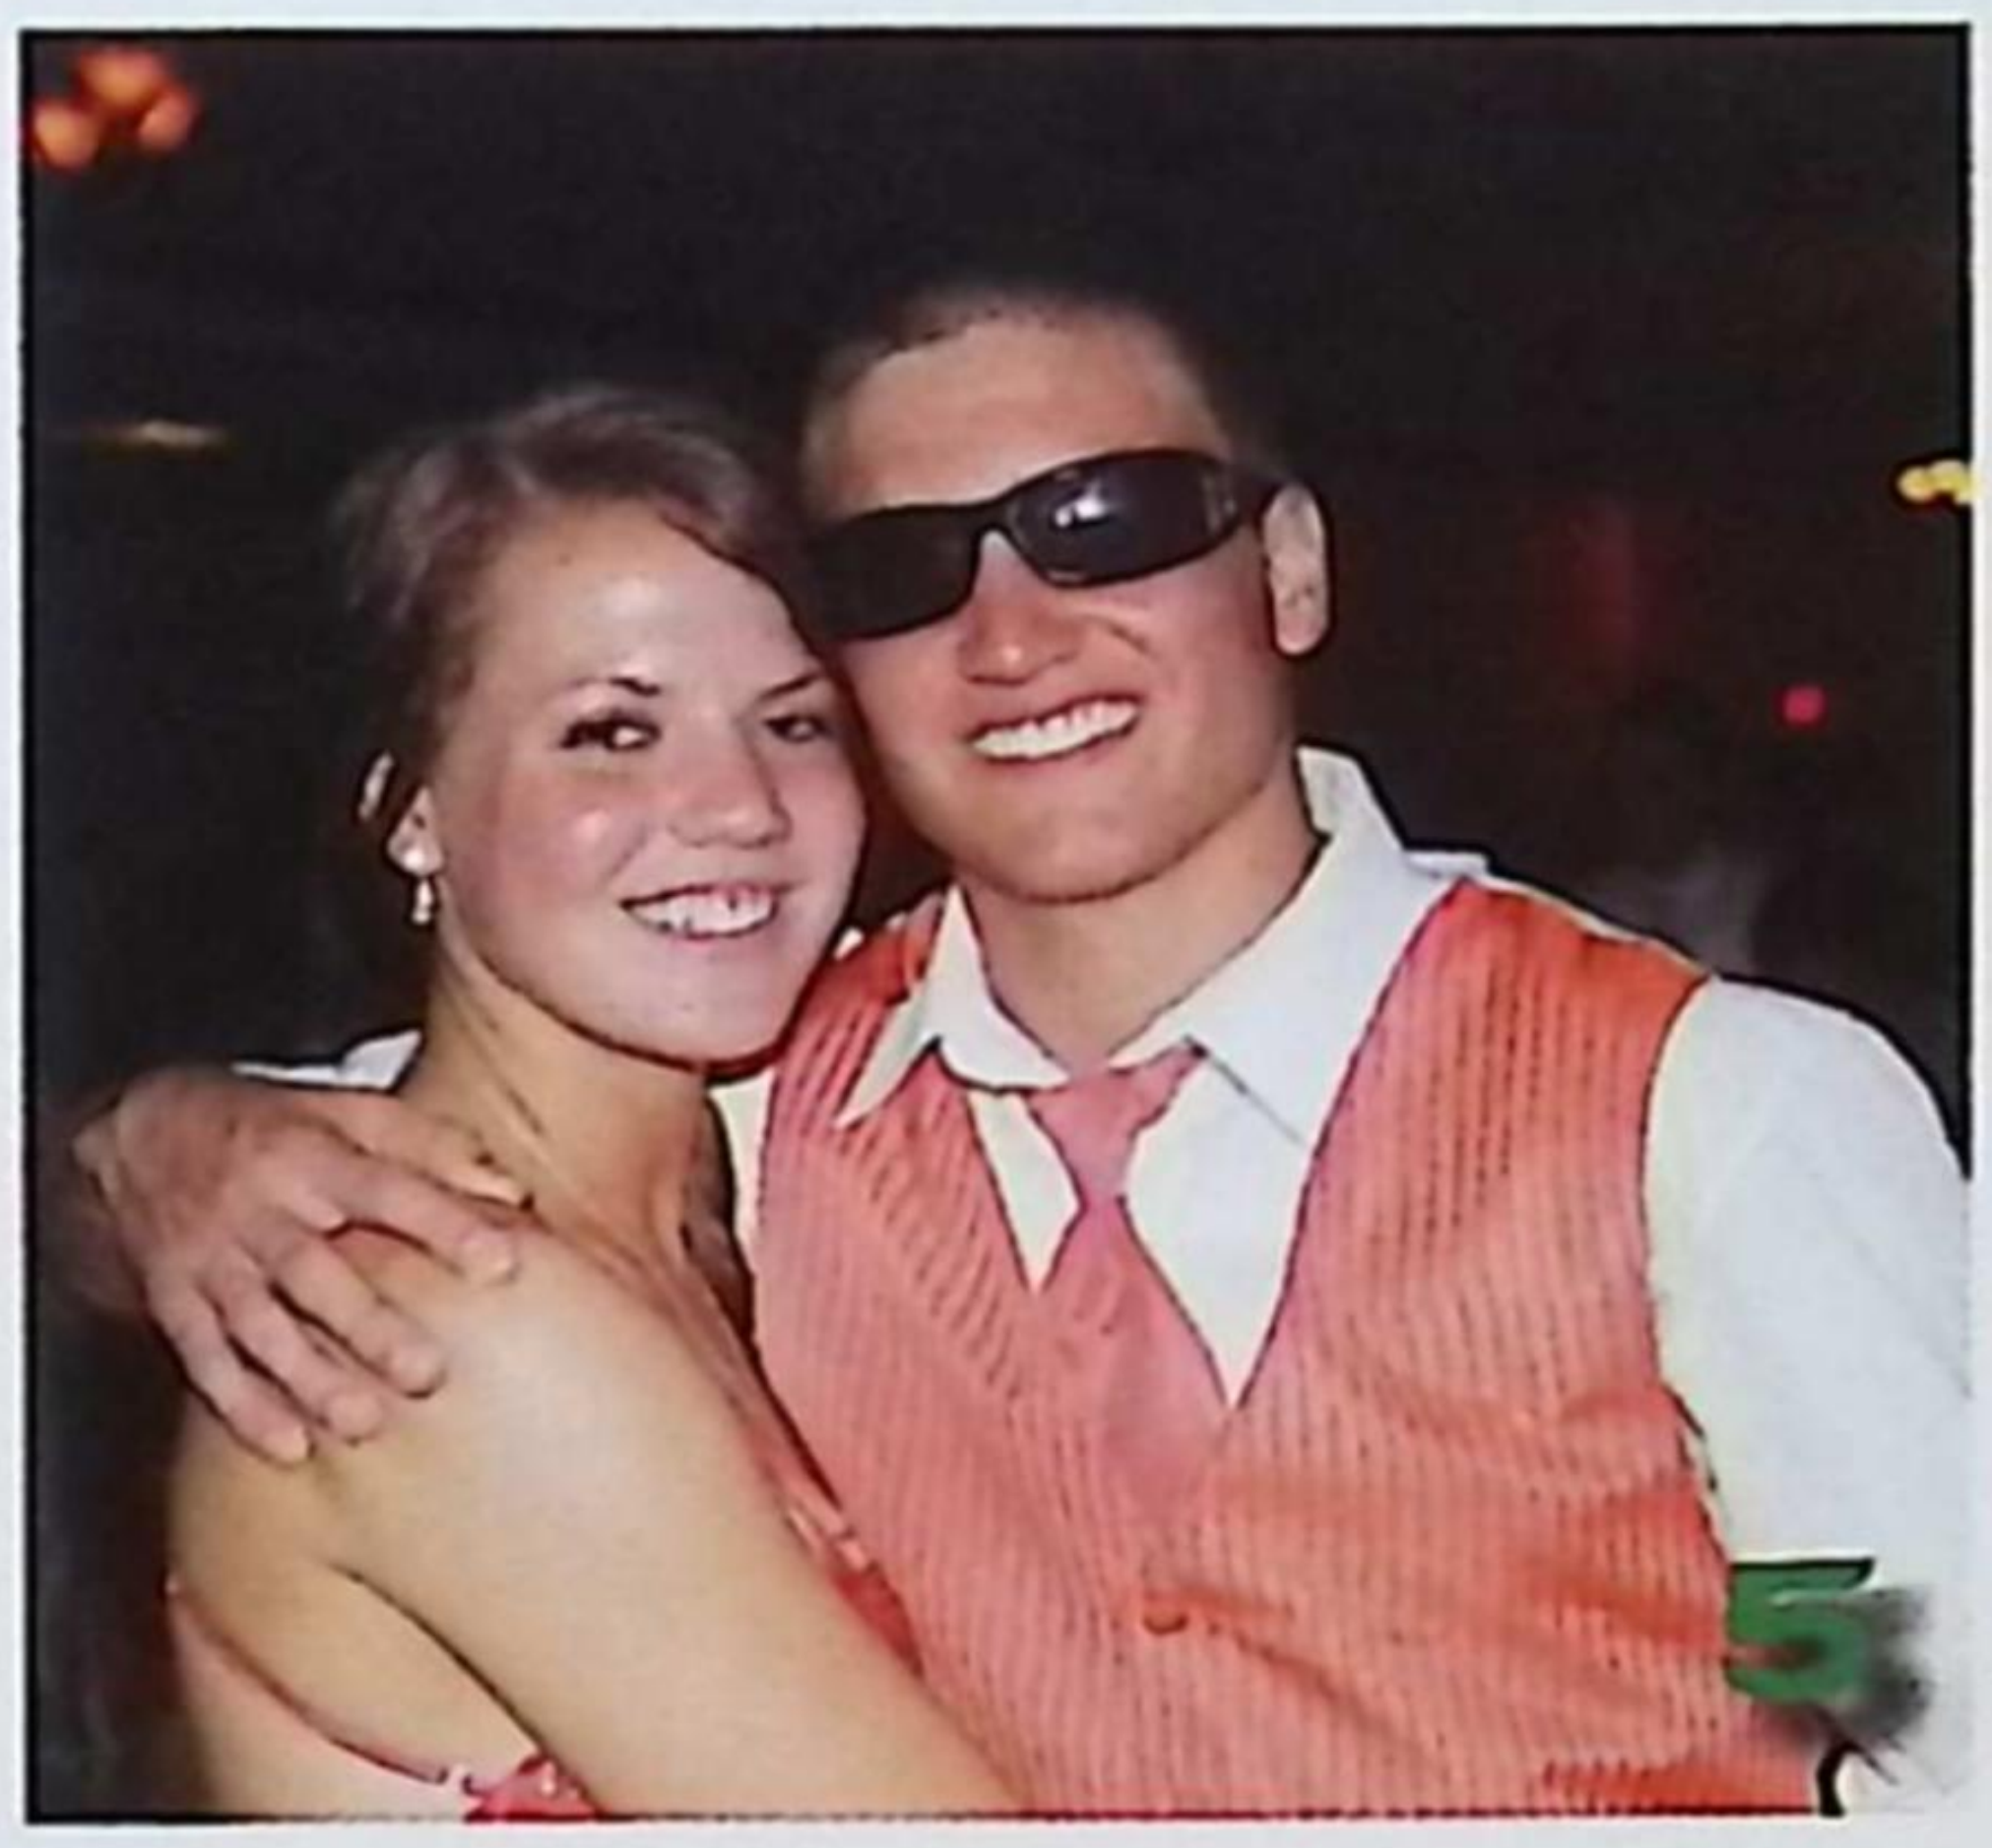
"Prom was such a great time. I was having a blast, until I got fist pumped in the nose. I had to run into the bathroom and then I spent like an hour trying to get my nose to stop bleeding. It took forever, but finally after some time and lots of paper towel, I was back on the dance floor busting some moves and fist pumping like a champ. I never found who accidentally punched me; but I didn't let it ruin my night. Other than that, it was pretty sweet."

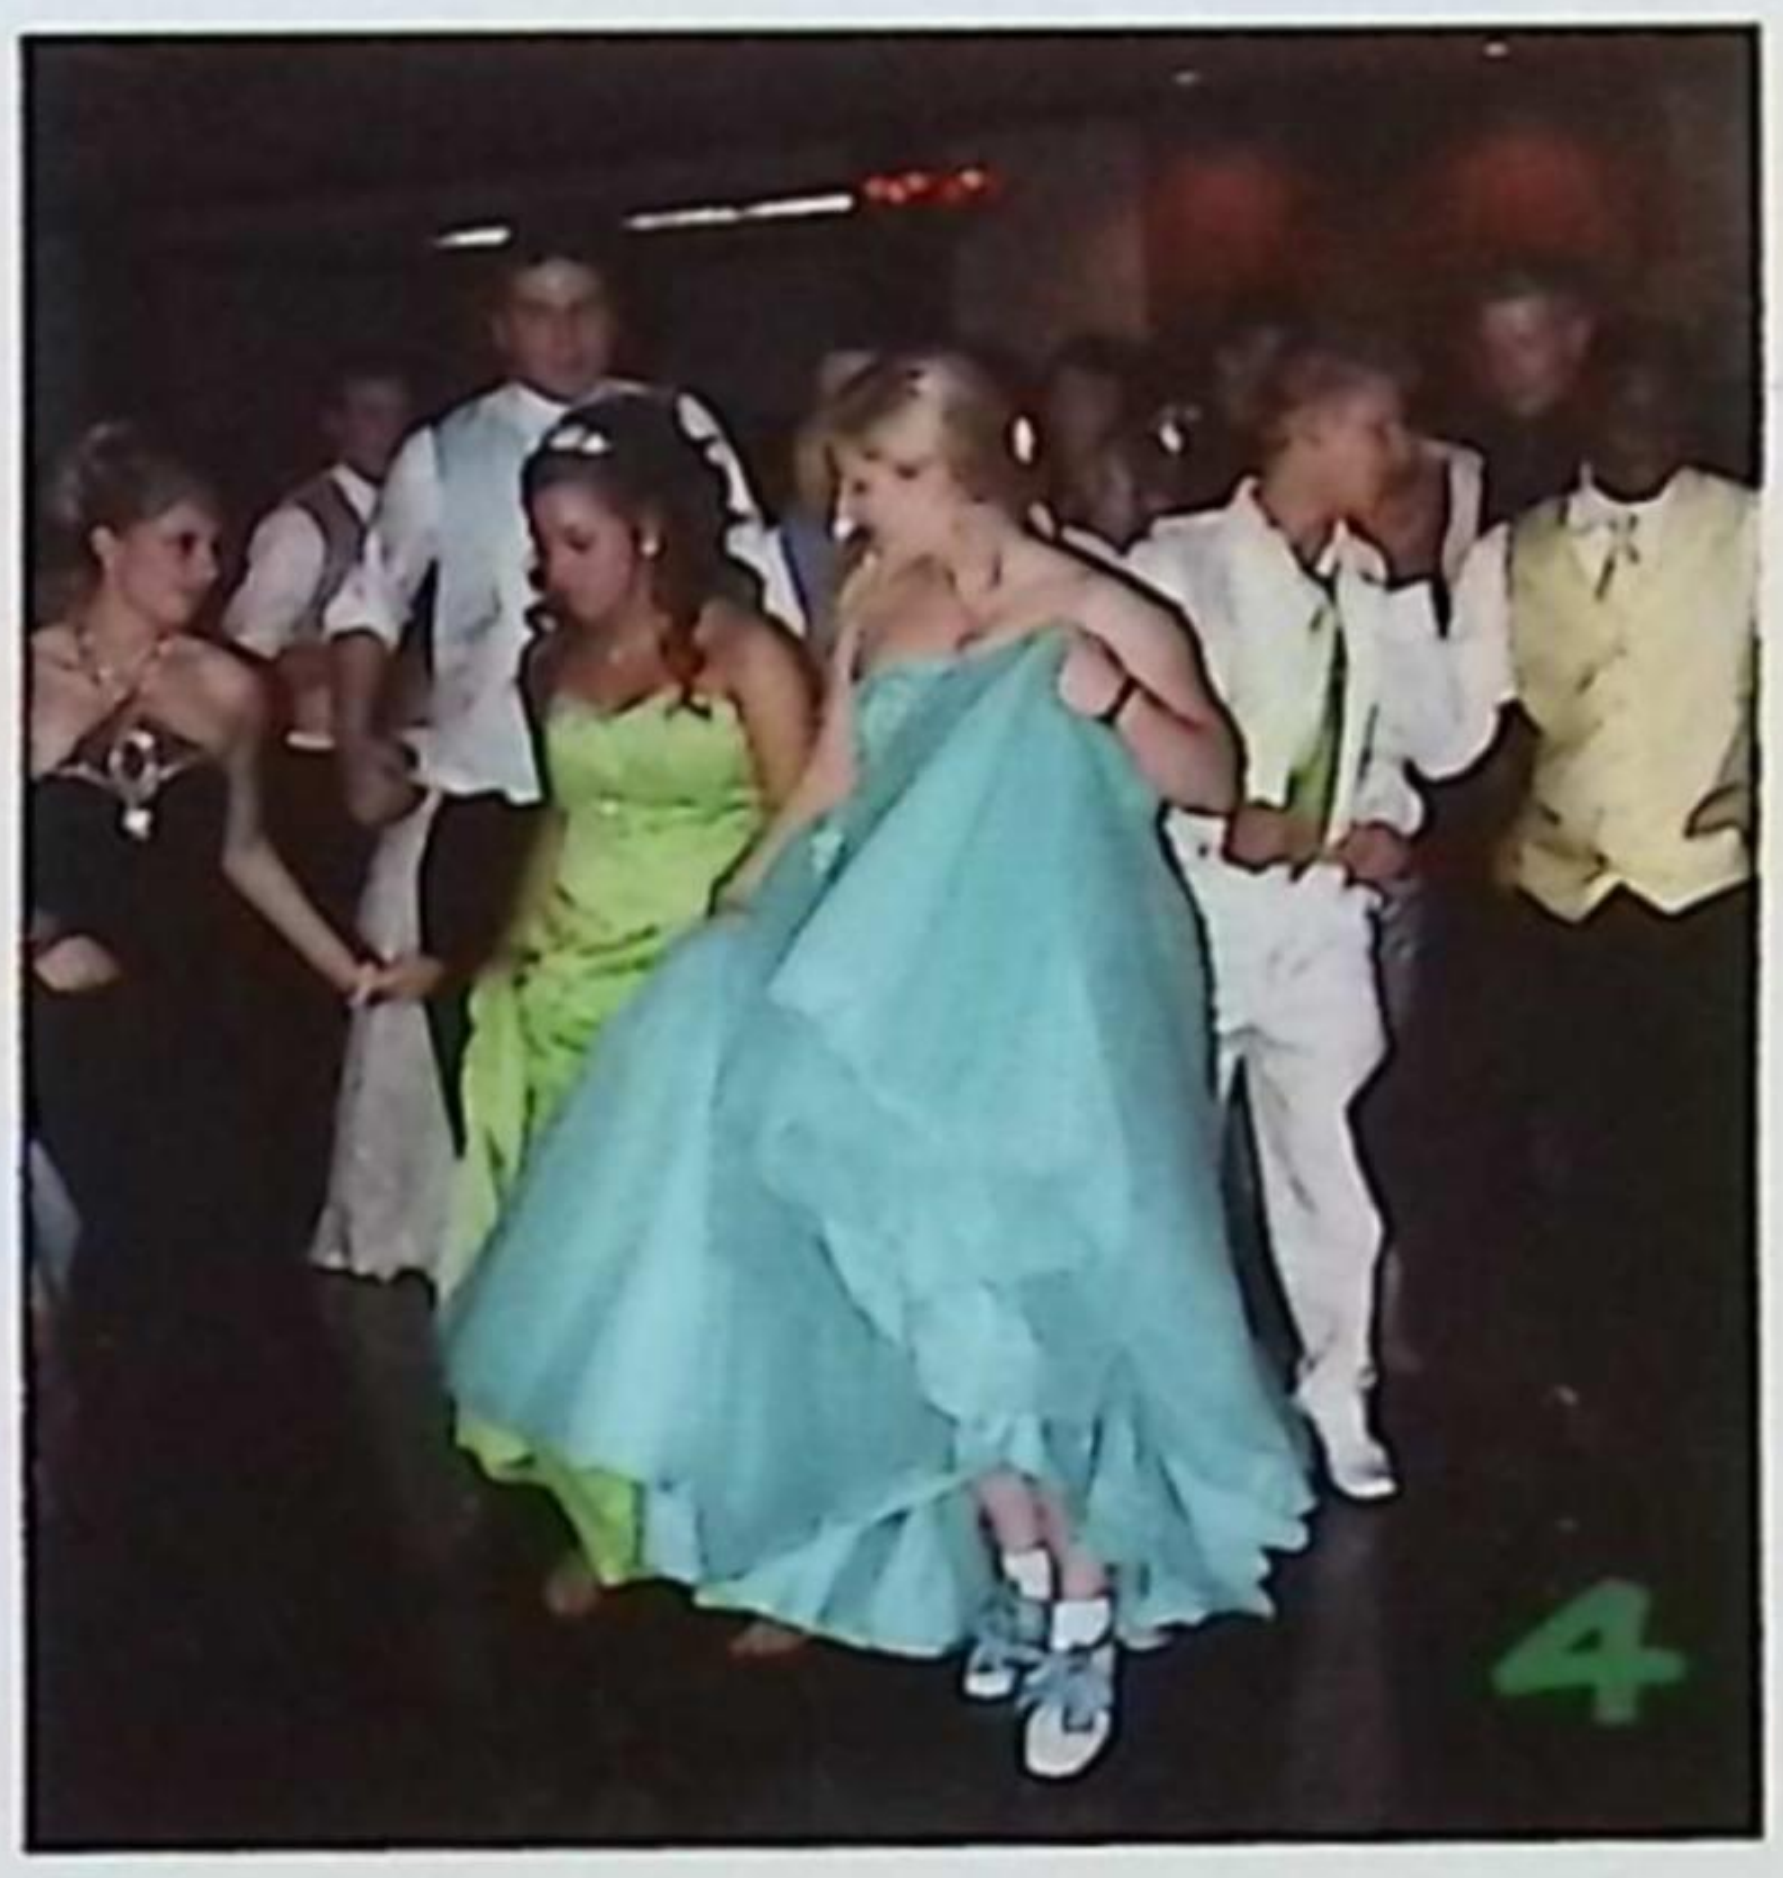
-T. Katakis ('11)



1. Tori Klisz ('10) was crowned this year's queen. Her royal court consisted of seniors, Kirsten Bray, Ashley Gura, Rebecca Loftis, and Kasey Craft. 2. Baseball players, Joel Seddon, Dane Galvin ('11) and Andrew Rossi ('10) show their team unity by taking a picture with Coach McElreath before they head off to Prom. 3. Seniors, Nicole Russell, Angela Bloom, and Tori Kern show up in a unique limo which only added to their amazing night. 4. Emily Selman ('10) rocks her ribbon tied Keds as an old fashion touch to her dress. 5. Blinded by his girlfriend, Addie Ingles' ('1) beauty on Prom night, Scott Young ('11) makes sure his stunna shades are number one on his Prom check list.







Step by Step

How were you asked to prom?

"I told Hans 'Ask me already!' so then he just laughed and said 'Will you go to prom with me?'"

Finding your dress...

"I ordered my dress, online way too late, and it was four sizes too big when it was delivered, so my mom altered it and added Swarovski crystals."

Your style?

"I had an old Hollywood glamour hairstyle which was done by Mandy at New Attitudes in St. Clair."

What did your corsage look like?

"My corsage had white roses with gold accents; and matched my dress but I forgot to put it on for pictures because it was annoying me."

Do you think the Farewell Picnic is something to be carried on?

"Yes, it's a good way to kind of celebrate being a senior and our last day. It gives the senior class one last chance to all be together one last time before we go our separate ways."

"Definitely. It gives an opportunity for the senior class to talk, take pictures and just have fun before graduation practice and the final assembly of the year."
-B. Davis

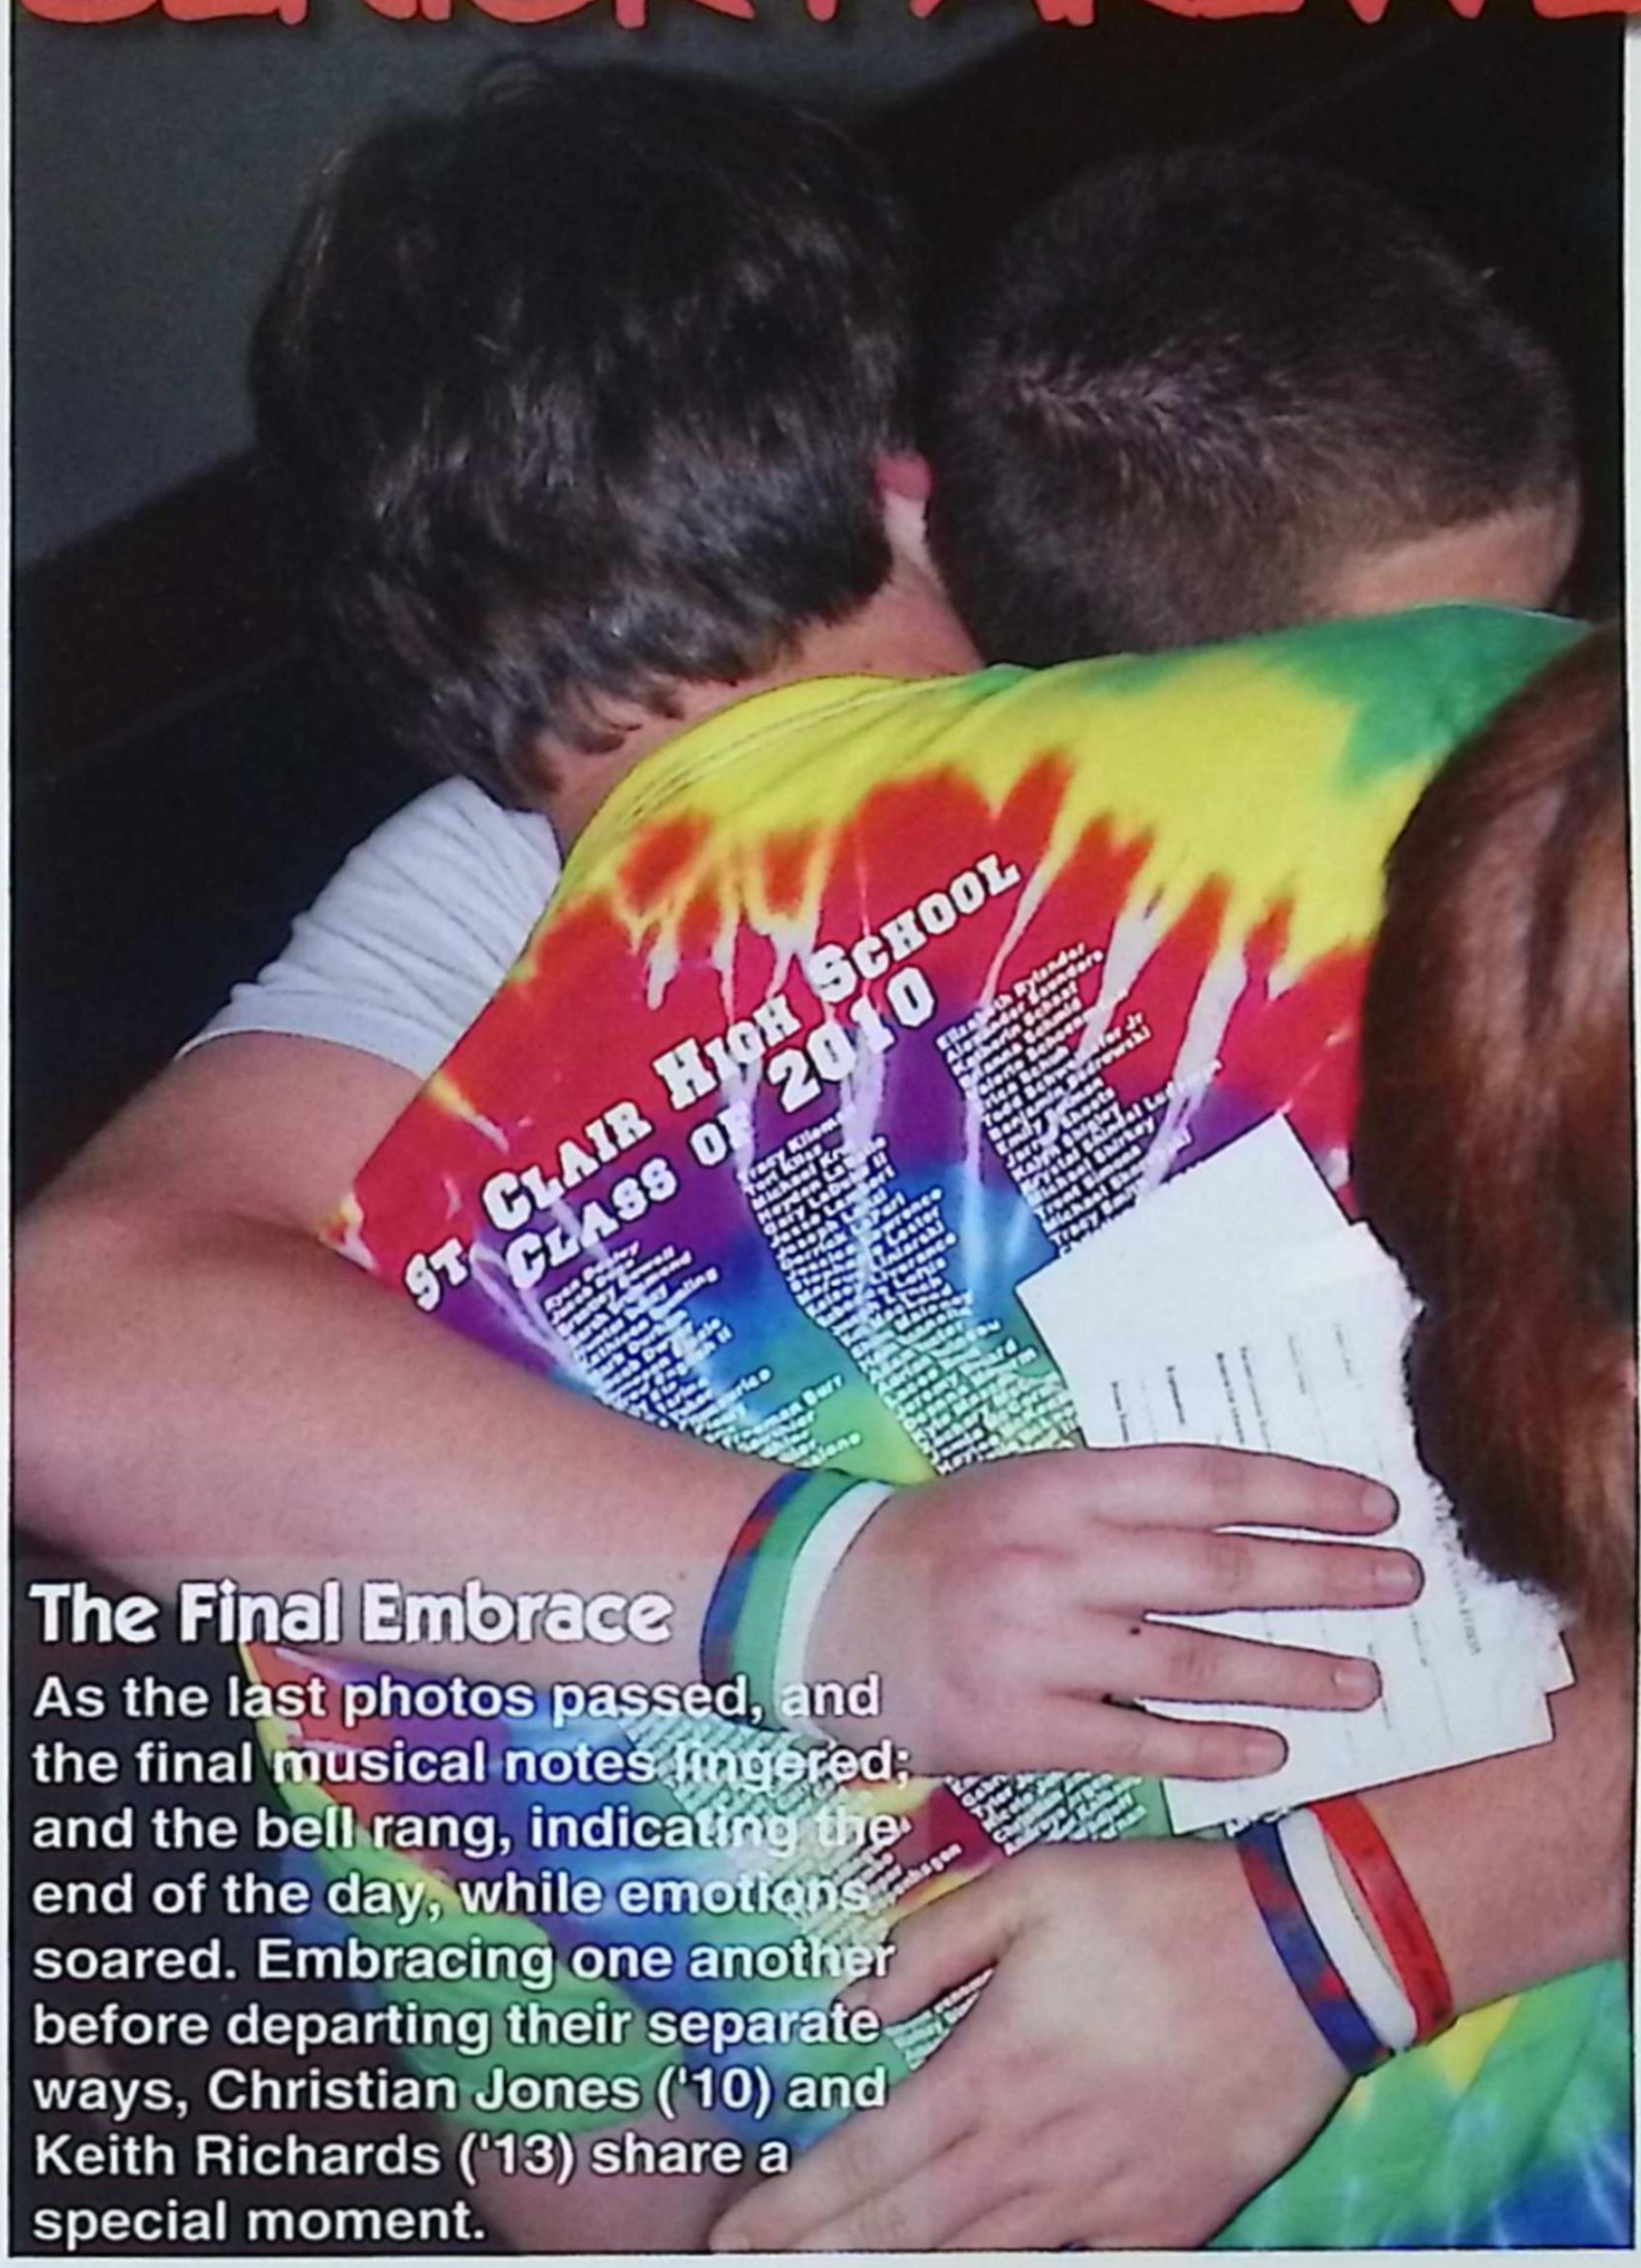
SENIOR FAREWELL/PICNIC



The Final Embrace
As the last photos passed, and the final musical notes lingered; and the bell rang, indicating the end of the day, while emotions soared. Embracing one another before departing their separate ways, Christian Jones ('10) and Keith Richards ('13) share a special moment.

Hugs and Tears

As one of the most highly anticipated days in the seniors' lives approaches, our teachers and students here at SCHS take a break to recognize them before they depart. As the seniors finished their final exams and left for the farewell picnic, there was an air of happiness, tears, and of course, fond memories. As the green grass swayed, there was an atmosphere of exciting new beginnings. The farewell picnic is a recent ritual added to the seniors' last day and it is meant to show our appreciation to the SCHS seniors as we dismiss them into the world as they go on their personal journeys. We celebrate the seniors with this annual picnic, it is a time for them to enjoy great food, good friends, and cherish the final moments of their high school career. The senior picnic then transitions into the farewell assembly.

The farewell assembly is one of symbolism that consists of a picnic, and then flows into the farewell assembly. This final gathering consists of the seniors moving from their section on the bleachers to the floor seats, representing their transition from SCHS students to alumni of Saint Clair High School. The juniors then fill the seats of the senior section, and the sophomores and freshmen move into their new roles that they will be holding throughout the next school year. Finally the freshmen section is left empty for the arrivals of the Class of 2014.

MY MOMENT

The last day of my senior year was chaotic to say the least. In the morning I couldn't find my senior class shirt so I was running behind from the start - which was the last representation of my chronic high school tardiness. I threw everything in my locker into the garbage and joined the picnic. This event was a whirlwind as I simultaneously tried to enjoy the lunch, pass out senior pictures and invitations to my grad party, while collecting the senior pictures and invites from fellow graduates.

The rehearsal for convocation and commencement was pretty boring, but after two hours the senior send off assembly finally began. When Mr. Eberhard told us that we could move to the alumni seating area in the middle of the gym; I was pushed and pulled into different sections but finally made it to a seat with both legs and arms intact. Some of my friends around me immediately started to cry when Matt, Chad and Alyssa sang but I didn't, I was surprisingly composed. I mentally prepared myself for tears, I even applied less make-up, but throughout the sweaty goodbye and congratulatory hugs in the commons my eyes remained dry. My last day in St. Clair High School was hectic and hot, but being with all my classmates on the last day of school was the perfect ending to an awesome four years of school."

Alumnus At Last

As the class of 2010 prepared to waltz down the aisle that will lead to their collegiate dreams, parents and extended family alike gathered to snap photos of their graduate. Muffled sobs filled the McMorran auditorium as, inch by inch, seniors crossed the threshold from students to alumnus. After a tragic year, every member of the graduating class was relieved to have finally made it through. Four years of exams, never ending homework, and countless detentions proved wearing on the rebellious class of 2010, and each and every senior was more than happy to receive their diploma. Though tears were shed in remembrance of fallen classmates, smiles were also weaved throughout the sea of red and blue as the newly deemed alumni breathed a deep sigh of relief. The sense of achievement and accomplishment were nearly tangible as the seniors bid a bittersweet farewell to their alma mater, and a spirited hello to their bright futures. Passing under the rose covered archways as St. Clair High School's newest graduates was a euphoric moment that will forever live in the hearts of SCHS's class of twenty-ten.

"My moment would have to be the whole party itself, I can't pick just one thing that I liked! Overall, I really liked everything about the party, but my favorite part was the flip books that Anita, Sarah, Draya and I made. They were a great memento to take home from the party, and they make me laugh everytime I look at them. Watching some of my friends get hypnotized was hilarious too, and a great way to end the night. I'm definitely grateful to all the parents who worked so hard to put the party on for us seniors. It was a great way to spend one last time as a class together. Ring the Alarm

Having the time of their lives, and being a bit rambunctious, the class of 2010 lets off some steam after an incredible day which will be looked back on for years to come. Their transition into adulthood came too soon for many seniors.

Livin' The Dream

As the last weeks of school wind down, the seniors take one last night to embrace the final remnants of their high school careers. The Senior All Night Party has become a ritual here, as well as a rite of passage. This year's theme was from the popular children's book/movie, A Night at the Museum. The theme was carried out with gym activities that included Sumo Wrestling, where ladies and gents both suited up and stepped in the ring.

> "The Senior All Night Party was a blast! My friends and I made fools of ourselves, but we had a ton of fun doing it."
>
> - H. Bielicki (10)

There was also a casino room where seniors tried their hand at games such as Texas Hold 'Em and Roulette. From a green screen room to a hypnotist, the seniors were kept captivated and entertained until the wee hours of the morning. The night was full of new experiences, familiar faces, and endless possibilities. All in all, it was a night to remember as our seniors bid farewell to their high school days.

NHS

Meaningful March

The March of Dimes walk to help benefit premature babies was an event this year that the entire NHS participated in. Kelly Etz, the vice president, was the top youth walker last year. She felt so strongly about it that she wanted everyone to be a part of it, and share her feeling of accomplishment when the walk was completed.

> "As a first year member of NHS, I thought that the March of Dimes was very self-satisfying and encouraged me to do more." -L. Lawson ('12)

The morning of the march, it was pouring rain. Absolutely no one was looking forward to the six mile walk, but everyone still came, rather than sleeping in on that gloomy Sunday morning. Everyone who had participated showed up dressed in a variety of ponchos, parkas, and raincoats. Umbrellas were also a very popular accessory among the walkers. As the miles dragged on, the rain reluctantly slowed down. When the walkers reached the finish line, they were greeted by many volunteers, tents of food and refreshments, and even a blow-up obstacle course. Even though they were not looking forward to the rainy six mile walk, they knew they were contributing to an important cause, for which many people, and their babies, were appreciative of.

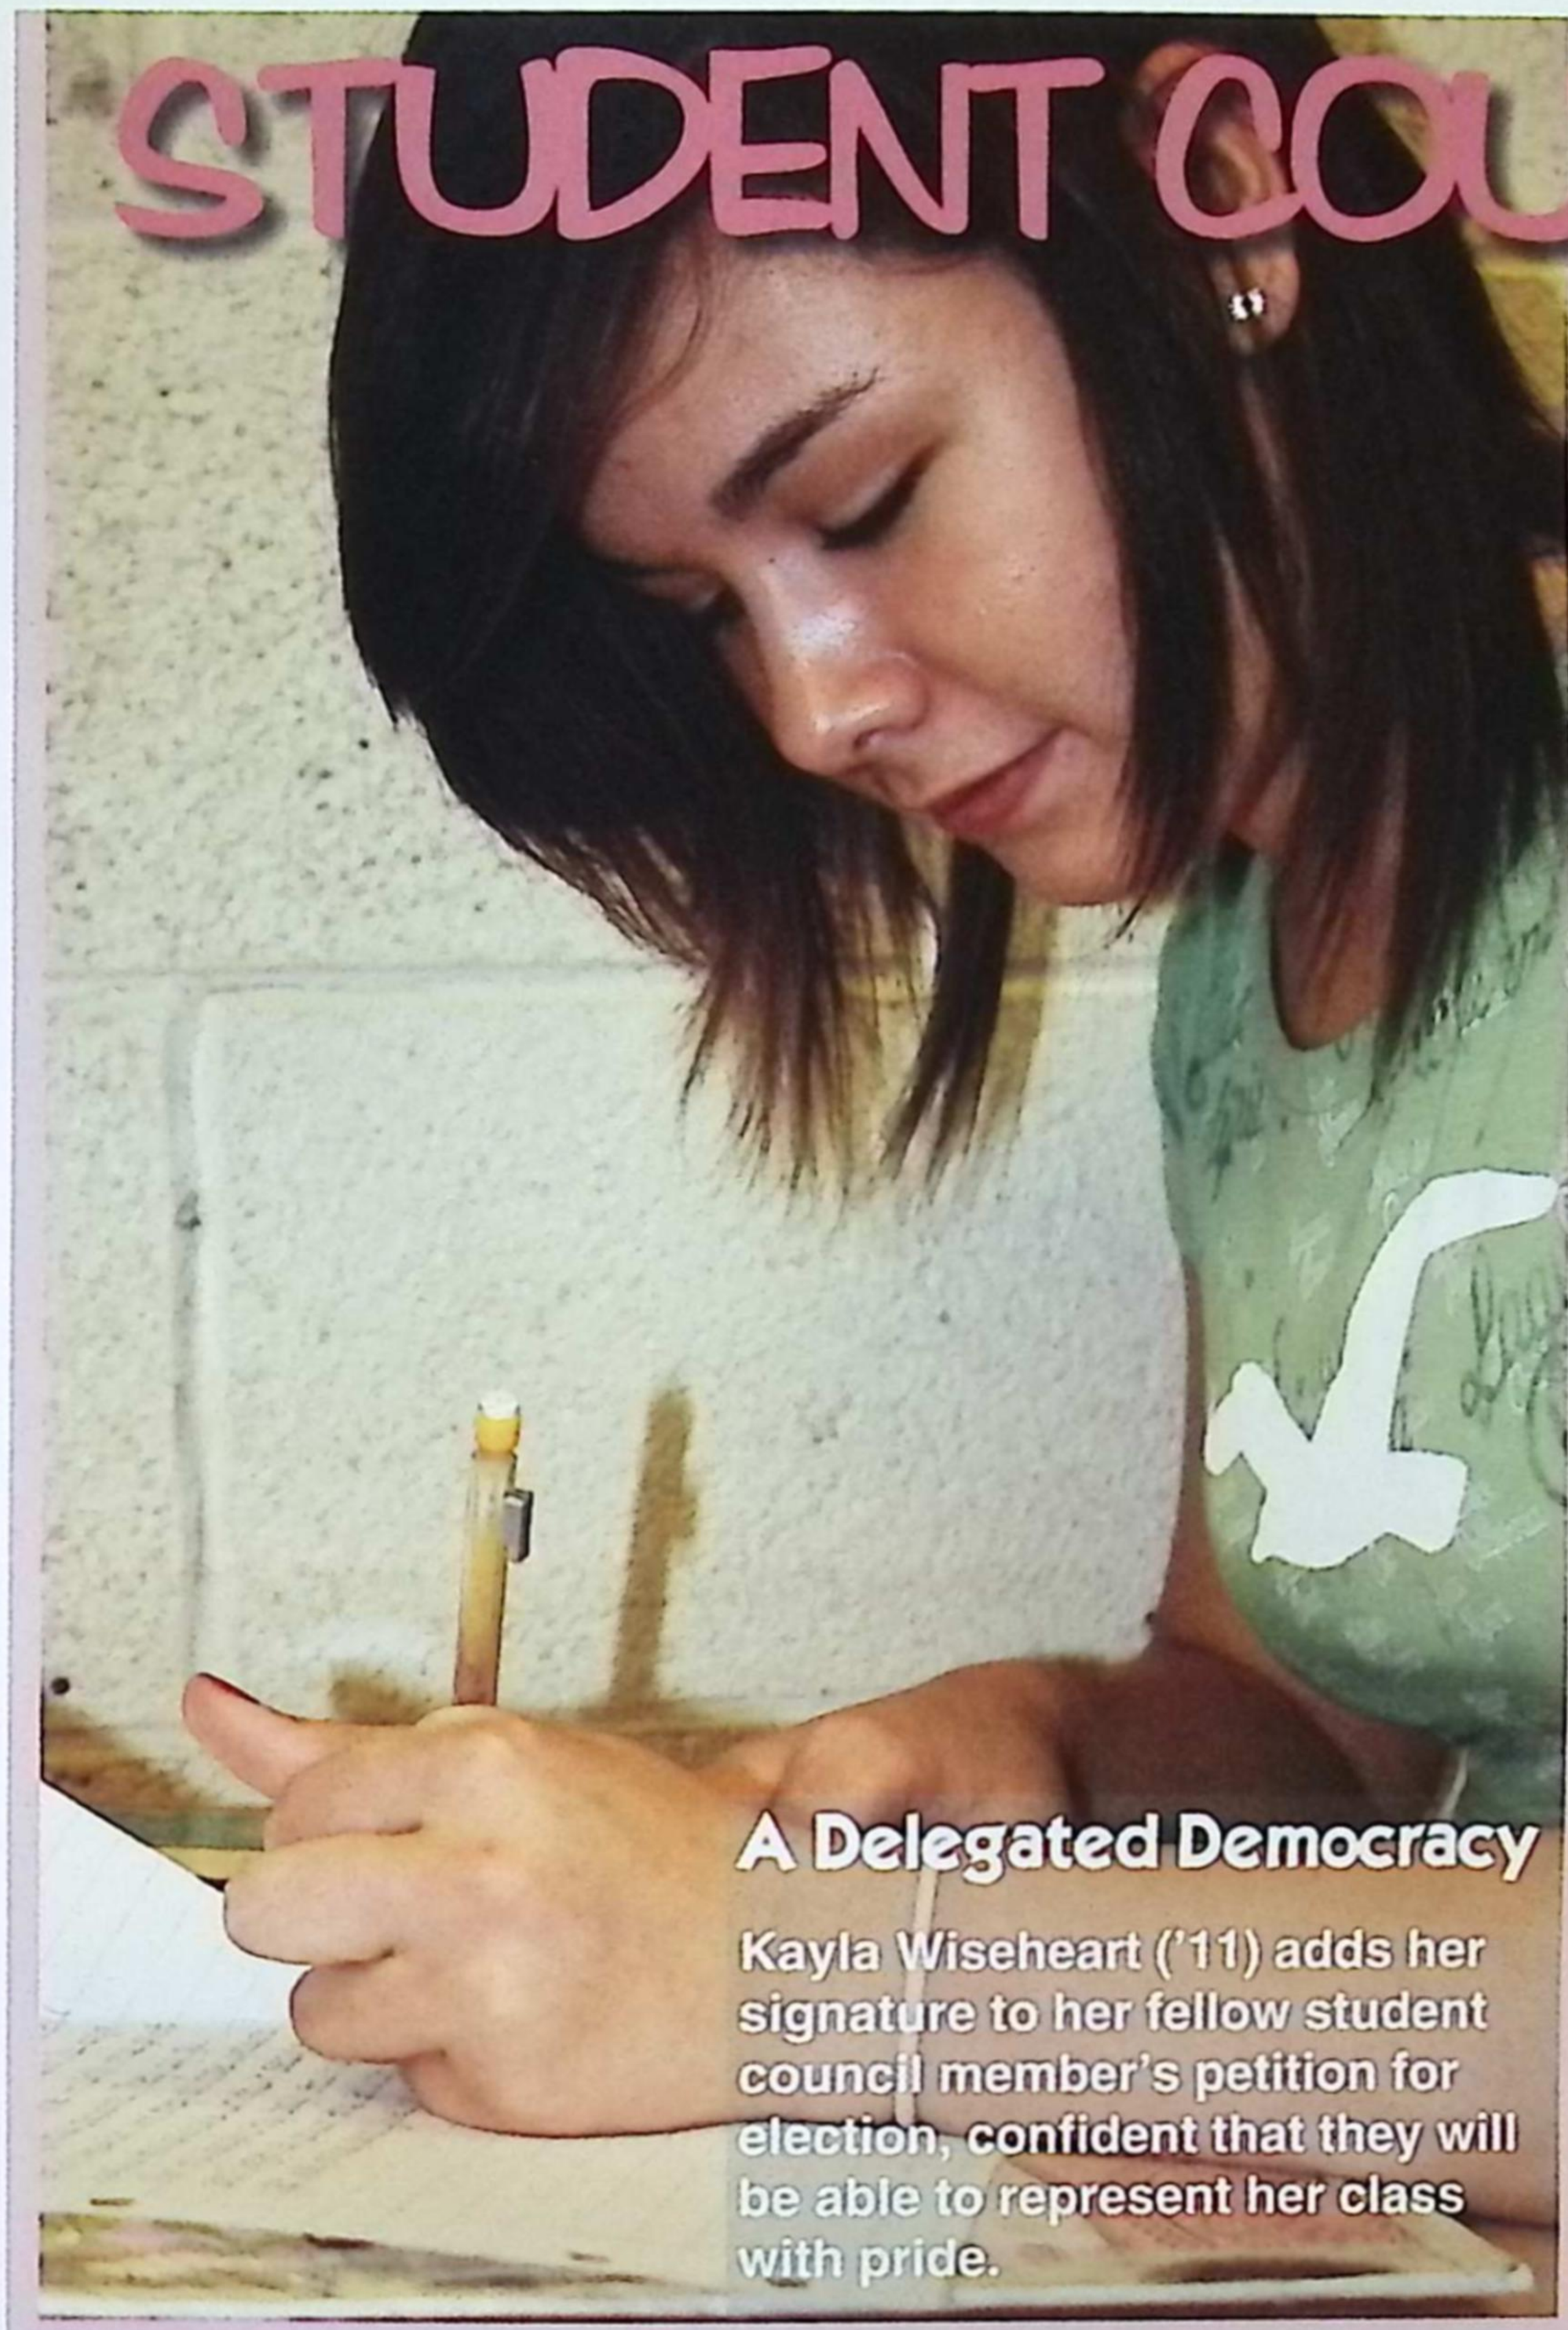
STUDENT COUNCIL



A Delegated Democracy

Kayla Wiseheart ('11) adds her signature to her fellow student council member's petition for election, confident that they will be able to represent her class with pride.

Time for Change

Preparing for the upcoming school year, Student Council has decided to have class representatives, executive officers, committee chairs, a treasurer, and, of course, the general members, rather than only committee chairs and four executive officers. Another difference is that there will no longer be defined committees. Many of the students at St. Clair High School have noticed that Student Council has been having trouble, and this lively group of students and leaders hope that this new system will help to change things for the better.

> "Student Council gives me the opportunity to be with my friends, as well as have a say in what goes down at our school." -C. Fraley (13)

The students deciding to run for class representative had to make a poster, and have a petition signed in order to be eligible to run. Their peers also had to register to vote, in order to participate in the election. Unfortunately, this process was never carried out, and students were never able to choose their fellow students that would provide their voice in Student Council.

Swingin n' Springin

This spring, SCHS athletes definitely had a little extra pep in their step. The boys' varsity baseball team got off to a swinging start. Their season began with a series of strong wins and the fire in their eyes proved they had no intentions of losing steam. Making it to the 2009-2010 quarter finals was an achievement of epic proportion for the boys and, finishing with a strong record, of 19-3 they were certainly proud.

The girls' varsity softball teams also proved they were operating far above the status quo this season. They fought to adjust to a new pitcher, freshman, Brittany Schweiger, and they proved that tradition isn't always the key to success. The JV team also began the season with a lot to prove, facing a large turnover and a new coach. However, they ended their season the same way they began it, cleats to dust.

Dedication is the name of the game when it comes to boys' and girls' track. Heavy breathing, red faces, and sea legs are the norm when this powerful team of athletes reaches the finish line. The girls' team finished their season as MAC champions, and Sam Jebreal ('11), Kelsey Kerin ('12), and Kayla Balfour ('12) are just a few of the girls who broke school records. The boys' track team followed in their footsteps breaking a slew of personal best records and finishing their season with a winning record.

The girls' varsity soccer team proved to all of their peers this year that when push comes to shove they won't go down without a fight. The girls' not only began their season with a strong start, but they continued to gain momentum as the season dragged on. Each and every member of the varsity soccer team showed significant improvement.

Last but not least the girls' varsity tennis team worked meticulously day after day on their already pristine skills. Fighting against rainy days and canceled tournaments, the girls still managed to end on a high note beating, rivals, Port Huron Northern and placing first at their regional championships and finishing in the top 10 at the State Finals.

With his incredible wind-up, Joel Seddon ('11) strikes out 13 batters in a no hitter, with a once again very successful game.

Super Stars

Baseball is so much more than just playing catch and swinging a metal bat. It is a sport, a hobby, and a lifestyle. For the boys on the varsity baseball team, baseball has always been there. They've grown up with the game. And when it comes to high school baseball, they put everything they've got into every single practice, game, and opportunity. This would explain their outstanding record and constant shut-outs, which lead them to become MAC Blue champions.

> "These guys were cool as cucumbers."
> -Coach McElreath

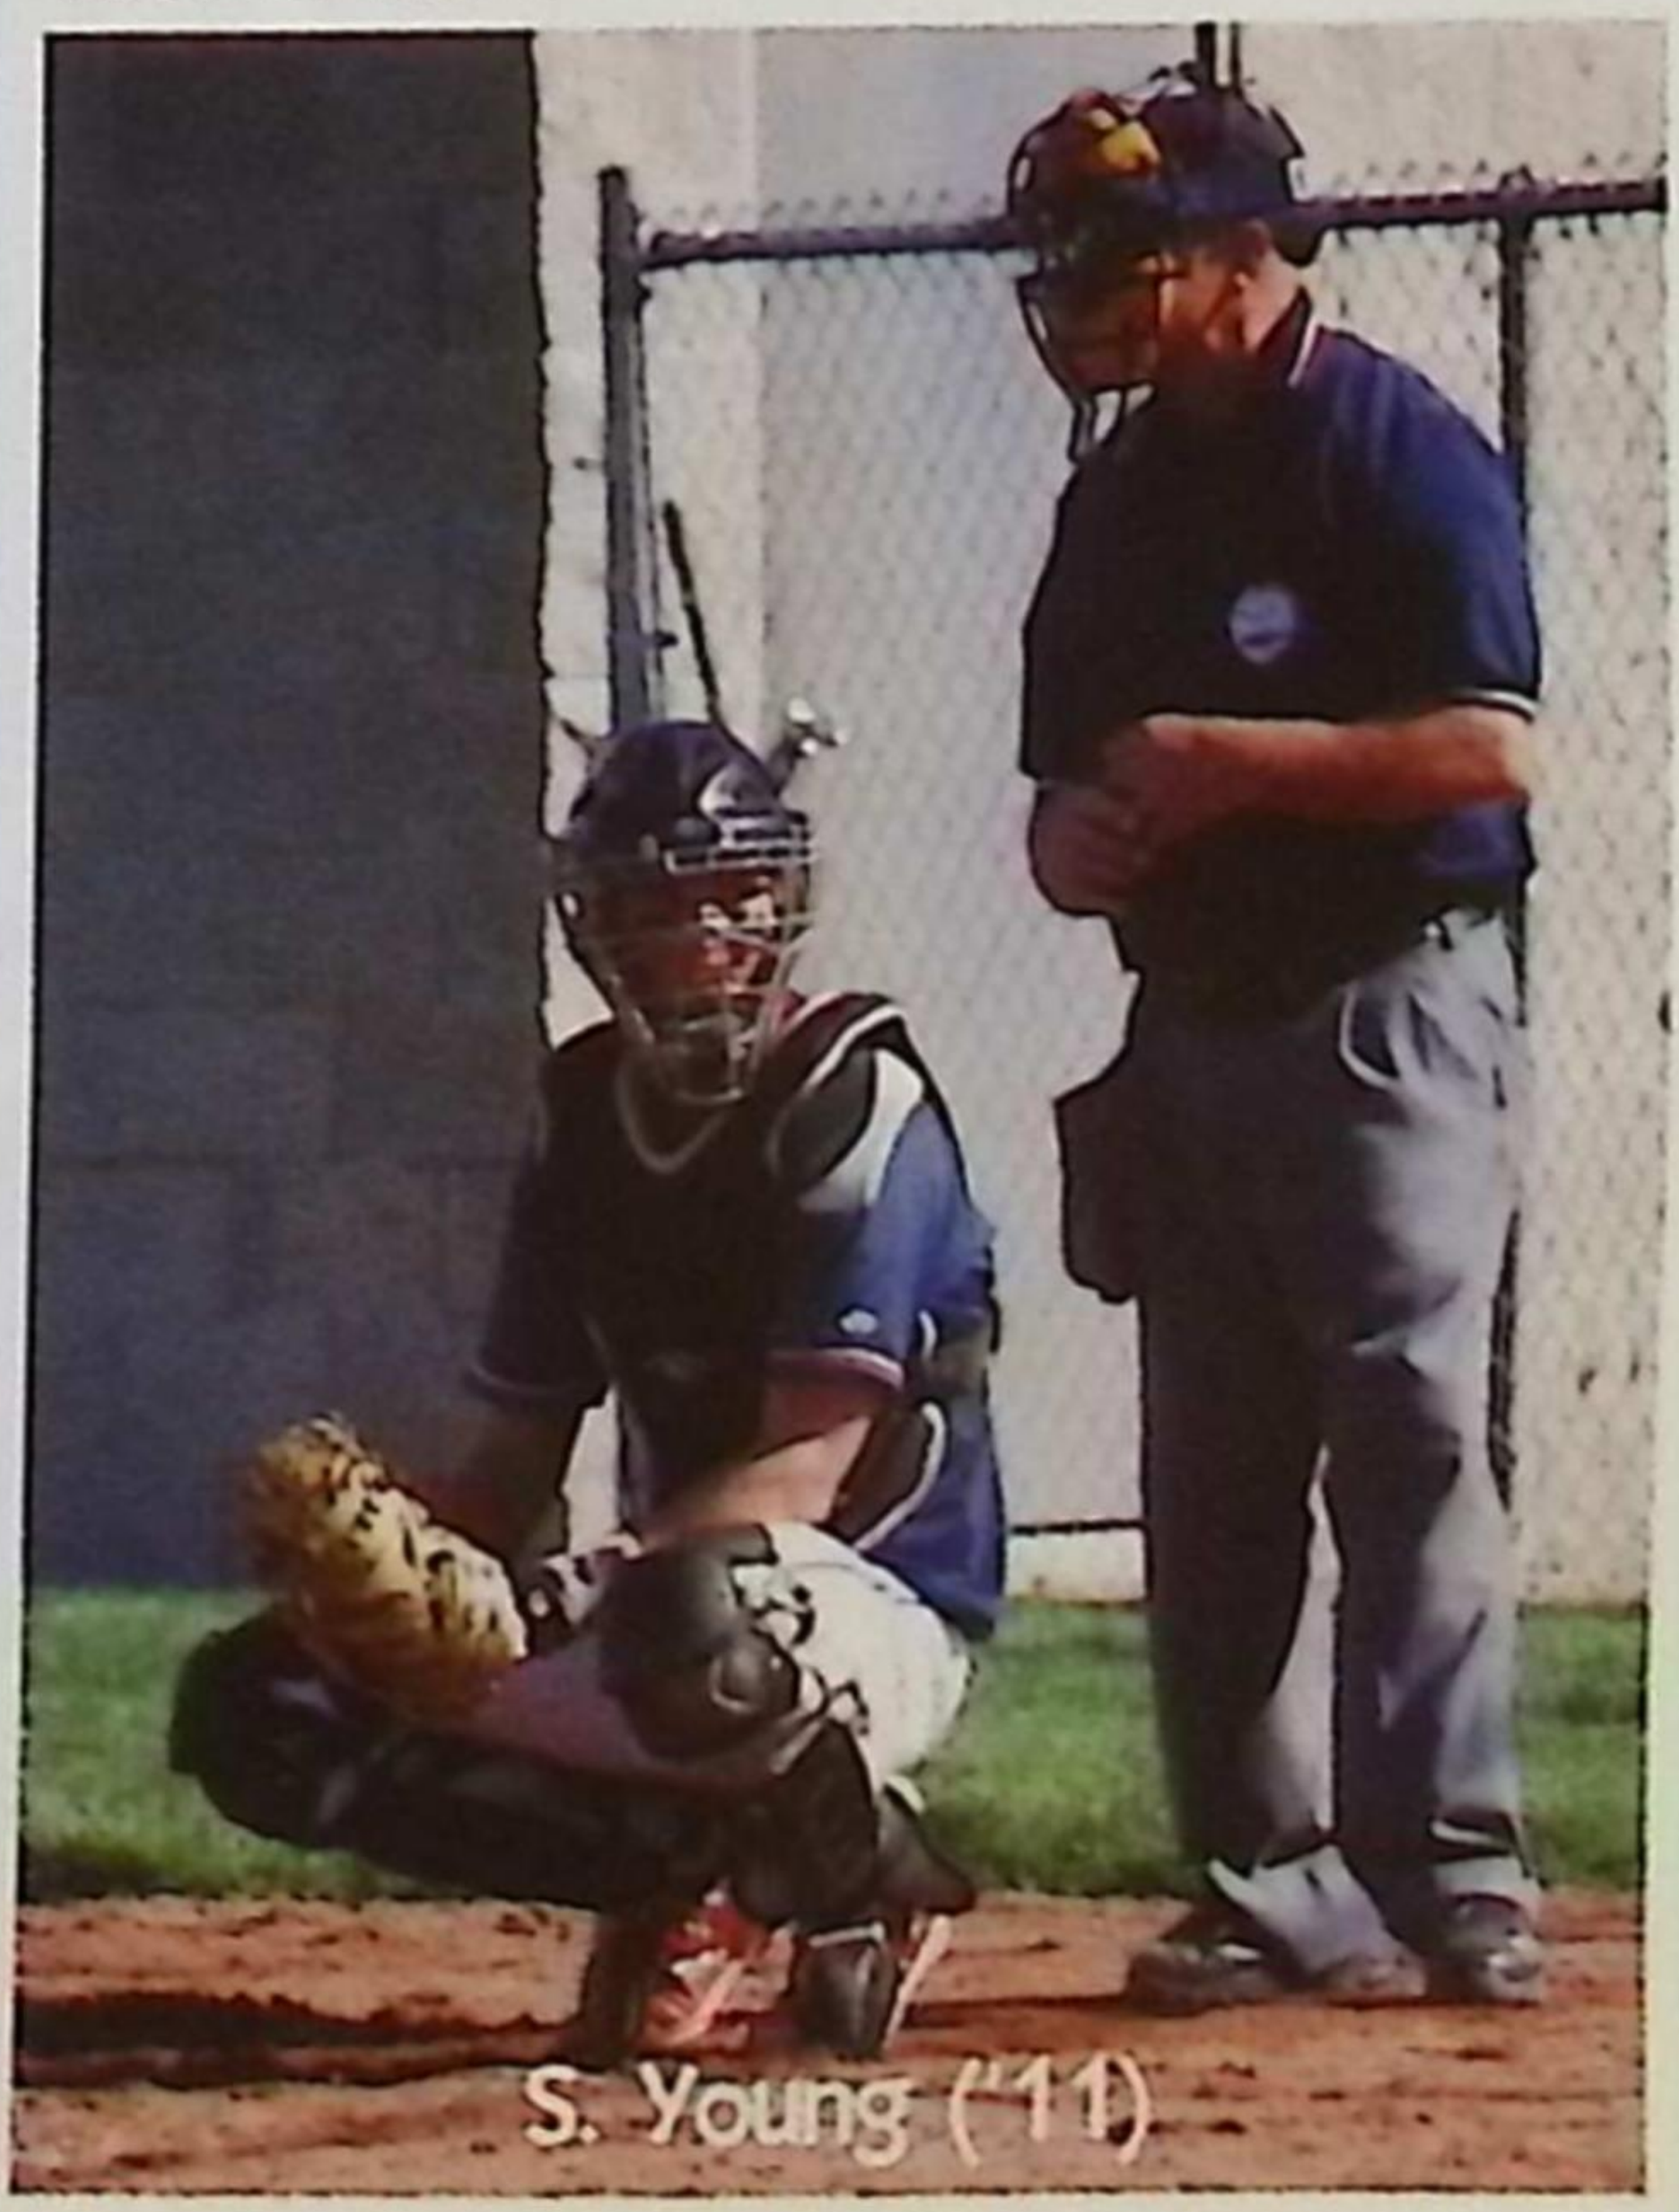
The Saints had a very successful season, with an outstanding line up of players. With only three seniors, the team consisted of mainly juniors, along with a couple sophomores. This only proves that pure talent shines through, and age is not a factor. The only things that matter are hard work, skill, and determination, all of which the varsity boys' baseball team had.

The team did so well this season, they won regionals and made it to states. Unfortunately, a few games in, they were knocked out. But they were still very accomplished, when they were ranked third in state. This has clearly been a remarkable and exciting season for the Saints Varsity baseball team.



S. Young ('11)

MY MOMENT

It all started with a fly ball hit to the outfield. Juniors, Shane Dembinski and Cam Ciaciuch, were both determined to get it and make the out. Each boy dove for it, without realizing the other was thinking the same exact thing. The two players collided violently, and rammed their heads. "Both players were running at full speed when they dove for the ball," St. Clair Coach Bill McElreath said. "It was as violent a collision as I've seen."

Other players around said that the sound of the two heads connecting made them sick to their stomachs.

After the incident, both players were taken to the hospital. Shane suffered a concussion, while Cam broke many bones in his face, and had other injuries.

Reluctantly, Cam was able to skip his exams, obviously due to medical reasons. Fortuinately though, he made a full recovery.

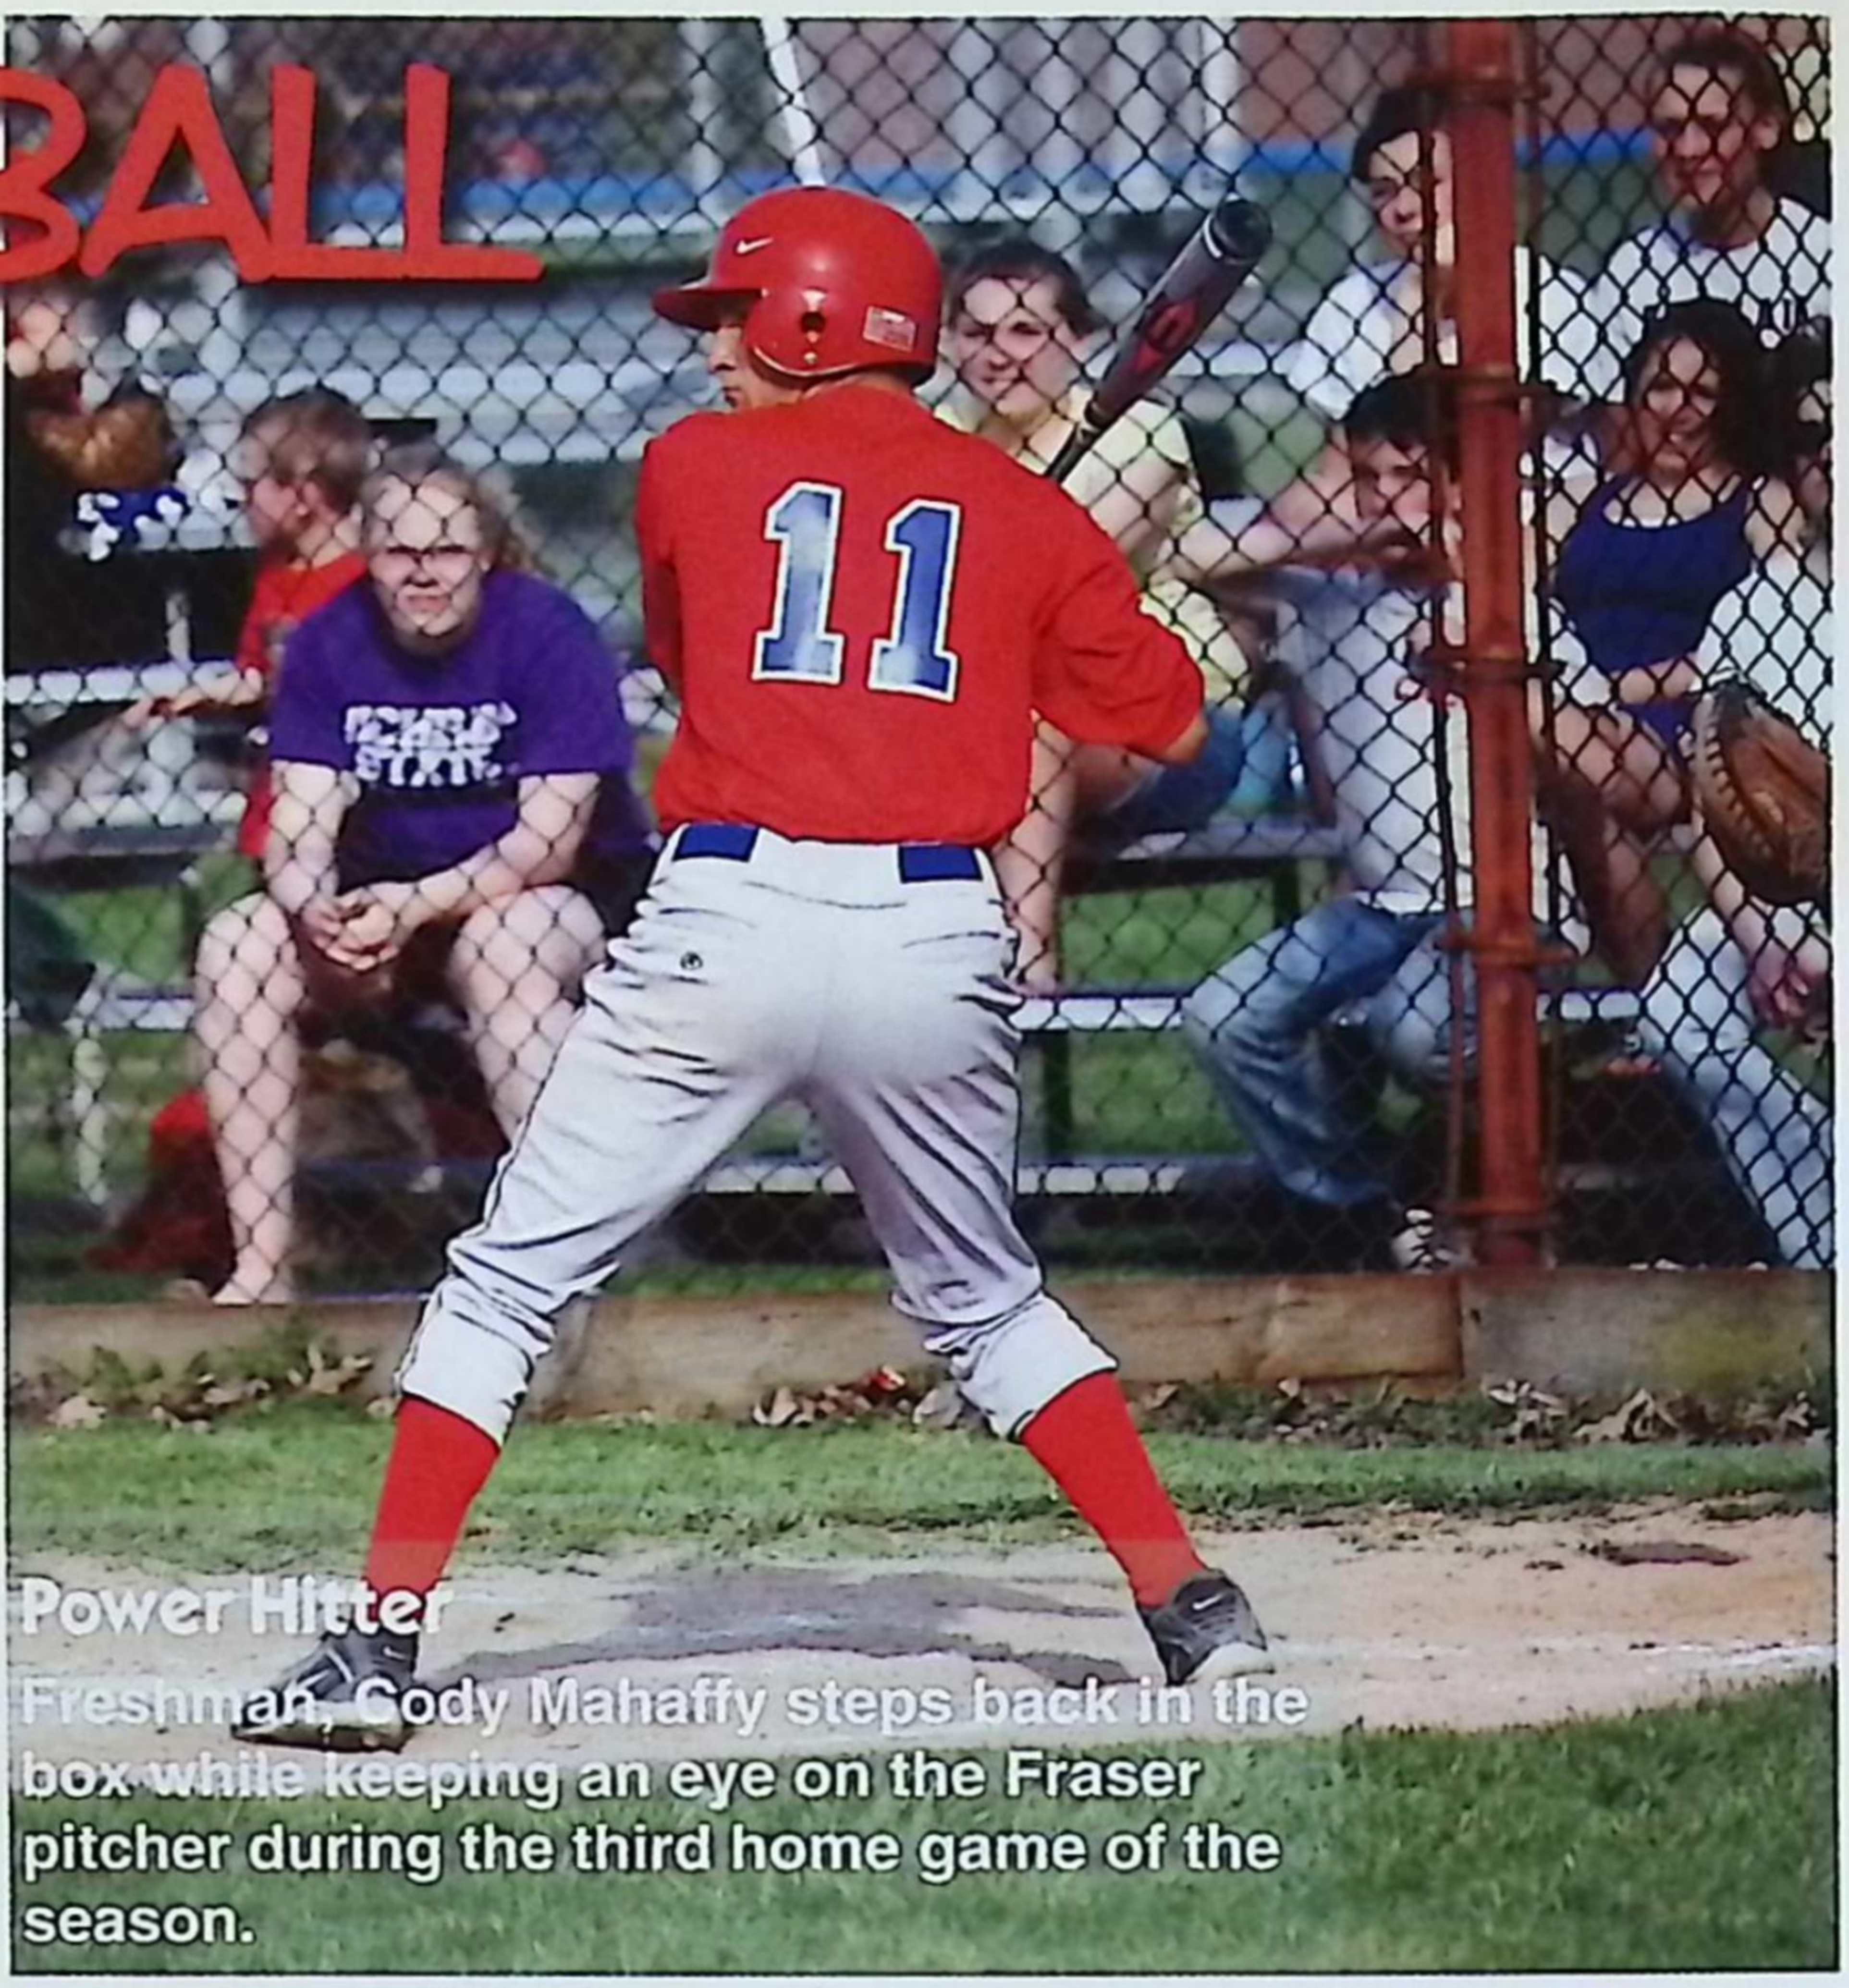
JV BASEBALL

No Plate Like Home

Baseball runs through the blood of the 15 talented boys on the JV baseball team. They don't just play baseball; they eat, sleep, and breathe it. Feeling the dust between their fingers, the scorching sun beating down upon their tanned faces, and clenching their teeth to pry open a sunflower seed makes these boys feel at home. The best place for them to be on a spring night is the diamond. When they made the team, the field became their second home. Countless hours were spent perfecting and improving, but when all was said and done, everyone walked away a stronger player.



Power Hitter

Freshman, Cody Mahaffy steps back in the box while keeping an eye on the Fraser pitcher during the third home game of the season.

1. Staring down the batter, Tyler Lozen ('13) looks for his sign before pitching the ball right down the middle.
2. Focusing on perfect form, Marcus Cronce ('11) waits for a perfect pitch before swinging through the ball.
3. Before they're at bat, the boys get together in a huddle to hopefully light a fire that will lead to a rally.
4. With the bat at eye level, Tyler Motte ('13) lays a bunt down the first base line to advance the runners.
5. Slugger, Blake Trujillo ('12) goes up to bat in the sixth inning, hoping to hit in the runner on third base.

Why did you choose your number?

"I picked two because it is closest to one without being too full of myself."
-B. Edwards ('13)

-B. Trujillo ('12)

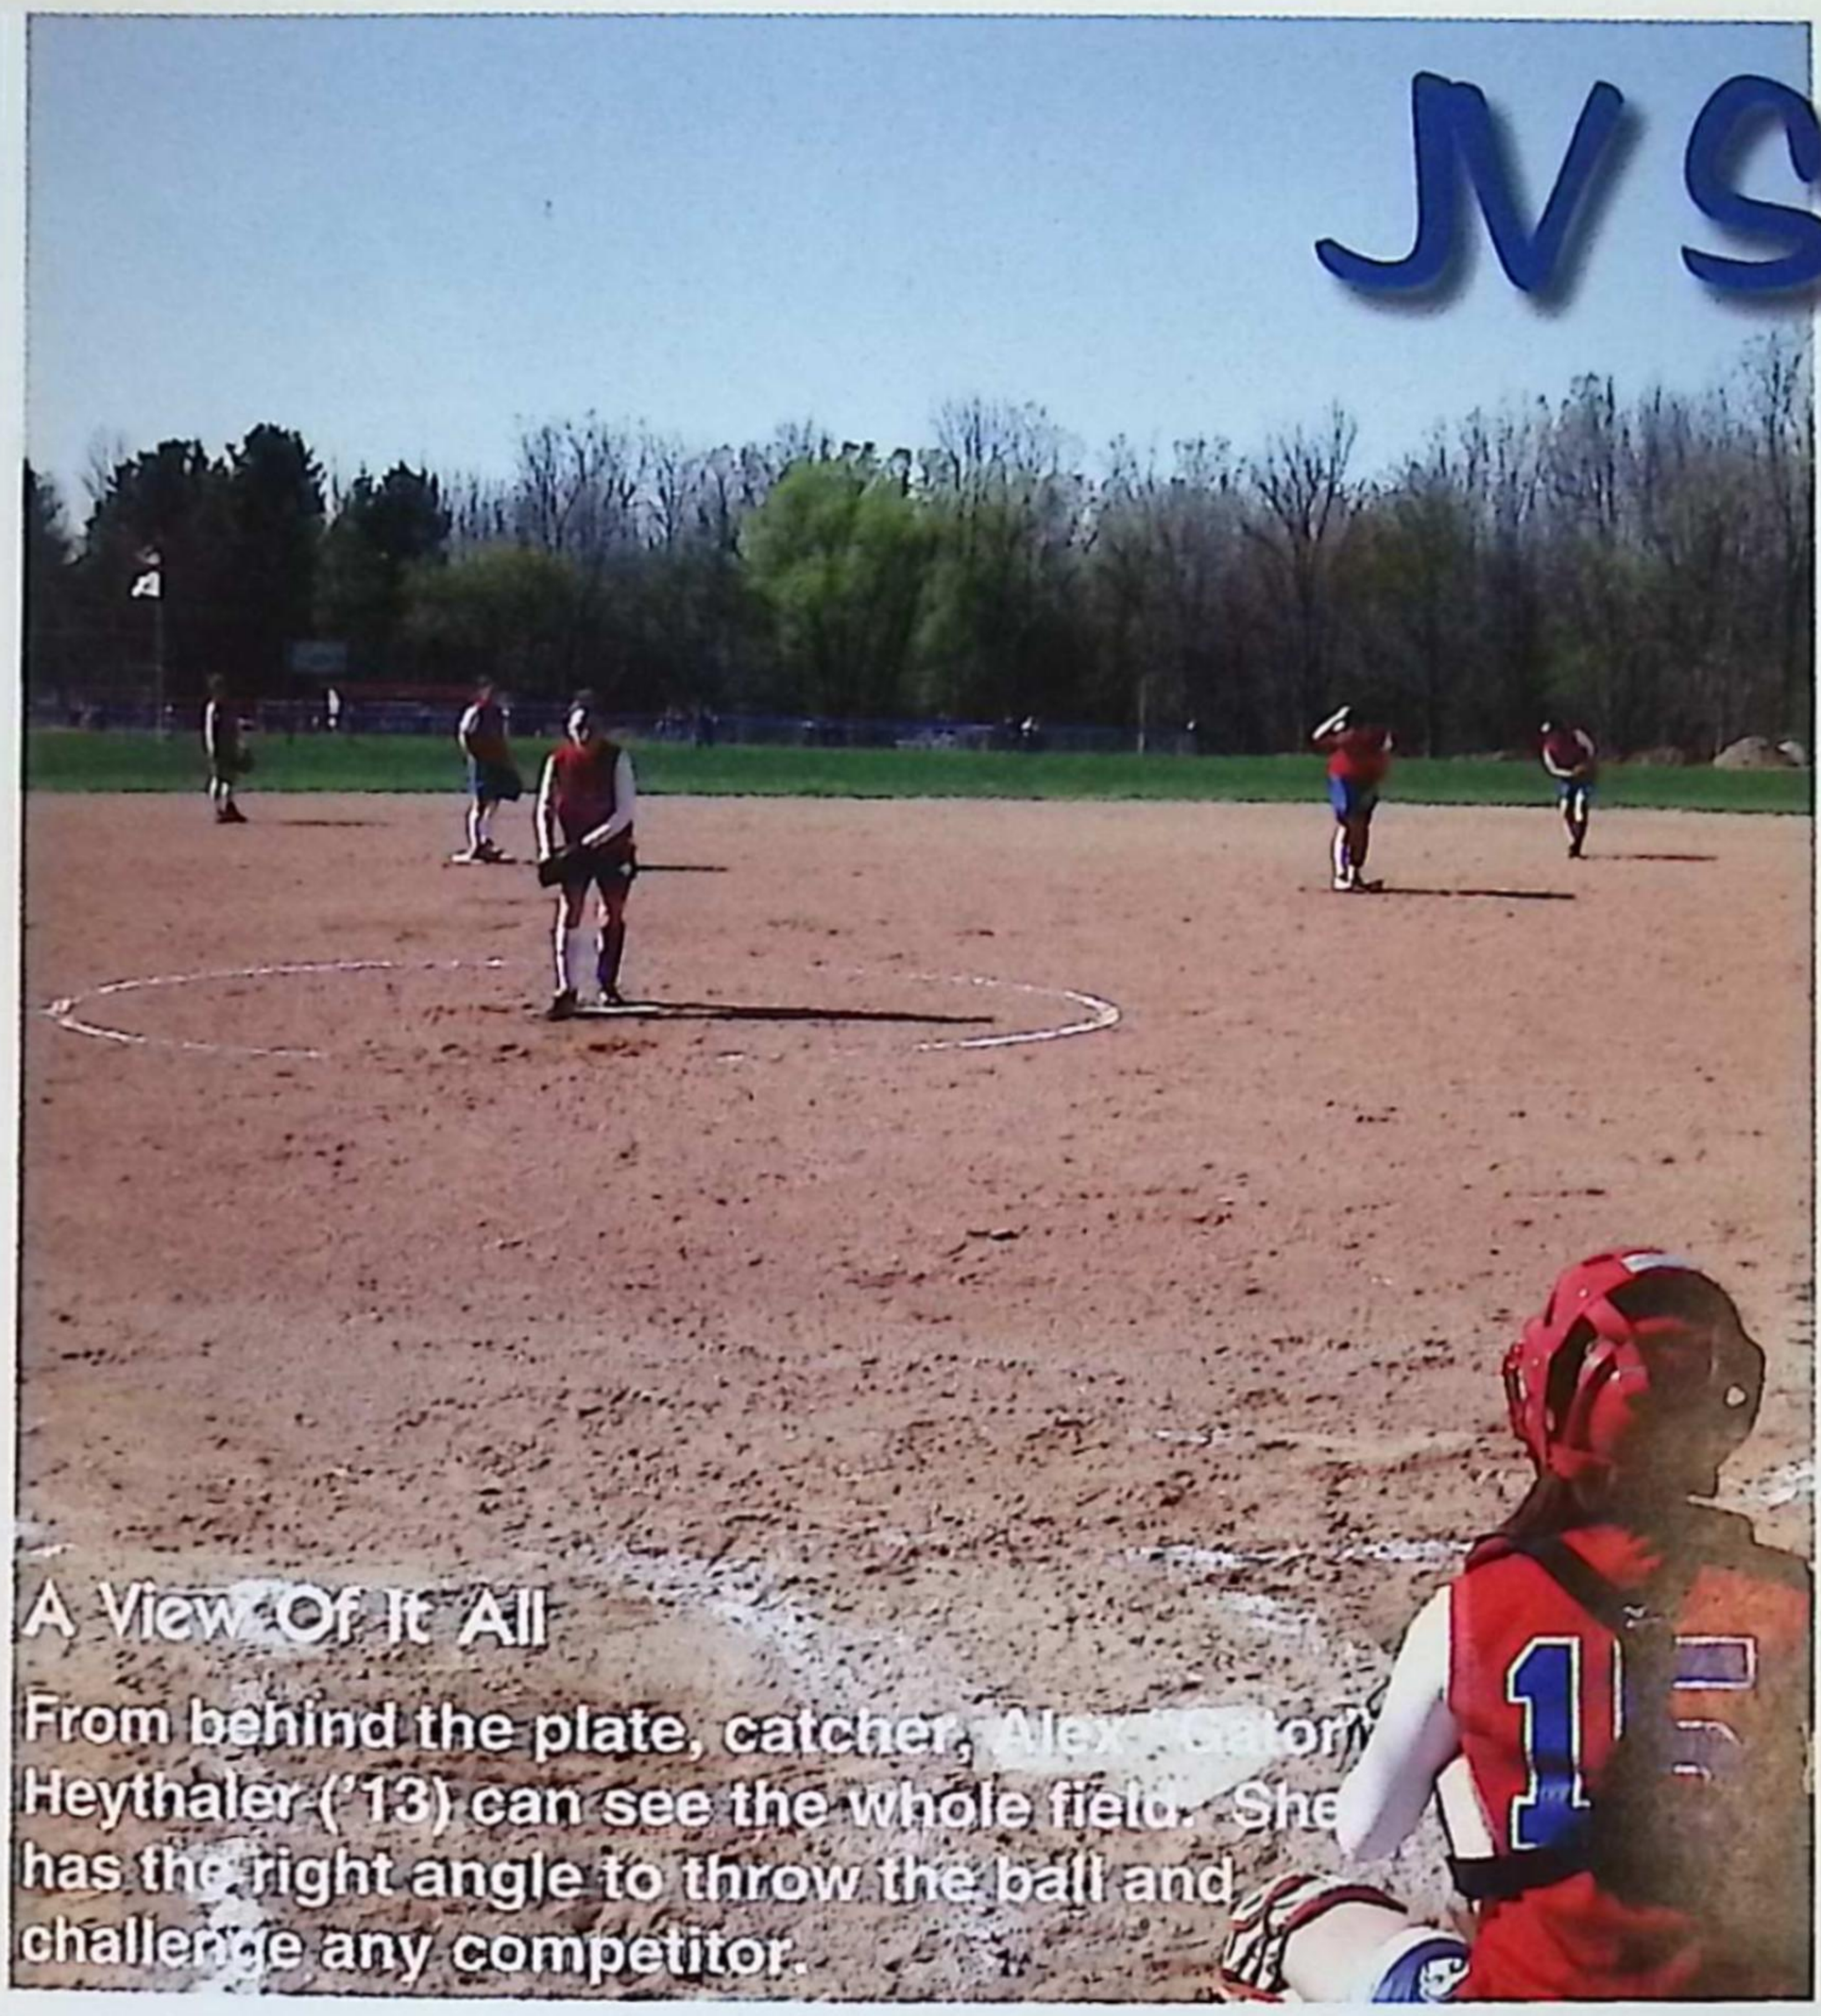
JV SOFTBALL

Play With Your Heart

Lacing up their cleats and shaking the dirt off their gloves, this determined group of freshmen and sophomores took their first steps of the season onto the freshly chalked diamond. Nothing could hold these girls back; not the rain, cold, or fierce competition. They put in long, hard hours that resulted in many celebrated wins. During the season there is one thing that these determined ladies did best: they gave their hearts to the game of softball. At the end of a hard fought game, they could all hold their heads high and say that they were a part of the team.



A View Of It All

From behind the plate, catcher, Alex "Gator" Heythaler ('13) can see the whole field. She has the right angle to throw the ball and challenge any competitor.

A World of Wins

Winning was something that the girls' varsity softball team experienced a significant amount this year. Coach Kevin Mahn agreed with this statement, and let us in on his personal favorite moments of this season. "There are two things that stick out to me. Beating Anchor Bay was huge because we learned that we can play and beat anybody. Also, winning the St. Clair County Tournament for the 4th year in a row was big for us." As a fairly young team (with only 3 players being seniors) the majority of people doubted the team's capability. After the first week of games, the girls changed everyone's opinion.

"I'm going to miss team dinners because of the awesome food and team time, which is usually hilarious." S. Henry ('10)

"Our first win, against Utica, was my favorite win this year because we played error free ball. Beating Marine City is always fun because every athlete here at St. Clair High likes to put a beating on a Mariner," said Coach Mahn. As well as racking up the "W's," the girls also had multiple positive accomplishments throughout this entire season. "We played really good defense and our pitching has been outstanding," added the coach. As you all can see, the St. Clair girls' softball team was filled with victories and exciting accomplishments. Even still, it holds up nothing to what the team expects to achieve for next season, and many seasons to come.

MY MOMENT

B. Schweiger ('13)

It's a pretty rare occurrence when a freshman softball pitcher is brought up to varsity. For Brittany Schweiger, however, this unique opportunity became a reality. After being brought up as the Saint's number one pitcher, Brittany was definitely feeling the pressure, "It felt great to be moved up. I have worked so hard these past 4 years." Having the chance to be on varsity all 4 years of high school is an experience that will impact a player's life drastically. "The first game was very exciting! I had 9 strike-outs and I only allowed 2 hits." As well as experiencing the fast and complex varsity game of softball on her own, Brittany has also learned a ton from her teammates. "Jensen Foster is definitely the player that I looked up to the most on our team." Brittany said. "She is always there to support me, and lets me know how I can fix the small flaws in my game." This season has changed Brittany not only as a player, but as a person as well. She fulfilled the seemingly unreachable expectations of her teammates and coaches. "This summer is going to revolve around softball and that's the way I like it. I will play until the second week in August, and then return to practicing on my own."

-B. Schweiger ('13)

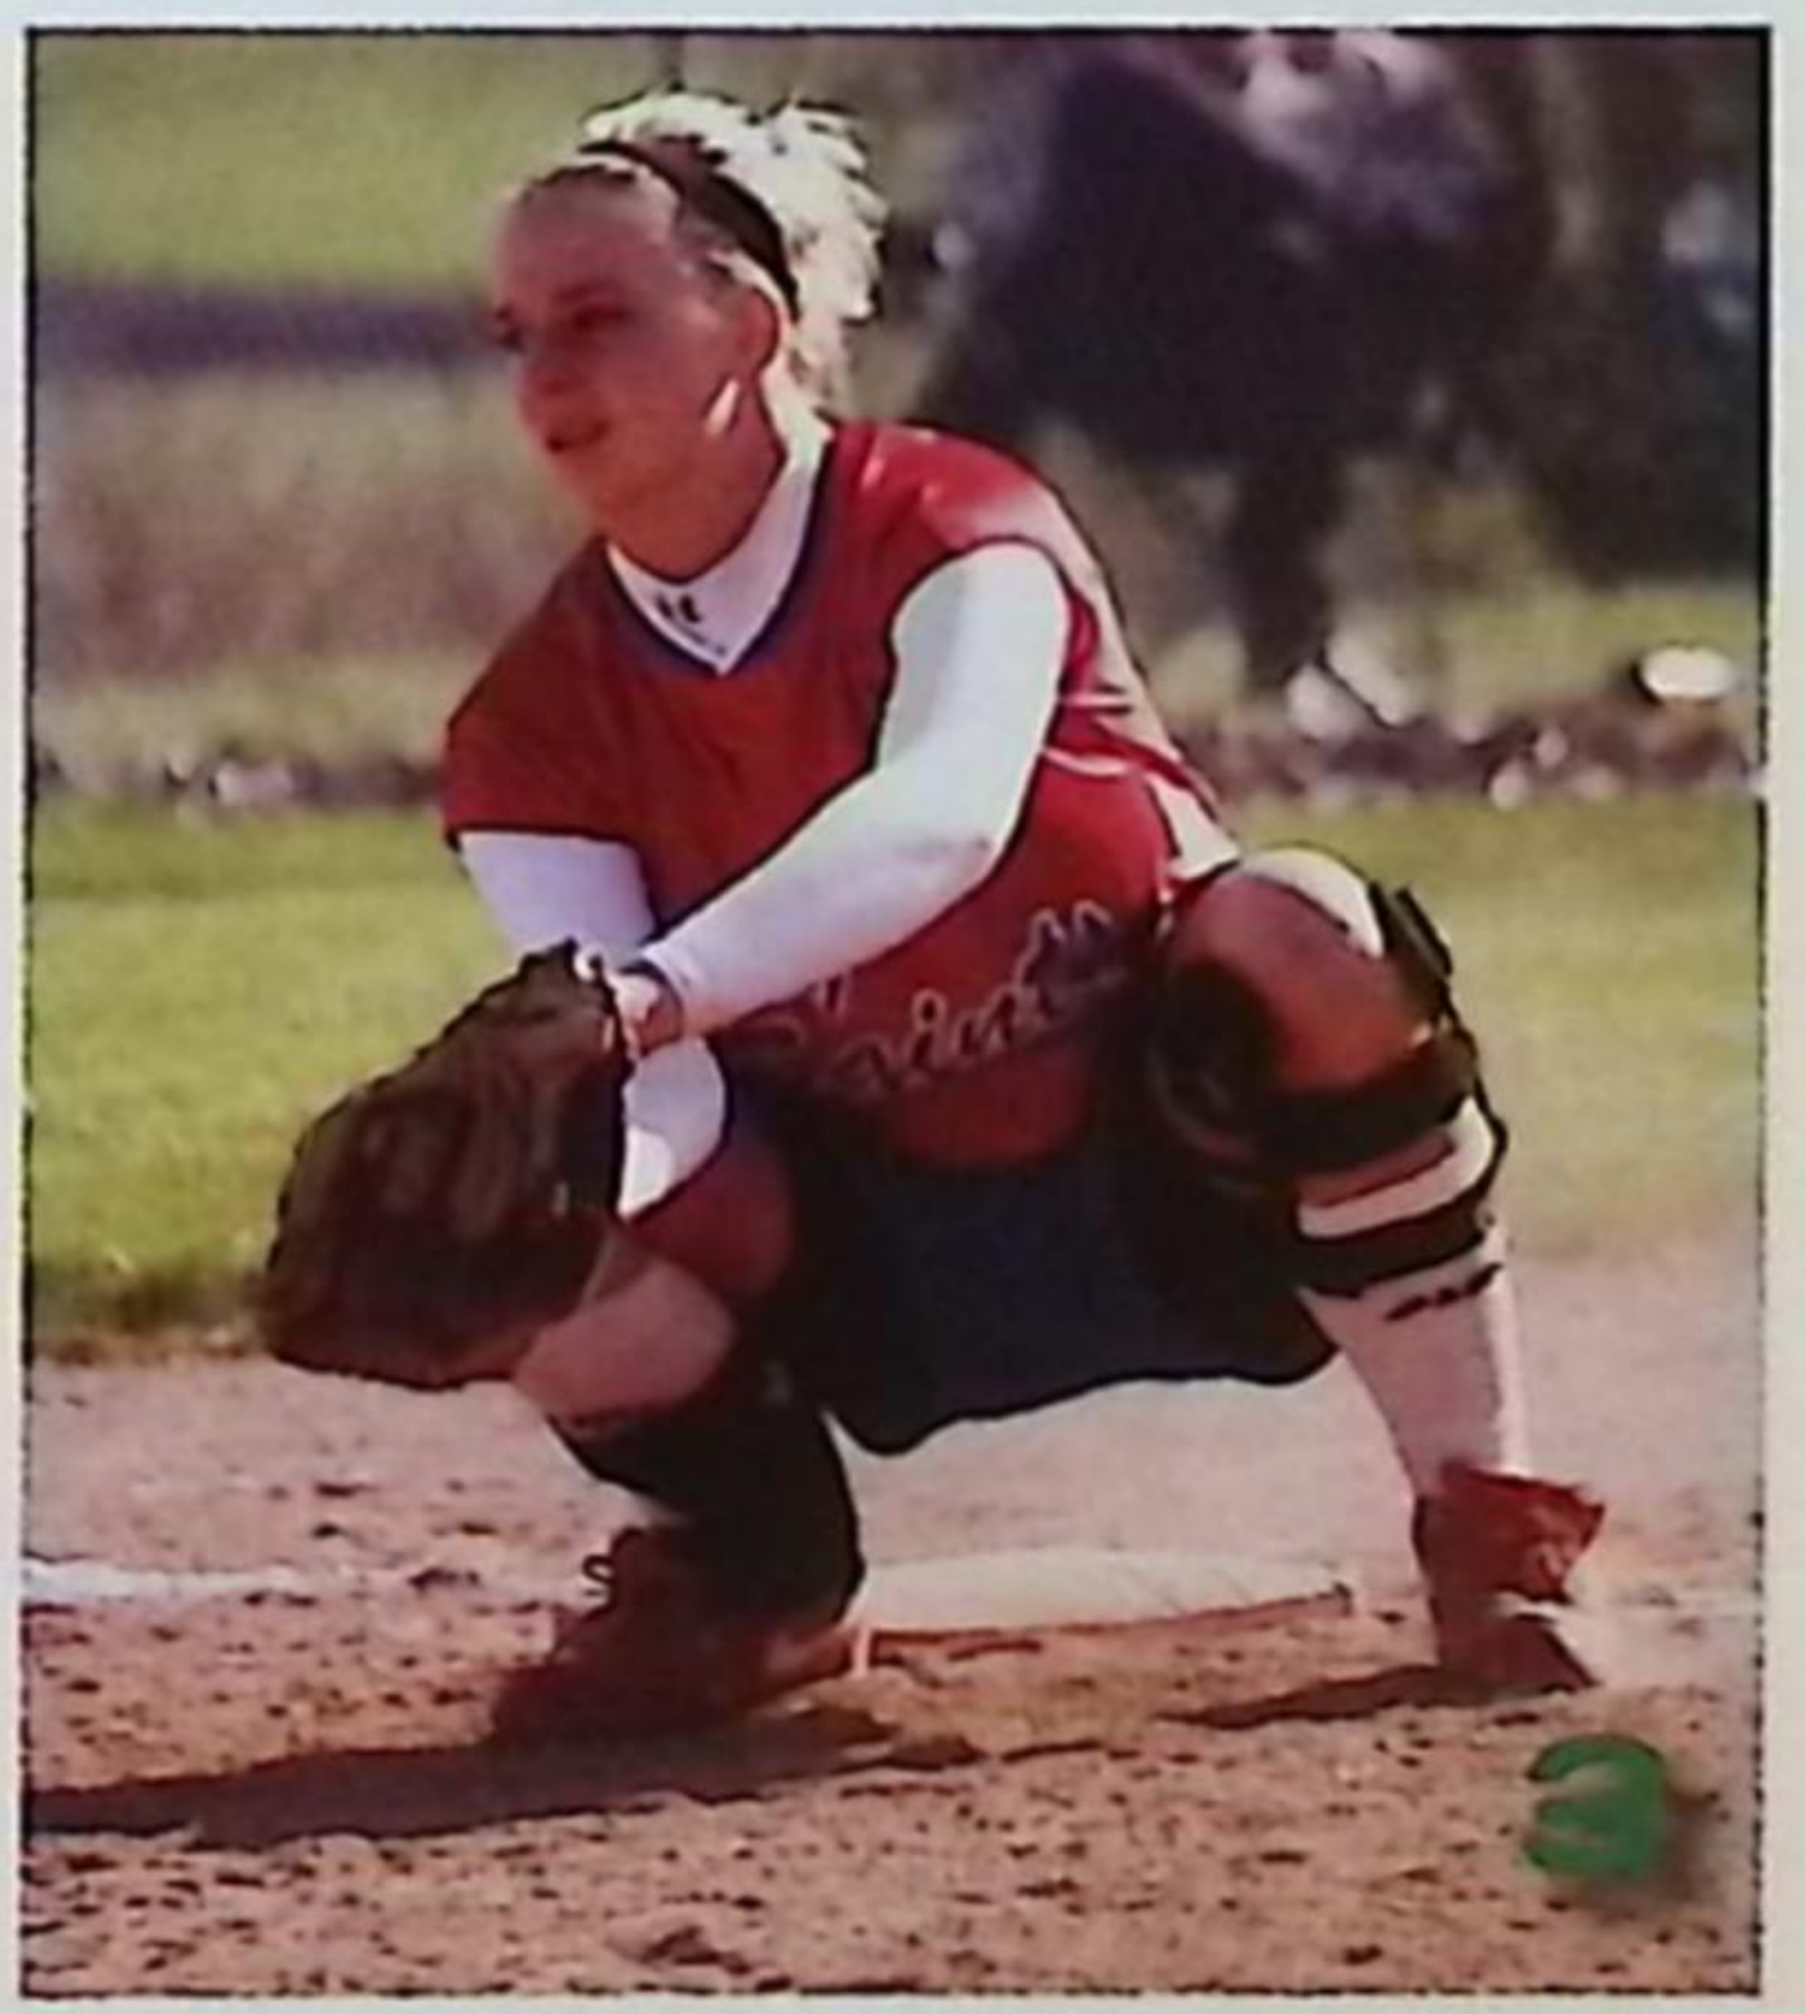
ON YOUR TOES

While behind the plate, Amanda Tackaberry ('10) keeps a focused eye on her opponent on second base. She then throws the ball back to her pitcher to prepare for the following batter.

1. As Jesse Theume ('11) catches a fly ball in right field, she quickly throws the ball to first, in order to hold the players at their previous base.
2. Lindsey Taylor ('11) rapidly gets ready on the mound as she waits for her catcher to give her the sign to throw the pitch
3. While crouching down, Abbie Schweihofer ('12) plays catch with her teammates as they warm up for the inning.
4. The varsity Lady Saints gather together on the pitcher's mound to talk about their goals for the upcoming game
5. Exhibiting perfect form, Sammy Jo Snyder ('12) throws her favorite pitch to end the inning with a successful strike out.



Brief of the Bag

"My grandma gave me a bag of M&Ms before our first game, and I have yet to take them out of my softball bag."
-L. Lawson ('12)

"My chest protector broke before a game last week, so I had to fix it with a key chain and some tape."
-A. Tackaberry ('10)

"I always keep my homerun ball from last year in my bag. It helps me stay positive during hard parts of a game."
-S. Snyder ('12)

"I have a stuffed animal that a little boy gave me at a tournament that he won out of a crane game for a good luck charm."

Oh Say, Can You See...

...An amazing soccer team lined up before the game to pay their respects to their country? We can! The Saints, in uniform fashion, keep heads bowed, arms behind their backs, and feet on the yellow line to show the competition not only how respectful they are, but how in-sync they are, too.

Greek Form

Muscles bulging, hips squared, and foot planted, the soccer team's favorite Greek, Hope Katakis ('13), focuses completely on the ball, with every intention of scoring a goal and putting the keeper to shame.

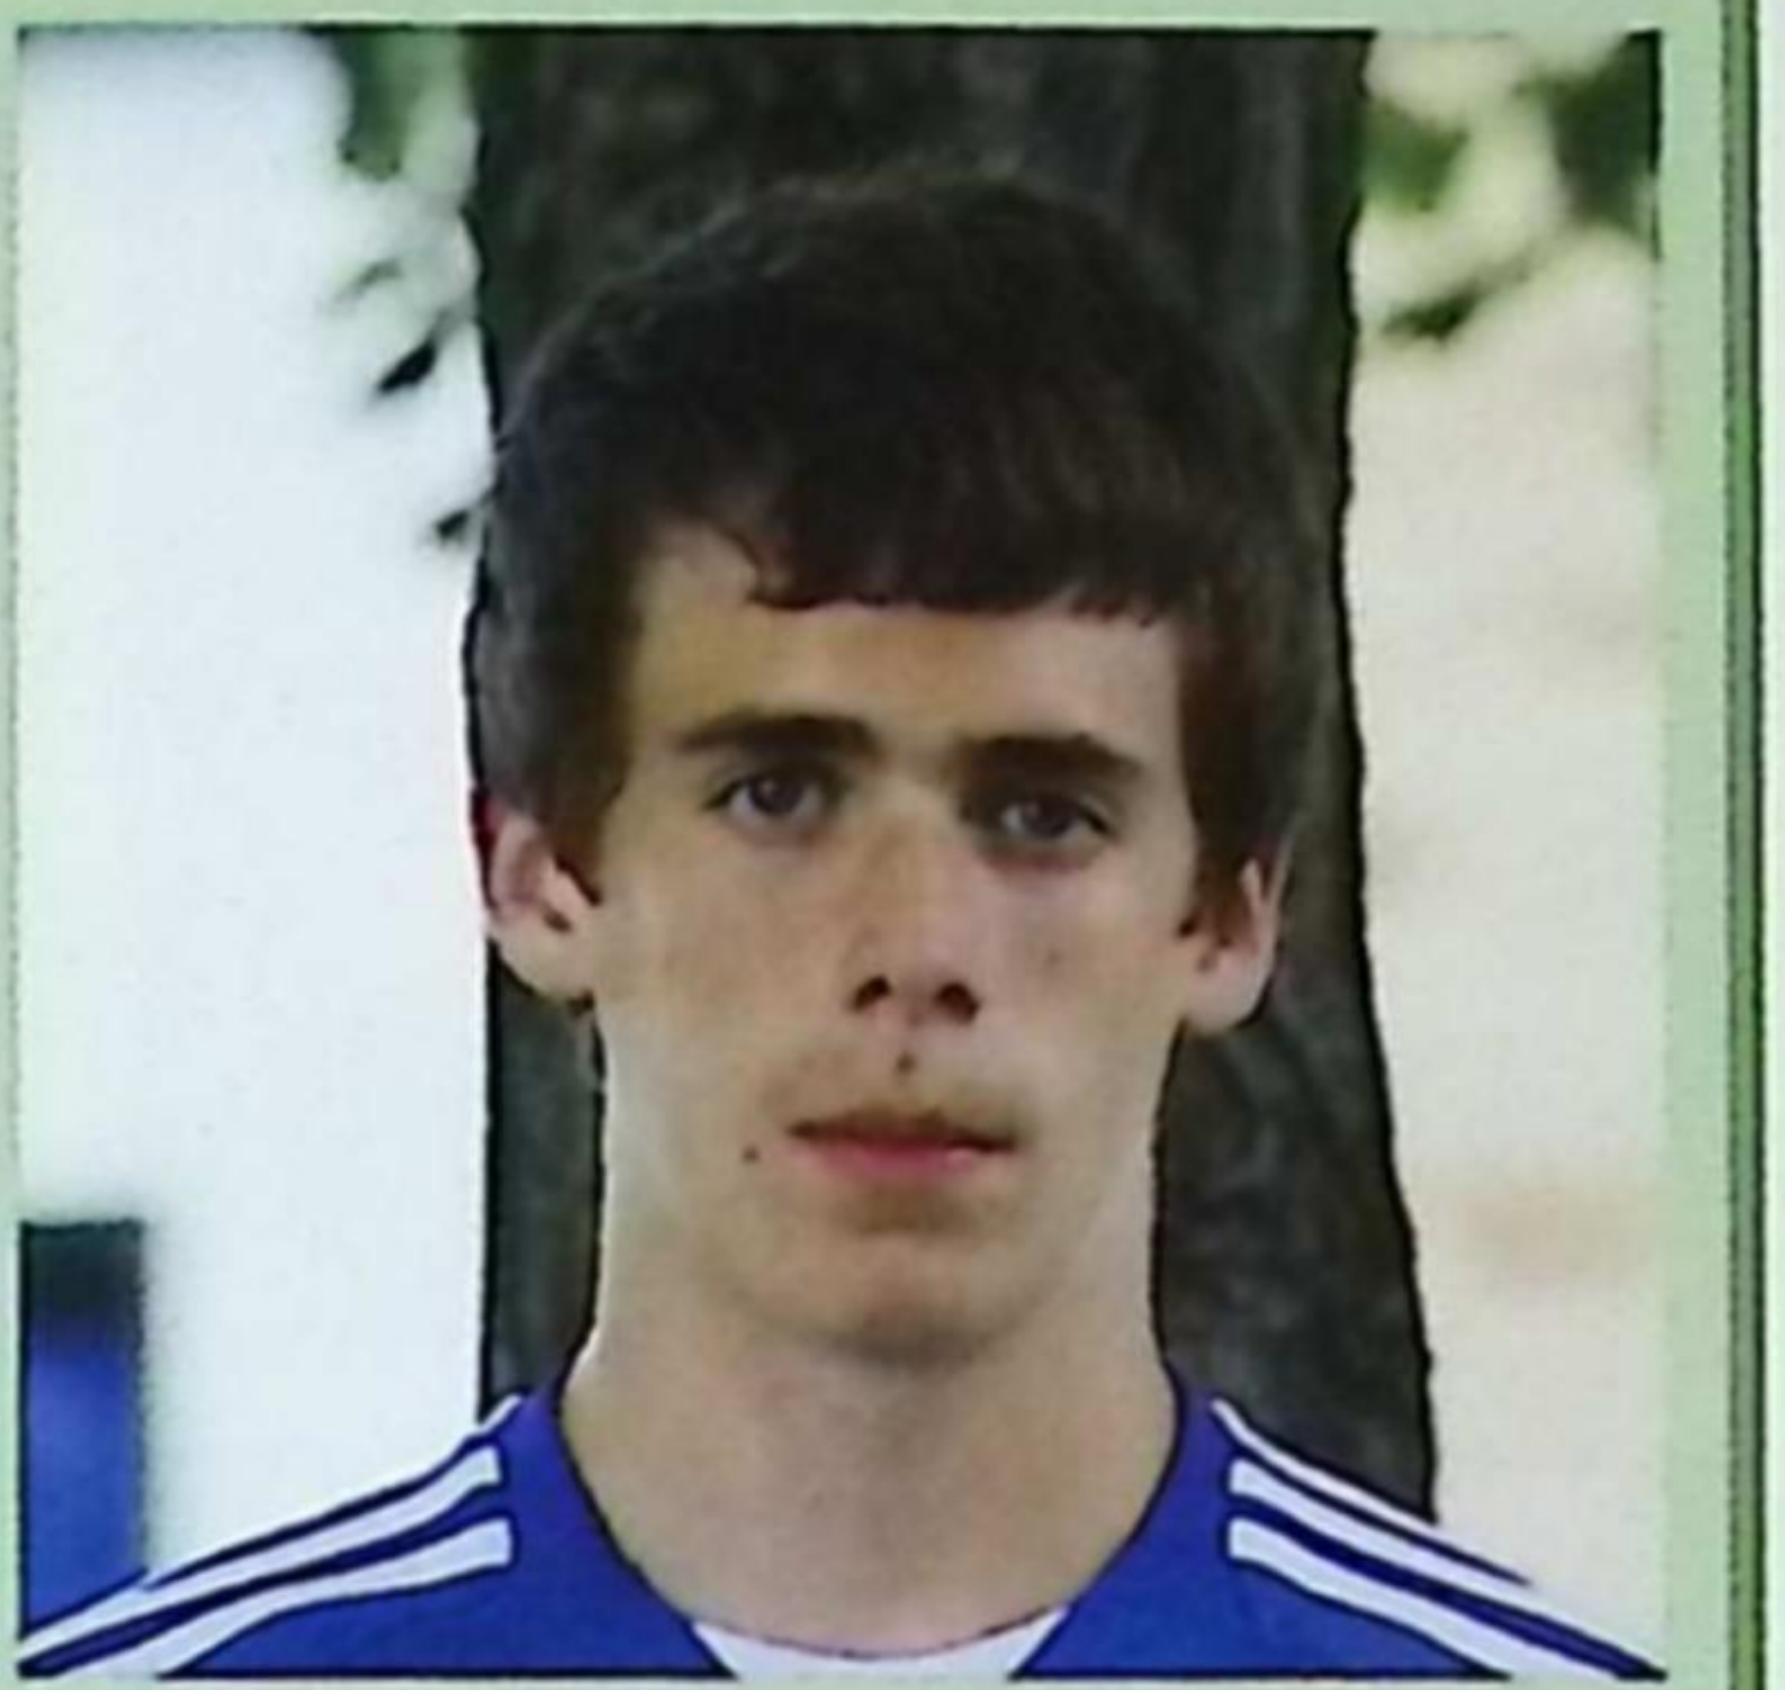
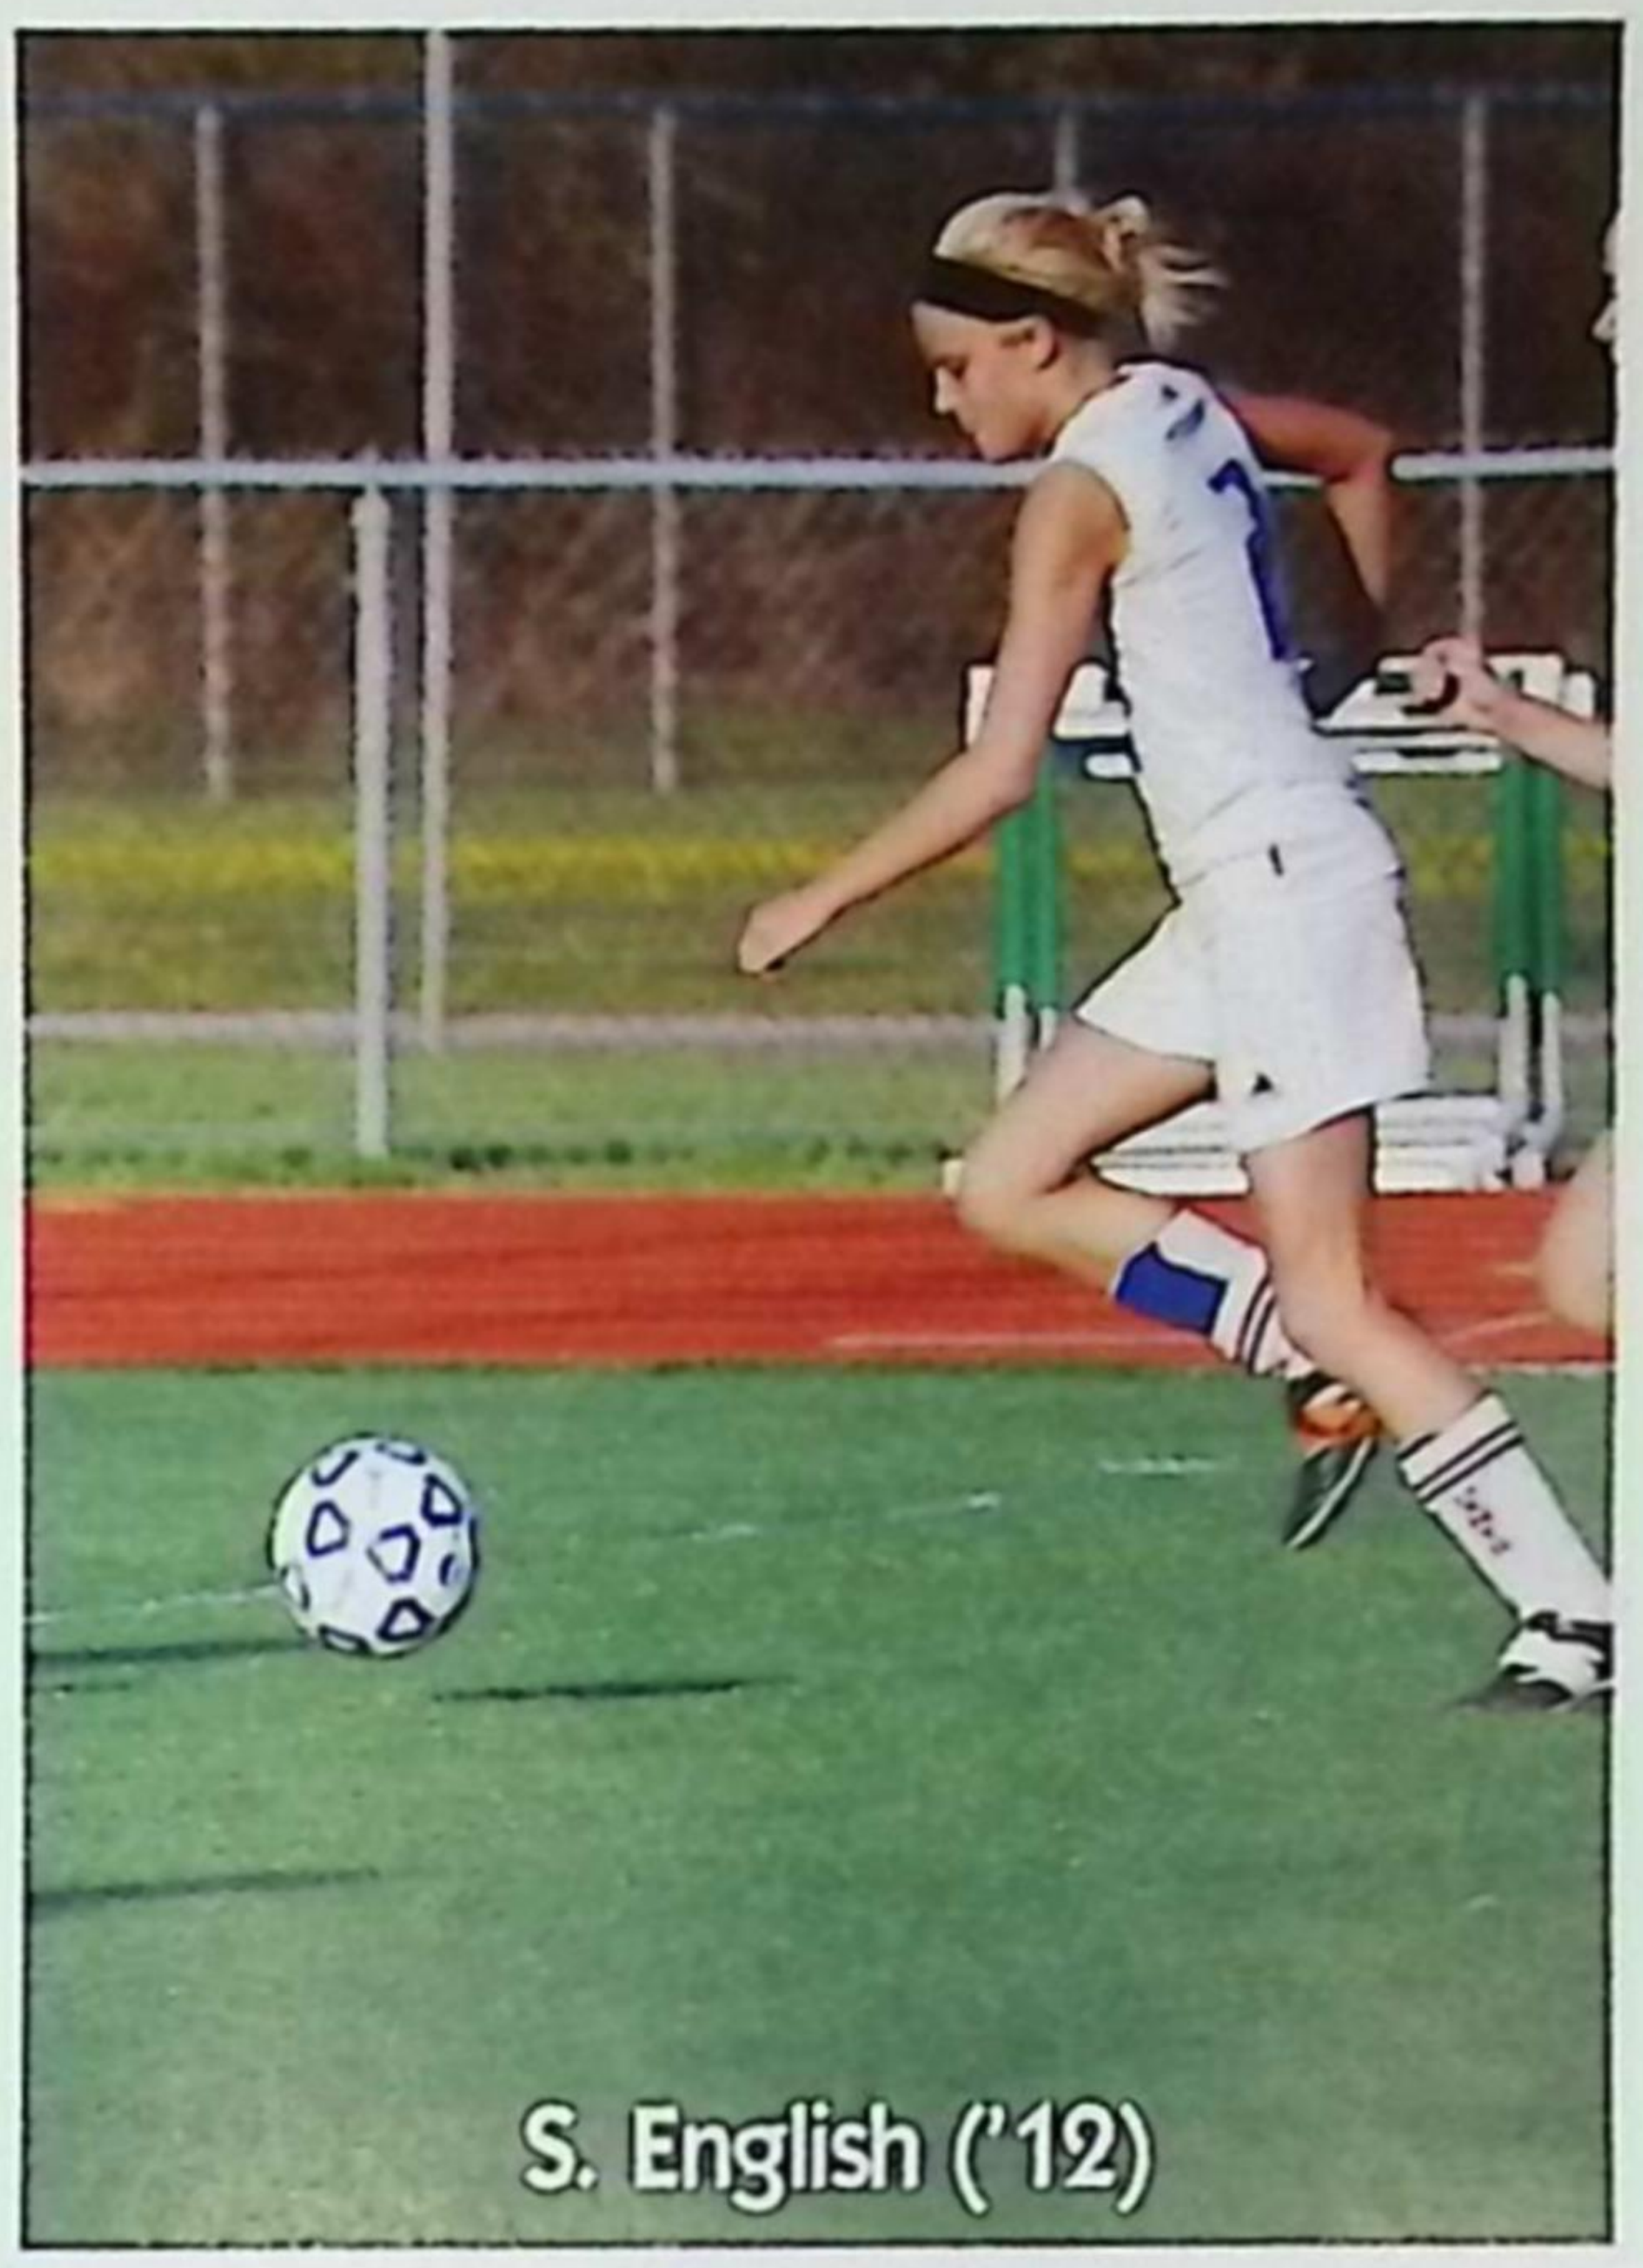
A Team Moment

C. Bastian ('12)



"As a manager for the boys' team, I got to know the boys pretty well. Cy also lived a few houses down the road, so I knew him especially well. He had a great sense of humor, and was always saying something to make my brother [Ryan Schuh] and I laugh. We drove him to many of the guys' games, and he was always really nice and respectful. He always said thanks to me for giving him a ride, something very few people ever do. Plus, he had a sarcastic sense of humor, something I can definitely appreciate! I know the team will miss him immensely, and next season just won't be the same without Cy there to lighten the mood and keep the guys positive. He was a great player, a great friend, and most of all, a great person. He was loved by many and will be missed by all."

-E. Schuh ('10)



S. English ('12)

All Tied Up

Although the soccer team may not be quite what they were last year, this year's soccer team has managed to do something that no other soccer team in SCHS history has done: tie four games. "I've never tied this many times in my entire soccer lifetime," Lauren Bondy ('12) says with great frustration. "We may have tied almost every game, and it gets annoying sometimes, but our team is definitely close, and that is something that winning, tying, or losing can't change."

"If it doesn't move, kick it until it does."

-Phil Woosnam (Welsh soccer player)

With a final record of 7-6-4, the Lady Saints have stuck together through thick and thin. Because of the team bonding, lots of fun practices, and delicious team dinners, this St. Clair team has managed to swallow tie after maddening tie and come out even closer. With such great people on the team, it's no wonder that this "SC Unit" stuck it out and played their hardest all season long.

No Big Deal

Even though Heidi Balhoff ('13) is only a freshman, she has no problem showing off her power and finess to the competition. Heidi was one of the only freshmen to start this year.

BOYS' TRACK

Running is True Dedication

While most sports use running as a punishment, boys track is all about a dedication to running. This year, there seems to be a renewed motivation as they diligently practice for each event. The high jumpers' pit is always in a commotion, playing music and cracking jokes at each other's expense. The sprinters work on baton hand offs and block starts when they aren't pushing themselves in workouts. The throwers work on discus, shot-put, and running regularly to stay in shape. As always, the long distance boys run, and keep running. Each section of our tiny track at SCHS is filed with talk and the efforts of keeping in shape for the next race, and the next opportunity to win.

> "The best part of track was the beautiful day drils we did. That's when we lay on our backs and look at the sky on a sunny day. After that we would go home. Also Peter Jay made my track experience unbelievable." -C. Tierney ('10)

Run to the Beat

Juniors Calvin Marshall and Brendon Shaffer pump themselves up for their races by listening to their favorite tunes on their IPod.

G. Dunsmore ('13)

MY FAMILY MOMENT

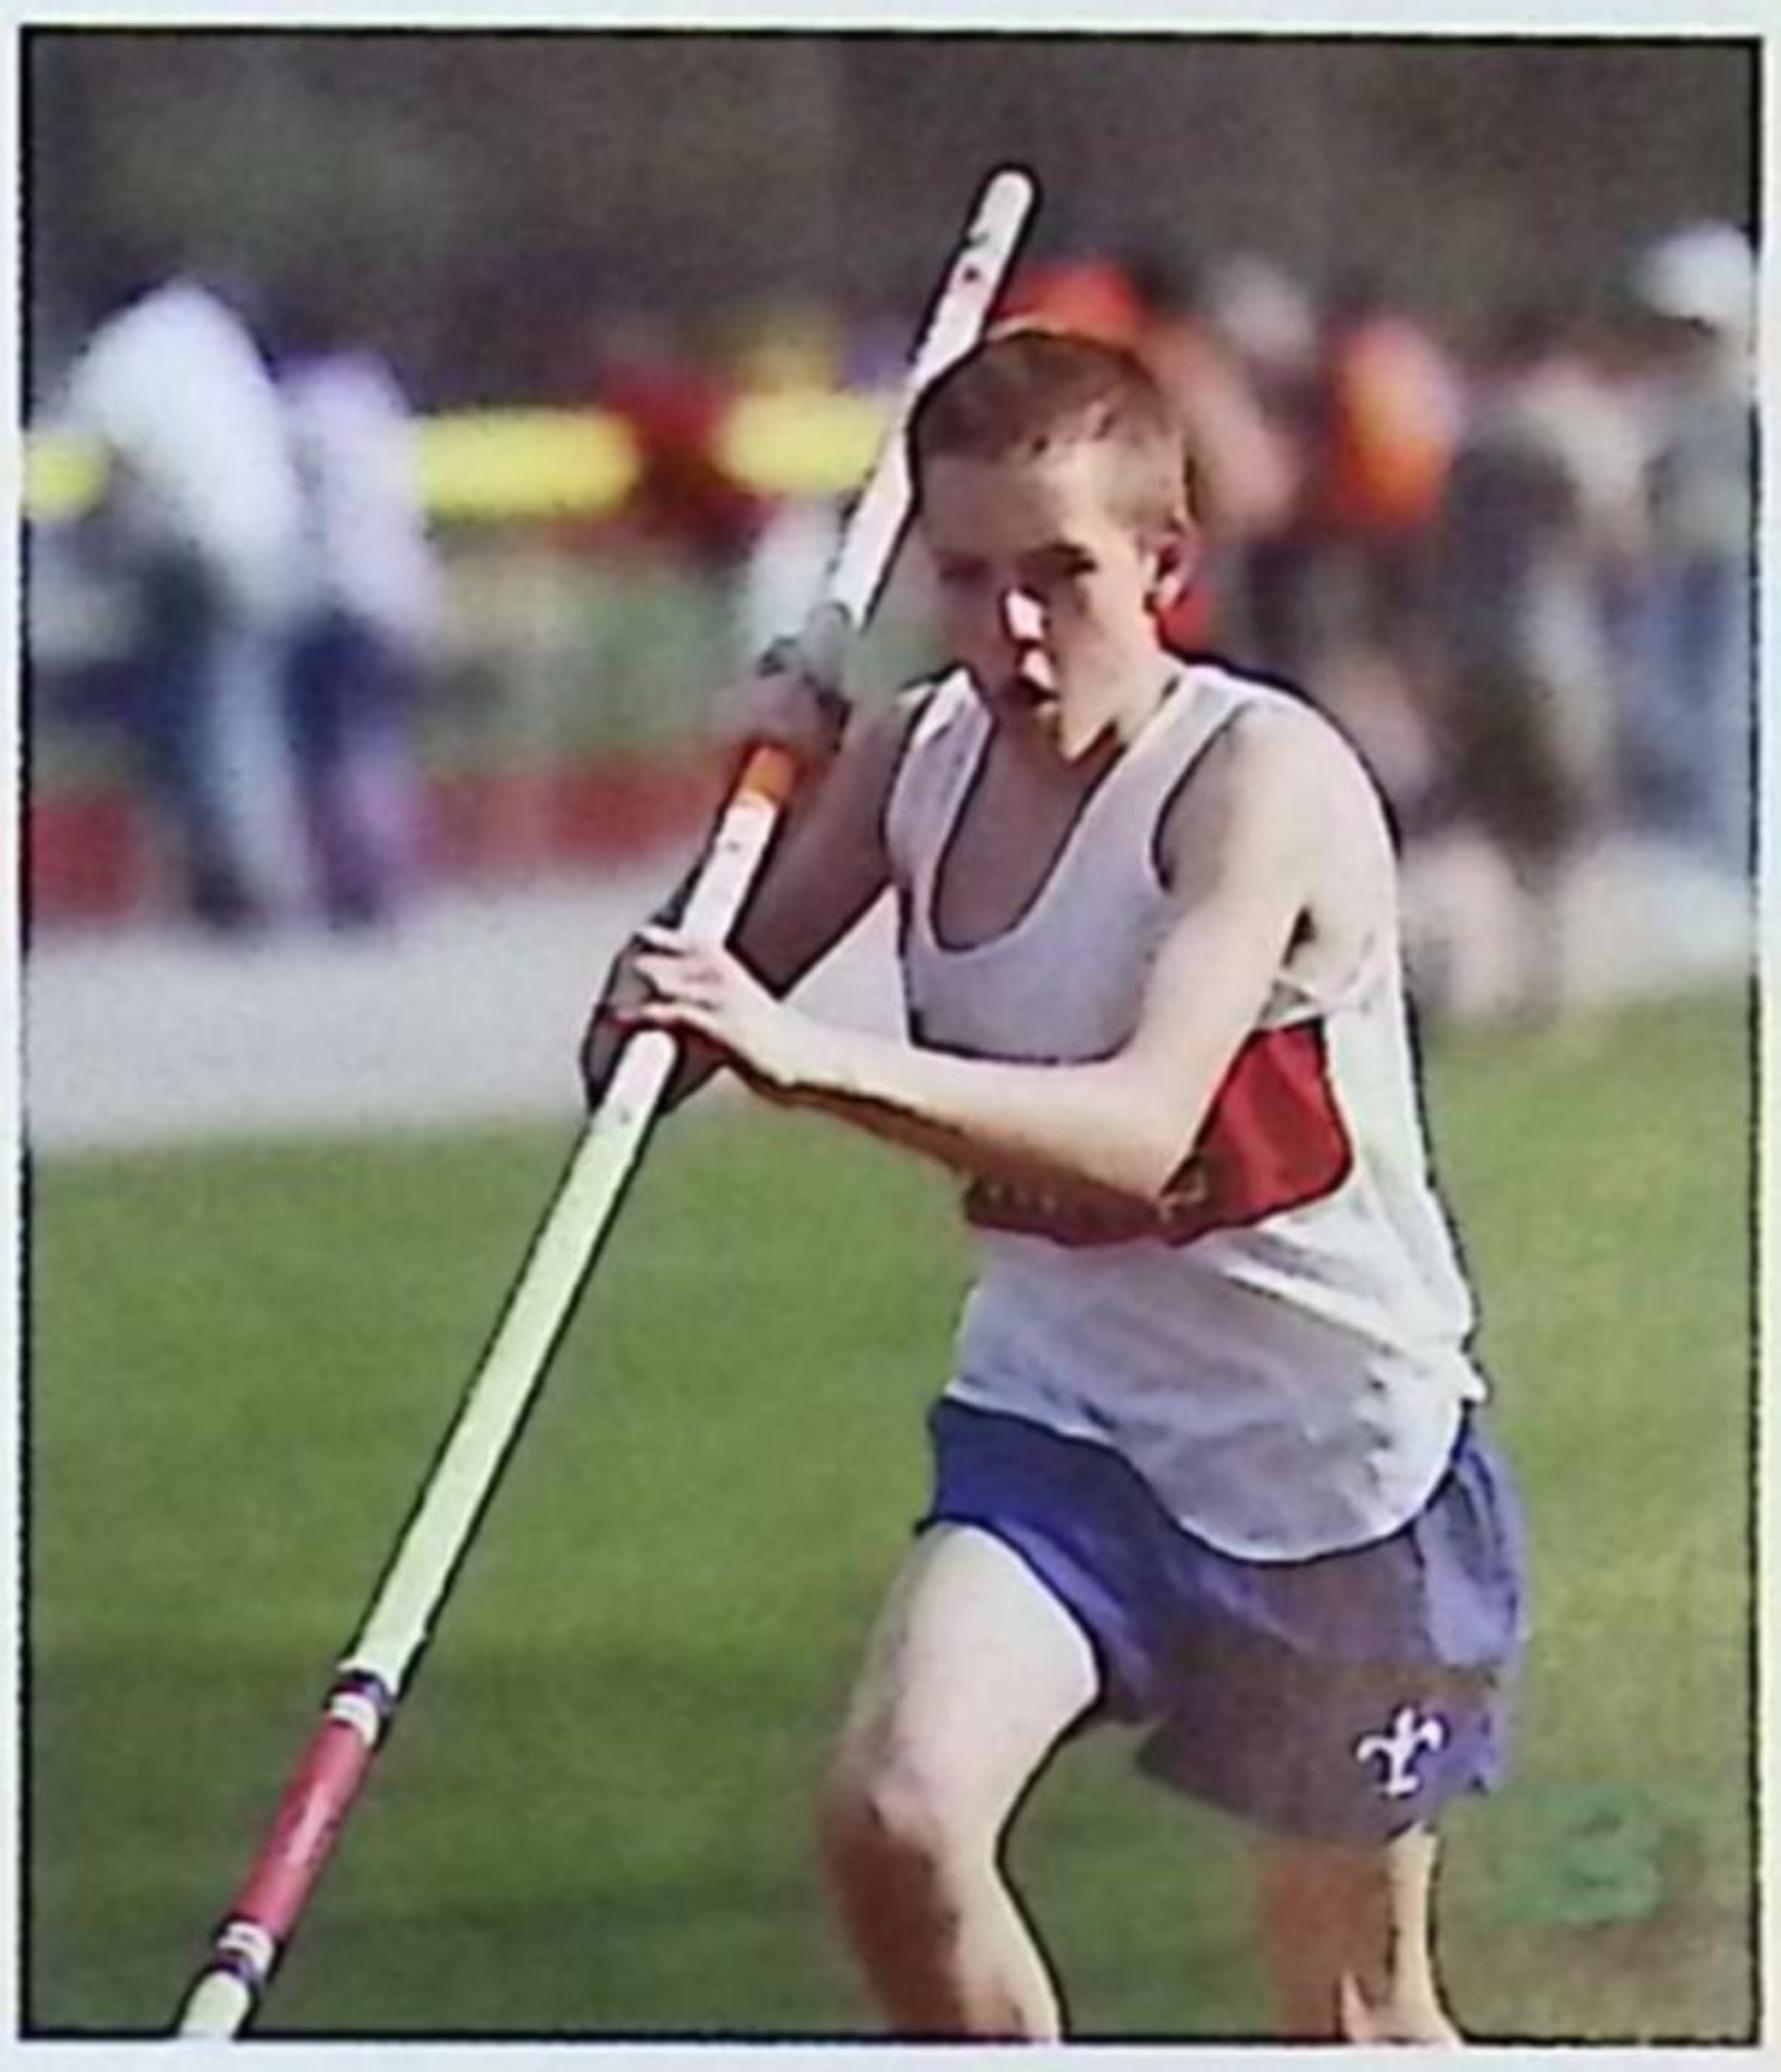
"Having my little brother on the team wasn't so bad. We didn't see each other much because he ran distance and I run hurdles, so we never really practiced together. If we were practicing together I feel like it would have been a different story and I would have gone crazy. Luckily, he doesn't run hurdles and I definitely don't run long distance so it worked out."

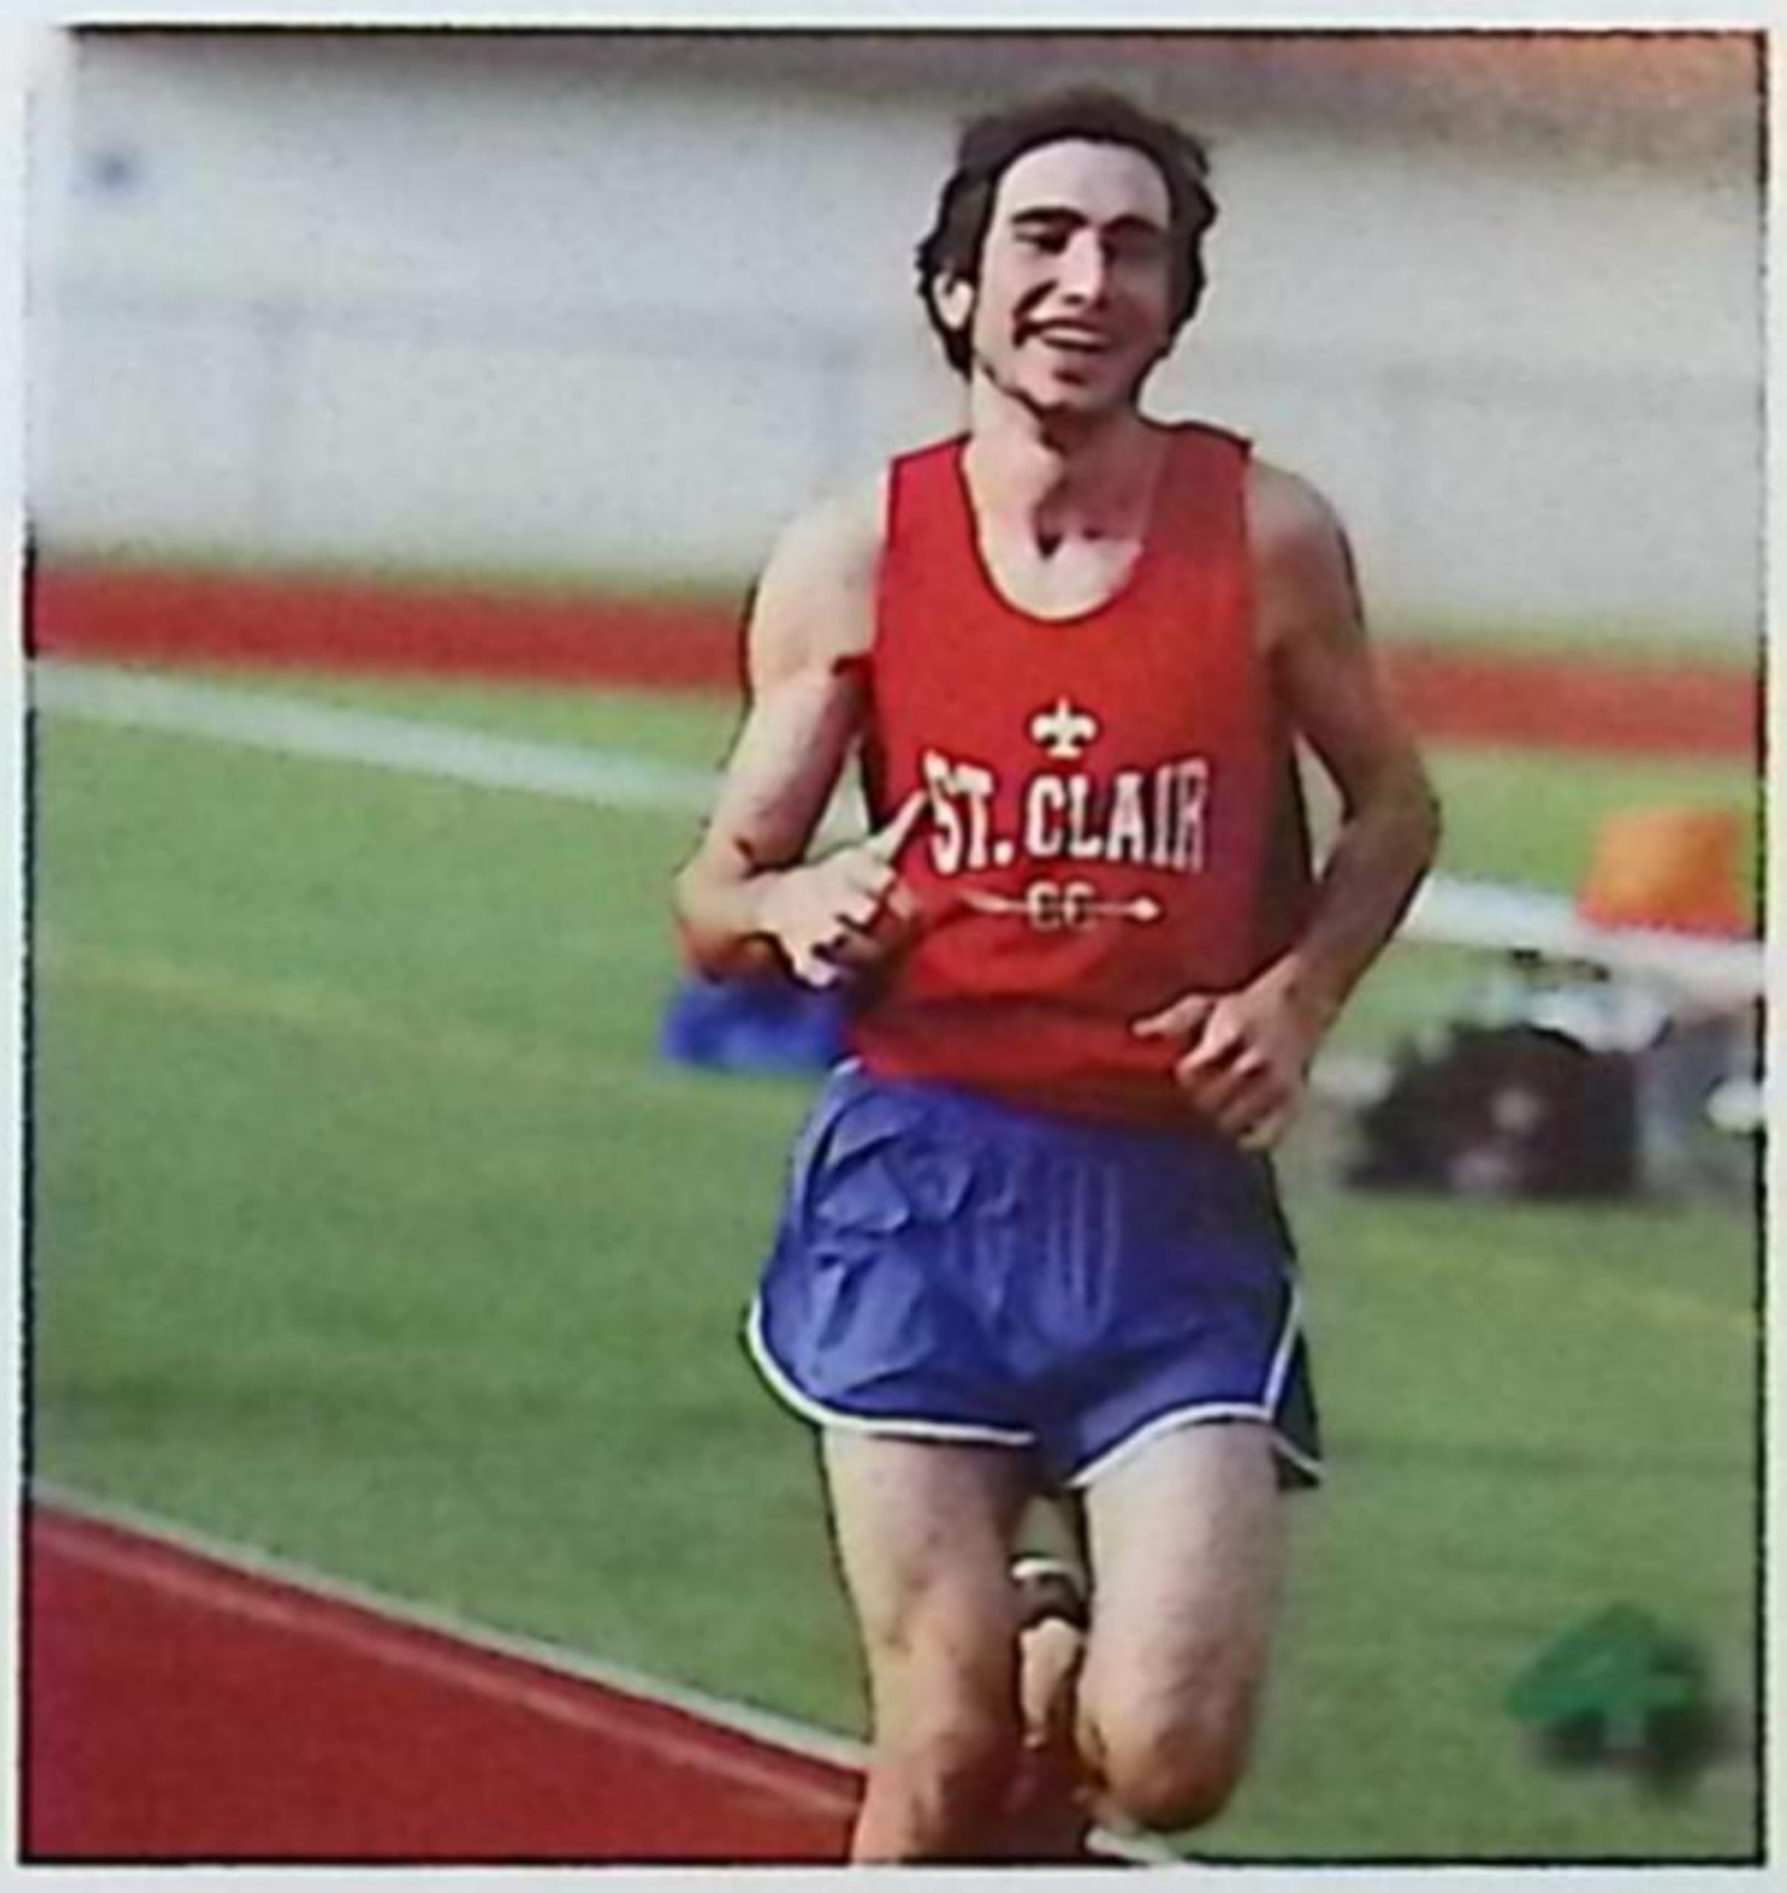
Samanth Karnan ('10)

"Having my big brother on the team was kind of cool. He could always drive me home from practice and meets so I never really had to wait around, and sometimes he would give me pointers on what I was doing wrong, or what I could do better. It wasn't really hard at all because I didn't see him very much, but it was nice not having to walk into track not knowing anyone."

Sunny Karnan ('13)

1. Sean Denny ('12) leaps over each hurdle with expertise as he pushes towards the finish line, hoping for a personal best.
2. Christian Sommer ('10) shows perfect form while throwing shot put for the Saints.
3. New high jumper, Kevin Brunner ('13) focuses on keeping his legs together and twisting his body in order to clear opening height.
4. Randy Gottler ('12), also known as 'Legacy,' enjoys racing and shows it with a smile plastered on his face as he crosses the finish line.
5. Jacob Gladfelter ('10) winds up his throw, preparing to launch the shot with Hercules like strength.





Perfect Form
Demonstrated by Patrick Miller ('11)

*Good posture is also really important in running. You don't just use your leg muscles, but your back and stomach muscles too. Staying upright helps your balance and you can run faster and farther.

*Keeping your head up is very important in racing. By watching the person in front of you, you can start moving closer and closing any gap that you have... maybe even passing him.

*Arm movement is just as important as leg movement in running. Moving your arms helps send the message to your brain that your legs should be moving, so pumping your arms will help move your legs faster.

*A long stride is very important to a distance runner. Stretching your legs as far as possible helps cover the distance faster.

The Thinking Runner

Thinking about the races to come, Kelsey Kerin ('12) reflects thoughtfully on what is to come. She meditates on how she will run the race in the cold, rainy weather at the Flint track meet.

A Winning Picture

Kayla Balfour ('12), Kayla Smade ('11), Lauren Zens ('12), and Kaitlin Munn ('10) had an outstanding season. These hard working, tallented girls surpassed all expectations by taking home state honors in the 3200 meter relay by placing third in the State.

GIRLS' TRACK

Always Chasing Zero

Each season, every runner is posed with the same goal, achieve the impossible. The ultimate goal of any runner is "chasing zero". Although this is impossible, every year each girl works hard to get closer and closer to that goal. This is what makes track a unique sport. Most teams have a mutual goal, but in track, winning is different for everyone.

> "The best part about being on the track team for me is having all of my friends to run with. It makes five miles a lot shorter when you have people to talk to."
>
> -A. Jorgensen ('10)

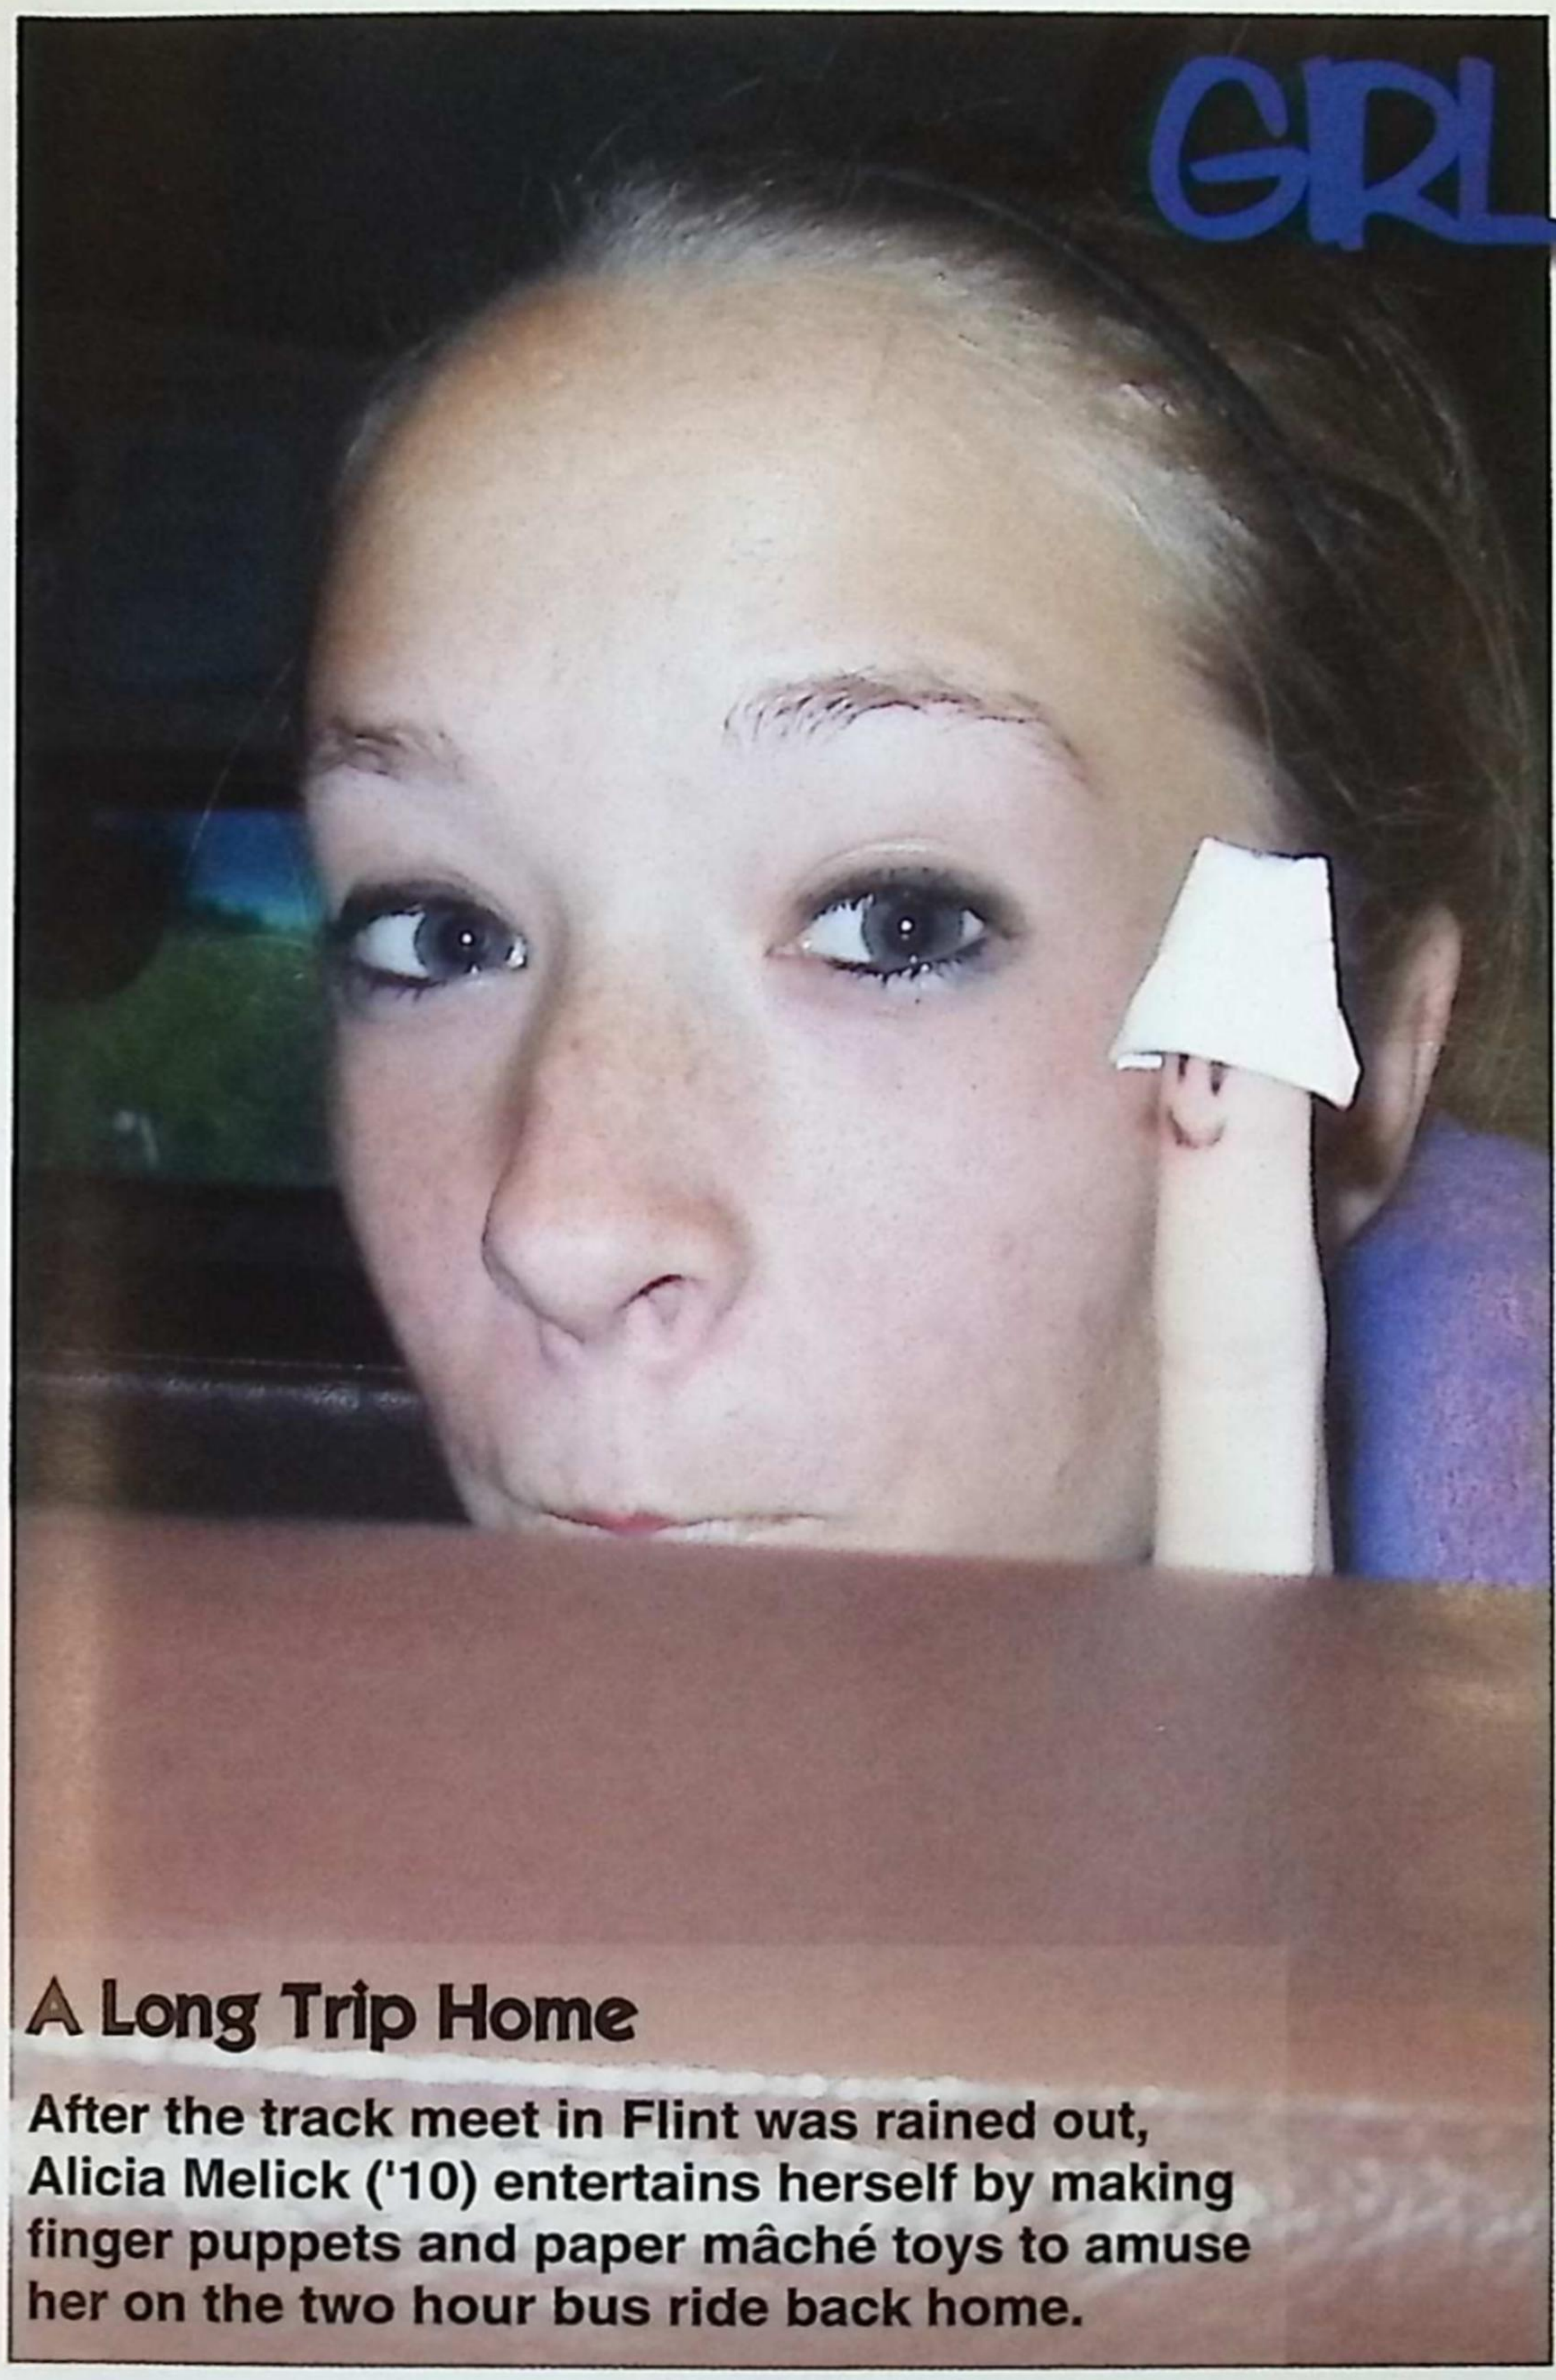
Winning could be finishing the two mile, getting the relay spot on the four by one, or even finaly jumping opening height. On the opposite side of the spectrum, even the greatest runners continue to push themselves to be better, still chasing that impossible goal of zero. Even the best girls who can run a 400m in 56 seconds push themselves to hit 55 or 54. The closer to zero every runner gets, the hungrier they become to push themselves harder and faster, closer to perfection.



A Long Trip Home

After the track meet in Flint was rained out, Alicia Melick ('10) entertains herself by making finger puppets and paper mâché toys to amuse her on the two hour bus ride back home.

I wasn't always eating and watching TV or movies, but going out and running a crazy amount of mileage and having a great time. Practice was always fun and there are some great stories across the years, too many to tell. The track meets were really fun too. The down time between races I could just chill out and hang with people I got along with. The people around me were really dedicated and driven and I really liked that, so I really liked the company and the people I was with. This last year of track was really memorable and the people I was with made it that much better."

Putt 'em Up!

Despite a few close loses, the St. Clair High School golf team did a great job this season; they all improved their game significantly. The athletes had a fantastic win against Utica High School with a score of 176-182. That win was a powerful motivator for the team, which heped the golfers place fourth at the district tournament.

"Golf is an endless series of tragedies obscured by the occasional miracle."
- Anonymous

They also worked hard at the regional championships, despite their placement; the squad was satisfied with their hard work and effort. It may have been a rough season but in the end the 2010 golfers played hard and learned a few things about self-improvement.

MY MOMENT

"My favorite accomplishment in my golfing career was the time I got an eagle from 50 yards away! I was pretty ecstatic about it. Unfortunately, our golf year started out really poorly, obviously, but that is okay because we made it to regionals. Even with that achievement, I know that next year we will be better than we were this year."
-A. Manter ('12)

VARSITY GOLF

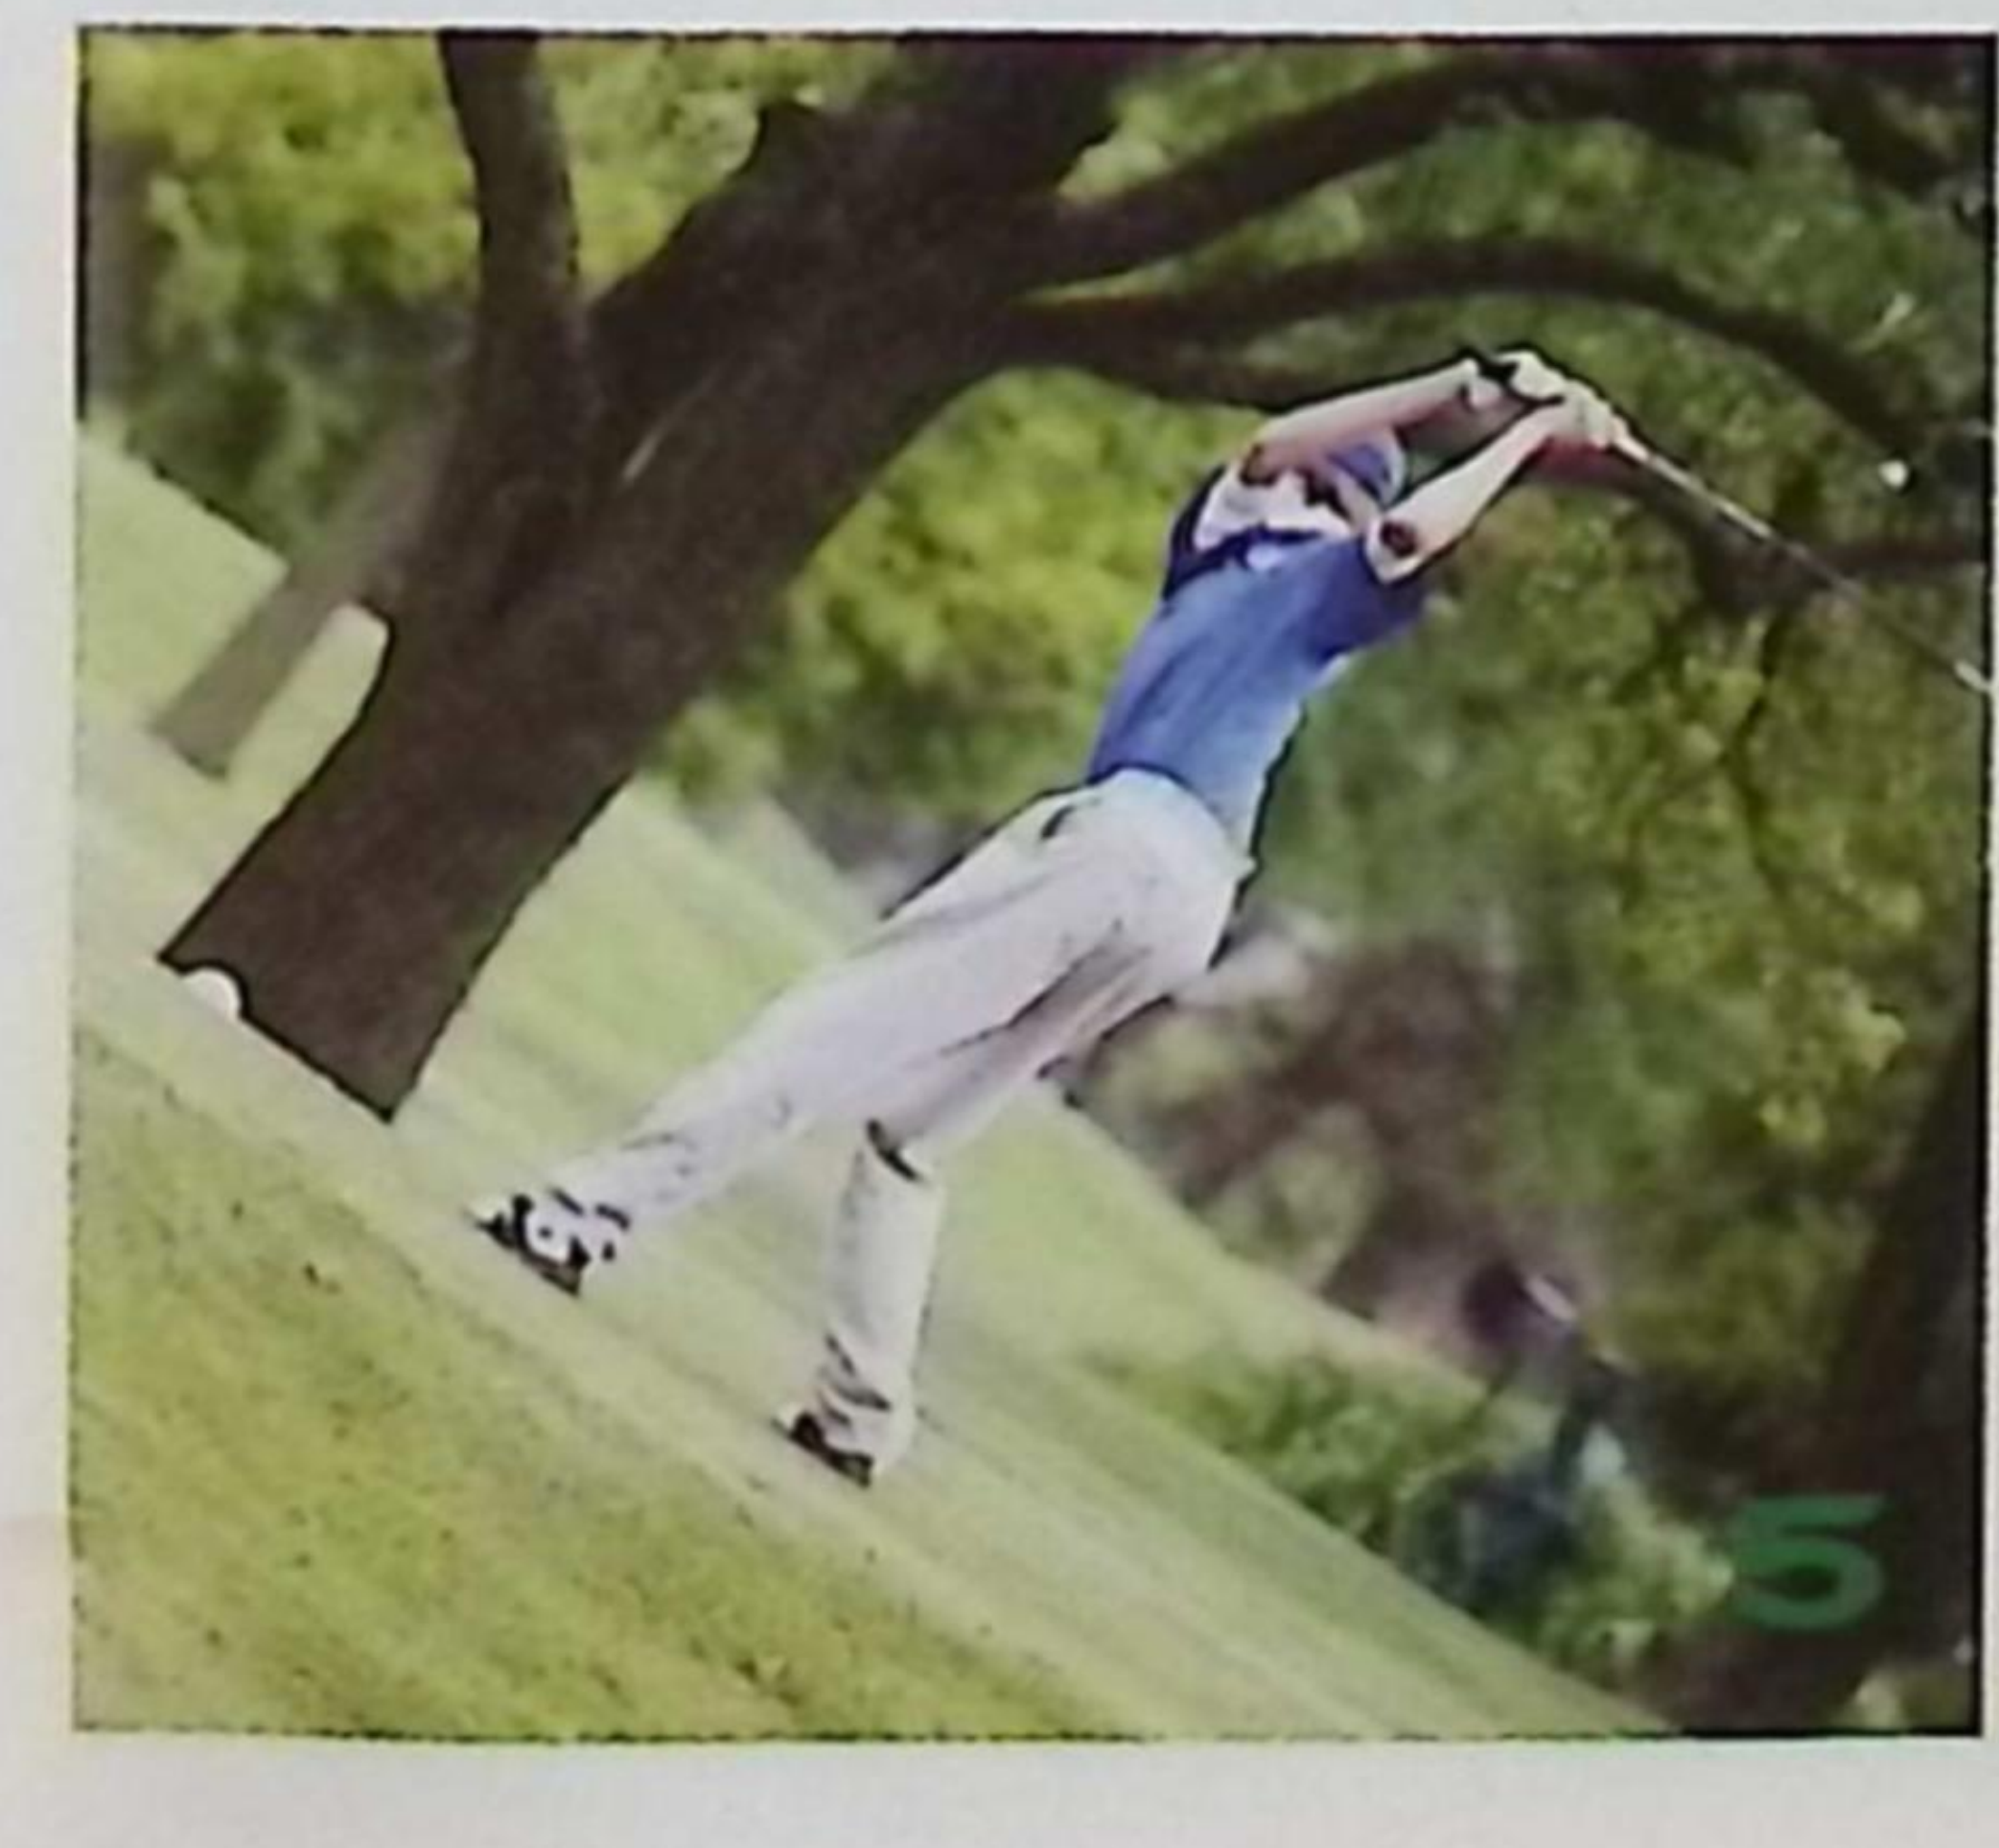
Taking a Stroll

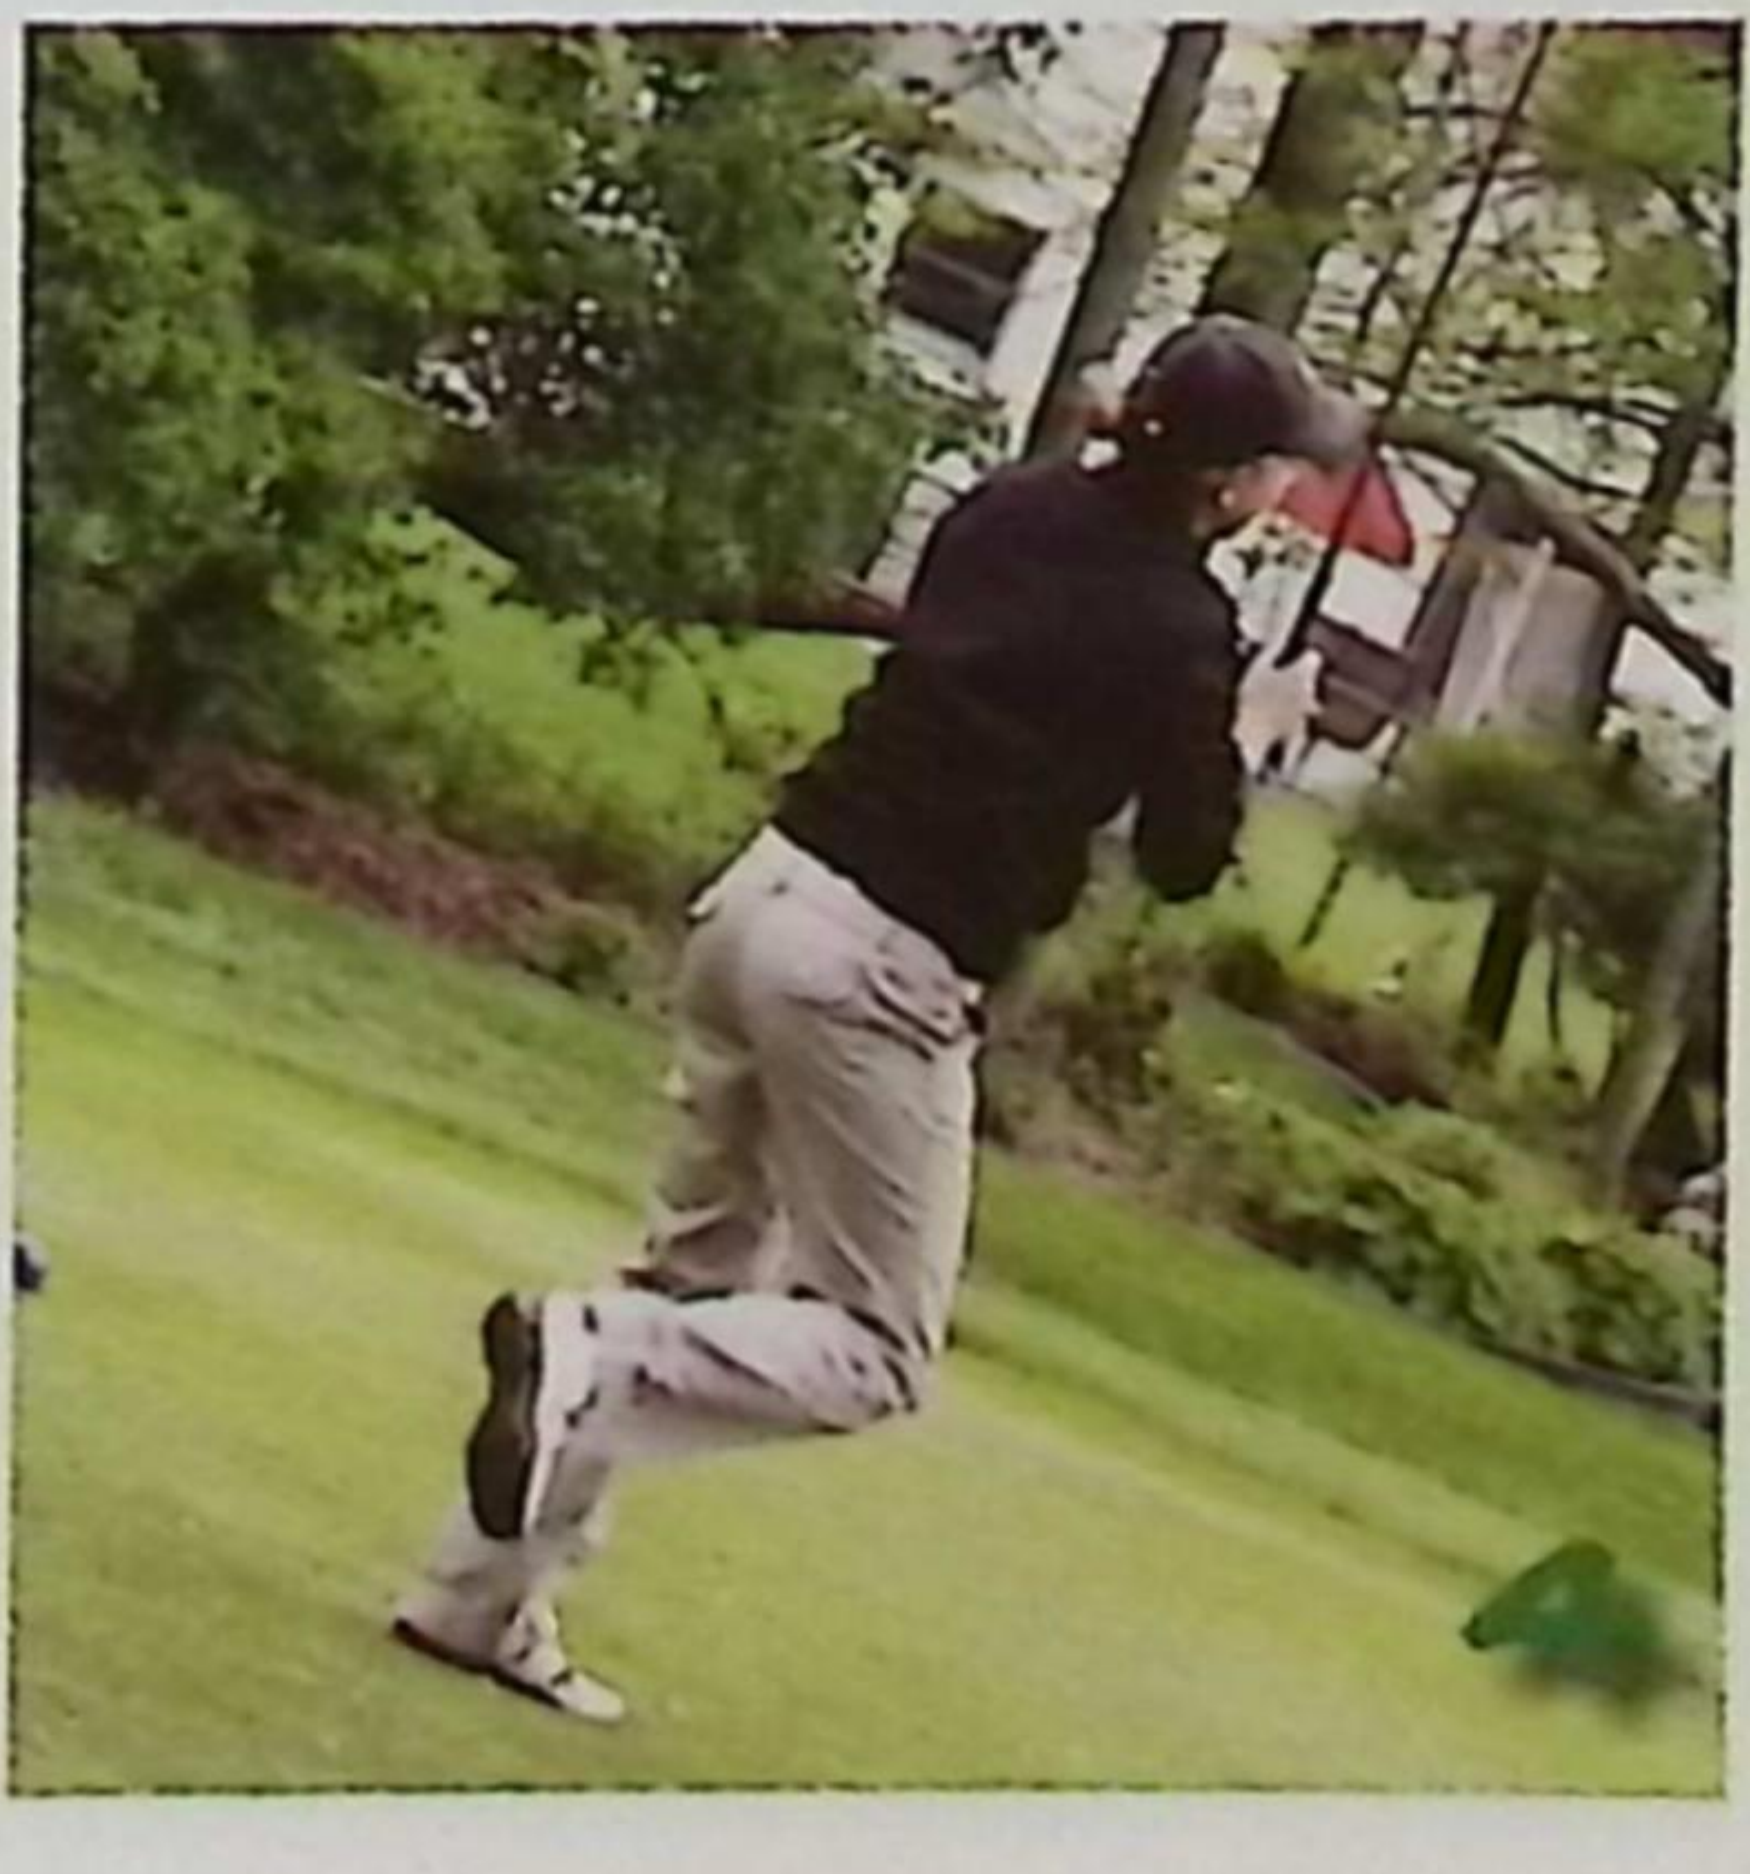
For senior Brett Hadwin, golfing is a passion, walking from hole to hole puts a smile on his face and a swing in his step.

Put on Your Thinking Cap

Golf is a sport of strategy. Ian Wendt ('12) is well aware of this fact and takes a moment, while gathering his club, to think of his next impressive move to make the shot.

1. Kyle Mazzola ('10) squats to line up his ball with the hole, hoping to putt his way under par.
2. Watching the ball go up, up and away Craig Gilewski ('12) looks to see where the fly ball will make its stop.
3. Waiting up for his partner, Brett Swantek ('11) paces himself ensuring that he doesn't get in the way of a fellow golfer's shot.
4. Adding a girl's flair to her swing, Stephanie Bacon ('10) shows the guys on the team how it is really done as her ball soars through the air.
5. With power behind his putt, Timmy Liniarski ('11) gives it his best to help his team out by attempting to make a hole in one.





Do you feel, that even with his latest scandal, that Tiger Woods should be looked up to as role model for high school golfers? Why or why not?

"I don't think that high school golfers should look up to Tiger Woods' personal life, but he is still a great golfer."
-S. Bacon ('10)

"Yes, because he is still a good golfer."
-A. Fielhauer ('11)

"No because he expects to do whatever he wants outside of golf and expects to be treated the same when he comes back. Not happening!"
-E. Hudolin ('12)

"I think the decisions he made should be kept out of his profession."
-L. Marion ('12)

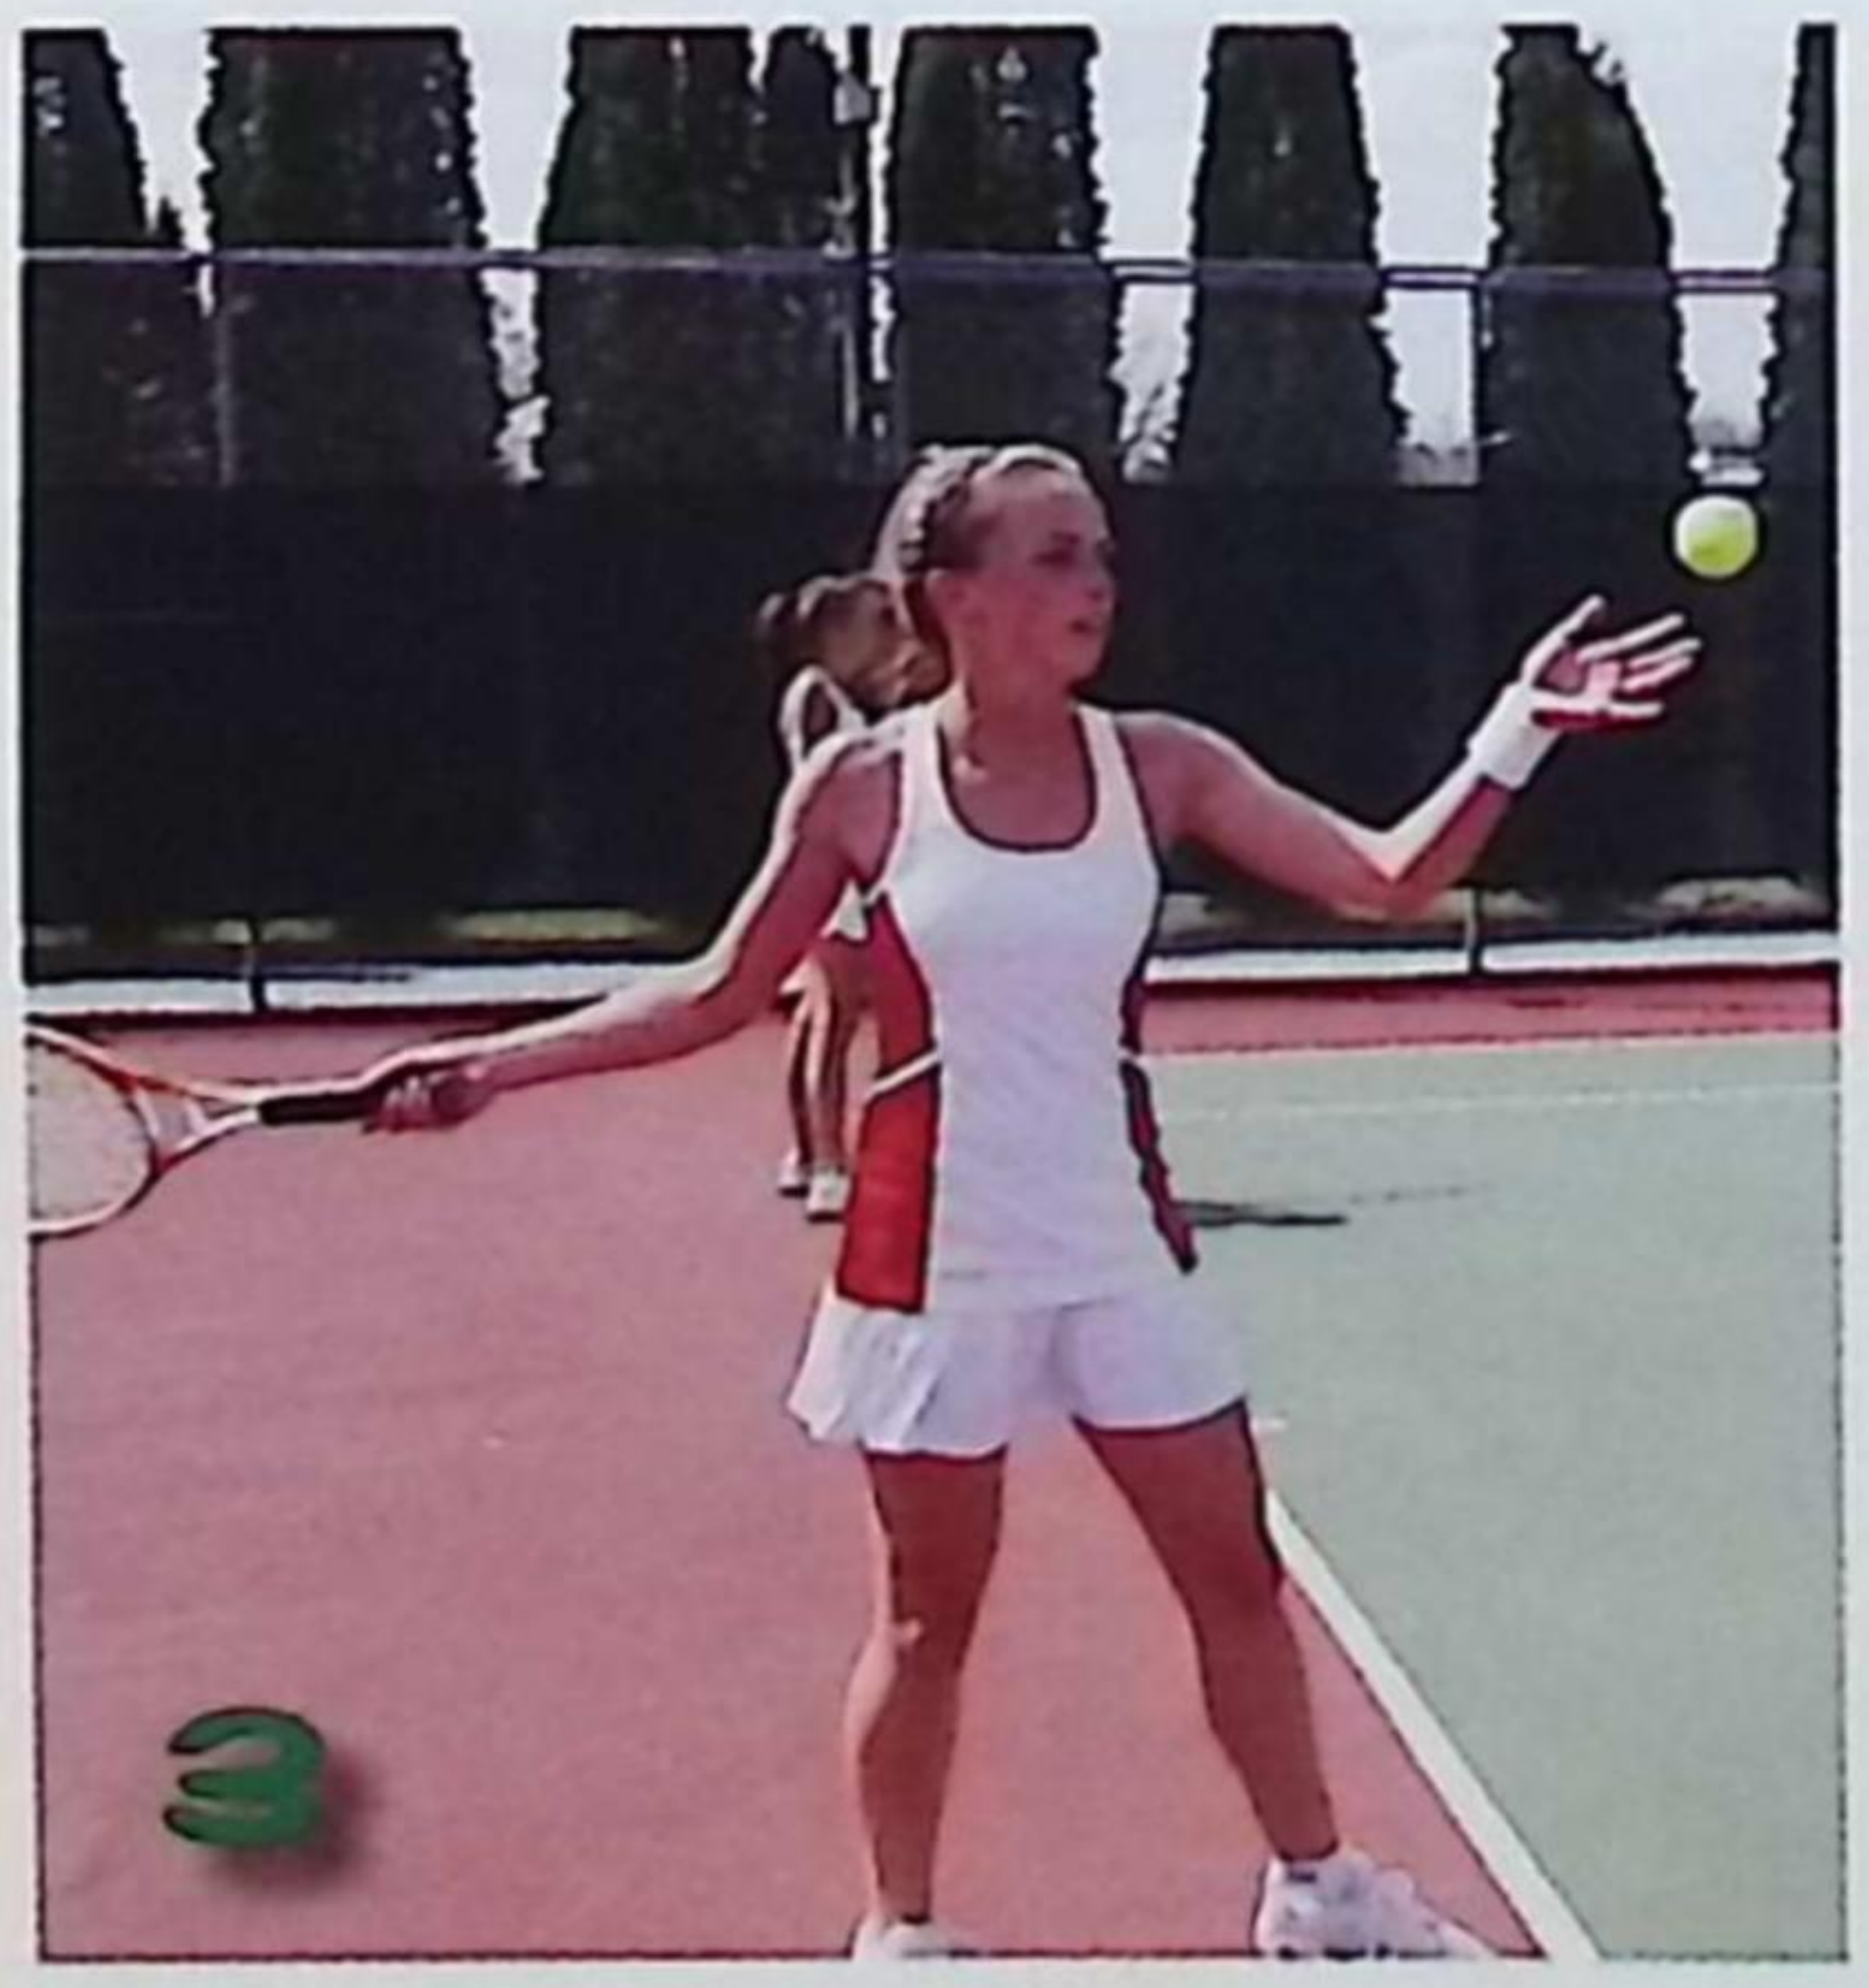
Matches Won

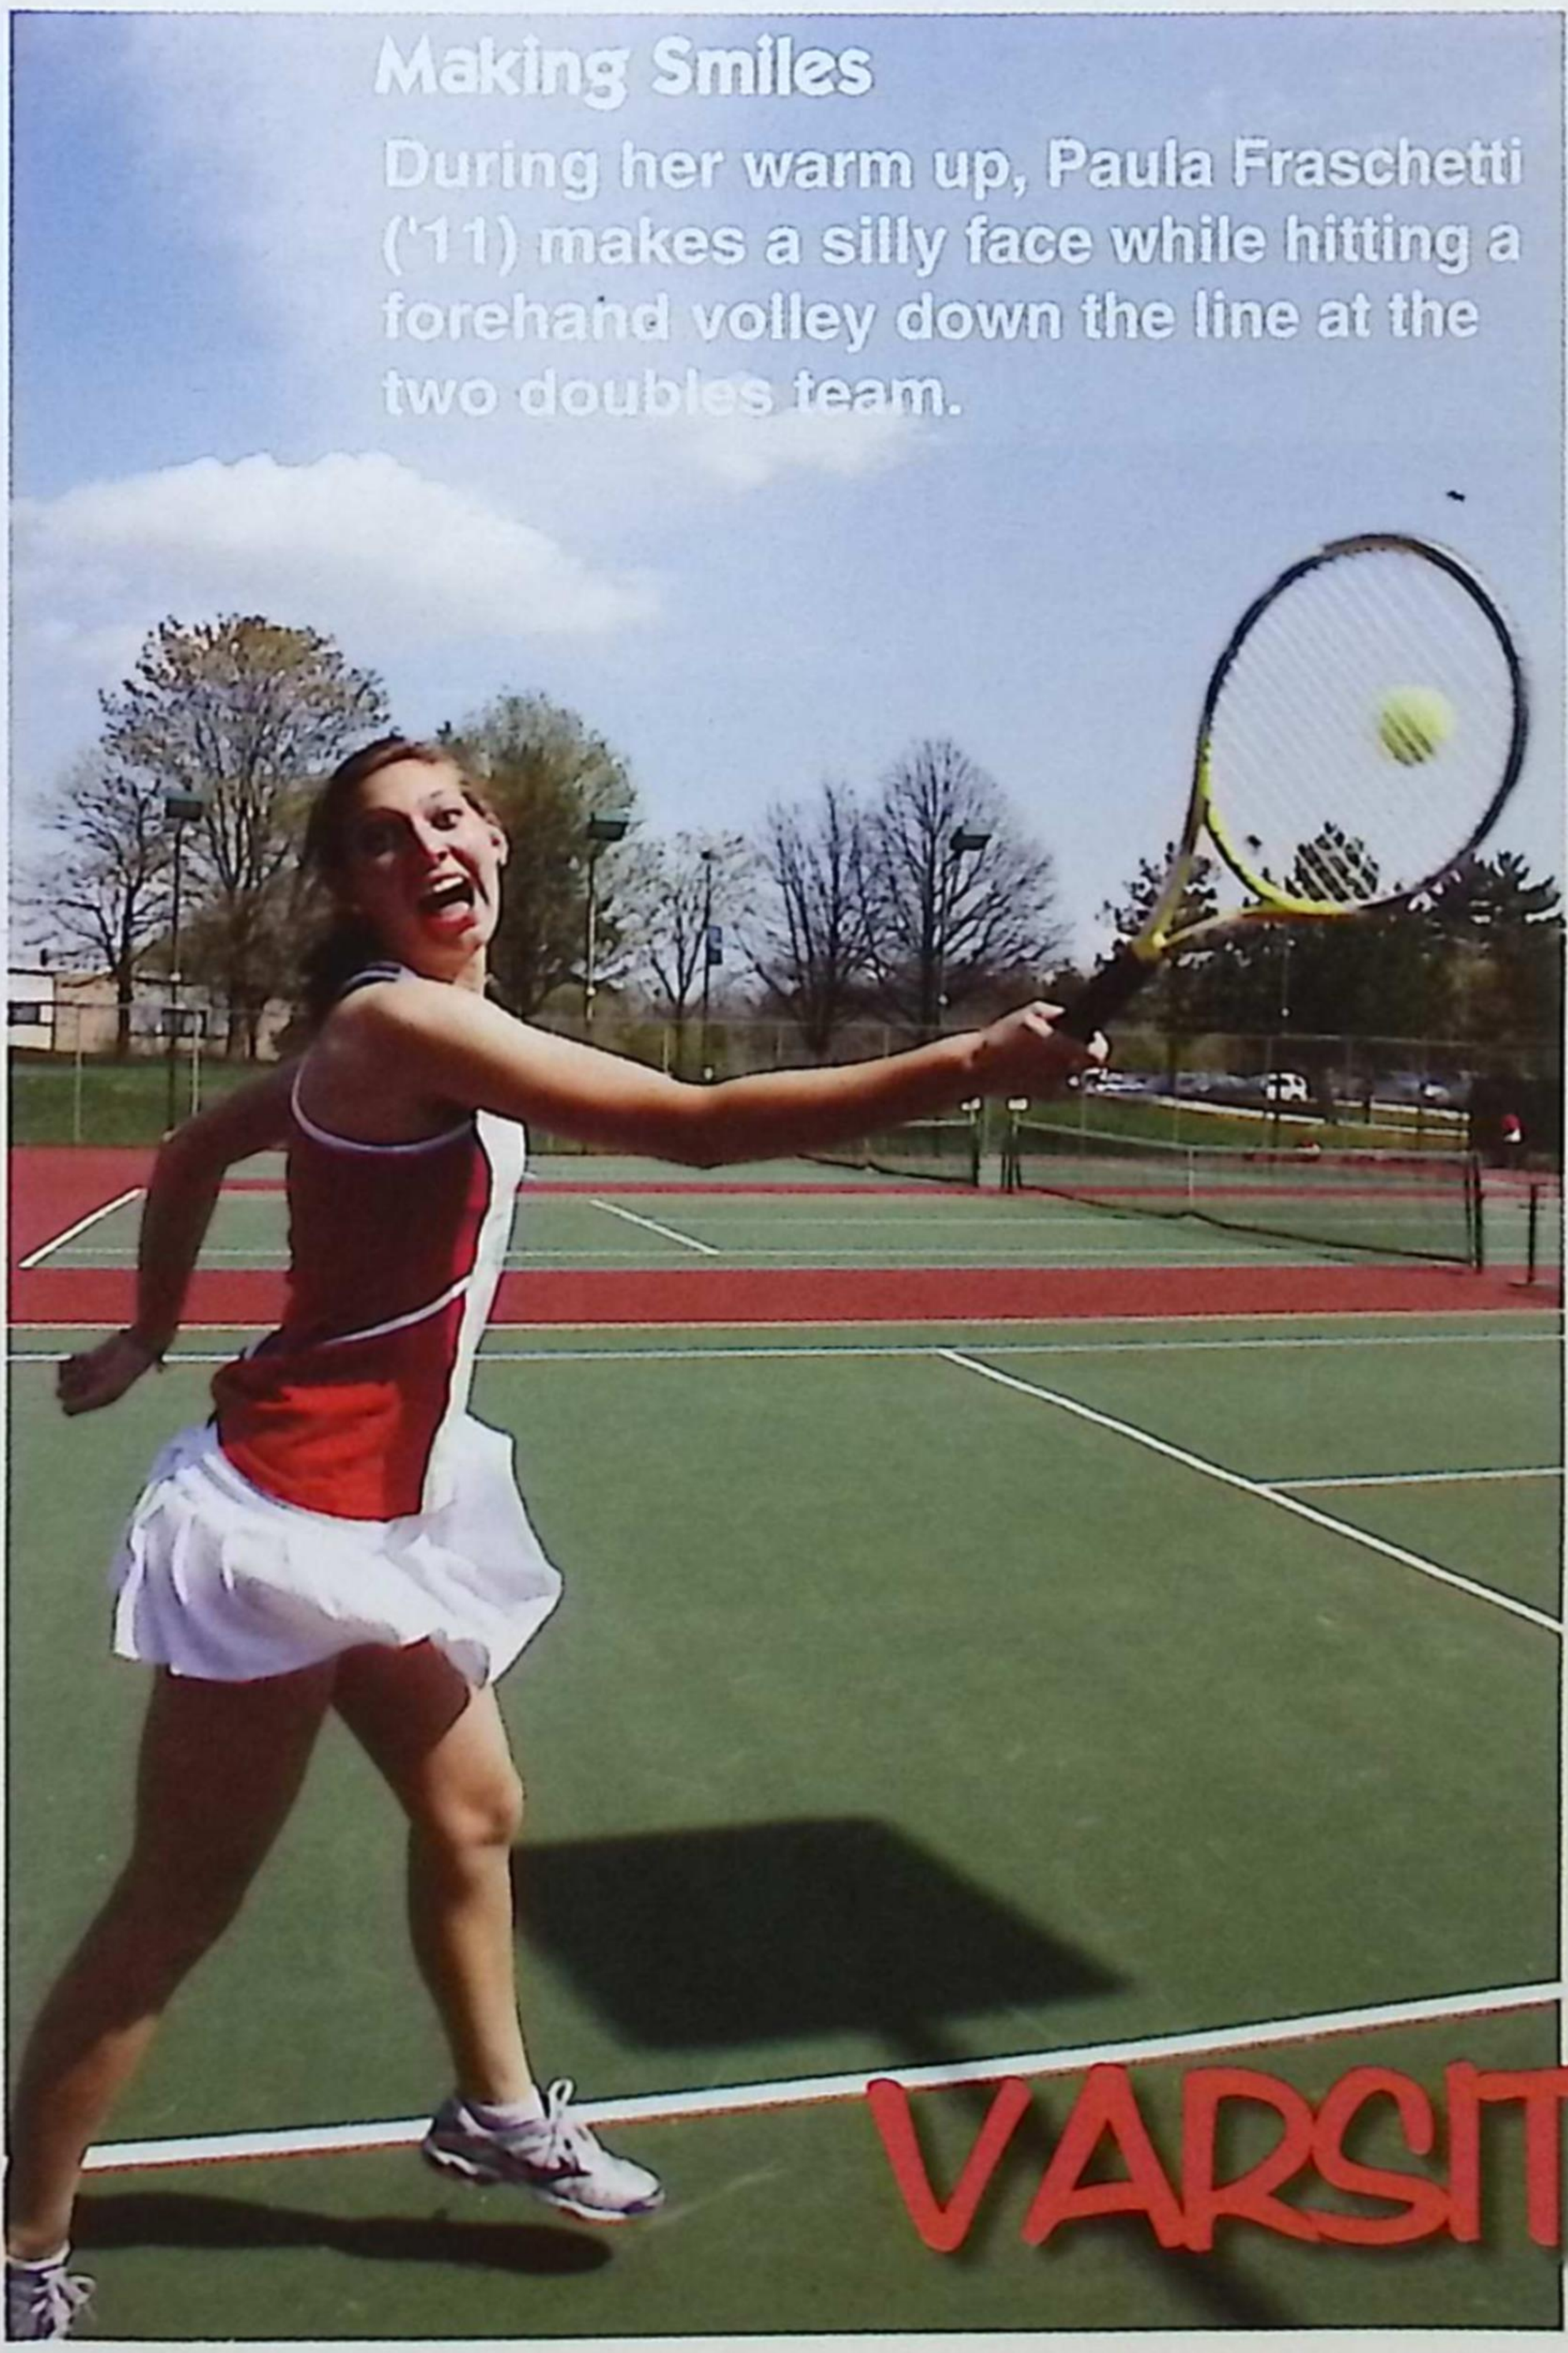


1. With dedication written all over her face, Mia Manella ('13) hits a backhand keeping the ball in play. 2. Kirsten Bray ('10) hits a cross court forehand in her match against Grosse Point North, winning the match. 3. Mysha Bryan ('13) hits her forehand down the line, directly at her opponent, winning the point for her partner, Chrissy Gauss ('13). 4. The return of serve is the second most important part of a match. Knowing exactly where she wants to hit the ball, Chrissy Gauss ('13) bends her knees and takes the racket back getting ready to hit her shot. 5. Not willing to take the risk of getting hurt, Alison Karadjoff ('12) stretches before playing her match.

MY MOMENT

"Last year I played on the JV tennis team. I was really excited to be able to play 3 doubles part of the year and 4 doubles part of the year on varsity with Maddy McTevia. We had a really good season and when we won our regional tournament I was so excited! I didn't get to go to the state tournament last year, so I couldn't wait to see what all of the hype was about. Maddy and I won our first match at States and then lost to the third seed. We were happy about it anyways because we played really well! That night when everyone was upstairs, Kirsten Bray, Coach Clutts, Coach Jay, and I all went outside the hotel and played frisbee. It was so much fun, we took it really seriously; it was intense! I can't wait for next season to come, it is always my favorite part of the school year!"

-H. Winkler ('12)



Making Smiles

During her warm up, Paula Fraschetti ('11) makes a silly face while hitting a forehand volley down the line at the two doubles team.

Tennis Team Conquers the Court

As the 2010 girls' tennis season began, the girls had a great start. Practices were met with a shinning sun and weather to match it. After the first week, the girls were sore from al of their hard work. With their expectations for their season set high, the girls won their first match with an astonishing 9-0 score against Chippewa Valey High School. The season continued much the same, with a few ups and downs, but overal achieving most of their goals.

> "Part of being a champ is acting like a champ. You have to learn how to win and not run away when you lose. Everyone has bad stretches and real successes. Either way, you have to be careful not to lose your confidence or get to confident."
> -Nancy Kerrigan

When their regional tourmaret came around, there was no doubt in the girls' heads that they were going to do everything they could to get first place. Having every flight seeded at number one, the girls won nearly every flight. Overal though, they got first place in their regional. The girls and their coaches couldn't have been happier!

1. Standing in a ready position, Shelby Schroeder ('12) keeps an eye on the ball, as the opposing team prepares to serve.
2. As the sun beats down, Carly McElreath ('11) watches the ball as it comes her way; concentrating intently in order to send the ball soaring over the net.
3. Focusing on the ball, Mackenzie Joachim ('11) gets ready to hit the ball on the face of the racket hoping to win a point.
4. Stepping back with one foot, Anita Chitwood ('10) serves the ball across the net.
5. Waiting for her doubles partner to make her way into position, Eden Starbuck ('11) prepares to begin her serve.

Sufficient Strokes

VOLLEY

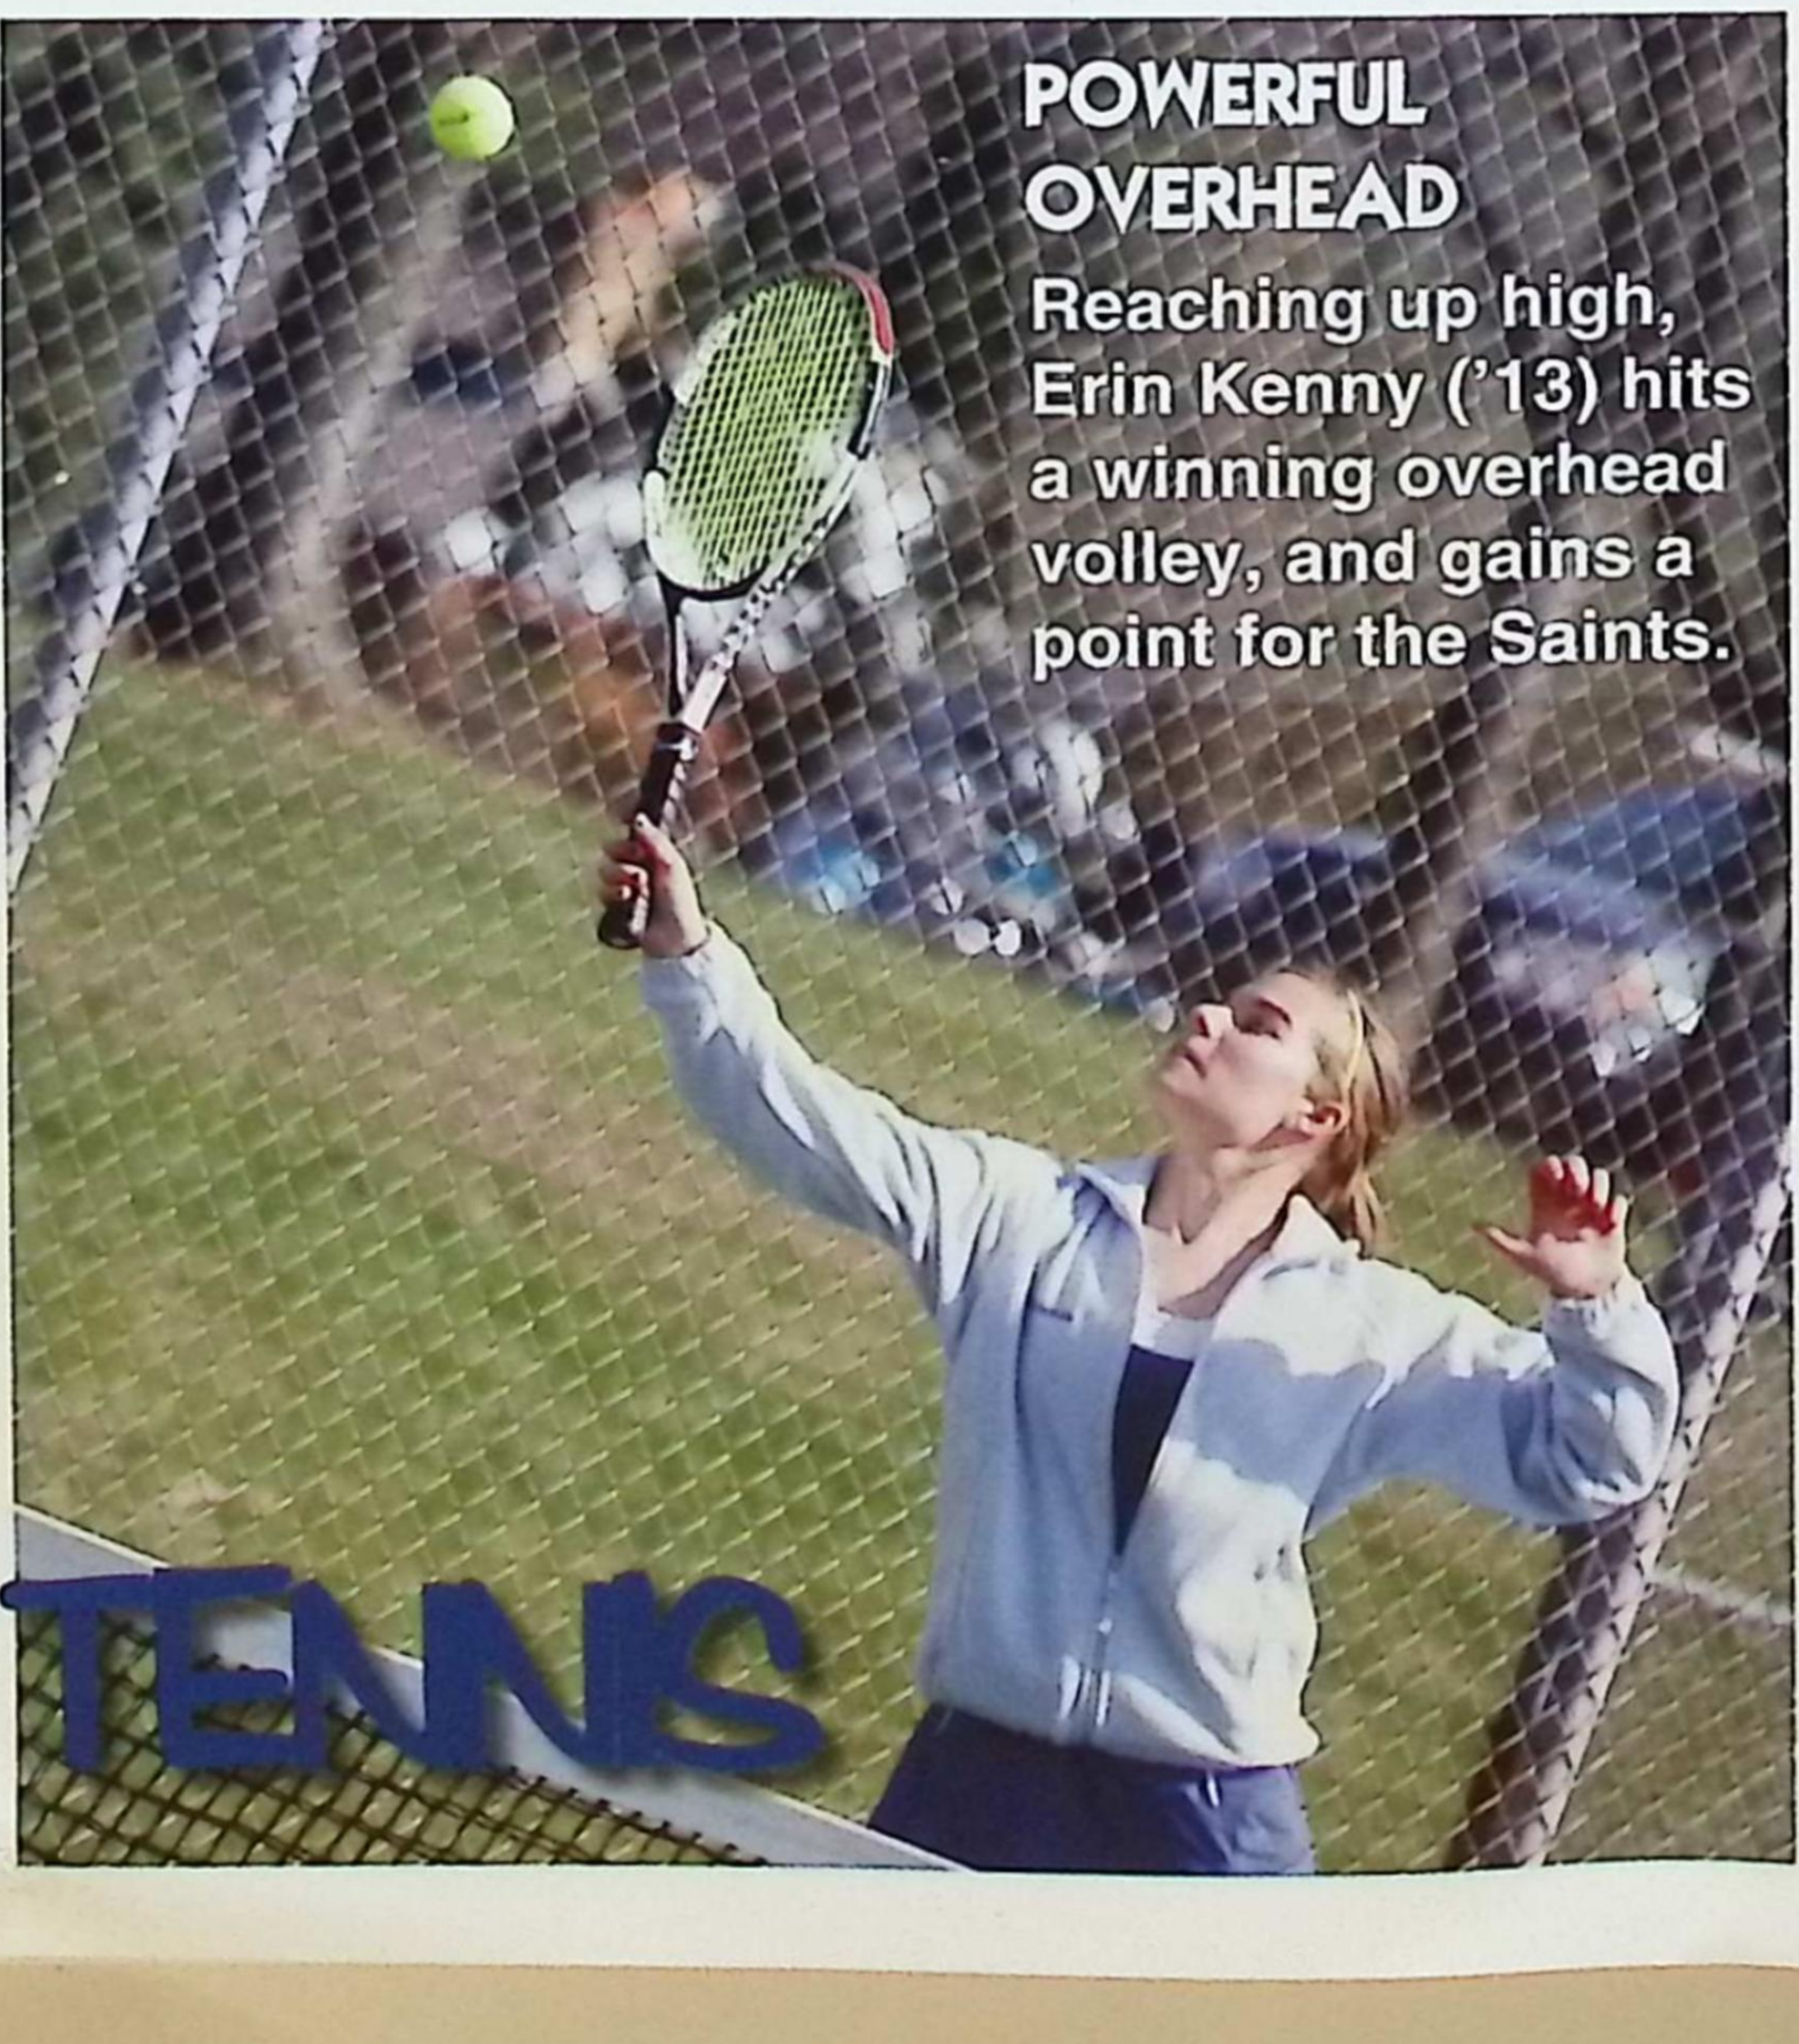
Gina Fuga ('12) volleys the ball over the net. Volleying is an approach shot, hit to finish the point in a game. It is usually hits while standing up close at the net.

GROUNDSTROKE

Emma Braden ('12) tries to catch the ball that's flying low by using the ground stroke. The ground stroke is a forehand or backhand that is hit after the ball bounces once on the court; it usually hits deep in the court.

Bringin' the Heat

Things were heating up this year on the court for the JV girls' tennis team, and what these girls have more than any other team is drive; a drive to win and be the best they can be. This year, with three coaches, the girls practiced longer and harder each day. A match against Dakota High School was definitely a test of their limits. As they watched their opponents across the net, fire in their eyes, the girls grew more and more intense. Regardless of the fact that the girls were out numbered, 43-75, they continued to fight for the Saint's reputation. In the end the girls proved they were the team to beat, defeating Dakota High.



POWERFUL OVERHEAD

Reaching up high, Erin Kenny ('13) hits a winning overhead volley, and gains a point for the Saints.
